

This is a digital copy of a book that was preserved for generations on library shelves before it was carefully scanned by Google as part of a project to make the world's books discoverable online.

It has survived long enough for the copyright to expire and the book to enter the public domain. A public domain book is one that was never subject to copyright or whose legal copyright term has expired. Whether a book is in the public domain may vary country to country. Public domain books are our gateways to the past, representing a wealth of history, culture and knowledge that's often difficult to discover.

Marks, notations and other marginalia present in the original volume will appear in this file - a reminder of this book's long journey from the publisher to a library and finally to you.

Usage guidelines

Google is proud to partner with libraries to digitize public domain materials and make them widely accessible. Public domain books belong to the public and we are merely their custodians. Nevertheless, this work is expensive, so in order to keep providing this resource, we have taken steps to prevent abuse by commercial parties, including placing technical restrictions on automated querying.

We also ask that you:

- + Make non-commercial use of the files We designed Google Book Search for use by individuals, and we request that you use these files for personal, non-commercial purposes.
- + Refrain from automated querying Do not send automated queries of any sort to Google's system: If you are conducting research on machine translation, optical character recognition or other areas where access to a large amount of text is helpful, please contact us. We encourage the use of public domain materials for these purposes and may be able to help.
- + Maintain attribution The Google "watermark" you see on each file is essential for informing people about this project and helping them find additional materials through Google Book Search. Please do not remove it.
- + Keep it legal Whatever your use, remember that you are responsible for ensuring that what you are doing is legal. Do not assume that just because we believe a book is in the public domain for users in the United States, that the work is also in the public domain for users in other countries. Whether a book is still in copyright varies from country to country, and we can't offer guidance on whether any specific use of any specific book is allowed. Please do not assume that a book's appearance in Google Book Search means it can be used in any manner anywhere in the world. Copyright infringement liability can be quite severe.

THE author's object, in preparing the present work, was to furnish the student with such a view of the leading features in the Grammar of the Greek Language as might prove useful to him, not only at the commencement of his career, but also during its whole continuance. Nothing has therefore been omitted, the want of which might in any degree retard his progress ; and yet, at the same time, the work has been brought within such limits as will render it easy of reference and not deter from perusal. The best and latest authorities have been carefully consulted, and every effort has been made to exhibit a concise outline of all the leading principles of Greek Philology. Under the head of Prosody the author has given merely a brief collection of rules, as the larger work on this subject, now in the press, and which will appear in a few weeks, will be found to contain all that is requisite in this department of instruction. To that same work the author has been compelled to transfer the remarks on the analogies of the Indo-Germanic tongues, which were originally intended to form part of the present volume. It was found, as the Grammar advanced towards its completion, that the addition of these analogies would make it too large in size ; and although a work like the present is certainly the true one for such a discussion, yet it is hoped that the remarks in question will not be out of place even at the end of a treatise on Greek Prosody.

The present work, it will be perceived then, lays but few claims to originality either of design or execution. The object of the editor has been to present, in a small compass, all that his own experience as an instructor has shown him to be really useful in Greek elementary studies. His principal guide has been the excellent grammar of Matthiæ, of which the present volume may be in some respects considered as an abstract ; and valuable materials have been at the same time obtained from the labours of Buttmann, Rost, and other distinguished philologists. As regards the formation of the Greek verb, he has preferred the old system to the more philosophical and elaborate one of Thiersch, from its being better adapted to the capacities of younger students. Thiersch's system will do very well after an acquaintance with the formation of the Sanscrit verb, but its success otherwise, in this country at least, is extremely problematical.

In preparing the present edition for the press, great pains have been taken to ensure accuracy, and in several instances changes have been made where the language appeared either obscure or wanting in precision. One or two inadvertences of expression, moreover, of no great moment in themselves, have also been rectified, and the work is now presented to the young student in the full assurance that he will find in it both a useful and an accurate manual.

The compiler of the present volume owes it to himself to state, that he intends, at no very distant day, to publish a Grammar of the Greek Language which will lay more claim to the character of an original work, and will be elucidated throughout by references to the Indo-Germanic tongues. Such a work, of course, will be intended for more advanced students. In the mean time, he hopes that the plain and unassuming volume which he now puts forth will not be regarded as the "ultima Thule" of his own researches in Greek philology.

GREEK GRAMMAR.

I. THE ALPHABET.¹

The Greek alphabet consists of twenty-four letters, namely:

Α, α,	Ἄλφα,	Alpha,	a.
Β, β, ϐ,	Βῆτα,	Beta,	b.
Γ, γ, ϒ,	Γάμμα,	Gamma,	g.
Δ, δ,	Δέλτα,	Delta,	d.
Ε, ε,	Ἑψὶλόν,	Epsilon, ²	ē.
Ζ, ζ,	Ζῆτα,	Zeta,	z.
Η, η,	Ἡτα,	Eta,	ē.
Θ, θ, ϑ,	Θῆτα,	Theta,	th.
Ι, ι,	Ἰῶτα,	Iōta,	i.
Κ, κ,	Κάππα,	Kappa,	k.
Λ, λ,	Λάμβδα,	Lambda,	l.
Μ, μ,	Μῦ,	Mu,	m.
Ν, ν,	Νῦ,	Nu,	n.
Ξ, ξ,	Ξῖ,	Xi,	x.
Ο, ο, Ϝ,	Ὀμικρόν,	Omīcron, ³	ō.
Π, π,	Πῖ,	Pi,	p.
Ρ, ρ,	Ῥῶ,	Rho,	r.
Σ, σ, (when final, Ϻ) ⁴	Σίγμα,	Sigma,	s.
Τ, τ,	Ταῦ,	Tau,	t.
Υ, υ,	Ὑψίλον,	Upsilon, ⁵	u.
Φ, φ,	Φῖ,	Phi,	ph.
Χ, χ,	Χῖ,	Chi,	ch.
Ψ, ψ,	Ψῖ,	Psi,	ps.
Ω, ω,	Ὠμέγα,	Omēga,	ō.

1. Consult Excursus 1, at the end of this volume.

2. Smooth, or unspirited ε; so called to distinguish it from Η, which was anciently one of the marks of the rough breathing, or aspirate.

3. Small ο, to distinguish it from omega (ω), or great (i. e., long) ο.

4. The German scholars have introduced the practice of using Ϻ at the end of syllables likewise, when they make an entire word with which another is compounded; as, δυεμηνίς, εἰσφέρω, προεῖπον. But this practice, which has not even the authority of MSS. in its favour, cannot be systematically introduced without inconvenience to orthography; and it is not agreeable to the genius of the ancients, who were not accustomed to separate, by the understanding, the different parts of discourse.

5. Smooth υ, to distinguish it from the aspirated υ (Υ), which was one of the ancient signs of the digamma, and also passed into the Latin V, as, VIDI, AIVOM.

II. PRONUNCIATION OF THE LETTERS.¹

A, when long, is sounded like the English a in far when short, like the a in fat.

Γ, before a vowel, like the hard English g; but before another γ, and also before a κ, ξ, χ, is sounded like ng in sing. Thus, ἄγγελος, pronounce ang-ēlos; ἀγκὼν, ang-kōn, &c.²

E, like the short English e in met.

Z, like a soft d passing gently into the sound of z. Thus, ζάω, pronounce d-zao; μελίζω, melid-zo, &c.

H, like the English a in cane.³

Θ, like the English th in think.

I, when long, like the English e in me; when short, like the i in pin.

Υ, like the French u in une, or the German ü.

X, always guttural, like the German ch in buch.

Ω, like the o in throne.

PRONUNCIATION OF THE DIPHTHONGS.⁴

Αι, like the English adverb aye.

Αυ, like the syllable ow in now.

Ει, like the English word eye.

1. The pronunciation here given is that which has been adopted at the institution from which the present work emanates. It is by no means offered as accurate in every respect, but merely as giving, in some cases, an approximation to the ancient sound, and, in others, the result of modern, though erroneous, usage. A separate work on this much-contested point will appear at no very distant day.

2. The true sound of the γ before a vowel would appear to have resembled that of the soft g in the German liegen.

3. The η appears to have had, originally, a middle sound between α and ε, and the grounds on which this opinion rests are as follows: 1. The contraction of αε and εα into η; as, χράται, χρήται, ζάεις, ζῆς, τείχεα, τείχη, ἀληθέα, ἀληθῆ. 2. The augment η, γ, and ην, from α, αι, and αυ; as, ἤκουον, ἤνεσα, and ἤδα. 3. The Doric and Æolic change of η into α; as, φάμα, Dor. for φήμη; πύλα, Æol. for πύλη.

4. The primitive sound of the diphthongs appears to have been α-ι, α-υ, ε-ι, ε-υ, &c. The pronunciation of αυ is obtained from the barking of the dog (αὐ, αὐ) in Aristophanes, Vesp., 903. The primitive sound of οι seems to have resembled the syllables ow in the word snouy, though, of course, with more of a diphthongal sound.

Ev, like the English word you.

Oι, like the syllable oy in boy.

Oυ, like the oo in soon, or the ou in ragout.

Υι, like the English pronoun we.

III. DIVISION OF THE LETTERS.

Seven of the letters are vowels, namely, a, ε, η, ι, ο, υ, ω.

The remaining seventeen are consonants.

1. VOWELS.

1. The seven vowels are divided into three classes, namely: short, long, and doubtful. Thus,

Short, ε, ο,

Long, η, ω,

Doubtful, α, ι, υ.

2. The short vowels are those, the pronunciation of which occupies the shortest possible time.

3. The long vowels are those which require in their pronunciation twice as much time as the short.

4. The doubtful are those which can be pronounced both as short and long in different words, being short in some words and long in others.¹

2. DIPHTHONGS.

1. The vowels are combined in a variety of ways, two and two together, into one sound, and hence are formed the diphthongs.

2. Diphthongs are formed by the union of a *back-vowel*² (α, ε, ο) with a front-vowel (ι, υ), producing one sound.

1. The student must not suppose, from the epithet "doubtful," as applied to these vowels, that there is, in every case, something wavering and uncertain in their nature. The meaning is simply this: the short vowel ε has its corresponding long vowel η, and the short vowel ο its corresponding long vowel ω; but in the case of α, ι, υ, there is no separate vowel-sign for the long and short quantities, and, therefore, the length or shortness of the vowel is to be determined, not by the eye, but by the application of some rule.

2. The sounds of α, ε, ο, being formed by the organs in the back part

3. Of the diphthongs, six are proper, where both vowels are heard combined into one sound; and six improper, where the sound of one vowel predominates over that of the other.

4. The proper diphthongs are, therefore, ai, av, ei, ev, oi, ov. The improper are α, η, ω, where the ι, or second vowel, is subscribed, and also ην, υι, ων, which last three are not of as common occurrence as α, η, ω.¹

3. CONSONANTS.

1. Of the seventeen consonants, nine are mutes, that is, letters whereof no distinct sound can be produced without the addition of a vowel.

2. These nine are divided into three classes, namely, soft, intermediate, and aspirate. Thus,

Three soft, π, κ, τ.

Three intermediate, β, γ, δ.

Three aspirate, φ, χ, θ.

3. These, when read perpendicularly, form the three orders of mutes, each soft consonant having its corresponding intermediate and aspirate. Thus, π, β, φ.

of the mouth, may be called back-vowels; and the sounds of ι and υ, being formed in the front part of the mouth, may be denominated front-vowels.

1. Originally, the α, η, ω were closely allied to ai, ei, oi, and only so distinguished, that, in the latter, a, e, and o were sounded of the same length with the ι; while, in the former, the long sound of ā, ē, and ō preceded, and the i merely followed as a short echo. This accurate pronunciation, however, appears to have been lost at an early period, even among the Greeks themselves, and therefore, at present, we pronounce α, η, ω in the same way as ā, ē, ō; and the subscribed or underwritten iota serves as a mere grammatical sign for determining the derivation and for distinguishing the forms. Originally, the ι, even in these improper diphthongs, was written by the side of the other sound, and in the use of capitals this practice still obtains. Thus we write ἄδης, but Ἀιδης, passing over, in either case, the sound of the ι. So, again, φός, but, with the capital letter, Φιδής.

4. Mutes of the same class must always come together, from a principle of euphony. Thus,

INTERMEDIATE.	SOFT.	ASPIRATE.
ἐβδομος.	ἐπτά.	φθόνος.
δγδοος.	δκτώ.	ἐχθος.

5. From the organs with which they are pronounced, π, β, φ are termed labials or lip-letters ; κ, γ, χ, gutturals ; and τ, δ, θ, dentals.

6. Four of the consonants are called liquids, namely, λ, μ, ν, ρ ; and they are so denominated because, in pronunciation, they easily flow into other sounds.

7. These four liquids, together with the sibilant, or hissing letter ζ, are also called semivowels, because their sound can be pretty distinctly perceived without the accession of a vowel.

8. There are three double consonants, namely, ζ, ξ, ψ, composed of any letter of each of the three orders of mutes, followed by ζ. Thus, πζ, βζ, φζ, form ψ ;

κζ, γζ, χζ, form ξ ;
(τζ), δζ, (θζ), form ζ.¹

9. These double consonants are universally used (except in Æolic and Doric Greek) instead of their corresponding simple letters. Not, however, where the two simple letters belong to two different parts of the compound, as ἐκ-σεύω, not ἐξεύω.²

1. The combinations τζ and θζ are merely inserted to complete the analogy to the eye ; since ζ is equivalent, in fact, to δζ merely, and whenever α, τ, or θ comes before σ, it is thrown away ; as, ἀνύσω for ἀνύσσω, and πείσω for πείσσω. Sometimes, even in the case of δζ, the same rejection takes place, as ἐρείσω for ἐρείδσω, where ζ could not occupy the place of the characteristic letter (σ) of the future.

2. Yet Ἀθήναζε is used instead of Ἀθήναςδε.

IV. BREATHINGS.

1. Every vowel, or diphthong, which is pronounced without a letter preceding it, is necessarily connected with a breathing.

2. There are two breathings, the *soft*¹ and aspirate; and, consequently, every word beginning with a vowel, or diphthong, must be pronounced with one of these breathings.

3. The signs employed for these breathings are, for the soft ('), as ἀέι, ἐξ; and for the aspirate ('), as ὑπέρ, ἡμεῖς.²

4. The soft breathing has no perceptible power;³ the aspirate is equivalent to the modern h, as ὑπέρ, pronounce hyper.

5. τ at the beginning of words in the Attic dialect is always to be pronounced with the aspirate; as ὑάκινθος, ὑάλος, ὑβρις.

6. In diphthongs the breathings are marked over the second vowel; as οι, αι, εὐθύς, αὐτός; because the breathing does not belong to either of the blended vowels separately, but to the whole mingled sound. When, however, an improper diphthong has the iota adscribed, as in the case of capital letters, or, otherwise, subscribed, the mark of the breathing is placed by or over the initial vowel, as Ἀιδής, ᾤδης.

7. P is the only consonant that receives a breathing, since it cannot be pronounced without an audible expiration. When ρ stands at the beginning of a word, therefore, this breathing is always the aspirate; as ῥέω, ῥυτός, which in Latin is placed after the R, as *rheto*r, from the Greek ῥήτωρ.

1. Called also "smooth," and by its Latin name lenis.

2. Originally the rough breathing alone had a sign, namely, H, and the smooth remained unmarked. Afterward that sign was divided into two halves, and the first half, I, was employed to denote the aspirate, the second half, l, the soft breathing. By a subsequent abbreviation of these, two other marks were formed, namely, l and j, which finally changed into (') and ('), the signs now in use.

3. It attaches itself to the sound pronounced, as if spontaneously, without any exertion of the lungs.

8. But when a ρ is followed by another ρ , the first must have the soft breathing, and the latter the aspirate, as ἀρ-ῥηκτος, ἔρρῃον; for two of these letters could not be pronounced in succession each with an aspirate.

V. DIGAMMA.

1. Besides the rough breathing, there was in several dialects another sound, somewhat similar in nature, formed between the lips, and having the same relation to f , ph , and v , that the aspirate bears to ch , g , and k .

2. It was originally a full and strong consonant, and represented by a letter closely resembling the Roman F. This letter was called digamma, because looking like a double gamma, and originally occupied the sixth place in the Greek alphabet.

3. The term Æolic digamma was given to it, because it was retained in the alphabet principally by those branches of the Greek race that were of Æolic descent. Its true name, however, was Baû (Vau), the other appellation having been invented by the grammarians.

4. In the dialects which retained the digamma, its sound was soon softened down, and it then answered, in pronunciation, to the English wh. Between two vowels it was still more attenuated, and passed, even with the Æolians, into v ; as ἀνῆρ, ἀνῶς, for ἀήρ, ἡῶς.

5. In Æolic the digamma served also for the rough breathing, which had no place in that dialect.¹

VI. ACCENTS.²

1. There are three accents in Greek; the acute, grave, and circumflex.

2. The acute is denoted by the sign (´), as φύλαξ. The

1. For some further remarks respecting the digamma, consult Excursus B, at the end of this volume.

2. For a more enlarged view of accents, consult Excursus C.

grave is never marked, but lends its sign to the softened acute. The circumflex is indicated by (˘), as κῆπος.

3. In every word there can be but one predominant tone, to which all the rest are subordinate. This is the sharp or acute accent, the fundamental tone of discourse being the grave.

4. The grave accent, therefore, does not require any mark; since, if the syllable which receives the strengthened accent be ascertained, we know that all the rest must have the weaker or fundamental one. Consequently, it would be superfluous to write Θεόδωρος, since Θεόδωρος is sufficient.

5. When a word which, by itself, has the acute accent on the last syllable, stands in connexion before other words, the acute tone is softened down, and passes more or less into the grave. This depressed accent is called the softened acute, and is indicated by the mark of the grave, the strictly grave syllables having, as we have just remarked, no use for this sign, and lending it, therefore, to the softened acute. Thus, ὄργη δὲ πολλὰ δρᾶν ἀναγκάζει κακά.

6. The acute accent is placed on one of the last three syllables of a word, the circumflex on one of the last two.

7. All words which have no accent on the last syllable are called Barytones, because a syllable neither marked by an acute nor circumflex accent has, of course, the grave tone (βαρὺν τόνον).

8. All words which have the acute on the last syllable are called Oxytones (Ὀξύτονα, from ὀξύς and τόνος).¹

1. The ancients observed, in pronunciation, both quantity and accent. This, however, is extremely difficult of accomplishment at the present day, and it is better for the learner, therefore, to let the quantity predominate, as being for us the more important of the two. Still, however, the student should accustom himself to distinguish every accented vowel from an unaccented one. Thus, for example, we can accent the first syllable in ἄνθρωπος, and yet keep the second long; as in the English gránd-fáther, álms-básket. Care must be taken, at the same time, not to prolong the accented short vowels; as, for example, not to pronounce δρερ like φρερ.

VII. MARKS OF READING.

1. For a period and comma the same signs are employed in Greek as in English.

2. The colon and semicolon have one and the same mark, namely, a dot or point above the line ; as, ἐτυφλώσε με· καὶ τυφλός εἰμι.

3. A sign of interrogation has this form (;), as, τί τοῦτο; It is the same in appearance as our English semicolon, and not unlike our mark of interrogation inverted.

4. No sign of exclamation occurs in the older editions, yet, after interjections, and terms indicative of feeling, it is well to put the one in use among us ; as, ὦ μοι, τῶν παρόντων κακῶν! φεῦ! φεῦ!

5. Diastöle, or hypodíastole, has the same sign as the comma, and is used in certain small compound words, to distinguish them from others ; as, ὅ,τι ("whatever," formed from ὅστις) for distinction sake from ὅτι ("that") ; and ὅ,τε ("which also") for distinction sake from ὅτε ("when").

6. In place, however, of the diastole and hypodíastole, many of the more recent editions have merely the syllables of such words separate, and without the inserted mark ; as, ὅ τι and ὅ τε, instead of ὅ,τι and ὅ,τε. This method is attended with less interruption than the other, and is, at the same time, equally perspicuous.

7. A diæresis, or sign of separation, is put when two vowels that follow in succession are not to be read as a diphthong, but separately. It is indicated by two dots placed horizontally over the second one of the two vowels ; and, if the accent fall on that same vowel, the accentual mark is placed between the two dots. Thus, αἰδῆς (to be pronounced á-ιδῆς), παῦς (to be pronounced πα-ύς).

VIII. CONTRACTIONS.

1. Contractions are of two kinds, proper and improper, called, otherwise, synæresis and crasis.

2. A proper contraction, or synæresis, is when two single vowels, or open sounds, coalesce without change into one diphthong; as, ἡχοῖ contracted into ἡχοῖ; τελεῖ contracted into τελεῖ.

3. An improper contraction, or crasis, is when two single vowels coalesce, but are mixed together to such a degree that a vowel or diphthong of a different sound is substituted; as, τελεα contracted into τελεη; ὁ ἐμός contracted into οὐμός.

4. Syllables contracted by crasis are long, and have commonly a mark (') placed over them, indicative of its having taken place. Thus, τὰγαθὰ for τὰ ἀγαθὰ; ταῦτά for τὰ αὐτά.

5. If, in the process of contraction, a mute is brought before an aspirated vowel, the mute is also aspirated; as, θοῦδατος for τοῦ ὕδατος; θολμάτιον for τὸ ἱμάτιον.

6. The subscript iota ought never to appear in contractions by crasis, unless it be found, previous to contraction, in the first syllable of the second word. Thus, καῖτα for καὶ εἶτα; and ἐγῶδα for ἐγὼ οἶδα. But καῖπι for καὶ ἐπί, not καῖπι; and καῖν for καὶ αὖν, not καῖν.¹

IX. APOSTROPHE OR ELISION.

1. By apostrophe is meant the cutting off of a short vowel at the end of a word when the next word begins with a vowel; and, when this takes place, it is indicated by the mark (') set over the empty space; as, ἐπ' ἐμοῦ for ἐπὶ ἐμοῦ.

2. When the following word has the rough breathing, and the elided vowel was preceded by a smooth mute, this mute becomes aspirated; as, ἀφ' οὔ for ἀπὸ οὔ.

3. The vowels elided by apostrophe are α, ε, ι, ο, but not υ. Monosyllables, however, in α, ι, ο (the epic ρά excepted), and the ι in the dative singular and plural of the third declension, are not elided.

1. Many editions of the ancient writers, and almost all the lexicons, offend against this rule.

4. Neither does the ι in τι and ὅτι suffer elision, except in the Homeric dialect. The reason with regard to τι is, that it might sometimes be confounded with τε; while, if the ι in ὅτι suffered elision, ὅτ' might be confounded with ὅτε, and ὅθ' with ὅθι.

5. The ο in πρό is not elided, and for that very reason is not used by the poets before a vowel. In composition, however, it coalesces with the augment, and with the initial vowel of the following word, and οε and οο are contracted into ου; as, προὔτυψεν for προέτυψεν; προὔπτος for πρόπτος.

6. The poets elided, though seldom, the diphthong αι; and only in the passive endings μαι, σαι, ται, σθαι; as, βούλεσθ' ἔφη, ἔρχομ' ἔχων. Of the elision of the diphthong αι no example is found in Homer and the epic poets. The Attics elided it only in οἶμ' for οἶμοι before ω, but not in μοι and σοι.

7. Since elision, by the suppression of vowels, evidently hurts, in some degree, distinctness of expression, it is generally avoided in prose, so that even the slenderest sounds sometimes remain open.

8. When the first word ends with a long vowel or diphthong, and the second begins with a short vowel, this latter is elided by the Attic poets; as, ποῦ 'στιν for ποῦ ἐστιν; 'Ερμῇ 'μπολαῖε for 'Ερμῇ ἐμπολαῖε. And, in prose writers, ὦ γαθέ for ὦ ἀγαθέ.

9. In diphthongs, also, the first short vowel is cut off after a long one in the preceding word, chiefly after η; as, ῆ 'υσέβεια for ῆ εὐσέβεια; μῆ 'ῥω for μῆ εῖρω.

X. Ν ἐφεκυστικόν.

1. By ν ἐφεκυστικόν is meant ν appended to certain final syllables, and it was so called because, as was erroneously supposed, this ν did not belong to the termination, but was appended to the final vowel merely to prevent an hiatus (a word ending with a vowel and the next word beginning with one), and, therefore, drew, as it were, the second vowel to the first.

2. In truth, however, this ν is not, as is generally supposed, merely an invention for the sake of euphony, but belonged to the ancient formation, and was first dropped before a consonant as the language became softer.

3. This ν ἐφελκυστικόν is added (to adopt the language of grammarians) to datives plural in σι, and, consequently, in ξι and ψι; to the third persons of verbs in ε or ι; to the numeral εἴκοσι, “twenty,” and to the adverbs πέρυσι, παντάσιν, νόσφι, πρόσθε, κε, νυ, when the following word begins with a vowel; ἐν μησὶν ὀλέγοις, πᾶσιν εἶπεν ἐκεῖνοις, ἔτυψεν αὐτόν, εἴκοσιν ἔτη γεγονώς, &c.

XI. OTHER FINAL LETTERS.

1. The letter ς is sometimes found at the end of words, on the same principle as the ν ἐφελκυστικόν. Thus, we have οὕτω before a consonant, and οὕτως before a vowel. So also in μέχρις and ἄχρις, except that these two last often stand without ς before a vowel.

2. In like manner, the particle οὐ, “not,” takes before a consonant a final κ, and, consequently, before the rough breathing a final χ. Thus, οὐ πάρεστιν, οὐκ ἔνεστιν, οὐχ ὑπεστιν.

3. When, however, this particle stands at the end of a clause, or where there is a pause in the sense, the κ falls away; as, τοῦτο δ' οὐ, “but this not.” Οὐ ἀλλ' ὅταν—, “No : but when—.”

4. The preposition ἐξ, “out of,” has this form only before vowels and before a pause; as, ἐξ ἐμοῦ, ἐξ ὅτου, κακῶν ἐξ. Before all consonants the ς of the double letter ξ (κς) falls away, and the κ remains; as, ἐκ τούτου, ἐκ θαλάσσης, ἐκ γῆς.

XII. CHANGES OF THE CONSONANTS.

1. In the concurrence of two or more consonants, those of the same class can alone stand together, as has already been remarked. Hence an aspirated consonant can only be joined to an aspirate, a middle to a middle, a smooth to a smooth. In the formation of Greek words, therefore, we must change τέτριβται	into	τέτριπται.

γέγραφται	"	γέγραπται.
ράβδος	"	ράβδος.
ἐπιγράβδην	"	ἐπιγράβδην.
ἐτύπθην	"	ἐτύφθην.
τριβθήσομαι	"	τριφθήσομαι.
λέλεγται	"	λέλεκται.
βέβρεχται	"	βέβρεκται.
ὄκδοος	"	ὄγδοος.
ἐπλέκθην	"	ἐπλέχθην.
λεγθήσομαι	"	λεχθήσομαι.

In composition, however, the preposition ἐκ remains unchanged before τ, δ, θ, and hence we have ἐκιδιδόναι, ἐκθεῖναι, &c.

2. Three or more consonants cannot stand immediately together: but one of them (usually a σ standing between two consonants) must be omitted, or such forms entirely avoided. Thus,

Instead of	τέτυψθε	we say	τέτυφθε.
	πεπλέχσθαι	"	πεπλέχθαι.
	τέτυφνται	"	τετύφεται, or τετυμμένοι εἰσι.

Exceptions. (1.) This rule does not operate in compounds, where perspicuity of derivation renders the retention of the third consonant necessary; as, ἐκπτώω, ἐκσπένδω, δύσσφαρτος. (2.) If the first or last of the three consonants is a liquid (λ, μ, ν, ρ), whereby the harshness of pronunciation is softened; as, ἐκκλησία, πεμφθεῖς, σκληρός, ἀσθμα, αἰσχρός.

3. Two syllables following one another cannot both begin with an aspirate (φ, χ, θ); but, in this case, the aspirated consonant which stands at the beginning of the first syllable is changed into its kindred smooth. Thus,

For φεφίληκα we say πεφίληκα.

τέθνηκα “ τέθνηκα.

Exceptions. (1.) The passive termination in θην, and all its derivative terminations which begin with θ, have no influence upon the preceding aspirate; and thus we write, ὠρθόθην, ἐχύθην, θαφθήσονται, θρεφθῆναι. In the verbs θύειν and τιθέναι alone, θ is changed into τ before those terminations; as, ἐτύθην, ἐτέθην. (2.) So also the adverbial terminations θεν and θι; as, πανταχόθεν, Κορινθόθι. (3.) In most compounds also the rule is neglected; as, ἀνθοφόρος, ἐμφυαίνω.

4. If the latter aspirate, which caused the change, disappear, the former resumes its proper shape; thus, θάφος becomes τάφος, “a grave,” by the previous rule, but the verb is θαπτω, “I bury.” So τρέφω makes θρέψω, in the future; τρέχω, θρέξω; τύφω, θύψω; the presents of these verbs being changed by the previous rule from θρέφω, θρέχω, and θύφω. So also the noun θρίξ, “hair,” makes τρίχος in the genitive (instead of the old form θρίχος) and θρίξι in the dative plural, where the aspirate reappears.

5. The rough breathing likewise disappears in the first syllable when χ stands in the next. Thus, the old and genuine form of ἔχω was ἐχω, but the aspirate was changed into the smooth for euphony, and reappears when the χ is no longer present, as in the future ἔξω.

6. When the rough breathing meets with a smooth, it changes the same into an aspirate, not only in composition, but, as has already been remarked, even in accidental concurrence; as, ἐφοδος (from ἐπί and δός), δεχήμερος (from δέκα and ήμερα), ἐφ' ἡμέραν (for ἐπ' ἡμέραν), &c.

7. Aspirates are never doubled; but, when two come together, the first must be changed into its own smooth; as, Σαπφώ, not Σαφφώ; Βάκχος, not Βάχχος; Ἀτθίς, not Ἀθθίς; Ματθαῖος, not Μαθθαῖος.

8. The letter ρ in the beginning of a word is doubled whenever it is preceded by a vowel in composition or inflection; as, ἐρρέθην from ρέω; ἄρρητος, περίρροος, &c. After a diphthong, however, the single ρ remains; as, εὐροος, εὐρυθμος.

9. Before μ, the labials β, π, φ, ψ are changed into μ; as, for τέτριδμαι write τέτριμμαι; for τέτυπμαι write τέτυμμαι; for γέγραφμαι, γέγραμμαι. Before the same letter, κ and χ are changed into γ; as, λέλεγμαι for λέλεχμαι; δέδογμαι for δέδοκμαι. And the linguals δ, θ, τ, ζ are changed before the same into σ; as, ῥσμα for ῥδμα; πέπεισμαι for πέπειθμαι; ῥνυσμαι for ῥνυτμαι; ψήφισμα for ψήφισμα.

10. Before σ, the linguals δ, θ, τ, ζ are dropped; as, for πόδοι write πόσι; for πλήθσω, πλήσω; for σώματσι, σώμασι; for ἄρπάζσω, ἄρπάσω.

11. The letter ν, before the labials β, μ, π, φ, ψ, is changed into μ; as, ἐμβάλλω (from ἐν and βάλλω), συμπράσσω (from σύν and πράσσω), &c. The same letter is changed into γ before γ, κ, χ, ξ (though pronounced as ng); as, ἐγγελάω (from ἐν and γελάω), συγχαίρω (from σύν and χαίρω), &c.

12. If ν comes before λ or ρ, it is changed into λ or ρ; as, for συνλογίζω, συνρίπτω, write συλλογίζω, συρρίπτω.

13. The letter ν is usually thrown away before σ or ζ; as, for δαίμονσι, συνζυγία, write δαίμοσι, συνζυγία. But the preposition ἐν before σ and ζ remains throughout unchanged; as, ἐνσεΐω, ἐνζέομαι. On the other hand, the preposition σύν, before σ followed by a vowel, changes ν into σ; as, συνσαιτία, συνσεΐω, for συνσαιτία, συνσεΐω.

14. When the letter ν, and τ, δ, or θ following, are together rejected before σ, then the vowel remaining, if short, is changed into a diphthong, namely, ε into ει, and ο into ου; and, if a doubtful vowel, is lengthened. The long vowels η and ω remain unchanged. Thus,

τυφθεντσι	becomes	τυφθεΐσι.
σπενδσω	"	σπείσω.
λεοντσι	"	λέουσι.
τυπτοντσι	"	τύπτουσι.
τυφαντσι	"	τύφᾱσι.
γίγαντσι	"	γίγᾱσι.
δεικνυντσι	"	δείκνῡσι.
τυπτωντσι	"	τύπτωσι.

In some instances this alteration takes place when only ν has been rejected; as, ἐνς becomes εἷς; τάλανς, τάλᾱς; μέλανς, μέλᾱς.

XIII. FIGURES AFFECTING SYLLABLES.

1. Prosthesis is the addition of one or more letters at the beginning of a word ; as, συμκρός for μικρός ; εἰλκοσι for εἰκοσι.¹

2. Paragoge is the addition of one or more letters at the end of a word ; as, ἦσθα for ἦς ; λόγουσιν for λόγους.

3. Epenhesis is the insertion of one or more letters in the body of a word ; as, πτόλεμος for πόλεμος ; ὀπότερος for ὀπότερος.

4. Syncöpe is the taking away of one or more letters from the body of a word ; as, τέραος for τέρατος ; πατρός for πατέρως.

5. Aphæresis is the taking away of one or more letters from the beginning of a word ; as, εἰβω for λείβω ; ῆ for φῆ or ἐφη.

6. Apocöpe is the taking away of one or more letters from the end of a word ; as, πάρ for παρά ; δῶ for δῶμα.

7. Metathesis is the transposition of letters and syllables ; as, ἐπαρθον for ἐπαρθον, from πέρθω ; ἔδρακον for ἔδαρκον, from δέρκω ; κραδία for καρδία ; ἀταρπός for ἀτραπός.

8. Tmēsis is the separation of the preposition of a compound from the verb by means of some other word intervening ; as, ὑπὲρ τινὰ ἔχειν for ὑπερέχειν τινά.

XIV. DIALECTS.²

1. The principal dialects of the Greek language are four ; the Æolic, Doric, Ionic, and Attic.

2. The Æolic retained the most numerous traces of the early Greek, and hence the Latin coincides more with this than with the other dialects. It was distinguished from the Doric by trifling differences ; chiefly, however, by the use of the digamma before vowels at the beginning and in the middle of words, and before some consonants, as ρ; whereas the digamma was dropped by the Doric and other dialects.

1. Most, if not all, of the examples of prosthesis are, in fact, old forms of the language. So also those of paragoge and epenthesis.

2. For more particular remarks concerning the dialects, consult Excursus D, and the observations at the end of each declension, &c.

3. The Doric was hard, rough, and broad, particularly from the frequent use of α for η and ω; as, ἄ λάθα for ἡ λήθη; τῶν κορᾶν for τῶν κορῶν; and from the use of two consonants, where the other Greeks employed the double consonants; as, μελισσεται for μελιζεται, &c., which was also the custom in Æolic. It was rudest among the Spartans, the enemies of all change, and was spoken in its greatest purity by the Messenians.

4. The Ionian was the softest of all the dialects, on account of the frequent meeting of vowels, and the rejection of aspirated letters. Thus, they said ποιέω for ποιῶ; τύπτω for τύπτου; δέχομαι for δέχομαι; ἀπαίρῶ for ἀφαιρῶ. Hence also it is fond of the hiatus, or confluence of vowel sounds, against which the Attic so carefully guards.

5. The Attic was the most polished dialect, and forms the basis of our ordinary grammars. It avoided the collision of vowel sounds, and was, therefore, fond of contractions. It differed from the Ionian by using the long α where the Ionians employed the η after a vowel or the letter ρ, and by preferring the consonants with an aspirate, which the Ionians rejected. It employed, also, in its later stages, the double ρρ instead of the old ρς, and the double ττ instead of the hissing σσ.

XV. PARTS OF SPEECH.

1. There are eight parts of speech in Greek, namely, Article (ἄρθρον), Noun (ὄνομα), Adjective (ἐπίθετον), Pronoun (ἀντωνυμία), Verb (ῥήμα), Adverb (ἐπιρρήμα), Preposition (προθέσις), and Conjunction (σύνδεσμος).

2. The Interjection is ranked among adverbs.

3. The Article, Noun, Adjective, and Pronoun are δε clined by Genders (γένη), Cases (πτώσεις), and Numbers (ἀριθμοί).

4. There are three Genders; the Masculine (γένος ἀρσενικόν), Feminine (θηλυκόν), and Neuter (οὐδέτερον); and to mark the gender the article is usually employed in grammar; namely, ὁ for the masculine, ἡ for the feminine, and τό for the neuter. Thus, ὁ ἄνθρωπος, "the man;" ἡ γυνή, "the woman;" τὸ χρῆμα, "the thing." Some nouns, however, are both masculine and feminine; as, ὁ, ἡ, κότινος, "the wild olive-tree." These are said to be of the common gender.

5. There are three numbers, the Singular (ἀριθμὸς ἐνικός), Dual (δ्वικός), and Plural (πληθυντικός). The singular denotes one; the plural more than one; the dual, two, or a pair.

6. There are five cases, the Nominative (πτώσις ὀνομαστική), Genitive (γενική), Dative (δοτική), Accusative (αἰτιατική), and Vocative (κλητική).

7. The Greek name of the ablative would be ἀφαιρετική, but the national grammarians of Greece do not make mention of this case, because in Greek its form is, in every instance, the same with the dative.

GENERAL RULES.

1. Nouns of the neuter gender have the nominative, accusative, and vocative alike in all the numbers; and these cases in the plural end always in α.

2. The nominative and vocative plural are always alike.

3. The nominative, accusative, and vocative dual are alike; as also the genitive and dative.

4. The dative singular in all three declensions ends in ι. In the first two, however, the ι is subscribed.

5. The genitive plural ends always in ων.

XVI. THE ARTICLE.

1. The article is a word prefixed to a noun, and serving to ascertain or define it. Its declension is as follows :

Singular.

	Masc.	Fem.	Neuter.
Nom.	ὁ	ἡ	τό	the.
Gen.	τοῦ	τῆς	τοῦ	of the.
Dat.	τῷ	τῇ	τῷ	to the.
Accus.	τόν	τήν	τό	the.

Dual.

Nom. }	τῶ	τά	τῶ	the two.
Accus. }
Gen. }	τοῖν	ταῖν	τοῖν	of or to the
Dat. }				two.

Plural.

Nom.	οἱ	αἱ	τά	the.
Gen.	τῶν	τῶν	τῶν	of the.
Dat.	τοῖς	ταῖς	τοῖς	to the.
Accus.	τούς	τάς	τά	the.

REMARKS ON THE ARTICLE.

1. The article was originally a demonstrative pronoun; but, in the later Ionic and Attic dialects, it became merely a means of defining nouns.¹

1. In the older grammars two articles are given; the prepositive, ὁ, ἡ, τό, and the postpositive, ὁς, ἥ, δ, which we call, at the present day, the relative pronoun. In a sentence like the following, "This is the man who will deliver us" (ὁὗτος ἐστιν ὁ ἀνὴρ ὃς σώσει ἡμᾶς), the two words "the" and "who" (ὁ and ὃς) refer so intimately to each other, and lock, as it were, into one another so much like joints, connecting in this way the two clauses as members or limbs of one sentence, that the Greeks termed them ἄρθρα, articuli, or joints. The first of these, however, namely, ὁ, ἡ, τό, stands very commonly with its simple clause alone, and is therefore, strictly speaking, in such instances no longer an article or joint. But this arises from the circumstance, that, in very many instances of this kind, the second clause is not expressed in words, but is left to be mentally supplied; such as, "who is spoken of," or

2. There is no form of the article for the vocative, for ω is an interjection.

3. If the particles $\gamma\epsilon$ and $\delta\epsilon$ are annexed to the article, it has the signification of the pronoun "this," but the declension remains the same. Thus, $\delta\delta\epsilon$, $\eta\eta\epsilon$, $\tau\acute{o}\delta\epsilon$, genitive $\tau\omicron\upsilon\delta\epsilon$, $\tau\eta\sigma\delta\epsilon$, $\tau\omicron\upsilon\eta\delta\epsilon$, &c.

4. In the early Greek the article was $\tau\acute{o}\varsigma$, $\tau\acute{\eta}$, $\tau\acute{o}$, and hence arise the plural $\tau\omicron\iota$, $\tau\alpha\iota$ in Doric and Ionic, and the τ in the neuter and the oblique cases.

XVII. NOUNS.

1. The Declensions ($\kappa\lambda\iota\sigma\epsilon\iota\varsigma$) of nouns are three, corresponding to the first three declensions in Latin.

2. The First Declension has four terminations: two feminine, α and η ; and two masculine, $\alpha\varsigma$ and $\eta\varsigma$.

3. The Second Declension has two terminations, $\omicron\varsigma$ and $\omicron\nu$. Nouns in $\omicron\varsigma$ are generally masculine, sometimes feminine; nouns in $\omicron\nu$ are always neuter.

4. The Third Declension ends in α , ι , υ , neuter; ω feminine; and ν , ξ , ρ , σ , ψ , of all genders; and increases in the genitive.

XVIII. FIRST DECLENSION.

Terminations.

α	} feminine .		$\alpha\varsigma$	} masculine .
η			$\eta\varsigma$

1. Nouns in $\rho\alpha$ and α pure, that is, α preceded by a vowel, together with some proper names, as $\Delta\acute{\eta}\delta\alpha$, $\text{'}\text{Ανδρομέδα$, Φιλομήλα , Διοτίμα , and also the substantive $\acute{\alpha}\lambda\alpha\lambda\acute{\alpha}$, "a war-cry," have the genitive in $\alpha\varsigma$, and retain their α through all the cases of the singular.

"who is here concerned," or "whom you know," &c. Hence it became, by degrees, a usage of the language to annex the prepositive article δ , η , $\tau\acute{o}$ by itself to every object which is to be represented as definite, either by means of the language itself or from the circumstances. In their whole theory, however, the two articles are adjective pronouns. (Bushman's larger Grammar, p. 121, Robinson's transl.)

2. All the contracted nouns of this declension likewise retain the α in the genitive and other cases of the singular ; as, μνᾶ, μν-ᾶς, &c. ; Ἀθηνᾶ, Ἀθην-ᾶς, &c.

3. All other nouns in α have the genitive in ης, and dative in ῃ ; but in the accusative and vocative they resume their α.

4. Nouns in η retain the η throughout the singular number, making the accusative in ην, and the vocative in η.

DECLINE

Like ἡμέρα, θύρα, a door,
ἐδρά, a seat,
ἀγορά, a market-place,
ἄγκυρα, an anchor,
γέφυρα, a bridge.

Like δόξα, γλῶσσα, a tongue,
δίψα, thirst,
πείνα, hunger,
θάλασσα, a sea,
ρίζα, a root,
ἀμιλλα, a contest.

Like σοφία, οικία, a house,
σκία, a shadow,
φιλία, friendship,
αἰτία, a cause,
ἀλήθεια, truth.

Like κεφαλή, κόμη, hair,
φωνή, a voice,
ὥδη, a song,
νεφέλη, a cloud,
σελήνη, the moon,
τιμή, honour.

5. Nouns in ας make the genitive in ου, and the dative in ῃ, and the remaining cases like those of ἡμέρα.

6. Nouns in ης make the genitive in ου, the accusative in ην, and the vocative in η, and the rest like ἡμέρα.

EXAMPLES.

ὁ νεανίας, "the youth."

Singular.	Dual.	Plural.
N. ὁ νεανί-ας ,	N. τὸ νεανί-α ,	N. οἱ νεανί-αι ,
G. τοῦ νεανί-ου ,	G. τοῖν νεανί-αιν ,	G. τῶν νεανί-ων ,
D. τῷ νεανί-ῃ ,	D. τοῖν νεανί-αιν ,	D. τοῖς νεανί-αις ,
A. τὸν νεανί-αν ,	A. τὸ νεανί-α ,	A. τοὺς νεανί-ας ,
V. νεανί-α .	V. νεανί-α .	V. νεανί-αι .

ὁ τελώνης, "the tax-gatherer."

Singular.	Dual.	Plural.
N. ὁ τελών-ης ,	N. τὸ τελών-α ,	N. οἱ τελών-αι ,
G. τοῦ τελών-ου ,	G. τοῖν τελών-αιν ,	G. τῶν τελών-ων ,
D. τῷ τελών-ῃ ,	D. τοῖν τελών-αιν ,	D. τοῖς τελών-αις ,
A. τὸν τελών-ην ,	A. τὸ τελών-α ,	A. τοὺς τελών-ας ,
V. τελών-η .	V. τελών-α .	V. τελών-αι .

DECLINE

Like νεανίας, μονίας, a solitary,
ταμίας, a steward,
κοχλίας, a snail,
Ἄνκειας, Æneas,
Πυθαγόρας, Pythagoras, Ἀναξάγορας, Anaxagoras.

Like τελώνης, ἑκινάκης, a short sword, χειροτέχνης, a workman,
αἰγοθήλης, a goat-sucker, ἐλληνοδίκης, a judge at the games,
Ἀτρείδης, Atreides, Ἀγχίσης, Anchises.

7. Nouns in της, compounds in νης; as, κυνώπης, “an imprudent person ;” names indicative of nations; as, Πέρσης, “a Persian,” Σκυθης, “a Scythian ;” together with derivatives from μετρῶ, πωλῶ, and τρίβω, as, γεωμέτρης, “a geometer,” μυροπώλης, “a vender of perfumes,” παιδοτρίβης, “a teacher of gymnastics,” make the vocative singular in ᾱ, not in η. Thus, κυνώπης, voc. κυνῶπᾱ; Πέρσης, voc. Πέρσᾱ. But Πέρσης, a man’s name (Perses), makes η.

8. Nouns in στης have η or ᾱ in the vocative; as, ληστής, “a robber,” voc. ληστήη or ληστά.

CONTRACTIONS OF THE FIRST DECLENSION.

1. In forming these contractions, ea preceded by ρ, and also aa, make ᾱ; as, ἐρέα, contracted ἐρᾱ, “wool ;” μνάα, “a mina ;” βορέας, βορρᾱς, “the north wind.”

2. But ea not preceded by ρ, together with εη and οη, become ῆ; as, γέα, γῆ, “the earth ;” γαλέη, γαλῆ, “a weasel ;” διπλόη, διπλῆ, “double ;” Ἑρμέας, Ἑρμῆς, “Mercury ;” Ἀπελλέης, Ἀπελλῆς, “Apelles.”

3. In the genitive, ον absorbs the preceding vowel; as, Ἑρμέον, Ἑρμοῦ.

DIALECTS OF THE FIRST DECLENSION.

1. Instead of the terminations ης and ας of the nominative singular, the Æolians employed ᾱ. Hence ποιητῆς and νεανίας become, in Æolic Greek, ποιητᾱ, νεανιᾱ. So also we have in the same dialect the Homeric nominatives, μητιέτᾱ, νεφέλληγερέτᾱ, εὐρύπᾱ, &c. From this source comes the Latin nominative singular of the first declension, poetā, cometā, &c.

2. The Æolians made the genitive singular end in αῖς, and also in ας, which latter form was common unto them with the Dorians. Thus, ἡμέραις for ἡμέρας; δόξας for δόξης, from the Æolic nominative δόξᾱ. From the genitive in αῖς the Latins derived, by dropping the final ς, their old genitive of the first declension in aī, as musai, aulai, terrai, which afterward changed to e. The other genitive, namely, that in ας, gave rise to another early form of the genitive in Latin, that in as, which still remains in paterfamilias, materfamilias, &c.

3. The Æolians used in the genitive plural ᾶων instead of ων, and in the accusative plural they had αις for ας. Thus, μελισσᾶων for μελισσών; καλαῖς, σοφαῖς, for καλάς, σοφᾶς.

4. The Dorians employed the broad ā in the termination as well as other parts of the nominative and oblique cases. Thus, φήμη, Doric φάμā; νύμφη, Doric νύμφā; φήμην; Doric φάμαν, &c.

5. The Dorians give nouns in ας the genitive in ᾱ; as, Alveίας, gen. Alveīā; Πηλείδας, gen. Πηλείδā. This genitive is formed by contraction from āo; thus Alveīāo, contracted Alveīā; Πηλείδāo, contracted Πηλείδā. So, also, in the plural, they contracted ᾶων into āν, saying for Μελιᾶων, Μελιāν; for Θηλυτερᾶων, Θηλυτερāν, &c., where the Ionic has ἑων, and the Attic ῶν.

6. The Ionians changed the long a of this declension into η; as, σοφίη, ἡμέρη, νεηνίης, &c.; very seldom, however, the short a. The Ionians also changed ον of the genitive singular into ew, and ων of the genitive plural into εων; thus Ἀτρεῖδεω for Ἀτρείδον; ποιητέω for ποιητοῦ; κομητέων for κομητῶν; ικετέων for ικετῶν.

7. The Ionians employed the termination ea instead of ην in the accusative singular of nouns in ης; as, δεσπότηea for δεσπότην; Καμβύσεa for Καμβύσην. So in the accusative plural they used εας for ας; as, δεσπότεας for δεσπότας.

8. The Ionians, in the Dative plural, employed ησι for αις as, δεσπότησι for δεσπόταις; νησιώτησι for νησιώταις

XIX. SECOND DECLENSION.

Terminations.

ος, masculine, sometimes feminine.

ον, always neuter.¹

ὁ λόγος, "the discourse."

Singular.	Dual.	Plural.
N. ὁ λόγ-ος,	N. τῷ λόγ-ω,	N. οἱ λόγ-οι,
G. τοῦ λόγ-ου,	G. τοῦν λόγ-οιν,	G. τῶν λόγ-ων,
D. τῷ λόγ-ῳ,	D. τοῖν λόγ-οιν,	D. τοῖς λόγ-οις,
A. τὸν λόγ-ον,	A. τῷ λόγ-ῳ,	A. τοὺς λόγ-ους,
V. λόγ-ε.	V. λόγ-ω.	V. λόγ-οι.

ἡ ὁδός, "the way."

Singular.	Dual.	Plural.
N. ἡ ὁδ-ός,	N. τὰ ὁδ-ῶ,	N. αἱ ὁδ-οί,
G. τῆς ὁδ-οῦ,	G. ταῖν ὁδ-οῖν,	G. τῶν ὁδ-ῶν,
D. τῇ ὁδ-ῷ,	D. ταῖν ὁδ-οῖν,	D. ταῖς ὁδ-οῖς,
A. τὴν ὁδ-ὸν,	A. τὰ ὁδ-ῶ,	A. τὰς ὁδ-οὺς,
V. ὁδ-έ.	V. ὁδ-ῶ.	V. ὁδ-οί.

τὸ δῶρον, "the gift."

Singular.	Dual.	Plural.
N. τὸ δῶρ-ον,	N. τῷ δῶρ-ω,	N. τὰ δῶρ-α,
G. τοῦ δῶρ-ον,	G. τοῖν δῶρ-οιν,	G. τῶν δῶρ-ων,
D. τῷ δῶρ-ῳ,	D. τοῖν δῶρ-οιν,	D. τοῖς δῶρ-οις,
A. τὸ δῶρ-ον,	A. τῷ δῶρ-ῳ,	A. τὰ δῶρ-α,
V. δῶρ-ον.	V. δῶρ-ω.	V. δῶρ-α.

1. Except in diminutives of female names, where, by a species of synesis, the gender refers to the person meant, not to the termination of the noun. Thus, ἡ Γλυκερίον, from Γλυκερά; ἡ Δεόντιον, &c. So in Teronco, "mea Glycerium."

DECLINE

Like λόγος, ὄχλος, a people,

 κύριος, a master,
 ἄνθρωπος, a man,
 ἀδελφός, a brother,
 υἱός, a son,
 ἄνεμος, a wind,
 ἄγγελος, a messenger,
 νόμος, a law,
 οἶκος, a house,
 οἶνος, wine.

Like δῶρον, δένδρον, a tree,

 ξύλον, wood,
 ὄργανον, an instrument,
 ἔργον, a work,
 μήλον, an apple,
 πρόβατον, a sheep,
 ζῶον, an animal,
 τέκνον, a child,
 ῥόδον, a rose,
 σύκον, a fig.

Like δόδος, ἄμπελος, a vine,

 νῆσος, an island,
 νόσος, a disease,
 σποδός, ashes,
 παρθένος, a maiden, βιβλος, a book.

1. Many words of this declension have a double gender, as something masculine or feminine is denoted by them ; as, ὁ θεός, the god, ἡ θεός, the goddess ; ὁ ἄνθρωπος, the man, ἡ ἄνθρωπος, the woman ; ὁ ἄρκτος, the he-bear, ἡ ἄρκτος, the she-bear, &c.

2. Others, again, have a double gender, without such ground ; as, ὁ, ἡ, ῥινός, the skin ; ὁ, ἡ, θάμνος, the shrub ; ὁ, ἡ, λύρα, the lyre ; ὁ, ἡ, ὁδός, the path, &c.

3. Some with the gender alter likewise the meaning ; as, ὁ ζυγός, the yoke, ἡ ζυγός, the balance ; ὁ ἵππος, the horse, ἡ ἵππος, the cavalry, and also the mare ; ὁ λέκιθος, pulse-broth, ἡ λέκιθος, the yolk of an egg.

4. The following become neuter in the plural :

ὁ βόστρυχος,	the curl,	τὰ βόστρυχα.
ὁ δεσμός,	the chain,	τὰ δεσμά.
ὁ θεσμός,	the law,	τὰ θεσμά.
ὁ δίφρος,	the chariot-seat,	τὰ δίφρα.
ἡ κέλευθος,	the way,	τὰ κέλευθα.
ὁ λύχνος,	the torch,	τὰ λύχνα.
ὁ σίτος,	the corn,	τὰ σῖτα.

5. The vocative singular has not only ϵ , but likewise \omicron for a termination. Thus, δ θεός, voc. $\acute{\omicron}$ θεός. So, also, $\acute{\omicron}$ φίλος, &c. This is particularly the case in the Attic dialect.

ATTIC FORM OF DECLENSION.¹

1. The Attic form of declension makes the vocative like the nominative, and has ω in the termination of every case.

2. The final ν is often omitted in the accusative singular; as, λαγώ for λαγών; νεώ for νεών; ξω for ξων. This is particularly the case in proper names; as, Κῶ, Κέω, Τέω, Ἀθω, for Κῶν, Κέων, &c.

EXAMPLES.

δ λαγώς, "the hare."

Singular.	Dual.	Plural.
N. δ λαγ-ός,	N. τὸ λαγ-ώ,	N. οἱ λαγ-ῶ,
G. τοῦ λαγ-ώ,	G. τοῖν λαγ-ῶν,	G. τῶν λαγ-ῶν,
D. τῷ λαγ-ῷ,	D. τοῖν λαγ-ῶν,	D. τοῖς λαγ-ῶς,
A. τὸν λαγ-ών,	A. τὼ λαγ-ῶ,	A. τοὺς λαγ-ῶς,
V. λαγ-ός.	V. λαγ-ώ.	V. λαγ-ῶ.

τὸ ἀνώγειν, "the dining-room."

Singular.	Dual.	Plural.
N. τὸ ἀνώγε-ον,	N. τὼ ἀνώγε-ω,	N. τὰ ἀνώγε-ω,
G. τοῦ ἀνώγε-ω,	G. τοῖν ἀνώγε-ων,	G. τῶν ἀνώγε-ων,
D. τῷ ἀνώγε-ω,	D. τοῖν ἀνώγε-ων,	D. τοῖς ἀνώγε-ως,
A. τὸ ἀνώγε-ον,	A. τὼ ἀνώγε-ω,	A. τὰ ἀνώγε-ω,
V. ἀνώγε-ον.	V. ἀνώγε-ω.	V. ἀνώγε-ω.

1. The neuters of some adjectives have also ω in the nominative and accusative, especially ἀγήρως, neuter ἀγήρω.

2. Words, which otherwise belong to the third declension, are often declined after this particular form; as, Μένω

1. Buttmann calls this an old and peculiar mode of inflection, employed by the Attics (Ausf. Sprachl., p. 157). Thiersch, on the contrary (G. G., § 53, 4), maintains, that these forms arise merely from the rejection of the formal letters \omicron , ϵ , α after the vowels contracted into $\epsilon\omega$. Buttmann's opinion is undoubtedly the true one.

28 CONTRACTIONS OF THE SECOND DECLENSION.

(from Μίνως, Μίνωος) for Μίνωα in the accusative. So, also, γέλων (from γέλως, γέλωτος) for γέλωτα; and ἥρων (from ἥρωος, ἥρωος) for ἥρωα.

3. Only one neuter in ως is assigned to this form of declension, namely, τὸ χρέως, the debt. According to the ancient grammarians, it has χρέως not only in the accusative, but also in the genitive singular. All the other parts are formed from χρέος; thus pl. χρέᾱ, &c.

CONTRACTIONS OF THE SECOND DECLENSION.

1. The letters εο, οε, and οο become οῦ; as, ἀδελφιδέος contracted ἀδελφιδοῦς; νόε, νοῦ; νόος, νοῦς.

2. A short vowel before a long one, or a diphthong, is absorbed; as, πλόων, πλῶν; πλόοιν, πλοῖν.

3. In the neuter, α absorbs the preceding vowel, and becomes long; as, ὀστέα, ὀστᾶ.

4. In the vocative, εε is not contracted; as, ἀδελφίδεε.

EXAMPLES.

ὁ νόος, contracted νοῦς, "the mind."

Singular.	Dual.	Plural.
N. ὁ νό-ος, νοῦς,	N. τὸ νό-ω, νῶ,	N. οἱ νό-οι, νοῖ,
G. τοῦ νό-ου, νοῦ,	G. τοῖν νό-οιν, νοῖν,	G. τῶν νό-ων, νῶν,
D. τῷ νό-ῳ, νῶ,	D. τοῖν νό-οιν, νοῖν,	D. τοῖς νό-οις, νοῖς,
A. τὸν νό-ον, νοῖν,	A. τῷ νό-ῳ, νῶ,	A. τοῖς νό-οις, νοῖς,
V. νό-ε, νοῖ.	V. νό-ω, νῶ.	V. νό-οι, νοῖ.

τὸ ὀστέον, contracted ὀστοῦν, "the bone."

Singular.	Dual.	Plural.
N. τὸ ὀστέ-ον, ὀστ-οῦν,	N. τὸ ὀστέ-ω, ὀστ-ῶ,	N. τὰ ὀστέ-α, ὀστ-ᾶ,
G. τοῦ ὀστέ-ου, ὀστ-οῦ,	G. τοῖν ὀστέ-οιν, ὀστ-οῖν,	G. τῶν ὀστέ-ων, ὀστ-ῶν,
D. τῷ ὀστέ-ῳ, ὀστ-ῶ,	D. τοῖν ὀστέ-οιν, ὀστ-οῖν,	D. τοῖς ὀστέ-οις, ὀστ-οῖς,
A. τὸ ὀστέ-ον, ὀστ-οῖν,	A. τῷ ὀστέ-ῳ, ὀστ-ῶ,	A. τὰ ὀστέ-α, ὀστ-ᾶ,
V. ὀστέ-ον, ὀστ-οῖν.	V. ὀστέ-ω, ὀστ-ῶ.	V. ὀστέ-α, ὀστ-ᾶ.

DIALECTS OF THE SECOND DECLENSION.

1. The Æolians wrote the dative singular without the ι subscribed; as, σοφῶ for σοφῷ. Hence the Latin dative and ablative in o of the second declension. In the accusative plural they are said to have employed the termination οις for ονς ; as, κάπτοις νόμοις for κατὰ τοὺς νόμους.

2. The Dorians changed the termination ος of the nominative into ορ ; as, Τιμόσεορ ὁ Μιλήσιορ for Τιμόθεος ὁ Μιλήσιος. In the genitive singular they changed the termination ου into ω ; as, τῷ νόμω for τοῦ νόμου. And in the accusative plural they employed the termination ως for ονς ; as, τὼς λύκως for τοὺς λύκους. Hence the accusative plural in ος of the second declension of Latin nouns.

3. The Ionians use εω, in the termination of the genitive singular, for ου ; as, Κροισέω for Κροίσου ; Βαπτέω for Βαπτου. In the plural they changed ων of the genitive into έων ; as, πεσσέων for πεσσών ; πυρέων for πυρών ; and in the dative used οισι for οις ; as, λίθοισι for λίθοις.

4. The form of the genitive οιο for ου occurs for the most part in the poets only, chiefly the epic. The original form of the genitive seems to have been -οο (analogous to αο in the first declension), whence came οιο, and by contraction ου. In the genitive and dative dual the epic poets insert an ι ; as, ἱπποῖιν, ῥομοῖιν, σταθμοῖιν.

5. The old form of the dative occurs also in Attic ; as, κακοῖσιν, Plat. Gorg. p. 497, D. ; τούτοις, ib. p. 28 ; οἰκοῖσιν, Soph. Œd. T. 249, &c.

XX. THIRD DECLENSION.

Terminations.

α, ι, υ, neuter.

ω, feminine.

υ, ξ, ρ, σ, ψ, of all genders.

1. The third declension is distinguished from the two preceding in making the oblique cases longer by one syllable than the nominative. In other words, it is said to increase in the genitive. The genitive ends always in ος.

2. The root of the words in this declension is generally disguised in the nominative by added vowels and consonants, and is to be discovered by taking away ος from the genitive. Thus, nominative ὁ δαίμων, "the deity," genitive δαίμων-ος, root δαίμων ; ὁ γίγας, "the giant," gen. γί-

ντ-ος, root γίγαντ; τὸ σῶμα, "the body," gen. σώματ-ος, of σώματ, &c.

EXAMPLES.¹

ὁ θῆρ, "the wild beast."

Singular.	Dual.	Plural.
N. ὁ θῆρ,	N. τὼ θῆρ-ε,	N. οἱ θῆρ-ες,
G. τοῦ θῆρ-ός,	G. τοῖν θῆρ-οῖν,	G. τῶν θῆρ-ῶν,
D. τῷ θῆρ-ί,	D. τοῖν θῆρ-οῖν,	D. τοῖς θῆρ-σί,
A. τὸν θῆρ-α,	A. τὼ θῆρ-ε,	A. τοὺς θῆρ-ας,
V. θῆρ.	V. θῆρ-ε.	V. θῆρ-ες.

ὁ αἰών, "the age."

Singular.	Dual.	Plural.
N. ὁ αἰών,	N. τὼ αἰών-ε,	N. οἱ αἰών-ες,
G. τοῦ αἰών-ος,	G. τοῖν αἰών-οιν,	G. τῶν αἰών-ων,

A. τὸν αἰών-α,	A. τὼ αἰών-ε,	A. τοὺς αἰών-ας,
V. αἰών.	V. αἰών-ε.	V. αἰών-ες.

ὁ δαίμων, "the deity."

Singular.	Dual.	Plural.
N. ὁ δαίμων,	N. τὼ δαίμων-ε,	N. οἱ δαίμων-ες,
G. τοῦ δαίμων-ος,	G. τοῖν δαίμων-οιν,	G. τῶν δαίμων-ων,
D. τῷ δαίμων-ι,	D. τοῖν δαίμων-οιν,	D. τοῖς δαίμο-σι, ³
A. τὸν δαίμων-α,	A. τὼ δαίμων-ε,	A. τοὺς δαίμων-ας,
V. δαίμων.	V. δαίμων-ε.	V. δαίμων-ες.

ὁ λέων, "the lion."

Singular.	Dual.	Plural.
N. ὁ λέων,	N. τὼ λέοντ-ε,	N. οἱ λέοντ-ες,
G. τοῦ λέοντ-ος,	G. τοῖν λέοντ-οιν,	G. τῶν λέοντ-ων,
D. τῷ λέοντ-ι,	D. τοῖν λέοντ-οιν,	D. τοῖς λέου-σι, ⁴
A. τὸν λέοντ-α,	A. τὼ λέοντ-ε,	A. τοὺς λέοντ-ας,
V. λέων.	V. λέοντ-ε.	V. λέοντ-ες.

1. We have placed the paradigms before the remarks on the formation of the cases, an arrangement less repulsive to the learner than the other would have been; though, in strictness, the remarks on the cases ought to come first.

2. Old form αἰών-σι, whence, by rejecting ν before σ, we have αἰώ-σι.

3. Old form δαίμων-σι, whence, by rejecting ν before σ, and retaining the short vowel of the root, we have δαίμο-σι.

4. Old form λέοντ-σι, whence, by rejecting the ντ and changing ο into ου, we have λέου-σι.

ἡ λαίλαψ, "the storm."

Singular.	Dual.	Plural.
N. ἡ λαίλαψ,	N. τὰ λαίλαπ-ε,	N. αἱ λαίλαπ-ες,
G. τῆς λαίλαπ-ος,	G. ταῖν λαίλαπ-οιν,	G. τῶν λαίλαπ-ων,
D. τῇ λαίλαπ-ι,	D. ταῖν λαίλαπ-οιν,	D. ταῖς λαίλαψ-ι, ¹
A. τὴν λαίλαπ-α,	A. τὰ λαίλαπ-ε,	A. τὰς λαίλαπ-ας,
V. λαίλαψ.	V. λαίλαπ-ε.	V. λαίλαπ-ες.

ἡ πτέρυξ, "the wing."

Singular.	Dual.	Plural.
N. ἡ πτέρυξ,	N. τὰ πτέρυγ-ε,	N. αἱ πτέρυγ-ες.
G. τῆς πτέρυγ-ος,	G. ταῖν πτερύγ-οιν,	G. τῶν πτερύγ-ων,

FORMATION OF THE CASES.

Genitive.

a general rule, the genitive singular of nouns of the declension is formed by adding ος to the termination of the root, such changes taking place, at the same time, as laws of euphony require.

Some nouns, and chiefly those which, in the nominative, end in ν or ρ, form the genitive by adding ος to the termination of the nominative; as, μήν, "a month," gen. μήν-ος; σωτήρ, "a preserver," gen. σωτήρ-ος, &c. In the τ part, however, the long vowel in the termination of the nominative is changed into the corresponding short; as, λιμήν, "a harbour," gen. λιμέν-ος; μήτηρ, "a mother," gen. μητέρ-ος; χελιδών, "a swallow," gen. χελιδόν-ος, &c.

When the nominative already has a final ς, this final disappears before the ος of the genitive, and the long ς preceding it in the termination of the nominative is reduced into its corresponding short; as, τριήρης, "a trireme," gen. τριήρεος, &c.

When the nominative ends in a double consonant, as ξ (which is equivalent to γς, κς, or χς) or ψ (equivalent to βς, πς, or φς), the double consonant is resolved into its component parts, the termination ος is added, and the ς, or final letter of the root, is thrown out; as, γῶς, "a goat," resolved into αίγς, genitive αίγ-ός; ἀλώπηξ, "a pike," resolved into ἀλώπηκς, genitive (with the short α) ἀλώπεκ-ος. So, also, θρίξ, "hair," gen. τριχ-ός; φλέψ, "a vein" (φλέβς), gen. φλεβ-ός; ὄψ, "an eye" (ὄπς), gen. ὄπ-ός; κατήλιψ, "a roof" (ιφς), gen. κατήλιφ-ος. In like manner, φάλαγξ, "a phalanx" (αγς), gen. φάλαγγ-ος; λάρυγξ, "the larynx" (γς), gen. λάρυγγ-ος.¹

¹ Sometimes, instead of these, which were the regular forms, we find only a single γ; as, φάρυγος, Od. 9, 373; Eurip. Cycl. 10 λάρυγος, Schweigh. ad Athen. vol. iv., p. 545. But λύγξ 12, has both λυγός and λυγός. So, also, νύξ and ἄναξ make ἀνακτος, the τ being a part of the root (νύκστ) of the former, the case of the latter, being brought in probably to strengthen

4. Nominatives in ās, εις, and ους, being, for the most part, formed from roots ending in αντς, εντς, οντς (where the ν and τ are thrown out, and the preceding short vowel is either made long or else is changed into a diphthong), have their genitives in αντος, εντος, or οντος. Thus, ἐλέφας, "an elephant" (root ἐλέφαντς), genitive ἐλέφαντ-ος; Σιμόεις, "the river Simois" (root Σιμόεντς), gen. Σιμόεντ-ος; ὀδούς, "a tooth" (root ὀδόντς), gen. ὀδόντ-ος.

5. Words which end in α, ι, υ, add the syllable τος to the termination of the nominative, and thus form the genitive case; as, σῶμα, "a body," genitive σώματ-ος; μέλι, "honey," gen. μέλιτ-ος. Those in υ change also this vowel into α before τος; as, δόρυ, "a spear," gen. δόρατ-ος; γόνυ, "a knee," gen. γόνυατ-ος. In strictness, however, these nouns in α, ι, υ come from roots that terminate in τ; as, σώματ, μέλιτ; and hence ος is only added, in fact, to the root. While with regard to the vowel-change in γόνυ, δόρυ, and other words of similar ending, it must be borne in mind that the old nominatives were in ας, as γόνας, δόρας (i. e. γόνατς, δόρατς), whence, of course, the genitives γόνατ-ος and δόρατ-ος, by dropping the final ς of the root.¹

6. Words in αρ make either ατος in the genitive; as, ὄνειαρ, "a dream," gen. ὄνειατ-ος; ἥπαρ, "the liver," gen. ἥπατ-ος; ἡμαρ, "a day," gen. ἡματ-ος; φρέαρ, "a well," gen. φρέατ-ος; or else αρος; as, ἔαρ, "spring," gen. ἔαρ-ος; θέναρ, "the palm of the hand," gen. θέναρ-ος. But δάμαρ makes δάμαρτ-ος.

7. Neuters in ās make partly ατος; as, κρέας, "flesh," genitive κρέατ-ος; κέρας, "a horn," gen. κέρατ-ος. More commonly, however, they form the genitive in αος; as, κνέφας, "darkness," gen. κνέφα-ος, in which case the Attics contract the termination αος into ως; as, κέρως, κρέως, &c.

the root ανακ, after the removal of the ς. From the regular declension of ἄναξ (i. e., ἄνακ-ος in the genitive, &c.) comes Ἀνακτες, the name of Castor and Pollux; while, on the other hand, the oblique cases of nox in Latin show the t of the root. Compare the German nacht and the English night.

1. Matthiæ, G. G. vol. i., § 72, 1. The noun γάλα, "milk," makes γάλακτ-ος, as from γάλαξ (i. e., γάλακτς); σίνγητι, "mustard," makes, according to § 11, σινήπι-ος, and in Attic σινήπε-ως; ἄστυ, "a city," makes ἄστε-ος, Att. ἄστε-ως. Other nouns in υ also vary from the rule above given; as, δάκρυ, "a tear," gen. δάκρυ-ος, &c.

8. Nominatives in αυς make αος and ηος; as ναῦς, "a ship," gen. ναός and νηός.

9. Nominatives in εις, different from those mentioned in § 4, make the genitive in ενος; as, κτεῖς, "a comb," gen. κτεν-ός; or in ειδός; as κλείς, "a key," gen. κλειδός.

10. Nominatives in ης, other than those alluded to under § 2, make the genitive in ητος and ηθος; as, φιλότης, "friendship," gen. φιλότητ-ος; πένης, "a poor man," gen. πένητ-ος; Πάρνης, "a mountain on the confines of Attica," gen. Πάρνηθ-ος. Here again ος is added to the termination of the roots, φιλότης, πένης, &c.

11. Nominatives in ις make the genitive in ιος, ιδος, ιθος, ιτος, and ινος. The Attics, however, changed ιος into εως. Thus, ὄφις, "a serpent," gen. ὄφι-ος (Att. οφε-ως); ἐλπίς, "hope," gen. ἐλπίδ-ος; ὄρνις, "a bird," gen. ὄρνιθ-ος; χαρίς, "a favour," gen. χάριτ-ος; ἄκτις, "a beam of the sun," gen. ἄκτιν-ος. All these terminations, like those mentioned in the preceding paragraph, are only ος added to the several roots.

12. Neuters in ος make the genitive in εος, which the Attics contract into ους; as, τείχος, "a wall," gen. τείχε-ος, contr. τείχ-ους.

13. Words in ους, other than those mentioned under § 4, make the genitive in οος; as, βοῦς, "an ox," gen. βο-ός. Some again, when ους arises by contraction from δεις, gen. δεντος, make the genitive in οῦντος; as, Ὀποῦς, "the name of a city," gen. Ὀποῦντ-ος. So, also, Τραπεζούς, μελιτούς, &c.

14. Words in υς make the genitive in υχος; as, διώρυξ, "a canal," gen. διώρυχ-ος. Others have υγος; as, Στύξ, "the river Styx," gen. Στύγ-ος.

15. Words in υς make υος; as, ὀσφύς, "the loins," gen. ὀσφύ-ος; δρῦς, "a tree," gen. δρυ-ός; and sometimes υδος, υθος, and υνος; as, χλαμύς, "a cloak," gen. χλαμῦδ-ος; κόρυς, "a helmet," gen. κόρυθ-ος; κώμυς, "a bundle," gen. κώμυθ-ος; Φόρκυς, "Phorcys," gen. Φόρκυν-ος.

16. Words in ως make ωος, ωτος, οος (contr. οῦς), and οτος. Thus, δμῶς, "a slave," gen. δμω-ός; ἥρως, "a hero," gen. ἥρω-ος; φῶς, "light," gen. φωτός; ἔρως, "love," gen. ἔρωτ-ος; αἰδώς, "modesty," gen. αἰδῶ-ος, contr. αἰδ-οῦς; τετυφῶς, perf. act. participle of τύπτω, gen. τετυφ-ότ-ος.

Accusative.

As a general rule, the accusative singular of nouns of the third declension, that are not neuter, is formed by changing ος of the genitive into α; as, μῆν, gen. μῆν-ος, accus. μῆν-α.

1. But nouns in ις, υς, αυς, and ους, whose genitive ends in ος pure, take ν instead of α; as, πόλις, "a city," gen. πόλι-ος, acc. πόλιν; ναῦς, "a ship," gen. νη-ός, acc. ναῦν; βοῦς, "an ox," gen. βό-ος, acc. βοῦν, &c.

2. Other nouns in ις, υς, &c., whose genitive ends in ος impure, and which have no accent on the last syllable of the nominative, make the accusative in α and ν, the latter particularly with the Attics. Thus, ὄρνις, "a bird," gen. ὄρνιθ-ος, acc. ὄρνιθ-α, Att. ὄρνιν; κλεῖς, "a key," gen. κλεῖδ-ος, acc. κλεῖδ-α, Att. κλεῖν. So the compounds of πούς; as, βραδύπους, "slow of foot," acc. βραδύποδ-α, Att. βραδύπουν; Οἰδίπους, "Œdipus," acc. Οἰδίποδ-α, Att. Οἰδίπουν.

Vocative.

The vocative of the third declension is generally like the nominative; and this is particularly the case among the Attic writers; as, ὁ θῆρ, "the wild beast," voc. θῆρ; ἡ χεῖρ, "the hand," voc. χεῖρ.

1. But the endings ευς, ις, υς, as also the words παῖς, "a boy," γραῦς, "an aged female," and βοῦς, "an ox," cast off their ς to form the vocative, and those in ευς then assume the circumflex; as, βασιλεύς, "a king," voc. βασιλεῦ; Πάρις, "Paris," voc. Πάρ-ι; Τῆθυς, "Tethys," voc. Τῆθ-υ; παῖς, voc. παῖ; γραῦς, voc. γραῦ; βοῦς, voc. βοῦ. Other nouns in ους more frequently retain than drop the ς. Thus, Οἰδίπ-ον is found; but Οἰδίπους is more common.

2. Words in ας and εις, which arise from old forms ending in αυς and ευς, and which form their genitive in αυος, αντος, or εντος, throw away ς in the vocative, and then, for the most part, resume the ν; as, τάλας, "miserable," gen.

τάλαν-ος, voc. τάλαν; Ἀίας, "Ajax," gen. Ἀϊαντ-ος, voc. Ἀϊαν; χαρίεις, "graceful," gen. χαρίεντ-ος, voc. χαρίεν. But several proper names in ās, αντος, have in the vocative only the long a; as, Ἀτλας, gen. Ἀτλαντ-ος, voc. Ἀτλά.

3. Words which have η or ω in the termination of the nominative, and the corresponding short vowel (ε or ο) in the genitive, and which have no acute accent on the last syllable, take the short vowel also in the vocative; as, μήτηρ, "a mother," gen. μητέρ-ος, voc. μήτηρ; ῥήτωρ, "an orator," gen. ῥήτορ-ος, voc. ῥήτωρ; Σωκράτης, "Socrates," gen. Σωκράτ-εος, voc. Σώκρατες. If, however, the last syllable of such words has the accent, then the long vowel is retained in the vocative; as, ποιμήν, "a shepherd," gen. ποιμέν-ος, voc. ποιμήν. But this only applies to nouns, not to adjectives, and hence κελαυνεφής makes in the vocative κελαυνεφές.

4. Words which retain the long vowel in the genitive keep it also in the vocative; as, Πλάτων, "Plato," gen. Πλάτων-ος, voc. Πλάτ-ων; Ξενοφών, "Xenophon," gen. Ξενοφώντ-ος, voc. Ξενοφ-ών; ιητήρ, "a physician," gen. ιητήρ-ος, voc. ιητ-ήρ. But the following three make the vowel short in the vocative; Ἀπόλλων, "Apollo," gen. Ἀπόλλων-ος, voc. Ἀπολλ-ον; Ποσειδών, "Neptune," gen. Ποσειδών-ος, voc. Πόσειδ-ον; σωτήρ, "a saviour," gen. σωτήρ-ος, voc. σῶτερ.

5. Proper names in κλῆς make -κλεις in the termination of the vocative; as, Νικοκλῆς, voc. Νικόκλ-εις. Here the nominative was originally -κλέης, and consequently the vocative is -κλεες, contracted κλεις.

6. Words in ω and ως make οι in the vocative; as, Λητώ, "Latona," voc. Λητ-οῖ; Σαπφώ, "Sappho," voc. Σαπφ-οῖ; αἰδώς, "modesty," voc. αἰδ-οῖ.

Dative Plural

The dative plural in nouns which end in εως, αυς, and ους, is formed by appending ι to the termination of the nominative singular; as, βασιλεύς, βασιλεῦσι; ναῦς, ναυσί; βοῦς, βουσί. In the case of other nouns, the dative plural is formed by adding σι to the root, such changes being at the same time made as the rules of euphony require ; as, νύξ, gen. νυκτ-ός, dat. pl. νυξί (i. e. νυκτσί) ; ὀδοῦς, gen. ὀδόντ-ος, dat. pl. ὀδοῦσι (i. e. ὀδόντσι) ; παῖς, gen. παιδ-ός, dat. pl. παισί (i. e. παιδσί) ; ἄραψ, gen. ἄραβ-ος, dat. pl. ἄραψι (i. e. ἄραβσι) ; τυπεῖς, gen. τυπέντ-ος, dat. pl. τυπεῖσι, (i. e. τυπέντσι) ; κτεῖς, gen. κτεν-ός, dat. pl. κτεσί (i. e. κτενσί), &c.

1. When the ending σι, on being added to the root, is preceded by a vowel, or, in other words, when the genitive ends in ος pure, this vowel remains in the dative plural unchanged, as in the other oblique cases ; as, τείχος, gen. τείχε-ος, dat. pl. τείχεσι ; δρυς, gen. δρυ-ός, dat. pl. δρυσίν ; ἀληθής, gen. ἀληθέ-ος, dat. pl. ἀληθέσι. When, however, the nominative singular has a diphthong, the dative plural takes it also ; as, βασιλεύς, gen. βασιλέ-ως, dat. pl. βασιλεῦσι, and the other nouns mentioned in the beginning of the previous paragraph.

2. Some nouns in ηρ, gen. -ερος, drop the ε in the genitive and dative singular, and also in the dative plural, and then, in the latter case, insert after ρ the more sonorous α ; as, πατήρ, “a father,” gen. πατρ-ός (from πατέρ-ος), dat. πατρί (from πατέρ-ι), &c., dat. pl. πατράσι. So, also, μήτηρ, γαστήρ, θυγάτηρ, Δημήτηρ.

CONTRACTIONS OF THE THIRD DECLENSION.

1. Nouns in ης undergo contraction in every case, except in the nominative and vocative singular, and dative plural. Thus :

ἡ τριήρης, “the trireme.”

Singular.	Dual.	Plural.
N. ἡ τριήρ-ης ,	N. τὰ τριήρ-εε, -η ,	N. αἱ τριήρ-εες, -εις ,
G. τῆς τριήρ-εος, -ους ,	G. ταῖν τριήρ-έων, -οιν ,	G. τῶν τριήρ-εων, -ων ,
D. τῇ τριήρ-ει, -ει ,	D. ταῖν τριήρ-έων, -οιν ,	D. ταῖς τριήρ-εσι ,
A. τὴν τριήρ-εα, -η ,	A. τὰ τριήρ-εε, -η ,	A. τὰς τριήρ-εας, -εις ,
V. τριήρ-εε.	V. τριήρ-εε, -η.	V. τριήρ-εες, -εις.

2. Like τριήρης are also declined the proper names ending in κλης ; as, Ἡρακλῆς, contracted Ἡρακλῆς ; Θεμιστοκλῆς, Περικλῆς, &c. In the dative they have a double contraction. Thus :

ὁ Ἡρακλῆς, "Hercules."

N. ὁ Ἡρακλ-ῆς, -ῆς,
G. τοῦ Ἡρακλ-έος, -οῦς,
D. τῷ Ἡρακλ-έει, -έει, -εῖ,
A. τὸν Ἡρακλ-έα, -ῆ,
V. Ἡράκλ-εες, -εις.

3. Nouns in ος are neuter, and make the nominative, accusative, and vocative plural in εα, contracted η, and the genitive in έων, contracted ών. Thus :

τὸ τεῖχος, "the wall."

Singular.	Dual.	Plural.
N. τὸ τεῖχ-ος,	N. τὼ τεῖχ-εε, -η,	N. τὰ τεῖχ-εα, -η,
G. τοῦ τεῖχ-εος, -ους,	G. τοῖν τεῖχ-έοιν, -οιν,	G. τῶν τεῖχ-έων, -ων,
D. τῷ τεῖχ-ει, -ει,	D. τοῖν τεῖχ-έοιν, -οιν,	D. τοῖς τεῖχ-εσι,
A. τὸ τεῖχ-ος,	A. τὼ τεῖχ-εε, -η,	A. τὰ τεῖχ-εα, -η,
V. τεῖχ-ος.	V. τεῖχ-εε, -η.	V. τεῖχ-εα, -η.

4. Nouns in ω and ως have three contractions, namely, οος of the genitive singular into οῦς, οῖ of the dative into οῖ, and οα of the accusative into ῶ. Their dual and plural have no contractions, but are declined throughout like the corresponding parts of λόγος. Few of them, indeed, from their signification, admit, strictly speaking, of a dual or plural. Thus :

ἡ ἥχω, "the echo."

Singular.	Dual.	Plural.
N. ἡ ἥχ-ω,	N. τὰ ἥχ-ῶ,	N. αἱ ἥχ-οί,
G. τῆς ἥχ-δος, -οῦς,	G. ταῖν ἥχ-οῖν,	G. τῶν ἥχ-ῶν,
D. τῇ ἥχ-οί, -οῖ,	D. ταῖν ἥχ-οῖν,	D. ταῖς ἥχ-οῖς,
A. τὴν ἥχ-οα, -ῶ,	A. τὰ ἥχ-ῶ,	A. τὰς ἥχ-οῦς,
V. ἥχ-οῖ.	V. ἥχ-ῶ.	V. ἥχ-οί.

ἡ αἰδώς, "the modesty."

Singular.	Dual.	Plural.
N. ἡ αἰδ-ώς,	N. τὰ αἰδ-ῶ,	N. αἱ αἰδ-οί,
G. τῆς αἰδ-δος, -οῦς,	G. ταῖν αἰδ-οῖν,	G. τῶν αἰδ-ῶν,
D. τῇ αἰδ-οί, -οῖ,	D. ταῖν αἰδ-οῖν,	D. ταῖς αἰδ-οῖς,
A. τὴν αἰδ-οα, -ῶ,	A. τὰ αἰδ-ῶ,	A. τὰς αἰδ-οῦς,
V. αἰδ-οῖ.	V. αἰδ-ῶ.	V. αἰδ-οί.

40 CONTRACTIONS OF THE THIRD DECLENSION.

5. Nouns in ις and ι have three contractions, namely, εἰ of the dative into ει, εες of the nominative and vocative plural into εις, and εας of the accusative plural into εις. Those in ις have also in the genitive singular, and the genitive and dative dual, the Attic terminations εως and εων, instead of εος and εοιν. Thus :

ἡ πόλις, "the city."

Singular.	Dual.	Plural.
N. ἡ πόλ-ις,	N. τὰ πόλ-εε,	N. αἱ πόλ-εες, -εις,
G. τῆς πόλ-εως,	G. ταῖν πόλ-εων,	G. τῶν πολ-έων,
D. τῇ πόλ-ει, -ει,	D. ταῖν πόλ-εων,	D. ταῖς πόλ-εσι,
A. τὴν πόλ-ιν,	A. τὰ πόλ-εε,	A. τὰς πόλ-εας, -εις,
V. πόλ-ι.	V. πόλ-εε.	V. πόλ-εες, -εις.

τὸ σῖνῃπι, "the mustard."

Singular.	Dual.	Plural.
N. τὸ σῖνῃπ-ι,	N. τὼ σῖνῃπ-εε,	N. τὰ σῖνῃπ-εα,
G. τοῦ σῖνῃπ-εος,	G. τοῖν σῖνῃπ-έοιν,	G. τῶν σῖνῃπ-έων,
D. τῷ σῖνῃπ-ει, -ει,	D. τοῖν σῖνῃπ-έοιν,	D. τοῖς σῖνῃπ-εσι,
A. τὸ σῖνῃπ-ι,	A. τὼ σῖνῃπ-εε,	A. τὰ σῖνῃπ-εα,
V. σῖνῃπ-ι.	V. σῖνῃπ-εε.	V. σῖνῃπ-εα.

6. Nouns in υς, gen. υος, have two contractions, namely, υες of the nominative and vocative plural into υς, and υας of the accusative plural into υς. Thus :

ὁ ἰχθύς, "the fish."

Singular.	Dual.	Plural.
N. ὁ ἰχθ-ύς,	N. τὼ ἰχθ-ύε,	N. οἱ ἰχθ-ύες, -υς,
G. τοῦ ἰχθ-ύος,	G. τοῖν ἰχθ-ύοιν,	G. τῶν ἰχθ-ύων,
D. τῷ ἰχθ-ύι,	D. τοῖν ἰχθ-ύοιν,	D. τοῖς ἰχθ-ύσι,
A. τὸν ἰχθ-ύν,	A. τὼ ἰχθ-ύε,	A. τοὺς ἰχθ-ύας, -υς,
V. ἰχθ-ύ.	V. ἰχθ-ύε.	V. ἰχθ-ύες, -υς.

7. Nouns in ενς, and those in υς which make, like them the genitive in εως, have four contractions, namely, εἰ of the dative singular into ει, εε of the dual into η, εες of the nominative and vocative plural into εις, and εας of the accusative plural into εις. But in the last case the uncontracted εας is the more usual form. Thus :

ὁ βασιλεύς, "the king."

Singular.	Dual.	Plural.
N. ὁ βασιλ-εύς,	N. τὸ βασιλ-έε, -ῆ,	N. οἱ βασιλ-έες, -εἰς,
G. τοῦ βασιλ-έως,	G. τοῖν βασιλ-έοιν,	G. τῶν βασιλ-έων,
D. τῷ βασιλ-εῖ, -εῖ,	D. τοῖν βασιλ-έοιν,	D. τοῖς βασιλ-εῦσι,
A. τὸν βασιλ-έα,	A. τὸ βασιλ-έε, -ῆ,	A. τοὺς βασιλ-έας, -εἰς,
V. βασιλ-εῦ.	V. βασιλ-έε, -ῆ.	V. βασιλ-έες, -εἰς.

8. Neuters in v make the nominative, accusative, and vocative plural in εα, contracted into η. They also contract εἰ into εἰ, and εε into η. Thus :

τὸ ἄστυ, "the city."

Singular.	Dual.	Plural.
N. τὸ ἄστ-υ,	N. τὸ ἄστ-εε, -ῆ,	N. τὰ ἄστ-εα, -η,
G. τοῦ ἄστ-εος,	G. τοῖν ἄστ-έοιν,	G. τῶν ἄστ-έων,
D. τῷ ἄστ-εῖ, -εἰ,	D. τοῖν ἄστ-έοιν,	D. τοῖς ἄστ-εσι,
A. τὸ ἄστ-υ,	A. τὸ ἄστ-εε, -ῆ,	A. τὰ ἄστ-εα, -η,
V. ἄστ-υ.	V. ἄστ-εε, -ῆ.	V. ἄστ-εα, -η.

9. Neuters in ας pure and ρας reject τ by syncope in the Ionic dialect, and are also farther contracted by crasis in the Attic, in every case except the nominative, accusative, and vocative singular, and the dative plural. Thus :

τὸ κρέας, "the flesh."

Singular.
N. τὸ κρέ-ας.
G. τοῦ κρέ-ατος, by syncope κρέ-αος, by crasis κρέ-ως.
D. τῷ κρέ-ατι, κρέ-αι, . . . κρέ-α.
A. τὸ κρέ-ας.
V. κρέ-ας.
Dual.
N. τὸ κρέ-ατε, κρέ-αε, . . . κρέ-α.
G. τοῖν κρέ-άτοιν, κρέ-άοιν, . . . κρέ-ῶν.
D. τοῖν κρέ-άτοιν, κρέ-άοιν, . . . κρέ-ῶν.
A. τὸ κρέ-ατε, κρέ-αε, . . . κρέ-α.
V. κρέ-ατε, κρέ-αε, . . . κρέ-α.
Plural.
N. τὰ κρέ-ατα, κρέ-αα, . . . κρέ-α.
G. τῶν κρέ-άτων, κρέ-άων, . . . κρέ-ῶν.
D. τοῖς κρέ-ασι.
A. τὰ κρέ-ατα, κρέ-αα, . . . κρέ-α.
V. κρέ-ατα, κρέ-αα, . . . κρέ-α.

42ⁿ CONTRACTIONS OF THE THIRD DECLENSION.

τὸ κέρας, "the horn."

Singular.

N.	τὸ κέρ-ας.
G.	τοῦ κέρ-ατος, by syncope κέρ-ας, by crasis κέρ-ως.
D.	τῷ κέρ-ατι, κέρ-αι, κέρ-φ.
A.	τὸ κέρ-ας.
V.	κέρ-ας.

Dual.

N.	τὸ κέρ-ατε, κέρ-αε, κέρ-α.
G.	τοῖν κέρ-άτοι, κέρ-άοι, κέρ-ῶν.
D.	τοῖν κέρ-άτοι, κέρ-άοι, κέρ-ῶν.
A.	τὸ κέρ-ατε, κέρ-αε, κέρ-α.
V.	κέρ-ατε, κέρ-αε, κέρ-α.

Plural.

N.	τὰ κέρ-ατα, κέρ-αα, κέρ-α.
G.	τῶν κέρ-ατων, κέρ-άων, κέρ-ῶν.
D.	τοῖς κέρ-ασι.
A.	τὰ κέρ-ατα, κέρ-αα, κέρ-α.
V.	κέρ-ατα, κέρ-αα, κέρ-α.

10. Some words in ηρ, genitive -ερος, throw away the ε before ρ in the genitive and dative, and so exhibit a double form. After the letter ν, when it is brought into collision with ρ in such forms, a δ is added in order to soften the sound. The noun πατήρ is an instance of the first mode of declining, the noun άνήρ of the second. Thus :

ὁ πατήρ, "the father."¹

Singular.

N.	ὁ πατ-ήρ,
G.	τοῦ πατ-έρος, -ρός,
D.	τῷ πατ-έρι, -ρί,
A.	τὸν πατ-έρα,
V.	πάτ-ερ.

Dual.

N.	τὸ πατ-έρε,
G.	τοῖν πατ-έροι, -ροι,
D.	τοῖν πατ-έροι, -ροι,
A.	τὸ πατ-έρε,
V.	πατ-έρε.

Plural.

N.	οἱ πατ-έρες,
G.	τῶν πατ-έρων, -ρῶν,
D.	τοῖς πατ-ράσι,
A.	τοὺς πατ-έρας,
V.	πατ-έρες.

1. In the same way are declined μήτηρ, "a mother," and γαστήρ, "a stomach," except that γαστήρ makes in the dative plural γαστήρσι, which appears to have been also the old form of πατήρ and μήτηρ. It must be remembered, moreover, that πατήρ, μήτηρ, and γαστήρ make the accusative singular without contraction. This is done in the case of μήτηρ, to prevent its being confounded with μήτρα, -ας, "a womb;" in the case of πατήρ, to prevent its being confounded with πάτρα, -ας, "a paternal land;" and in γαστήρ, to prevent similar confusion with γάστρα, -ας, "the bottom of a vessel."

ANOMALOUS FORMS OF THE THIRD DECLENSION. 43

ὁ ἀνὴρ, "the man."

Singular.	Dual.	Plural.
N. ὁ ἀν-ήρ,	N. τὼ ἀν-έρε, -έρε,	N. οἱ ἀν-έρες, -έρες,
G. τοῦ ἀν-έρος, -έρος,	G. τοῖν ἀν-έροιν, -έροιν,	G. τῶν ἀν-έρων, -έρων,
D. τῷ ἀν-έρι, -έρι,	D. τοῖν ἀν-έροιν, -έροιν,	D. τοῖς ἀν-έράσι,
A. τὸν ἀν-έρα, -έρα,	A. τὼ ἀν-έρε, -έρε,	A. τοὺς ἀν-έρας, -έρας,
V. ἀν-ερ.	V. ἀν-έρε, -έρε.	V. ἀν-έρες, -έρες.

11. Some nouns are contracted by either dropping a vowel, or blending two vowels into one, and this contraction takes place in every case. Thus :

τὸ ἔαρ, contr. ἦρ,
"the spring."

Singular.

N. τὸ ἔαρ, ἦρ,
G. τοῦ ἔαρ-ος, ἦρος,
D. τῷ ἔαρ-ι, ἦρι, &c.

ὁ κενεών, contr. κενών,
"the belly."

Singular.

N. ὁ κενεών, κενών,
G. τοῦ κενε-ώνος, κεν-ώνος,
D. τῷ κενε-ώνι, κεν-ώνι, &c.

ANOMALOUS FORMS OF THE THIRD DECLENSION.

1. That is called anomalous which is inconsistent with the prescribed laws of formation ; as, for example, when χάρις, though formed from a root χαριδ, makes χάριτος in the genitive, not χάριδος.

2. The greater part of the actual deviations from regular declension consist in the interchange of forms. In the more ancient language, it often happened that a word had two or more terminations and modes of inflection, with only one and the same signification. Only one of these forms was, for the most part, retained as the language became improved. The other was merely employed, now and then, when a more sonorous term was needed, especially in poetry. Thus, Δημήτηρ, more seldom, Δήμητρα, "Ceres;" δάκρυον, older form δάκρυ, -νος, "a tear."

3. Sometimes the two forms remained more or less in common use by the side of each other ; as, υἱός, "a son," genitive υἱοῦ ; and also υἰός, from a nominative of the third declension in εὐς.

4. Sometimes both forms originate from the same nominative, in which case the word is called a Heteroclite. Thus, Οἰδίπους, genitive Οἰδίποδος, and Οἰδίπων.

5. When, however, one of the forms can be traced to an obsolete or unusual nominative, it is called Metaplasms; as, δένδρον, gen. -ου; dative plural δένδροις, and also δένδρεσιν, from a nominative τὸ δένδρος.

6. Most of the common and poetical anomalies that occur in declension consist of heteroclites and metaplasms.

7. To the heteroclites belong certain words that are inflected after both the first and third declensions. Some of these carry this double mode of inflexion throughout; as, μύκης, "a mushroom," genitive μύκου and μύκητος, &c. This is particularly the case with proper names in ης; as, Δάρης, genitive Δάρου and Δάρητος. Others have it only in part; as, Σωκράτης, accusative Σωκράτη and Σωκράτην.

8. Nouns in ως sometimes make the genitive in ω and ωος. Thus, Μίνως, gen. Μίνω and Μίνωος; πάτρως, "a paternal uncle," gen. πάτρω and πάτρωος.

9. Nouns in ως, genitive ωτος, sometimes drop the τ; as, ἰδρώς, "sweat," which has not only ἰδρώτι and ἰδρώτα in the dative and accusative, but also τῷ ἰδρῶ and τὸν ἰδρῶ, the latter being Attic forms.

10. Nouns in ως and ων have sometimes the anomaly still more apparent, since it shows itself even in the nominative. Thus, ὁ ταῶς, gen. ταῶ, "the peacock," and ὁ ταῶν, genitive ταῶνος. So, also, ἡ ἄλως, gen. ἄλω, "the threshing-floor," and ἄλωος, gen. ἄλωος.

11. The declension of ναῦς, a ship, is as follows:

ἡ ναῦς, "the ship."

Attic.	Epic and Ionic.	Doric.
Sing. N. ναῦς , G. νεώς , D. νηί , A. ναῦν , V. ναῦς .	Sing. N. ναῦς , G. νηός and νεός , D. νηί , A. νηα and νέα , V. ναῦς .	Sing. N. νᾱς , G. ναός , D. ναί , A. ναῦν and νᾱν , V. νᾱς .
Dual. N. νῆε , G. νεοῖν , D. νεοῖν , A. νῆε , V. νῆε .	Dual. N. νῆε , G. νεοῖν , D. νεοῖν , A. νῆε , V. νῆε .	Dual. N. νᾱε , G. ναοῖν , D. ναοῖν , A. νᾱε , V. νᾱε .
Pl. N. νῆες , G. νεῶν , D. νανσί , A. ναῦς , V. νῆες .	Pl. N. νῆες and νέες , G. νεῶν , D. νηυσί and νέεσσι , A. νηας and νέας , V. νῆες .	Pl. N. νᾱες , G. ναῶν , D. νανσί , A. νᾱς , V. νᾱες .

12. The noun βοῦς, "an ox," makes βοός in the genitive, βοῦν in the accusative, and in the plural, nom. βόες, contracted βοῦς, dative βουσί, accusative βόας, contr. βοῦς.

13 The declension of Ζεύς is also peculiar. Thus,

N. Ζεύς,
G. Ζηνός and Διός,
D. Ζηνί and Δίτ,
A. Ζήνα and Δία,
V. Ζεῦ.

14. Under the head of anomalies in declension may be ranked the very peculiar paragogic ending in φιν or φι. This is of very common occurrence in epic poetry, and is used instead of the ordinary dative or genitive singular. The rules that control it are as follows: 1. In the first declension, nouns in η throw away the σ of the genitive; as from εἰνῆς is formed εἰνήφιν. The dative, however, appends φιν or φι at once; as, εὔνη, εὔνήφιν. 2. If the noun end in ος or ον, the ο alone remains before φιν or φι, while in those in ος, which make the genitive in εος, contr. ους, the form ες (or ευς), the Ionic contraction from εος enters. Thus we have from στρατούς the form στρατόφιν; from ἐρέβος, gen. ἐρέβεος, contr. -ους, the form ἐρέβενσφιν; from στήθος, gen. στήθεος, contr. στήθους, the form στήθεσφιν.

DEFECTIVE NOUNS.

1. Defective nouns are such as cannot, from their very nature, occur in more than one number. Thus, οἱ ἐτησῖαι, "the etesian winds;" τὰ Διονύσια, "the festival of Bacchus."

2. Some again are only employed in the nominative and accusative; as, the neuters, ὄναρ, "a dream;" ὕπαρ, "a vision;" δέμας, "a body."

3. Others are only used in the nominative; as, ὄφελος, "advantage;" ἡδος, "benefit." Or in the vocative; as, ὦ τάν, "O thou."

4. Many from having been nouns have become adverbs in consequence of their being employed in only one particular case; as, ἐπὶ κλην, "by name"

INDECLINABLE NOUNS.

1. Under this are ranked most of the cardinal numbers , as, πεντε, "five;" ἕξ, "six;" ἐπτά, "seven," &c.
2. The names of the letters ; as, ἄλφα, βῆτα, &c.
3. The neuter participle τὸ χρεών, from the impersonal κρή.
4. The noun θέμις, when it occurs in the formula θέμις ἐστί.

DIALECTS OF THE THIRD DECLENSION.

1. The Æolians said πόλυπον for πολύπουν, the accusative of πολύπους. They also employed γέλον for γέλωτα, the accusative of γέλως, and ἦρων for ἦρος.

2. The Æolians said Σαπφώς, Λητώς, in the nominative, instead of Σαπφώ, Λητώ.

3. The Æolians frequently employ the termination ενς instead of ης ; as, Ἄρενς for Ἄρης, and form the oblique cases as follows : gen. Ἄρενος ; dat. Ἄρενι ; acc. Ἄρενα. The nominative in ενς sometimes occurs also in Doric ; as, Εὐμήδενς, Theocrit. 5. 134.

4. The Æolians and Dorians use in the genitive singular the termination ενς instead of εος ; as, θάμβενς for θάμβεος. So, also, ενς for εως ; as, Ἀχιλλεῦς for Ἀχιλλέως.

5. The Æolians say Σωκράτον in the genitive instead of Σωκράτους ; and in the vocative Σώκρατε. Hence Pericle in Cicero, Off. 1. 40. 8.

6. The Dorians said, in the genitive plural, αλγᾶν for αλγῶν ; θηρᾶν for θηρῶν ; and, in the nominative, Ποσειδᾶν for Ποσειδῶν.

7. The Dorians said ποιμᾶν for ποιμῆν, and so throughout. So, also, φρασί for φρεσί, the dative plural of φρήν.

8. The Dorians used κῆς for κρέας ; and φρητί for φρέατι, the dative of φρέαρ.

9. In such forms as βοῦς, gen. βοός, the Dorians change ον in all the cases into ω ; as, nominative βῶς, Theocrit. 8. 77. ; acc. pl. τὰς βῶς ; dative pl. βωσίν, &c.

10. The Dorians often employ the termination ης in the nominative for ενς. Thus they say, Ὀρφης for Ὀρφέυς ; Φίλης for Φιλέυς, &c.

11. The Doric vocative of nouns in ενς is formed in η , as, Τύδη.

12. In the Ionic dialect, the genitive plural ends in έων ; as, άνδρέων, χειρέων, μνηέων.

13. Nouns in ις, gen. ιδος, lose in Ionic the δ, and those in ας, gen. ατος, the τ. Thus, ’Οσίριος for ’Οσίριδος ; Θέτι for Θέτιδι ; γήραος for γήρατος ; κέραος for κέρατος.

14. The Ionians do not contract the cases of contractible nouns ; as, ένίδρνες, not ένίδρς. So, also, they say δφρύας, έπρος, ’Ηρακλής, &c.

15. The Ionians decline nouns in ενς with η not contractible ; as, βασιλῆος, τοκήων, &c.

16. Nouns in ις are declined by the Ionians with ι contractible ; as, πόλις, gen. πόλιος ; δφις, gen. δφιος.

17. The Ionians are fond of the termination εσι in the dative plural ; as, χείρεσι, κύνεσι, άνάκτεσι, &c.

XXI. PATRONYMIC NOUNS.

1. Patronymics are nouns which designate a son or a daughter. They are derived from the proper name of the father, sometimes also from that of the mother.

2. The MASCULINE PATRONYMICS are of two classes. The first class end in either ιδης, άδης, or ιάδης, and form the genitive in ον. The second end in ων, and make the genitive in ωνος, rarely ονος.

3. Patronymics in ιδης and ων are formed from nouns in ος of the second declension. Thus, from Κρόνος, “Saturn,” come the patronymics Κρονίδης and Κρονίων, both meaning “the son of Saturn,” i. e., Jupiter. So from Κόδρος we have Κοδρίδης ; from Τάνταλος, Τανταλίδης ; from Αλακός, Αλακίδης.

4. Patronymics in ιάδης are formed from nouns in ιος ; as, from ’Ηλιος comes ’Ηλιάδης ; from ’Ασκληπίος, ’Ασκληπιιάδης ; from Λαέρτιος, Λαερτιάδης.

5. Patronymics in άδης come from nouns in ης and ας of the first declension. Thus, from ’Ιππότης comes ’Ιπποτάδης ; from ’Αλεύας, ’Αλενάδης.

6. In nouns of the third declension the genitive serves as the basis of derivation. If the penult of the genitive be short, the patronymic from ος is formed in ιδης ; as, from Αγαμέμνων, gen. -ονος, comes Ἀγαμεμνονιάδης; from Θέστωρ, gen. -ορος, Θεστοριάδης; from Δητώ, gen. -οος, Δητοδίας, &c. But if the penult of the genitive be long, the patronymic ends in ιάδης; as, from Τελαμών, gen. -ῶνος, comes Τελαμωνιάδης; from Ἀμφιτρύων, gen. -ωνος, Ἀμφιτρωνιάδης.

7. Nouns in εως, which in Ionic have the genitive in ηος, give rise to the patrymonic form ηιάδης. Thus, from Πηλεύς, gen. -ῆος, comes Πηληϊάδης; from Περσεύς, gen. -ηος, Περσηϊάδης. But since these have also the termination εως in the genitive, which continued to be the prevailing one in the Attic and common dialects, hence arose, from Περσεύς, gen. Περσέως, the patronymic form Περσειδης; from Ἀτρεύς, gen. Ἀτρέως, the form Ἀτρείδης.

8. The FEMALE PATRONYMS have four terminations, namely, either ιάς, ις, ινη, or ιώνη. Thus, from Βρισεύς comes Βρισηίς; from Ἄτλας, Ἀτλαντίς; from Ἀδρηστος, Ἀδρηστινή; from Ἀκρισίος, Ἀκρισιώνη. It is to be remarked, that the termination ινη arises when the primitive has a consonant before its own termination, and the termination ιώνη when the primitive has before its ending the vowel ι or υ.

XXII. ADJECTIVES.

1. The declensions of adjectives are three.
2. The first declension of adjectives has three terminations; the second, two; the third, one.
3. Adjectives of three terminations are the most numerous, and have the feminine always in η, except when preceded by a vowel or the letter ρ, in which cases it ends in α. Thus:

δειλός ,	δειλή ,	δειλόν ,	"cowardly;"
καλός ,	καλή ,	καλόν ,	"handsome;"
σοφός ,	σοφή ,	σοφόν ,	"wise."

But,

φίλιος, φίλια, φίλιον, "friendly;"
 ἅγιος, ἁγία, ἅγιον, "holy;"
 ιερός, ιερά, ιερόν, "sacred."

4. The masculine termination in ος and the neuter in ον are inflected after the second declension of nouns. The feminine termination in η or α is inflected after the first declension of nouns.

5. Adjectives in οος, however, have the feminine in η; as, ὀγδοος, ὀγδόη; θοός, θοή. But, when ρ precedes, these have also α; as, ἀθρόος, ἀθρόα.

1. ADJECTIVES OF THREE TERMINATIONS.

1. Termination in ος.

σοφός, "wise."

Singular.	Dual.	Plural.
N. σοφ-ός, -ή, -όν,	N. σοφ-ώ, -ά, -ώ,	N. σοφ-οί, -αί, -α,
G. σοφ-ού, -ης, -ού,	G. σοφ-οῖν, -αῖν, -οῖν,	G. σοφ-ῶν, -αῖν, -ῶν,
D. σοφ-ῷ, -ῇ, -ῷ,	D. σοφ-οῖν, -αῖν, -οῖν,	D. σοφ-οῖς, -αῖς, -οῖς,
A. σοφ-όν, -ήν, -όν,	A. σοφ-ώ, -ά, -ώ,	A. σοφ-ούς, -άς, -ά,
V. σοφ-έ, -ή, -όν.	V. σοφ-ώ, -ά, -ώ.	V. σοφ-οί, -αί, -ά.

ιερός, "sacred."

Singular.	Dual.	Plural.
N. ιερ-ός, -ά, -όν,	N. ιερ-ώ, -ά, -ώ,	N. ιερ-οί, -αί, -ά,
G. ιερ-ού, -ῆς, -ού,	G. ιερ-οῖν, -αῖν, -οῖν,	G. ιερ-ῶν, -αῖν, -ῶν,
D. ιερ-ῷ, -ῇ, -ῷ,	D. ιερ-οῖν, -αῖν, -οῖν,	D. ιερ-οῖς, -αῖς, -οῖς,
A. ιερ-όν, -ήν, -όν,	A. ιερ-ώ, -ά, -ώ,	A. ιερ-ούς, -άς, -ά,
V. ιερ-έ, -ά, -όν.	V. ιερ-ώ, -ά, -ώ.	V. ιερ-οί, -αί, -ά.

2. Termination in εος.

Adjectives in εος are contracted throughout. In the feminine, εα is contracted into α when a vowel or the letter ρ precedes the termination ος; but otherwise it is contracted into η. In the neuter plural, however, εα is always contracted into α, whatever letter may precede ος. Thus :

E

6. Termination in ους.

Adjectives in ους of two terminations have the accusative singular in -οδα or -ουν, and the vocative in -ους or -ου.

δίπους, "two-footed."

Singular.

N.	δίπ-ους,	-ους,	-ουν,
G.	δίπ-οδος,	-οδος,	-οδος,

7. Termination in υς.

Adjectives in υς of two terminations contract ves and vas into υς.

ἄδακρυς, "tearless."

Singular.

N.	ἄδακρ-υς,	-υς,	-υ,
G.	ἄδακρ-υος,	-υος,	-υος,
D.	ἄδακρ-υι,	-υι,	-υι,

8. Termination in ων.

σώφρων, "discreet."

Singular.

N. σώφρ-ων,	-ων,	-ον,
G. σώφρ-ονος,	-ονος,	-ονος,
D. σώφρ-ονι,	-ονι,	-ονι,
A. σώφρ-ονα,	-ονα,	-ον,
V. σώφρ-ον,	-ον,	-ον.

Dual.

N. σώφρ-ονε,	-ονε,	-ονε,
G. σώφρ-όνοιν,	-όνοιν,	-όνοιν,
D. σώφρ-όνοιν,	-όνοιν,	-όνοιν,
A. σώφρ-ονε,	-ονε,	-ονε,
V. σώφρ-ονε,	-ονε,	-ονε.

Plural.

N. σώφρ-ονες,	-ονες,	-ονα,
G. σώφρ-όνων,	-όνων,	-όνων,
D. σώφρ-οσι,	-οσι,	-οσι,
A. σώφρ-ονας,	-ονας,	-ονα
V. σώφρ-ονες,	-ονες,	-ονα.

Under this same head fall comparatives in ων, which are declined like σώφρων; except that they are syncopated and contracted in the accusative singular, and in the nominative, accusative, and vocative plural. Thus:

μεῖζων, "greater."Singular.

N. μεῖζ-ων,	-ων,	-ον,
G. μεῖζ-ονος,	-ονος,	-ονος,

V. εύγε-φ ,	-φ, -ω.

3. ADJECTIVES OF ONE TERMINATION.

Adjectives of one termination, namely, which express the masculine, feminine, and neuter by one and the same ending, are the cardinal numbers from πέντε, "five," to ἐκατόν, "a hundred," both inclusive.

Others have indeed only one termination, but for the masculine and feminine merely, since they are not used with substantives of the neuter gender, at least in the nominative and accusative singular and plural. They are properly of the common gender, wanting the neuter.¹ Such are,

1. Adjectives compounded of substantives which remain unchanged; as, μακρόχειρ, αὐτόχειρ, εὐριγ, μακραίων, μακράυχην, from χείρ, ῥίν, αἰών, and αὐχὴν, except those compounded of πούς and πόλις, which have two terminations.

2. Adjectives in ωρ, which are partly derived from πατήρ and μήτηρ; as, απάτωρ, ἀμήτωρ, ὁμομήτωρ; and partly from verbs; as, παιδολέτωρ, ὁμογενέτωρ, μάστωρ.

3. Adjectives in ης, genitive -ητος, and in ως, genitive -ωτος; as, ἀδμής, ἡμιθνής, ἀγνώς, ὠμοβρώς.

4. Adjectives in πης and της, according to the first declension; as, εὐώπης, ἐθελοντής.

5. Adjectives in ξ and ψ, as, ἡλιξ, φοῖνιξ, αλγίλιψ, αἰθίλοψ.

6. Adjectives in ας, genitive -αδος, and in ις, genitive -ιδος; as, φυγάς, ἀναλακίς.

ANOMALOUS ADJECTIVES.

1. Originally some adjectives had two forms, of both of which certain cases have been retained in use, so that the cases which are wanting in one form are supplied by those of the other. Of this kind are μέγας or μεγάλος, and πόλυς or πολλός.

1. Some of these, however, are also used as neuters, but only in the genitive and dative singular and plural; as, ἀμφιτρήτος αὐλίου, Soph. Philoct. 19; ἐν πένητι σώματι, Eurip. El. 375; ἀπτήσιν τέκεσι, Euen. Epigr. 13. In other words, the neuter, when necessary, is supplied by derivative or kindred forms; as, βλακικόν, ἀρπακτικόν, μώνυχον, &c.

2. From μεγάλος, the feminine μεγάλη has remained in use throughout, as well as the entire dual and plural, and the genitive and dative masculine and neuter of the singular number. The remaining cases, the nominative and accusative singular, masculine and neuter, are taken from μέγας.

3. In πόλυς, the feminine and the dual and plural numbers are entirely taken from πολλός.

μέγας, "great."

Singular.				Dual.
N. μέγας,	μεγάλη,	μέγα,		N. μεγάλω,	μεγάλα,	μεγάλω,

D. πολλοῖς,	πολλῶν,	πολλοῖς,
A. πολλούς,	πολλὰς,	πολλά,
V. πολλοί,	πολλοί,	πολλά.

1. Many forms from πόλυς occur, however, in the poets. Thus, the genitive πολέος, Il. 4, 244; the nominative plural πολέες, Il. 2, 610; the genitive plural πολέων, Il. 5, 691; the dative πολέσιν, Il. 4, 388, &c

REMARKS ON THE TERMINATIONS OF ADJECTIVES. 65

The adjective ἄλλος is anomalous only in this, that it has ἔλλο in the neuter instead of ἄλλον.

REMARKS ON THE TERMINATIONS OF ADJECTIVES.

1. Adjectives in -αῖος, having the vowel ι before αῖος, denote magnitude or value, and are derived from the names of measures, weights, coins, and denominations of money; as, πηχυαῖος, "a cubit long;" ποδιαῖος, "a foot long;" ταλαντιαῖος, "costing a talent;" &c. Those in αῖος, on the other hand, which have not ι before αῖος, generally denote the place where something has originated, or to which it belongs; as, πηγαῖος, "proceeding from," or, "belonging to, a fountain;" ἀγελαῖος, "belonging to a herd;" κορυφαῖος, "one who is at the head." Some, however, denote merely a quality; as, σεληναῖος, "moon-shaped;" εἰρηναῖος, "peaceable."

2. Adjectives in -άλεος mostly express a fulness; as, θαρράλεος, "full of confidence;" δειμάλεος, "full of fear."

3. Adjectives in -ανος mostly signify the possession of the quality expressed by the primitive; as, πενκεδανός, "bitter;" ῥιγεδανός, "that which causes shuddering."

4. Adjectives in -ειος commonly express an origin or source; as, χήνειος, βόειος, ἵππειος, μήλειος, &c., "consisting of," or, "derived from, geese, cattle, horses, sheep," &c. Others denote rather an agreement with, or resemblance to, a thing; as, ἀνδρεῖος, "becoming a man;" γυναικεῖος, "effeminate," or, "becoming a woman."

5. Adjectives in -εος, contracted οῦς, express the material; as, χρύσεος, -οῦς, "made of gold;" λίνεος, -οῦς, "made of linen," &c.

6. Adjectives in -ερος and -ηρος signify quality generally; as, δολερός, "crafty;" σκιερός, "shady," &c. Some express a propensity; as, οἰνηρός, "given to wine;" καματηρός, "laborious," "prone to labour." Others, again, have an active signification; as, νοσερός, or νοσηρός, "causing sickness;" ὀχληρός, "causing disquiet;" ὑγιηρός, "contributing to health."

7. Adjectives in -ήεις signify fulness; as, δενδρήεις, "full of trees;" ποιήεις, "full of grass;" ὑλήεις, "full of wood."

8. Adjectives in -ηλός signify a propensity to, and capability or fitness for, anything; as, ἀπατηλός, "prone to deceit ; ὑπνηλός, "prone to sleep" To this the idea of fulness is nearly allied ; as, ὑδρηλός, "watery."

9. Adjectives in -ικός most commonly denote fitness or capability for anything ; as, ἡγεμονικός, "fit for command ;" κυβερνητικός, "fit for piloting," &c. Other meanings are, 1. belonging to anything ; as, σωματικός, "corporeal ;" ψυχικός, "spiritual ;" 2. coming from anything ; as, πατριεός, "derived from forefathers," "hereditary ;" βοϊκός, "made of ox's hide."

10. Adjectives in -μος are of two classes, one derived from nouns and the other from verbs. Those from verbs have sometimes an active, sometimes a passive signification, as, φύξιμος, "one who flees ;" ἀλώσιμος, "pertaining to capture ;" ἀρώσιμος, "arable ;" βρώσιμος, "edible." Other adjectives in -μος, however, express merely a quality ; as, πένθιμος, "mournful ;" δόκιμος, "celebrated," &c.

11. Adjectives in -ινος and -εινος signify, 1. a material of which anything is made ; as, γήινος, "made of earth ;" καλάμινος, "made of reeds ;" πλίνθινος, "made of tiles," &c. ; 2. a quality which arises from the magnitude or quantity of the thing expressed by the derivation ; as, πεδινός, "level ;" ὄρεινός, "mountainous ;" σκοτεινός, "dark," &c.

12. Adjectives in -ιος express a quality generally ; as, ἐσπέριος, "pertaining to evening ;" θαλάσσιος, "marine ;" σωτήριος, "saving." If two adjectives are derived from one substantive, one in -ιος and the other in -ος, the latter expresses a quality generally ; the former denotes a proneness or tendency to that quality ; as, καθάρος, "pure ;" καθάριος, "loving purity."

13. Adjectives in -όεις and -ώεις signify a fulness ; as, μητιόεις, "full of prudent counsels ;" ἀμπελόεις, "full of vines." The termination -ώεις is used when the penult is long ; as, κητώεις, ὠτώεις, &c.

14. Adjectives in -ώδης express, 1. a fulness ; as, ποιώδης, "grassy ;" ἀνθεμώδης, "flowery ;" 2. a resemblance ; as, σφηκώδης, "wasplike ;" φλογώδης, "shining like fire ;" ἀνδρώδης, "manly." In this sense these adjectives coincide with those in -οειδής, and are probably formed from them.

15. Adjectives in -ωλος signify a propensity or tendency to anything ; as, ἁμαρτωλός, "prone to sin ;" ψευδωλός, "prone to lying."

DEGREES OF COMPARISON.

1. The property expressed by an adjective can usually be attributed to more objects than one. Yet it is seldom found exactly to the same extent in one as in another, but it is possessed by one in an usual degree, by another in a higher or in a pre-eminent degree.

2. Now, if one and the same property be attributed to two different objects, and these be compared with each other in reference to the measure of this property, there arises a new form of adjective, namely, the comparative.

3. But, if a property exists in many objects, and one of them is to be distinguished as possessing this property in the greatest degree, this is also effected by a new form, called the superlative.

4. These two forms are called degrees of comparison; and, for the sake of uniformity, a corresponding appellation has also been given to the simple form of the adjective, namely, the positive. Strictly speaking, however, the positive is no degree of comparison, but merely the primitive form, on which the comparison is based.

FORMATION OF THE DEGREES OF COMPARISON.

I. The degrees of comparison are formed from the positive; namely, the comparative, by appending the termination -τερος, α, ον; and the superlative by appending -τατος, η, ον.

II. These terminations are appended to the root of the positive in the following manner:

1. Adjectives in ος and υς throw away ς; as, δεινός, δεινότερος, δεινότατος; εὐρύς, εὐρύτερος, εὐρύτατος.

If the penultimate syllable of adjectives in ος is short in the positive, then ο is changed into ω in the comparative and superlative; as, σοφός, σοφώτερος, σοφώτατος; καθᾶρρός, καθαρώτερος, καθαρώτατος.¹

1. This rule about the penult of the positive appears to have been

68 FORMATION OF THE DEGREES OF COMPARISON.

2. Adjectives in εος, contracted οῦς, form their comparative and superlative regularly from the uncontracted positive, and then undergo contraction; as, πορφύρεος, contr. πορφυροῦς, compar. πορφυρέωτερος, contr. πορφυρώτερος, superl. πορφυρέωτατος, contr. πορφυρώτατος.

3. Adjectives in οος, contracted οῦς, append -εστερος, -εστατος, to the root, and always contract this termination with the syllable that precedes; as, εὔνοος, contr. εὔνους, compar. (εὔνοέστερος) εὔνούστερος; superl. (εὔνοέστατος) εὔνούστατος.

4. Adjectives in -ας, αινα, αν, append τερος and τατος to the neuter; as, μέλας, μελάντερος, μελάντατος.

5. Adjectives in ης and εις shorten these terminations into ες, and then append τερος and τατος; as, ἀληθής, ἀληθέστερος, ἀληθέστατος; χαρίεις, χαριέστερος, χαριέστατος.

6. But adjectives in ης, genitive ου, of the first declension, annex ιστερος and ιστατος to the root; as, κλέπτης, κλεπτίστερος, κλεπτίστατος.

7. Adjectives in ων append έστερος and έστατος to the root; as, σώφρων, genitive σώφρον-ος, compar. σωφρονέστερος, superl. σωφρονέστατος.

8. Adjectives in ην annex έστερος and έστατος to the neuter; as, τέρην, τερενέστερος, τερενέστατος.

9. Adjectives in ξ append ίστερος and ίστατος to the root, and sometimes έστερος and έστατος; as, ἄρπαξ, genitive ἄρπαγ-ος, compar. ἀρπαγίστερος, superl. ἀρπαγίστατος; ἀφῆλιξ, genitive ἀφήλικ-ος, compar. ἀφήλικέστερος, superl. ἀφήλικέστατος.

III. Some dissyllabic adjectives in υς and ρος reject caused by the conditions of hexameter verse, the oldest measure in the Greek language, and by which that language itself was first formed. Thus, for example, a comparative in ὑτέρος, with the preceding syllable short, consequently ~~~, would not have been admissible into the hexameter. The same objection would apply to a comparative in ὠτέρος, with the preceding syllable long (except where another long syllable went before the latter), since the result would be ~~~~.

these terminations, and use, in their stead, ῖων (neuter ῖον) for the comparative, and ιστος, η, ον for the superlative. Thus, γλυκύς, γλυκῖων, γλύκιστος; αἰσχρός, αἰσχῖων, αἰσχιστος.

1. The adjectives compared in the latter way are, however, but few in number, neither is this mode of comparison exclusively used even in their case, since the common terminations ότερος and ύτερος, ότατος and ύτατος, also occur.

2. Generally speaking, of those in ρος, the formation ῖων, ιστος, predominates only in αἰσχρός and ἐχθρός; and of those in υς, only in ήδύς and ταχύς. In all the others, the regular form must be regarded throughout as the more usual. Thus βραδύτερος is the more common form, whereas βραδίων occurs only in poetry.

EXCEPTIONS TO THE PRECEDING RULES.

1. Some adjectives in ος reject ο before τερος and τατος; as, γεραίος, γεραίτερος, γεραίτατος; περαίος, περαίτερος, περαίτατος, &c. The adjective φίλος has for its usual forms φίλτερος, φίλτατος; besides which, however, φιλαίτερος, and even the regular φιλώτερος and φιλώτατος, are also found.¹

2. Other adjectives, instead of ο and ω, have commonly αι, or ες, or ις, before the comparative and superlative terminations; as,

μέσος ,	μεσαίτερος ,	μεσαίτατος ,
ἴδιος ,	ἰδιαίτερος ,	ἰδιαίτατος ,
πρώιος ,	πρωϊαίτερος ,	πρωϊαίτατος .
ἐρρωμένος ,	ἐρρωμενέστερος ,	ἐρρωμενέστατος ,
ἄφθονος ,	ἄφθονέστερος ,	ἄφθονέστατος ,
ἄσμενος ,	ἄσμενέστερος ,	ἄσμενέστατος .

1. The three forms of the comparative and superlative of φίλος appear to have been used by the ancients with a certain distinction in meaning. Thus, φίλτερος and φίλτατος signified "more friendly," "dearest friend;" φιλαίτερος, "more dear," "more esteemed;" and φιλώτερος, "more beloved." This distinction, however, has not, in general, been strictly observed. Rost, G. G. p. 169.

λάλος,	λαλίστερος,	λαλίστατος,
πτωχός,	πτωχίστερος,	πτωχίστατος.

3. In some of the adjectives which make the comparative in ων and the superlative in ιστος, the ι of the ending ων is rejected, and the last letter of the root, if δ, θ, κ, or χ, changes into σσ (Attic ττ). Thus, ταχύς (old form θαχύς), comparative ταχίων, changed to θάσσων, Attic θάττων. So, also, ἐλαχύς, comparative ἐλαχίων, changed to ἐλάσσων, Attic ἐλάττων. In the same manner, also, must the comparative μάσσων, of μακρός, be explained.

IRREGULAR COMPARISON.

I. The comparative and superlative remain in several adjectives, whose positive has grown into disuse. These are noted most easily in connexion with some extant positive, to which they approximate the nearest in respect of signification. Hence the following list :

Good. ἀγαθός,	ἀμείνων,	ἀριστος.
	ἀρείων,
	βελτίων,	βέλτιστος.
	βέλτερος,	βελτάτος.
	κρείσσων,	κράτιστος.
	κρίττων,
Bad. κακός,	κάρρων,	λῶιστος.
	λῶίων,
	λῶων,	λῶστος.
	φέρτερος,	φέρτατος.
		φέριστος.
	κακώτερος,	φέρτιστος.
Long. μακρός,	κακώτερος,	κακώτατος.
	κακίων,	κάκιστος.
	χερίων,	χερίστος.
	χείρων,	χείριστος.
Great. μέγας,	μακρότερος,	μακροτάτος.
	μάσσων,
	μέσσων,	μήκιστος.
	μέζων,
	μείζων,	μέγιστος.

Small. μικρός, (ἐλαχύς),	{	μικρότερος, μειότερος, μείων, ἐλάσσων, ἥσων,	{	μείστος. ἐλάχιστος. ἥκιστος.
		Μuch. πολύς,		πλεῖστος.
Easy. ῥάδιος,		{ πλείων, ῥᾶων,		{ ῥᾶστος.

1. That these various forms were not used in exactly the same signification is certain ; but it is also equally certain that no settled distinction between them was universally observed.

2. The proper comparative and superlative of ἀγαθός, namely, ἀγαθώτερος and ἀγαθώτατος, occur only in later writers, and such as are not Attic ; as, for example, in Diodorus Siculus, 16. 86.

II. Some comparatives and superlatives are evidently derived from substantives, adverbs, and prepositions. Thus :

Compar.	Superl.
πρότερος,	πρῶτος,	from πρό.
ὑπέρτερος,	ὑπέρτατος,	" ὑπέρ.
άνώτερος,	άνώτατος,	" άνω.
ὑστερος,	ὑστατος,	" ὑπό.
	κλεπτίστατος,	" κλέπτης.
	ἐταιρότατος,	" ἐταῖρος.
δουλότερος,		" δοῦλος.
βασιλεύτερος,		" βασιλεύς.

To these may be added the following comparisons of adverbs. Thus :

άνω,	άνωτέρω,	άνωτάτω,
κάτω	κατωτέρω,	κατωτάτω,
ἔξω,	ἔξωτέρω,	ἔξωτάτω,
ἔσω,	ἔσωτέρω,	ἔσωτάτω,
πόρρω,	πορρώτέρω,	πορρώτάτω.

III. A few instances occur, where, to express a still higher gradation of an idea, a degree of comparison becomes the positive to a new formation; as, ἔσχατος, "last," ἔσχατώτερος, ἔσχατώτατος, "last of all;" πρῶτος, "first," πρωτίστος, "first of all," "the very first."

IV. In many adjectives in Greek, as in other languages, the formation of a comparative and superlative from the root of the positive was not usual, but the gradation of idea was expressed by adding the adverbs μᾶλλον ("more") and μάλιστα ("most"). Thus, τρατός, "vulnerable," τρατός μᾶλλον, "more vulnerable;" θνητός, "mortal," θνητός μᾶλλον, "more mortal;" δῆλος, "evident," μᾶλλον δῆλος, "more evident," δῆλος μάλιστα, "most evident."

XXIII. NUMERALS.

1. Numerals are either Cardinal or Ordinal.

2. The cardinal numbers answer to the question, "how many?" as, εἷς, "one;" δύο, "two;" τρεῖς, "three," &c.

3. The ordinal numbers answer to the question, "which in order?" as, πρῶτος, "first;" δεύτερος, "second;" τρίτος, "third," &c.

4. For marks of number the Greeks employ the letters of their alphabet; but, to make the number complete, they insert therein a ς after ε, called ἐπίσημον, or Fav,¹ and answering to our 6; and they also adopt two Oriental characters, namely, Κορρα, Ϛ for 90; and Σαπι, ϛ for 900.²

7. When the letters are employed to denote numbers, a mark resembling an accent is placed over them; but to designate the thousands the same mark is placed below. Thus,

1. The appellation στίγμα is also sometimes given to this character. The name Fav refers to the circumstance of its occupying the place of the digamma in the alphabetic order.

2. The original mark for the κόρρα was ϙ, whence comes the Latin Q. The Σαπι is no doubt to be traced back in name to the old name for the letter ϙ, namely σάν, and appears to have been formed from the union of this letter with a π, the early form of the Greek S having been C. Buttman thinks that the earlier name of the numeral in question was Σάν, and that Σαπι came in as an appellation at a later period.

$\acute{\alpha}$ is one, but α one thousand. So κ' is twenty, but κ twenty thousand.

8. These marks above and below the letters are not expressed in the case of every letter, when we have several letters placed side by side, and indicating a series of numbers, but only over or below the last of each series. Thus we write $\nu\gamma\chi\beta'$ for 53,602; and $\alpha\omega\lambda\eta$ for 1838.

9. The following combinations may serve as examples of the Greek system of notation.

$\alpha\nu\acute{\iota}\epsilon$,	1415.	$\gamma\omega\mu\acute{\varsigma}$,	3846.
$\theta\sigma\acute{\xi}\acute{\epsilon}$,	9265.	$\kappa\alpha\phi\acute{\alpha}$,	21,501.
$\gamma\phi\pi\theta'$,	3589.	$\rho\nu\epsilon\sigma\gamma'$,	155,203.
$\zeta\omega\lambda\delta'$,	7832.	$\pi\theta\delta'$,	89,004.

10. In place of this system of notation, the Athenians adopted the following, which is far more striking to the eye. Thus:

I, 1, is the mark of unity.

II, 2,)
 III, 3, } express the other numbers above 5.
 IIII, 4,)

II, 5, is the initial of Πέντε.

Δ , 10, " Δεκα.

H, 100, " Ηεκατόν, the old form for εκατόν.

X, 1000, " Χίλιοι.

M, 10,000, " Μύριοι.

The numbers between these are denoted partly by the combination of the above marks; as, Δ II for 12; $\Delta\Delta$ for 20; $\Delta\Delta\Delta$ IIIIII for 39; and partly by the multiplication of Δ , H, X, M, into five II, these marks being placed within the II; as, $\boxed{\Delta}$ for πεντακίς δέκα, five times ten, or 50; $\boxed{\Delta}\Delta$ for 60; \boxed{H} for 500; \boxed{X} for 5000; $X\boxed{H}HHH\Delta\Delta\Delta$ IIII for 1838. This manner of notation is particularly to be marked,

REMARKS ON THE FIRST FOUR NUMERALS.

Εἷς.

1. In the epic writers the form la is found for μία ; and only once λω for ἐνί. (Il. 6. 422.)

2. From the composition of this numeral with οὐδέ and μηδέ arise the negative adjectives οὐδείς and μηδείς, which are declined in the same manner ; as, nom. οὐδείς, οὐδεῖα, οὐδέν ; genitive οὐδενός, οὐδεμῆς, οὐδενός, &c. The later Greek writers make it οὐθείς and μηθείς, from οὔτε and μήτε, which, however, is not considered genuine Attic.

3. Οὐδείς and μηδείς are often separated, and written οὐδέ εἷς, and μηδέ εἷς, &c., and this separation increases the negative signification. Thus, οὐδέ εἷς, "not even one ;" οὐδ' ὑφ' ἐνός, "not even by one," &c.

4. The numeral εἷς, from its very nature, can have no plural, but οὐδείς and μηδείς have οὐδένες and μηδένες, in the sense of "insignificant," "of no value."

1. For an account of the arithmetic of the Greeks, consult Delambre, Histoire de l'Astronomie Ancienne, vol. ii., p. 3, seq.

Δύο.

1. Δύο is the Attic mode of writing. In Homer and Herodotus it is often indeclinable. Δυεῖν is of more rare occurrence than δυοῖν, and is only used in the genitive. Δυῶν is sometimes written δυῶν, and regarded as Ionic for δυοῖν. But δυῶν is preferable as a genitive plural.¹

2. Δύω appears to have been, in fact, the dual number of the old form δνός. Ἄμφω accords in great measure with δύω. In the old poets it is frequently indeclinable. Otherwise ἀμφοῖν is used in the genitive and dative.

Τέσσαρες.

1. Instead of τέσσαρες the Ionic dialect has τέσσερες, the Æolo-Doric τέττορες. Hesychius gives πέσσυρες as an Æolic form.

2. For τέσσαροι or τέτταροι in the dative, the form τέτταροι occurs in the poets.

REMARKS ON THE NUMERALS.

1. In compound numbers, either the less are put after the greater without a conjunction; as, εἰκοσι τρεῖς, τριάκοντα πέντε; or, what is most usual, the less precede and are connected with the greater by καί; as, τρεῖς καὶ εἰκοσι, πέντε καὶ τριάκοντα.

2. So, also, in the more complicated numbers, the several parts are united in such a manner as to proceed from the less to the greater; as, τέτταρα καὶ ἑβδομήκοντα καὶ ἑννακόσια καὶ τρισχίλια καὶ ἑξακισμύρια, which express 63,974.

3. For the greater numbers a numeral substantive is frequently used with the requisite cardinal number; as, δέκα μυριάδες, 100,000; τρисχίλιοι καὶ πέντε μυριάδες, 53,000, &c.

4. In the case of tens compounded with 8 or 9, the definition is often given by subtraction; as, τριάκοντα δυοῖν δεόντων or δέοντα, 28; ογδοήκοντα ἐνὸς δέοντος, 79; or, if a substantive of the feminine gender stands therein, μῆς δεούσης.

5. Of the cardinal numbers, the first four and the round numbers from 200 are alone declined. All the rest are indeclinable.

6. The Latin distributives are expressed in Greek by compounding the cardinal numbers with σύν; as, σύνδυο, "two by two;" σύντρις, "three by three," &c.

7. Besides the forms of ordinal numbers which have just been given in the synopsis, two ordinals are also frequently connected by καί; as, πέμπτος καὶ δέκατος; ογδοὺς καὶ δέκατος, &c.

8. The smaller ordinal number is also sometimes prefixed to the greater cardinal or ordinal with καί and a preposition; as, τῇ ἑκτῇ ἐπὶ δέκα, supply ἡμέραις, "on the sixth in addition to ten days," i. e., "on the sixteenth." So, also, τῇ ἑκτῇ μετ' εἰκάδα, "on the twenty-sixth," &c.

9. In order to express half or fractional numbers in money, measures, and weights, the Greeks used words compounded of the name of the weight, &c. (viz., μνᾶ, ὀβολός, τάλαντον), with the adjective termination ον, ιον, αῖον, and ἡμι, "half," and placed before them the ordinal number of which the half is taken. Thus, τέταρτον ἡμιστάλαντον, "3½ talents," i. e., the first a talent, the second a talent, the third a talent, the fourth a half-talent. So, also, τρίτον ἡμμυναῖον, "2½ minæ," ἑβδομον ἡμίδραχμον, "6½ drachmæ."

10. From the foregoing, however, we must carefully distinguish such phrases as the following: τρία ἡμιστάλαντα, "1½ talents," i. e., three half-talents; πέντε ἡμμυναῖα, "2½ minæ," &c.

11. From the ordinal numbers are derived, 1. Numerals in αἰος, which commonly answer to the question, "on what day?" as, τριταῖος, "on the third day;" δεκαταῖος, "on the tenth day." 2. Multiple numbers in -φάσιος (besides those already mentioned in -πλοῦς); as, διφάσιος, τριφάσιος, &c. 3. Proportionals, answering to the question, "how much more?" as, διπλάσιος, τριπλάσιος, τετραπλάσιος, "twice, thrice, four times as much."

XXIV. PRONOUNS.

All pronouns serve to supply the place of a noun, but, at the same time, they give different relations of the substantive which they represent. According to these relations so expressed by them, they are divided into the following classes:

1. Personal Pronouns, which express the simple idea of person, and directly represent the same. These are,

ἐγώ,	I,
σύ,	thou,
αὐ,	of him.

2. Possessive Pronouns, which are formed from the personal, and indicate the property of an individual; as,

ἐμ-ός,	-ή,	-όν,	mine,
σός,	σή,	σόν,	thine,
ός,	ή,	όν,	his,
ἡμέτερ-ος,	-α,	-ον,	our,
ὑμέτερ-ος,	-α,	-ον,	your,
σφέτερ-ος,	-α,	-ον,	their,
νωτέρ-ος,	-α,	-ον,	of us both,
σφωτέρ-ος,	-α,	-ον,	of you both

3. Definite Pronoun, for the nearer and stronger distinction of one object from another ; as, αὐτός, αὐτή, αὐτό, "he himself," "she herself," "itself."

4. Reflexive Pronouns, for the more accurate indication and separation of a person ; as, ἐμαυτοῦ,	ἐμαντῆς,	of myself, σεαυτοῦ,	} σαντῆς,	of thyself, or σαντοῦ,	} αὐτῆς, αὐτοῦ,	of himself. ἐαυτοῦ, or αὐτοῦ,

5. Demonstrative Pronouns, which distinctly point out the object of which we are discoursing, with the accessory idea of place. These are, οὗτος,	αὕτη,	τοῦτο,	} this.

ὅδε,	ἥδε,	τόδε,
ἐκεῖν-ος,	-η,	-ο,

6. Relative Pronouns, which refer to an object already mentioned, and give it a nearer definition ; as,

ὅς,	ἥ,	ὅ,	who,
ὅστις,	ἥτις,	ὅτι,	whoever.

7. Indefinite Pronouns, which merely indicate an object generally, without farther definition ; as, τις (enclitic),	τις,	τι,	any,

δεῖνα,	δεῖνα,	δεῖνα,	some one.

8. Interrogative Pronoun ; as,

τίς,	τίς,	τί,	who ?	what ?
------	------	-----	--------------	---------------

9. Reciprocal Pronoun, which designates the mutual action of different persons upon each other ; as, ἀλλήλοιον, dual ; ἀλλήλων, plural, "of each other."

6. Interrogative.

The interrogative differs from the indefinite τις merely in the position of the accent. The indefinite is always enclitic, and, in the oblique cases, takes the accent on its ending. On the contrary, the interrogative, even in a connected discourse, remains always acuted in the nominative, and in the oblique cases preserves the accent on the radical syllable.

REMARKS ON THE PRONOUNS.

1. Personal.

1. The forms ἐμοῦ, ἐμοί, ἐμέ, are employed whenever emphasis is required. On other occasions μου, μοί, and μέ are employed.

2. In the dual number the forms νώ, νῶν; σφώ, σφῶν, are Attic.

3. In the plural, ἡμεῖς and ὕμεῖς appear to have come from ἡμέες and ὕμέες; while, in the dative, ἡμῖν and ὕμῖν are contracted from ἡμέσι, ὕμέσι, and then the ν ἐφελεκυστικόν is appended.

4. The pronoun οὖ is generally reflexive in the Attic writers. In Homer and Herodotus, on the contrary, it is more frequently a mere personal pronoun.

5. Αὐτός, αὐτή, αὐτό, was used for the third person, but with this distinction. In the nominative always, and in the oblique cases when these begin a clause, it has a reflexive signification, "he himself," "she herself," "of himself," &c. But when the oblique cases do not begin a clause, they have merely the force of the personal pronoun, "him," "of him," &c. When the article precedes, as ὁ αὐτός, ἡ αὐτή, &c., the meaning changes to "the same," &c. Thus, ὁ αὐτός, "the same man;" ἡ αὐτή, "the same woman;" τὸ αὐτό (contracted most commonly ταὐτό), "the same thing."

Dialects of the Personal Pronouns.

1. The Æolo-Doric had ἐγών, the Æolic ἐγων, in the nominative. The Bœotians said ῶν.

2. Instead of σύ the Æolians and Dorians said τύ (whence the Latin tu), and changed σ into τ throughout.

3. In order to give more expression to the pronouns, the Dorians and Æolians annex η to the termination, through all the cases, and sometimes, also, νη; as, ἐγώνη, ἐμεύνη, τώνη, &c. The Attics annex γε, throwing back the accent; as, ἐγωγε, σύγε; instead of which the Dorians use γα, as ἐγώνγα.

4. In the genitive only ἐμέο is found, not μεο; and, in the lyric and epic poets, ἐμεῖο and σεῖο; as also ἐμέθεν and σέθεν; these latter, likewise, in the tragic dialect. As the Attic dialect contracted έο into οὔ, the Ionic, Doric, and Æolic contracted the same into εὔ; as, εμεῦ, σεῦ.

5. In the dative, the Æolians and Dorians said also ἐμίν and τίν, whence τίνη, and the Tarentine ἐμίνη, arose. For the enclitic σοι the epic poets and Herodotus use τοι.

6. In the dual the forms νώ, νῶν; σφώ, σφῶν, are Attic. In the plural, ἡμεῖς and ὑμεῖς come from ἡμέες and ὑμέες. Instead of ἡμεῖς the Æolians and Dorians said ἄμες or ἄμες, and ἄμμες; and for ὑμεῖς, ὑμές and ὑμμες.

7. The genitive plural is lengthened by the poets into ἡμελων, ὑμελων. The Æolians and Dorians changed as usual the η into α; as, ἡμέων, ὑμῶν, and ἄμμων.

8. In the dative plural, the old dialect, and the Æolic and Doric, had ἀμῖν, ἀμιν, ἀμίν, ἀμμι; ὕμιν, ὕμμι, and ὕμμι.

9. In the accusative plural, the Dorians said ἀμέ, ἀμέ, and ἄμμε, ἄμμε; and also ὕμέ, ὕμμε, the latter being used likewise by the Æolians.

10. Instead of the accusative αὐτόν, we find, particularly in the poets, the form μιν of all three genders. Another form is νιν, which occurs in Pindar, and is the only one employed by the tragedians. This form νιν is also used for αὐτούς, αὐτάς, αὐτά.

11. The dative σφί for σφίσι occurs in Homer and elsewhere. The tragedians appear to have used σφίν alone. The poets sometimes, though very rarely, employ it for the dative singular also.

12. In the poets, too, the form σφέ (abbreviated from σφωέ) occurs, which is sometimes used as the accusative plural in all genders, for αὐτούς, αὐτάς, αὐτά; and sometimes, also, as the accusative singular, instead of αὐτόν, αὐτήν, αὐτό; and also, again, as a pronoun reflexive for ἐαυτόν.

2. Possessives.

1. The form ἐός, ἐή, ἐόν, occurs only in the singular in the Ionic and Doric writers, and in the poets. Instead of this is used the abbreviated form ὅς. Neither ἐός nor ὅς is ever employed by the Attic prose writers; but ὅς for ἐός occurs several times in the tragedians.

2. Instead of ἡμέτερος, the Dorians employed ἀμός. This same ἀμός was likewise used for ἐμός, as ἡμεῖς for ἐγώ. The Æolians said ἄμμος and ἀμμέτερος.

3. The form σφέτερος is used by the later Alexandrian poets for the pronoun possessive of the first and second person plural, and in one instance even for ἐμός.

4. The form σφωίτερος occurs only once (Il. 1, 216). Νωίτερος is found only in the Ionic poets.

3. Pronoun Definite.

This has already been considered in the remarks under the personal pronouns, § 5, &c.

4. Reflexives.

1. The reflexive pronouns are formed by the union of the genitives ἐμέο, σέο, ξο, with the pronoun αὐτός, in all the cases except the nominative.

2. Strictly speaking, ἐμαῦτον and σεαῦτον have no plural. A form for this number, however, is generally substituted, consisting of ἡμεῖς αὐτοί and ὑμεῖς αὐτοί, declined separately.

3. The pronoun ἐαυτοῦ is declined throughout the plural as one word; yet we also find σφῶν αὐτῶν, σφίσιν αὐτοῖς σφῶς αὐτούς, &c.

4. Properly, according to the composition, only the genitive of these pronouns should have been in use; and it is owing to an arbitrary usage that ἐμέο, &c., are compounded with the dative, accusative, &c., of αὐτός.

5. Among the Attics, these pronouns are reflexive only, referring to the person implied in the verb, without any particular emphasis derived from αὐτός. Thus, ἐννῆπα ἐμᾶντόν, "I struck myself" (as, in English, "I wash myself"). When the Attic writers, on the other hand, wish to make αὐτός emphatic, they separate the pronouns, and place αὐτός first. Thus, πρὸς αὐτόν σε, "against thee thyself." A similar usage prevails in Homer and Herodotus.

5. Demonstrative.

1. Instead of ὅδε, ἥδε, τόδε, where the enclitic δε is annexed to the article, in order to give it greater force, the Attics say ὅδῃ, ἥδῃ, τοδῇ, which is analogous to the Latin hicce.

2. Homer annexes the termination of the case to the δε; as, τοῖσδεσι, τοῖσδεσσι, &c.

3. Instead of τοῖσδε, the form τοισίδε is common in the tragic writers, with the accent on the penult, because the enclitic δε draws the accent of the principal word to itself.

4. Οὗτος is used as an emphatic mode of address, and, therefore, as a vocative, "thou there," like the Latin heus.

5. The Attics annex ι to this pronoun in all cases and genders, to give a stronger emphasis, in which case it receives an accent; as, τουτοῖ, ταυτηί, &c. In the neuter, this ι takes the place of ο and α; as, τουτί, ταυτί.

6. The Attics sometimes used τοῦτον for τοῦτο, τοσοῦτον for τοσοῦτο, τοιοῦτον for τοιοῦτο. This appears to have arisen from their attachment to the ν ἐφελκυστικόν. In the same way, the Attics frequently said ταῦτόν for τὸ αὐτό.

6. Relative.

1. Homer says δ τις for ὅστις, where δ is a prefix syllable, as in ὁποῖος, ὁπόσος, &c., and he retains, with the rest of the Ionic writers, the δ unchanged in all the cases; as, δτεν for οὔτινος, δτεω for ὥτινι, &c. The Attics retained similar forms in the genitive and dative singular, namely, δτου for οὔτινος, and δτω for ὥτινι. The full form is very rare in the Attic poets.

2. Instead of the plural ἄτινα, Homer and Herodotus have ἄσσα, from the Doric σά for τινά. The Attics, instead of this, say ἄττα.

7. Indefinite.

1. The Ionians said for τινός, τινί, &c., τέο and τεω. The Attics contracted τον, τω, in all the genders, for τινός and τινί.

2. Instead of the neuter plural τινά, the Attics said, in certain combinations, particularly with adjectives, ἄττα; as, ἄλλ' ἄττα; τοιαῦτ' ἄττα.

XXV. VERB.

1. Greek verbs are of two kinds, those ending in ω and those in μ .

2. Verbs in ω are of two classes: 1. Those that have a consonant before ω ; as, $\tauύπτω$, "I strike;" $λέγω$, "I say;" and, 2. Those which have a vowel, a , e , o , before it; as, $τιμάω$, "I honour;" $φιλέω$, "I love;" $χρυσόω$, "I gild."

3. Verbs in ω , with a consonant preceding the termination, are called Barytone Verbs, because, as they have the acute accent on the penult of the present, the grave accent ($βαρὺς τόνος$) necessarily falls on the last syllable.

4. Verbs in ω , preceded by a vowel, are called Contracted Verbs, because the ω is contracted by the Attics, together with the preceding vowel, into one vowel; and as, after this contraction, a circumflex is placed over the ω , they are also styled by some Circumflex Verbs.

5. These contracted verbs, however, are not at all different from the barytones, since it is only necessary to contract them in the present and imperfect.

PARTS OF THE VERB.

1. The Greek verb has three voices, Active, Passive, and Middle; and five moods, the Indicative, Imperative, Optative, Subjunctive, and Infinitive.

2. The tenses are nine in number, namely, the Present, Imperfect, Perfect, Pluperfect, First and Second Future, First and Second Aorist, and, in the passive, the Third Future, or, as it is less correctly styled, the Paulo-post-futurum.

3. The numbers are three, Singular, Dual, and Plural.

1. There are four conjugations of verbs in ω , distinguished from each other by the termination of the first future active.¹ Thus:

The First Conjugation makes the future in $\psi\omega$; as, τύπτω, τύψω; λείπω, λείψω; ράπτω, ράψω.

The Second Conjugation makes the future in $\xi\omega$; as, λέγω, λέξω; τάσσω, τάξω; ἄρχω, ἄρξω.

The Third Conjugation makes the future in $\sigma\omega$; as, τίω, τίσω; πείθω, πείσω; σκενάζω, σκενάσω.

The Fourth Conjugation has a liquid before ω in the termination of the future; as, ψάλλω, ψαλῶ; σπείρω, σπερῶ; μένω, μένῳ.

2. When the first person plural ends in μεν, the first person of the dual is wanting. In other words, the first person dual is wanting throughout the whole of the active form, and in the aorists of the passive.²

1. We have followed, for convenience' sake, the common arrangement, by which verbs in ω are divided into four conjugations. The simplest and truest plan, however, is to divide all Greek verbs into merely two conjugations, namely, verbs in ω and verbs in μ .

2. Here, again, we have followed the ordinary phraseology. In truth,

3. In the present, perfect, and future of the indicative, which are called primary tenses, and throughout the subjunctive mood, the second and third persons dual are the same, and end in ον.

4. But in the imperfect, pluperfect, and the two aorists of the indicative, which are called the historical tenses, as referring to what is past, and throughout all the optative mood, the third person dual ends always in ην.

5. In the active the 3d. plur. of the primary tenses ends in σι with the moveable ν; as, -ουσαι, -ασιν; -ούσι, -ασι; but in the historical tenses the form always terminates in a fixed ν; as, ον, αν, εισαν, ησαν.

6. In the passive, the primary and historical tenses are distinguished throughout the singular also, and in all the third persons plural. The primary tenses have μαι in the first person of the singular, the historical always μην; and where the former have ται, the latter have always το.

The Greek verb, of the class in ω , will now be considered under the following heads :

1. AUGMENT.
2. FORMATION OF THE TENSES.
3. FORCE OF THE TENSES.
4. MIDDLE VOICE.
5. FORCE OF THE MOODS.

1. AUGMENT.

1. The Augments are two in number, the Syllabic and Temporal.

2. The syllabic augment belongs to verbs that begin with a consonant, and is so called because it adds a syllable to the verb.

3. The temporal augment belongs to verbs that begin with a vowel, and is so called because it increases the time or quantity of the initial vowel.

4. Three of the tenses have an augment, which is continued through all the moods, viz., the Perfect, Pluperfect, and Third Future, or Paulo-post-futurum.

5. Three receive an augment in the indicative only, viz., the Imperfect and the two Aorists.

6. Three receive no augment, viz., the Present and the First and Second Futures.

7. The true use of the augment is to mark an action which is either completely or partially past. Hence it will appear why the present and the first and second futures have no augment; why the imperfect and two aorists have an augment only in the indicative; and why the perfect, pluperfect, and third future, all three of which refer to a continued action, have an augment continued throughout all the moods of the verb.

8. The augment originally was the same in the case of all verbs, namely, an ϵ was prefixed, whether the verb began with a vowel or a consonant. Traces of this old augment are found in the early Ionic poets, and occasionally in Ionic prose; as, $\epsilon\acute{\alpha}\phi\theta\eta$ for $\eta\phi\theta\eta$; $\epsilon\acute{\alpha}\nu\delta\alpha\nu\epsilon$ for $\eta\nu\delta\alpha\nu\epsilon$.

9. Afterward the usage was thus determined, that ϵ was only prefixed to verbs beginning with a consonant; whereas, in others, it coalesced with the initial vowel, and became a long vowel or diphthong. Thus, $\tau\acute{\upsilon}\pi\tau\omega$ has in the imperfect $\xi\text{-}\tau\upsilon\pi\tau\omicron\nu$, but $\acute{\alpha}\gamma\omega$ has $\eta\gamma\omicron\nu$ (from $\xi\text{-}\alpha\gamma\omicron\nu$), and $\omicron\kappa\acute{\iota}\zeta\omega$ has $\zeta\kappa\acute{\iota}\zeta\omicron\nu$ (from $\xi\text{-}\omicron\kappa\acute{\iota}\zeta\omicron\nu$).

10. The Attics retained this old augment in the following cases: 1. In such words as $\epsilon\alpha\acute{\xi}\alpha$, $\epsilon\acute{\alpha}\gamma\eta\nu$, $\epsilon\alpha\gamma\acute{\omega}\varsigma$, from $\acute{\alpha}\gamma\omega$, "to break;" to distinguish them from $\eta\acute{\xi}\alpha$, $\eta\chi\alpha$, &c., from $\acute{\alpha}\gamma\omega$, "I carry." 2. In $\epsilon\acute{\alpha}\lambda\omega\kappa\alpha$, $\epsilon\acute{\alpha}\lambda\omega$; $\epsilon\omicron\iota\kappa\alpha$, $\epsilon\omicron\lambda\pi\alpha$, $\epsilon\omicron\rho\gamma\alpha$, in which the characteristic of the perfect middle (\omicron and o) could not be effaced. 3. In verbs which begin with a vowel not capable of being lengthened; as, $\epsilon\acute{\omega}\theta\omicron\nu\nu$, from $\acute{\omega}\theta\acute{\epsilon}\omega$; $\xi\omega\sigma\mu\alpha\iota$, from the same; $\epsilon\omega\nu\acute{o}\mu\eta\nu$, from $\acute{\omega}\nu\acute{\epsilon}\omicron\mu\alpha\iota$; $\epsilon\acute{o}\upsilon\rho\omicron\nu\nu$, from $\acute{o}\upsilon\rho\acute{\epsilon}\omega$.

RULES FOR THE SYLLABIC AUGMENT.

1. The augment of the imperfect and the two aorists, in verbs beginning with a consonant, is formed by merely prefixing ϵ ; as, $\xi\tau\upsilon\pi\tau\omicron\nu$, $\xi\tau\upsilon\phi\alpha$, $\xi\tau\upsilon\pi\omicron\nu$. If, however, the verb begin with ρ , the ρ is doubled after the augment; as, $\xi\rho\rho\epsilon\pi\tau\omicron\nu$, from $\rho\acute{\iota}\pi\tau\omega$; $\xi\rho\rho\epsilon\omicron\nu$, from $\rho\acute{\epsilon}\omega$.

2. The augment of the perfect is formed by repeating the initial consonant of the verb, and annexing to it an ϵ ; as, τέτυφα, τέτυπα; λέλοιπα, &c.

3. This repetition of the initial consonant is called by the grammarians Reduplication (διπλασιασμός), and is subject to the following rules:

- (A.) If the verb begins with an aspirated consonant, then in the reduplication the corresponding smooth or lenis is put; as, φιλέω, perfect πεφίληκα; χρυσώω, perfect κεχρύσωκα.
- (B.) If the verb begins with ρ , the perfect does not take the reduplication, but the ρ is doubled and ϵ prefixed; as, ρίπτω, perfect ῥῥίψα.
- (C.) If the verb begin with a double consonant, ζ , ξ , ψ , or with two consonants, the latter of which is not a liquid, the perfect does not receive the reduplication, but only the augment ϵ ; as, ζητέω, perfect ἐζήτηκα; ξυρέω, perfect ἐξυρήκα; ψάλλω, perfect ἔψαλκα; σπείρω, perfect ἔσπαρκα; στέλλω, perfect ἔσταλκα.

To this rule, however, there are the following exceptions: 1. The syncopated forms which begin with $\pi\tau$; as, πέπταμαι (for πεπέταμαι); but not so the other verbs in $\pi\tau$; as, πτερῶω, ἔπτερῶκα; πτησσω, ἔπτηχα. 2. The verb κτάομαι, of which the perfect κέκτημαι is more used by the Attics, and ἐκτημαι by the Ionians and older Attics.

- (D.) If the verb begins with a mute and liquid, the reduplication appears in some cases, but in others is omitted. Μνάω always makes μέννημαι; and verbs whose second initial consonant is ρ receive the reduplication regularly; as, δρέμω, perfect δεδρόμηνκα; θραύω, perfect τέθραυνκα; τρέφω, perfect τέτροφα. On the other hand, it is generally wanting in verbs whose second initial consonant is λ; as, γλύπτω, perfect ἐγλυφα.

4. The augment of the pluperfect is formed by prefixing ε to the reduplication of the perfect; as, τέτυφα, pluperfect ἐτετύφειν.

5. The third future passive, being formed from the perfect of the same voice, has, like that tense, the reduplication; as, τετύφωμαι.

RULES FOR THE TEMPORAL AUGMENT.

1. By the contraction of the augment ε with the initial vowel of the verb, the following results are obtained:

α	becomes	η	; as, ἀκούω, imp. ἤκουον.
ε	"	η	; " ἐγείρω, " ἡγειρον.
ι	"	ι	; " ἰκάνω, " ἱκανον.
ο	"	ω	; " ὀνομάζω, " ὠνόμαζον.
υ	"	υ	; " ὑβρίζω, " ὑβριζον.
αι	"	η	; " αἶρω, " ἤρον.
αν	"	η	; " ἀνξάνω, " ἠύξανον.
ευ	"	η	; " εὐχομαί, " ἠνχόμεν.
οι	"	ω	; " οἰκίζω, " ὤκιζον.

2. In some verbs, however, ε becomes ει; as, ἔχω, εἶχον; εἶω, εἶων; ἔλω, εἶλον, &c.

3. When a verb or verbal form begins with εο, the second vowel takes the augment; as, ἐορτάζω, ἐώρταζον. So, also, in the pluperfects formed from the three perfects ἔοικα, ἔολπα, and ἔοργα, namely, ἐώκειν, ἐώλπειν, and ἐώργειν.

4. Of vowels which are already long in themselves, ᾱ becomes η, as already mentioned; but the others, η, ω, ι, υ, are wholly incapable of being augmented; as, ἡττάομαι, imperfect ἡττώμην, perfect ἡττημαι, pluperfect ἡττήμην.

REMARKS ON THE TWO AUGMENTS.

1. Syllabic.

1. The Attics prefix the temporal instead of the syllabic augment to βούλομαι, δύναμαι, and μέλλω; as, ἡβουλόμην, ἡδυνάμην, ἡμελλον. Here a form ἐβούλομαι, ἐδύναμαι, ἐμέλλω, is assumed, like θέλω and ἐθέλω.

2. The initial augment in the pluperfect is sometimes omitted by the Attics; as, πεπόνθειν for ἐπεπόνθειν; γεγενήμην for ἐγεγενήμην.

3. In verbs beginning with λ and μ, the Ionians, Attics, and others are accustomed to put ει for λε or με; as, λαμβάνω, perfect εἰληφα, for λέληφα; λαγχάνω, perfect εἰληχα.

4. In Homer and Hesiod the second aorists often receive a reduplication; as, κέκαμον for ἔκαμον, from κάμνω; πέπιθον for ἐπιθον, from πείθω, &c.

5. The augment of the historical tenses is very often omitted in poetry by writers not Attic; as, βάλε for ἔβαλε; βῆ for ἔβη; γέγοντο for ἐγένοντο, &c.

2. Temporal.

1. Many verbs beginning with a diphthong neglect the augment. Those in ου never take it; as, οὐτάζω, οὐταζον. Those in ει also have no augment; as, εἰκώ, εἰκον, εἶξα, with the single exception of εἰκάζω, which is now and then augmented by the Attics; as, εἰκάζω, εἰκασα, εἰκασμαι, Attic ἦκασα, ἦκασμαι. Verbs in ευ have the augment ην with the Attics, though the usage is variable. Thus we have ἠύχόμην and εὐχόμην; εὐρέθην, and very rarely ἠρέθην.

2. The verbs ὠθέω, ὠνέομαι, and οὐρέω, not being susceptible of the temporal augment, take ε before their initial vowel or diphthong. In other words, they retain the early augment; as, ὠθέω, ἐώθουν; ὠνέομαι, ἐωνοῦμην; οὐρέω, ἐούρουν.

3. As the syllabic augment in βούλομαι, δύναμαι, and μέλλω, is increased by the temporal, in the same manner the temporal augment in the verb ὁράω is increased by the syllabic; as, ὁράω, imperfect ἑώραν.

ATTIC REDUPLICATION.

1. Verbs beginning with a vowel, not being able to take a reduplication like that in verbs with the syllabic augment, have in the perfect, occasionally, what is called the Attic Reduplication.

2. The Attic reduplication is when the first two letters of the root are repeated before the temporal augment, the initial vowel remaining unchanged. Thus :

ἀγείρω,	ἡγερεκα,	Att. Red.	ἀγῆγερεκα.
ἐμέω,	ἤμεκα,	"	ἐμήμεκα.
ὀλλυμι,	ὠλεκα,	"	ὀλώλεκα.
(ἐλεύθω) ἤλυθα,		"	ἐλήλυθα.
ὄζω,	ᾠδα,	"	ὀδῶδα.

3. The pluperfect sometimes prefixes to this reduplication a new temporal augment ; most commonly in ἀκήκοα, ἤκηκόειν.

4. A similar reduplication is formed in some verbs in the second aorist, only that here the temporal augment comes first ; as, ἤραρον, ᾠρορον, ἤγαγον.

AUGMENT OF COMPOUND VERBS.

1. When the verb is compounded with a preposition, the augment comes between the preposition and the verb ; as, προσφέρω, προσέφερον.

2. Verbs compounded with other words have the augment usually at the beginning ; as, μελοποιέω, ἐμελοποιοῦν ; πλημμελέω, πεπλημμέληκα.

3. Verbs compounded with εὔ and δύς take the temporal augment in the middle when these verbs commence with a vowel that admits of change ; as, εὐεργετέω, εὐηργέτουν ; δυσαρεστέω, δυσηρέστουν.

4. But when these particles are joined to verbs commencing with an immutable vowel or a consonant, they take the augment at the beginning ; as, δυσωπέω, ἐδυσώπουν ; δυστυχέω, ἐδυστύχησα ; ἐνδοκίμew, ἤνδοκίμουν.

In compounds with ευ, however, the augment in such cases is commonly omitted ; as, εὐωχέομαι, εὐωχούμην, &c.

REMARKS ON THE AUGMENT OF COMPOUND VERBS.

1. The prepositions, excepting περί, lose their final vowel before the syllabic augment ; as, ἀπέδωκε, ἀμφέβαλ-λεν ; but περιέθηκα, not περέθηκα. In the case of προ, however, the ο is usually contracted with ε ; as, προῦδῃ, προῦθηκα, &c.

2. The prepositions σύν and έν, whose final consonant is changed by the laws of euphony into γ, λ, μ, ρ, σ, resume ν before the syllabic augment ; as, ἐγγίγνομαι, ἐνε-γινύμην ; συλλέγω, συνέλεγον ; ἐμμένω, ἐνέμενον, &c.

3. Strictly speaking, all those verbs have the augment at the beginning which are not so much themselves compounded with another word as derived from a compound one. Thus, δεινοπαθέω, ἐδεινοπάθουν, from δεινοπαθής ; οικοδομέω, ᾠκοδόμουν, from οικοδόμος, &c.

4. Hence some verbs, apparently compounded with prepositions, take the augment at the beginning ; as, ἐναντιούμαι, ἡναντιούμην, from ἐναντίος. So, also, ἀντιβολῶ, ἡντιβόλουν.

5. Exceptions, however, to the rules just mentioned, are of no unfrequent occurrence, especially among the Attics, with whom we find the following forms : ἐξεκκλησίασαν, ἐνεκωμίαζον, προεφήτευσα, ἐπιτετήδευκα, &c., although in all these verbs no simple form exists, but they are derived at once from ἐκκλησία, ἐγκώμων, προφήτης, ἐπιτηδής.

6. Some compound verbs take a double augment, namely, one before and one after the preposition ; as, ἀνορθῶ, ἡνῶρθουν, ἐπηνῶρθωται ; ἐνοχλέω, ἡνώχλουν ; ἀνέχω, ἡνειχόμην ; παροινέω, ἐπαρώνησεν, &c. Still more irregular are the following : δεδιήτηκα, ἐξεδεδιήτητο, from διαιτάω ;
δεδιώκηκα, ἐδιώκησα, from διωκέω ; and, in later writers, ἡνῆλωσα, from ἀναλίσκω, and δεδιηκόνηκα, from διακονέω.

2. FORMATION OF THE ACTIVE TENSES.

The Imperfect

is formed from the present by changing the termination ω into $\sigma\nu$, and prefixing the augment; as, $\tauύπτω$, $\epsilonτυπτον$; $\lambdaέγω$, $\epsilonλεγον$; $\alphaγω$, $\alphaγγον$.

The First Future

is formed from the present by changing the last syllable in the First conjugation into $\psi\omega$; as, $\tauύπτω$, $\tauύψω$;

 Second conjugation " $\xi\omega$; " $\lambdaέγω$, $\lambdaέξω$;
 Third conjugation " $\sigma\omega$; " $\tauίω$, $\τίσω$; and in the fourth conjugation by circumflexing the last syllable, and shortening the penult; as, $\psiάλλω$, $\psiᾶλῶ$.

Verbs in $\acute{\alpha}\omega$ and $\acute{\epsilon}\omega$ generally change α and ϵ into η , and verbs in $\acute{\omicron}\omega$ change \omicron into ω ; as, $\tauιμάω$, $\tauιμήσω$; $\phiιλέω$, $\phiιλήσω$; $\deltaηλόω$, $\deltaηλώσω$.

Four verbs, commencing with a smooth syllable, change that smooth into an aspirate in the future; as, is formed from the first future by prefixing the augment and changing ω into α ; as, $\tauύψω$, $\epsilonτυψα$.

$\epsilon\chi\omega$,	$\epsilon\xi\omega$.		$\tauρέχω$,	$\thetaρέξω$.
$\tauρέφω$,	$\thetaρέψω$.		$\tauύφω$,	$\thetaύψω$. ¹

1. These apparent anomalies admit of a very easy explanation. The old form of $\epsilon\chi\omega$ was $\epsilon\chi\omega$, which was changed to $\epsilon\chi\omega$, because two successive syllables cannot well have each an aspiration. But in the future the aspirate reappears, in consequence of the χ being removed, in order to make way for the termination of the future, $\xi\omega$. In like manner, the old presents of $\tauρέφω$, $\tauρέχω$, and $\tauύφω$ were respectively $\thetaρέφω$, $\thetaρέχω$, and $\thetaύφω$, changed to $\tauρέφω$, &c., in order that two successive syllables might not each begin with an aspirate; while in the future the first aspirate reappears, the latter having been changed.

In verbs of the fourth conjugation, namely, those ending in λω, μω, νω, ρω, the short vowel of the penult is again made long by changing

α	into η ; as,	ψάλλω, ψᾶλλῶ, ἐψηλα.
α	" η ; "	φαίνω, φᾶνῶ, ἔφηνα.
ε	" ει ; "	στέλλω, στελῶ, ἔστειλα.
ι	" ι ; "	κρίνω, κρίνῶ, ἔκρινα.
υ	" υ ; "	ἀμύνω, ἀμύνῶ, ἤμυνα.

But verbs in -ραίνω and -ιαίνω have only a long α in the penult of the first aorist, without changing it into η ; as, παραίνω, περᾶνῶ, ἐπέρᾶνα ; πιαίνω, πιανῶ, ἐπίᾶνα.

Later writers form also many others with long α, where, according to the general rule, the η should be employed ; as, ἐσήμεᾶνα, from σημαίνω ; ἐκοίλαᾶνα, from κοιλαίνω.

Some verbs, which have σ in the future, lose it in the first aorist ; as, χέω, χεύσω, ἔχενα ; σεύω, σεύσω, ἔσενα ; καίω, καύσω, ἔκηνα.

The Perfect

is formed from the first future by prefixing the continued augment, and changing, in the

First conjugation,	ψω	into φα ; as, τόψω, τέτυφα.
Second conjugation,	ξω	" χα ; " λέξω, λέλοχα.
Third conjugation,	σω	" κα ; " τίσω, τέτικα.
Fourth conjugation,	ῶ	" κα ; " ψαλῶ, ἔψαλκα.

Dissyllables in -λω and -ρω change the ε of the first future into α ; as, στέλλω, στελῶ, ἔσταλκα ; σπεῖρω, σπερῶ, ἔσπαρκα. But polysyllables, on the contrary, retain the ε ; as, ἀγγέλλω, ἀγγελῶ, ἤγγελκα.

Verbs in -ίνω, -ύνω, and -είνω reject ν before κ, and retain the short vowel of the future ; as, κρίνω, κρίνῶ, κέκρικα ; πλύνω, πλύνῶ, πέπλυνκα ; but those in είνω change the ε of the future into ᾶ ; as, τείνω, τενῶ, τέτᾶκα.

Verbs in -αίνω change ν before κ into γ; as, φαίνω, φανῶ, πέφαγκα; μαίνω, μανῶ, μεμίσγκα.

In some verbs the ε is changed into ο; as, τρέφω, θρέψω, τέτροφα; κλέπτω, κλέψω, κέκλοφα, λέγω, λέξω, λέλοχα, &c., and even before two consonants; as, πέμπω, πέμψω, πέπομφα.

The Pluperfect

is formed from the perfect by prefixing ε to the continued augment, if there be a reduplication, and changing the termination α into ειν; as, τέτυφα, ἐτετύφειν.

The Second Aorist

is formed from the present by prefixing the augment, shortening the penult, and changing ω into ον; as, τύπτω, ἐτύπον; λείπω, ἔλιπον; κάμνω, ἔκαμον.

The penult of the present is shortened for this purpose by the following changes:

Vowels.

αι	into	ᾶ ; as,	πταίρω,	ἔπτᾶρον.
η	"	ᾷ ; "	λήθω,	ἔλᾳθον.
ε	"	ᾐ ; "	τρέπω,	ἔτρᾶπον.
ευ	"	ῥ ; "	φεύγω,	ἔφῥυγον.
ει	{	"	ῑ ; "	λείπω,	ἔλῑπον.
		"	ε or α, in verbs ending in λω, μω, νω, ρω.

Consonants.

λλ	into	λ	; as,	βάλλω,	ἔβᾳλον.
πτ	{	π	; "	τύπτω,	ἔτῥυπον.
		β	; "	κρύπτω,	ἔκρῥυβον.
		φ	; "	ράπτω,	ἔρρᾶφον.
σσ, ττ,	"	γ	; "	τάσσω,	ἔτᾱγον.
ζ	{	δ	; "	φράζω,	ἔφρᾱδον.
		γ	; "	κράζω,	ἔκρᾱγον.
χ	"	γ	; "	σμύχω,	ἔσμῥυγον.

Verbs in -ζω and -σσω of the second conjugation form the second aorist in γον; as, κράζω, ἐκράγον; πράσσω, ἐπράγον; but those of the third conjugation form it in δον; as, φράζω, ἐφράδον.

The verb πλήσσω makes ἐπληγον in the second aorist; but the α appears in the compounds that signify "to frighten;" as, κατέπλαγον, ἐξέπλαγον.

The Second Future

is formed from the second aorist by dropping the augment, and changing ον into circumflexed ῶ; as, ἐτυπον, τυπῶ.

The Attic Future

is formed by throwing out σ in -ᾶσω, -έσω, and -όσω, of the future, and then contracting the vowels thus brought into contact; as, ἐξελῶ for ἐξελάσω; ἐλῶ for ἐλάσω; διασκεδῶ for διασκεδάσω; καλῶ for καλέσω; ὁμοῦμαι for ὁμόσομαι; μαχεῖσθαι for μαχέσεσθαι, &c.

REMARKS ON THE FORMATION OF THE ACTIVE TENSES.

1. Future.

1. The old future of all verbs ended originally in εσω, and we still find ὀλέσω from ὀλω, and ἀρέσω from ἄρω.

2. This primitive form in -εσω was changed by the Æolians into σω by dropping the ε; as, ἄρω, ἄρσω; ὄρω, ὄρσω; κύρω, κύρσω. The Ionians, on the other hand, changed the old form into εω by rejecting σ; as, ὀλέω, ἀρέω, κυρέω, &c., while the Attics contracted this form into ῶ; as, μένω, μενῶ; στέλλω, στελῶ, &c.

3. Thus, from the original form of the future in έσω, which remained only in some verbs, two new forms arose, one in σω, and the other in έω, contracted ῶ.

4. The future in ῶ was chiefly used in verbs whose characteristic was λ, μ, ν, ρ, that is, which ended in λω, μω, νω, ρω; the future in σω was, with a few exceptions, employed in the rest.

5. This future in $\sigma\omega$ is generally denominated the first future, and the future in $\tilde{\omega}$ is also a first future in verbs which end in $\lambda\omega$, $\mu\omega$, $\nu\omega$, and $\rho\omega$, but in other verbs it is called the second future.

6. In strictness, therefore, the second future is only a dialect variation from the first, and does not exist at all in verbs ending in $\lambda\omega$, $\mu\omega$, $\nu\omega$, and $\rho\omega$.

7. In changing the termination $-\acute{\epsilon}\sigma\omega$ into $\sigma\omega$, the consonants immediately preceding it are also changed according to the ordinary rules of euphony. Thus :

- (A.) The consonants δ , θ , τ , ζ , are omitted before σ , and the remaining consonants, π , β , ϕ , κ , γ , χ , are united with the σ that follows into the double consonants ψ and ξ ; as, $\kappa\rho\upsilon\pi\tau\omega$, $\kappa\rho\upsilon\pi\tau\acute{\epsilon}\sigma\omega$, $\kappa\rho\upsilon\psi\omega$; $\acute{\alpha}\gamma\omega$, $\acute{\alpha}\gamma\acute{\epsilon}\sigma\omega$, $\acute{\alpha}\xi\omega$; $\pi\acute{\lambda}\epsilon\kappa\omega$, $\pi\lambda\epsilon\kappa\acute{\epsilon}\sigma\omega$, $\pi\lambda\acute{\epsilon}\xi\omega$.
- (B.) Double γ makes $\gamma\xi$; as, $\lambda\acute{\iota}\gamma\gamma\omega$, $\lambda\epsilon\gamma\gamma\acute{\epsilon}\sigma\omega$, $\lambda\acute{\iota}\gamma\xi\omega$.
- (C.) If ν precede δ , θ , τ , ζ , it is thrown out; but, in order that the syllable may remain long, an ϵ is inserted after ϵ ; as, $\sigma\pi\acute{\epsilon}\nu\delta\omega$, $\sigma\pi\epsilon\acute{\iota}\sigma\omega$.
- (D.) In other cases, however, particularly when the verb ends in $\zeta\omega$, $\sigma\sigma\omega$, or $\tau\tau\omega$, usage must be attended to, since many verbs of this kind are formed in a different manner in the future. Thus, ζ becomes ξ in some; as, $\kappa\rho\acute{\alpha}\zeta\omega$, $\kappa\rho\acute{\alpha}\xi\omega$, where the original form of the present was in $\gamma\omega$; as, $\kappa\rho\acute{\alpha}\gamma\omega$, $\kappa\rho\alpha\gamma\acute{\epsilon}\sigma\omega$, $\kappa\rho\acute{\alpha}\xi\omega$; in others it becomes $\gamma\xi\omega$; as, $\pi\acute{\lambda}\acute{\alpha}\zeta\omega$, $\pi\acute{\lambda}\acute{\alpha}\gamma\xi\omega$, where the original form of the present was in $\gamma\gamma\omega$; as, $\pi\acute{\lambda}\acute{\alpha}\gamma\gamma\omega$, $\pi\lambda\alpha\gamma\gamma\acute{\epsilon}\sigma\omega$, $\pi\acute{\lambda}\acute{\alpha}\gamma\xi\omega$.
- (E.) Verbs in $\sigma\sigma\omega$ and $\tau\tau\omega$ are most of them derived from forms in $\kappa\omega$ and $\chi\omega$, and hence have the future in $\xi\omega$. Thus, $\phi\rho\acute{\iota}\sigma\sigma\omega$, $\phi\rho\acute{\iota}\xi\omega$; old form $\phi\rho\acute{\iota}\kappa\omega$, $\phi\rho\acute{\iota}\kappa\acute{\epsilon}\sigma\omega$, $\phi\rho\acute{\iota}\xi\omega$. And again, $\tau\alpha\rho\acute{\alpha}\sigma\sigma\omega$, $\tau\alpha\rho\acute{\alpha}\xi\omega$; old form $\tau\alpha\rho\acute{\alpha}\chi\omega$, $\tau\alpha\rho\alpha\chi\acute{\epsilon}\sigma\omega$, $\tau\alpha\rho\acute{\alpha}\xi\omega$. Other verbs in $\sigma\sigma\omega$ and $\tau\tau\omega$ are considered merely as lengthened forms of verbs pure, or verbs in ω with a vowel or diphthong preceding, and hence they make the future in $\sigma\omega$; as, $\acute{\alpha}\rho\mu\acute{o}\zeta\omega$, $\acute{\alpha}\rho\mu\acute{o}\sigma\omega$.

8. Verbs pure, whose final syllable is preceded by a diphthong, undergo no change in the future except the as-umption of σ ; as, ἀκούω, ἀκούσω; παύω, παύσω. In other verbs pure, where a vowel precedes the termination, the short vowel of the present becomes long before the σ ; as, δακρῦω, δακρῦσω; τίω, τίσω. Hence verbs in έω, άω, and όω have the long vowel in the penult of the future; as, φιλέω, φιλήσω; τιμάω, τιμήσω; χρυσόω, χρυσώσω. The following exceptions, however, must be noted:

- (A.) The termination έω makes έσω in τελέω, ἀρκέω, νεικέω, and some others; as, τελέσω, ἀρκέσω, νεικέσω. These futures are very probably from old presents in ω.
- (B.) Some verbs in έω have εσω and ησω; as, καλέω, καλήσω, Attic καλέσω; αινέω, αινήσω, Attic αινέσω. Here two forms of the present appear to have been originally in use, one in ω, making έσω in the future, and another in έω, making ήσω.
- (C.) Verbs in αω, whose final syllable is preceded by ε or ι, or by the consonants λ and ρ, have the future in άσω. And this future is long if a vowel or the letter ρ precede αω in the present, but otherwise it is short. Thus, έάω, έᾶσω; δράω, δρᾶσω; but γελάω, γελάσω.
- (D.) But the following verbs in άω make ήσω in the future, namely, συλάω and χράω. Verbs which have ο before the final άω have also generally ήσω; as, βοάω, βοήσω.
- (E.) The termination όω makes όσω in verbs which are not derivative; as, όμόω, όμόςω; άρόω, άρόσω, &c.

9. The verbs καίω and κλαίω, in Attic κάω and κλάω, make the future in -αύσω; as, καύσω, κλαύσω.

10. Verbs in λω, μω, νω, ρω, shorten the penult when forming the future; as, άμύνω, άμύνῶ; κρίνω, κρίνῶ. This arises from the circumstance of the tone in the future resting on the last syllable.

11. Many barytone verbs are frequently formed by the Attics and Ionians, like contracted verbs, by changing ω into ήσω; as, βάλλω, βαλλήσω; βόσκω, βοσκήσω; τύπτω, τυπτήσω.

2. Perfect.

1. Verbs in μω and νω presuppose a future in ήσω ; as, νέμω, νενέμηκα ; μένω, μεμένηκα. In these perfects the futures νεμήσω, μενήσω are presupposed, which, however, were hardly in use any more than the forms of the present νεμέω, μενέω, &c.

2. Generally, η and ε in the future and perfect are frequently interchanged. Thus δέω has δήσω in the future, and δέδεκα in the perfect. On the other hand, καλέω has commonly in the future καλέσω, but in the perfect κέκληκα by syncope for κεκάληκα.

3. Some verbs take ω before κ instead of η ; as, μέμδλωκα for μεμόλχηκα, where β is put between μ and λ, as in μεσημβρία. So ολχωκα, from ολχομαι, instead of ολχηκα ; and πέπτωκα, from πέτω or πίπτω, instead of πέπητηκα.

3. Second Aorist.

1. As a short penult is required in the second aorist, it frequently happens that, when two consonants come together which lengthen the vowel, they are transposed ; as, δέρκω, έδρακον ; πέρθω, έπραθον ; where the original forms were έδαρκον and έπαρθον.

2. Verbs pure have no second aorist, and the forms which do occur come from barytone verbs. Thus, εστερον comes from στέρω, not στερέω ; εδονπον from δούπω, not δονπέω.

3. If the second aorist would only have been distinguished from the imperfect by a short penult, or if it would have differed in no respect, as to form and quantity, from that tense, the verb has no second aorist active. It may have, however, a second aorist passive. Thus, γράφω has no second aorist active, but it has εγράφην in the passive.

2. FORMATION OF THE PASSIVE TENSES.

The Present

is formed from the present active by changing ω into $\sigma\mu\alpha\iota$;
as, $\tau\acute{\upsilon}\pi\tau\omega$, $\tau\acute{\upsilon}\pi\tau\omicron\mu\alpha\iota$.

The Imperfect

is formed from the imperfect active by changing $\sigma\upsilon$ into $\delta\omicron\mu\eta\upsilon$; as, $\xi\tau\upsilon\pi\tau\omicron\upsilon$, $\xi\tau\upsilon\pi\tau\acute{\omicron}\mu\eta\upsilon$.

The Perfect

is formed from the perfect active by changing, in the

First conjugation, { $\phi\alpha$ pure	into $\mu\alpha\iota$; as, $\tau\acute{\epsilon}\tau\upsilon\phi\alpha$, $\tau\acute{\epsilon}\tau\upsilon\mu\alpha\iota$.
{ $\phi\alpha$ impure	" $\mu\alpha\iota$; " $\tau\acute{\epsilon}\tau\epsilon\rho\phi\alpha$, $\tau\acute{\epsilon}\tau\epsilon\rho\mu\alpha\iota$.
Second conjugation, $\chi\alpha$	" $\gamma\mu\alpha\iota$; " $\lambda\acute{\epsilon}\lambda\omicron\chi\alpha$, $\lambda\acute{\epsilon}\lambda\epsilon\gamma\mu\alpha\iota$.
Third conjugation, $\kappa\alpha$	" $\sigma\mu\alpha\iota$; " $\pi\acute{\epsilon}\phi\omicron\rho\alpha\kappa\alpha$, $\pi\acute{\epsilon}\phi\omicron\rho\alpha\sigma\mu\alpha\iota$.
Fourth conjugation, $\kappa\alpha$	" $\mu\alpha\iota$; " $\epsilon\psi\alpha\lambda\kappa\alpha$, $\epsilon\psi\alpha\lambda\mu\alpha\iota$.

In verbs of the third conjugation, however, $\kappa\alpha$ is changed into $\mu\alpha\iota$ when a long vowel or $\rho\alpha$ precedes the final syllable ; as, $\sigma\pi\epsilon\iota\rho\acute{\alpha}\omega$, $\sigma\pi\epsilon\iota\rho\acute{\alpha}\sigma\omega$, $\xi\sigma\pi\epsilon\iota\rho\alpha\kappa\alpha$, $\xi\sigma\pi\epsilon\iota\rho\acute{\alpha}\mu\alpha\iota$; $\delta\rho\acute{\alpha}\omega$, $\delta\rho\acute{\alpha}\sigma\omega$, $\delta\acute{\epsilon}\delta\rho\alpha\kappa\alpha$, $\delta\acute{\epsilon}\delta\rho\acute{\alpha}\mu\alpha\iota$; $\phi\iota\lambda\acute{\epsilon}\omega$, $\phi\iota\lambda\acute{\eta}\sigma\omega$, $\pi\epsilon\phi\acute{\iota}\lambda\eta\kappa\alpha$, $\pi\epsilon\phi\acute{\iota}\lambda\eta\mu\alpha\iota$, &c.

But there are exceptions to this rule in the case of some verbs, which have a diphthong before the final ω of the active, since diphthongs have arisen from the short vowel made long ; as, $\acute{\alpha}\kappa\omicron\upsilon\omega$, $\acute{\eta}\kappa\omicron\upsilon\sigma\mu\alpha\iota$; $\pi\tau\alpha\acute{\iota}\omega$, $\epsilon\pi\tau\alpha\acute{\iota}\sigma\mu\alpha\iota$; $\theta\rho\alpha\acute{\upsilon}\omega$, $\tau\acute{\epsilon}\theta\rho\alpha\upsilon\sigma\mu\alpha\iota$, &c.

Verbs in $\alpha\iota\upsilon\omega$, which make $\gamma\kappa\alpha$ in the perfect active, make, after rejecting γ , the termination of the perfect passive in $\sigma\mu\alpha\iota$; as, $\phi\alpha\acute{\iota}\nu\omega$, $\pi\acute{\epsilon}\phi\alpha\gamma\kappa\alpha$, $\pi\acute{\epsilon}\phi\alpha\sigma\mu\alpha\iota$.

In some verbs the quantity is changed ; as, $\pi\acute{\epsilon}\tau\omega\kappa\alpha$, $\pi\acute{\epsilon}\tau\omicron\mu\alpha\iota$, from $\pi\acute{\iota}\nu\omega$; and $\delta\acute{\epsilon}\delta\omega\kappa\alpha$, $\delta\acute{\epsilon}\delta\omicron\mu\alpha\iota$, from $\delta\acute{\iota}\delta\omega\mu\iota$.

The vowel \omicron in the perfect active, which was derived from ϵ of the present, is again changed to ϵ in the perfect passive ; as, $\kappa\lambda\acute{\epsilon}\tau\omega$, $\kappa\acute{\epsilon}\kappa\lambda\omicron\phi\alpha$, $\kappa\acute{\epsilon}\kappa\lambda\epsilon\mu\mu\alpha\iota$; $\pi\acute{\epsilon}\mu\pi\omega$, $\pi\acute{\epsilon}\tau\omicron\mu\phi\alpha$, $\pi\acute{\epsilon}\tau\epsilon\mu\mu\alpha\iota$.

But if ρ with another consonant precede the o , it is changed in the perfect passive into a ; as, στρέφω, ἐστρόφα, ἐστραμμαι; τρέπω, τέτροφα, τέτραμμαι.

The third person plural of the perfect is formed from the third person singular by inserting ν before $\tauαι$; as, πεφιλῆνται, from πεφιλῆται. But if the first person of the perfect passive end in $\muαι$ impure, that is, with a consonant preceding it, the third person plural is formed by a periphrasis of the verb $\epsilonλμῖ$ and the perfect participle; as, τέτυμμαι, τετυμμένοι εἰσί.¹

This same periphrasis is employed in the optative and subjunctive moods, when the perfect ends in $\muαι$ impure; as, τετυμμένος εἶην, τετυμμένος ὦ. But not when the perfect ends in $\muαι$ pure; as, τετιμήμην, τετιμῶμαι.

The Pluperfect

is formed from the perfect by changing $\muαι$ into $\muην$, and prefixing ϵ to the continued augment, if there be a reduplication; as, τέτυμμαι, ἐτετύμμην.

The third person plural of the pluperfect is formed by a periphrasis of $\epsilonλμῖ$ and the perfect participle, whenever the perfect from which it is derived ends in $\muαι$ impure; as, τετυμμένοι ἦσαν.

The First Aorist

is formed from the third person singular of the perfect by dropping the reduplication, changing $\tauαι$ into $\thetaην$, and the preceding smooth into an aspirated mute; as, τέτυπται, ἐτύφθην.

Four verbs take σ before the termination $\thetaην$, although it is not found in the third person of the perfect; as, μέμνηται, ἐμνήσθην; κέχρηται, ἐχρήσθην; ἔρρωται, ἐρρώσθην;

1. This is done from a principle of euphony, since τετυπνται would be too harsh for the ear. The same remark applies to the pluperfect, and to the optative and subjunctive moods.

πέπληται, ἐπλήσθην. On the contrary, σέσωσται makes ἐσώθην.

Some which have η in the perfect passive receive an ε in the first aorist; as, εἴρηται, εὔρέθην; ἐπήνυται, ἐπηνέθην; ἀφήρηται, ἀφηρεθην. From εἴρηται the aorist is ἐρήθην and ἐρρέθην.

Verbs which change ε of the future into ο of the perfect active, and into α in the perfect passive, take ε again in the first aorist; as, ἔστραπται, ἐστρέφθην; τέτραπται, ἐτρέφθην; τέθραπται, ἐθρέφθην.

The First Future

is formed from the first aorist by dropping the augment, and changing θην into θήσομαι; as, ἐτύφθην, τυφθήσομαι.

The Second Aorist

is formed from the second aorist active by changing ον into ην; as, ἔτυπον, ἐτύπην.

No second aorist passive occurs in δην, θην, την; or from verbs in ω pure, except ἐκάην, ἐδάην, ἐρρύην, ἐφύην.

The Second Future

is formed from the second aorist by dropping the augment, and changing ην into ησομαι; as, ἐτύπην, τυπήσομαι.

The Third Future, or Paulo-post-futurum, is formed from the second person singular of the perfect by changing αι into ομαι; as, τέτυψαι, τετύψομαι.

3. FORMATION OF THE MIDDLE TENSES.

The Present and Imperfect are the same in form as those of the passive voice, and are similarly formed.

The Perfect

is formed from the second aorist active by prefixing the reduplication, and changing ον into α ; as, ἔτυπον, τέτυπα.

If the second aorist has α or ε in the penult, the perfect middle changes this into ο ; as, σπείρω, ἔσπαρον, ἔσπορα ; ἐγείρω, ἤγερον, ἤγορα.

But if the α in the penult of the second aorist comes from αι or η in the present, or is long there by position, the perfect changes it into η ; as, μαίνομαι, ἐμάνην, μέμνηνα ; πλήσσω, ἐπλαγον, πέπληγα ; θάλλω, ἔθαλον, τέθηλα ; κλάζω, ἐκλαγον, κέκληγα.

The exceptions to this rule are the following : κράζω, ἔκραγον, κέκραγα ; πράσσω, ἔπραγον, πέπραγα ; φράζω, ἔφραδον, πέφραδα ; ᾄδω, ἔαδα ; ἄγω, "to break," ἔαγα.

If the second aorist has ι in the penult from a present in ει, the perfect middle changes it into αι ; as, πείθω, ἐπιθον, πέπειθα ; λείπω, ἔλιπον, ἔλειπα ; εἶδω, ἴδον, οἶδα.

But if ι be already in the present, the perfect merely lengthens it after having been short in the second aorist ; as, τρίζω, ἔτριγον, τέτριγα.

In some verbs the penult of the perfect middle remains short ; as, ἀκήκοα, from ἀκούω ; ἐλήλυθα, from ἐλεύθω. On the other hand, we have πέφευγα, from φεύγω ; κέκευθα, from κεύθω ; τέτευχα, from τεύχω.

The verb ῥήσσω makes ἔρρωγα ; so, also, we have ἔολπα, from ἐλπω ; ἔοργα, from ἐργω ; εἴωθα, from ἔθω.

Some perfects appear to be formed immediately from the present by changing ω into α, and prefixing the reduplication ; as, δοῦπω, δέδουπα ; δίω, δέδια ; and so, also, ἄνωγα, for ἤνωγα.

The Pluperfect

is formed from the perfect by prefixing ε, and changing α into ειν ; as, τέτυπα, ἐτετύπειν.

The First Aorist

is formed from the first aorist active by adding μην; as, ἔτυβα, ἐτυψάμην.

The First Future

is formed from the first future active by changing ω into ομαι; as, τύψω, τύψομαι.

In verbs of the fourth conjugation ῶ is changed into οῦμαι; as, ψαλῶ, ψαλοῦμαι.

The Second Aorist

is formed from the second aorist active by changing ον into ομην; as, ἐτύπτον, ἐτυπτόμην.

The Second Future

is formed from the second future active by changing ῶ into οῦμαι; as, τυπῶ, τυποῦμαι.

REMARKS ON THE PASSIVE TENSES.

1. Present.

1. The true Attic termination¹ of the second person singular is ει. And this form is employed also to distinguish the subjunctive from the indicative. The termination in η for the second person of the present indicative belongs to the common dialect.

2. The old form of the second person was in -εσαι, from which the Ionians made -εαι, and the Attics -ει. Thus, τύπτεσαι; Ion. τύπτειαι; Att. τύπτει; common dialect τύπτῃ.

3. The old form in σαι for the second person continued in use, I. In some contracted verbs; as, ὀδυνάομαι, ὀδυναέσαι; καυχάομαι, καυχάεσαι. II. In verbs in μι; as,

1. The old rule used to be, that only three verbs retained this ει in the second person, namely, βούλομαι, ὀπτομαι, and οἶομαι, making respectively βούλει, ὀψει, and οἶει. But the best editions now restore ει to the second persons of all verbs. Compare Porson, Pref. ad Hec. p. iv.

ισταμαι, ιστασαι, &c. III. In the perfect and pluperfect passive of all verbs; the ε, however, before the σ, being dropped, and the double consonant brought in; as, τέτυνθαι for τετυπέσαι; ἐτέτυθα for ἐτετύπεω. IV. In some irregular futures; as, ἔδομαι, ἐδέσαι; φάγομαι, φάγεσαι.

2. Imperfect.

The old form of the second person singular of this tense was ἐτύπτεσο, from which the Ionians made ἐτύπτεο, and the Attics ἐτύπτον.

3. First Future.

The second person singular of this tense ended originally in εσαι, whence the Ionians formed εαι, and the Attics ει. The form η belongs to the common dialect.

3. FORCE OF THE TENSES.

General Remarks.

1. The time in which an action can take place is either present, past, or future. There are thus in Greek, as in every language, three principal tenses, the Present (ὁ ἐνεστώς), the Preterit, and the Future (ὁ μέλλων).

2. Of the present there is only one simple form in Greek, but for the preterit there are more than in any other language.

3. An action, for instance, is represented as either in itself and absolutely past, or as relatively past in respect to another time expressed or conceived. The aorist serves to denote the time entirely past; the imperfect, the perfect, and the pluperfect, the relative time.

4. The imperfect (ὁ παρατατικός) represents a past action as continuing during another past action, and accompanying it; the perfect (χρόνος παρακείμενος τῷ παρόντι) and pluperfect (ὁ ὑπερσυντελικός) designate an action completed, but continuing in its immediate consequences to another time; the perfect to the present, the pluperfect to a time past.

5. In the same way the future is conceived under three modifications; either as simply future, without reference to another action, as in the first and second futures active and future middle ; or as future and complete, as in the first and second futures passive ; or as future and with reference to an action to take place in a still more remote futurity, as in the third future passive.

Special Remarks.

1. According to what has just been remarked, the present, as in all languages, designates an action present and still incomplete ; while, of the three tenses of past time, the aorist marks a past action in itself, without any reference to another action at the same or a different time.

2. The perfect, on the contrary, expresses an action which has taken place, indeed, at a previous time, but is connected, either in itself or its consequences, or its accompanying circumstances, with the present time. Thus, ἔγραφα, "I wrote," signifies, indeed, the completion of the action ; but it does not determine whether the consequences of it, namely, the writing which I have written, be still existing or not. On the contrary, γέγραφα, "I have written," besides indicating the fact of my having written, shows also the continued existence of the writing. In the same manner, γεγάμηκα, "I am married ;" on the contrary, ἐγάμησα, "I married." Hence κέκτημαι signifies, "I possess," properly, "I have acquired unto myself, and the acquisition is still mine."

3. The perfect retains its reference to a continued action through all the moods. Thus, ὁ μὲν ληστής οὗτος ἐς τὸν Πυριφλεγέθοντα ἐμβεβλήσθω, "Let this robber be cast into Pyriphlegethon, and remain there." And again, ἐξιόντες, εἶπον τὴν θύραν κεκλειῖσθαι, "On going out, they gave directions that the door should be shut, and kept so."

4. The imperfect expresses, 1. An action continuing during another action which is past. It differs from the aorist in this, that the aorist marks an action past, but transient ; the imperfect an action past, but at that time continuing. Thus, τοὺς πελταστὰς ἐδέξαντο (an immediate action) οἱ βάρβαροι καὶ ἐμάχοντο (continued action) ἐπεὶ δ' ἐγγὺς ἦσαν (continued) οἱ ὀπλῖται ἐτράποντο (immediate) ; καὶ οἱ μὲν πελτασταὶ εὐθὺς εἶποντο (continued). "The barbarians received the targeteers and fought ; but when the heavy armed men were near they turned away in flight, and the targeteers immediately pursued them."

5. The imperfect also expresses, 2. An action continued by being frequently repeated; as, τὸν σίτον τὸν ἐν τῇ χώρᾳ διεφθείρετε καὶ τὴν γῆν ἐτέμνετε. "You destroyed, from time to time, the grain throughout the country, and you ravaged the land."

6. This same tense also expresses, on some occasions, an action begun or contemplated, but not completed; or, in other words, an attempt not brought to a successful conclusion. As, ἐμισθοῦτο, "he wished to hire" (Herod. 1. 68); and again, τὰμ' ἐθνήσκε τέκνα, "my children were on the point of losing their lives."

7. The third future passive refers to an action which will be permanent or continued in future time; and it therefore bears the same relation to the other futures as, among the tenses of the past time, the perfect does to the aorist. It is sometimes, therefore, in consequence of this, styled the Perfect's Future. Thus, ἐμοὶ δὲ λελείψεται ἄλγεα λυγρὰ, "while mournful woes shall continue to remain unto me." And again, ὁ πολίτης ἐν καταλόγῳ οὐδεὶς μετεγεγραφήσεται, ἀλλ', ὥσπερ ἦν τὸ πρῶτον, ἐγγεγραφήσεται. "No citizen shall become enrolled in another class, but shall remain enrolled in that in which he was at first."

8. Hence, of those verbs whose present marks only the beginning of an action, but the perfect the complete action, the third future is used in order to show that the perfect action is to happen in future; as, κτάομαι, "I acquire;" κέκτημαι, "I possess;" κεκτήσομαι, "I shall possess." Whereas κτήσομαι means merely, "I shall acquire for myself."

9. The third future is therefore often used to express the rapidity of an action by taking, not the beginning of it, but its completion and the state resulting from it; as, πεπαισεται, "he shall instantly cease;" πεπράξεται, "it shall be immediately done." It is this meaning which has obtained for it the less correct name of Paulo-post-futurum, namely, what will take place soon, or a little after the present.

10. Besides the simple forms of the future, there is also a periphrastic future, made up of μέλλω and the infinitive of the present, the aorist, or the future, and corresponding with the Latin periphrastic future of the participle in urus and the verb sum. It answers to the English, "being about to do anything;" "intending to do a thing," &c.

11. The aorist not only refers to instantaneous action, but is also frequently employed with the meaning, "to be wont." Thus, ἦν τις τούτων τι παρὰ τὴν ζημίαν ἐπέθεσαν, "If any person transgress any one of these, they inflict punishment upon him."

12. The second aorist differs from the first in form alone, not in meaning. Two modes of forming the past or historical tense got early into use in Greece; the one gave that which we call the first aorist, the other that which we call the second aorist. The former, from its origin, was truly a distinct tense, having a system of terminations altogether peculiar to itself; but the latter is little else than a slight modification of the imperfect. Usage early declared itself in favour of the former; and, at the period when Greek literature began, the second form obtained only in a limited number of the more primitive verbs; while every verb of more recent and derivative formation exhibited the first exclusively. In a very few words only are both forms to be found; and even in these, the duplicates, for the most part, belong to different dialects, ages, or styles. In import, these two forms of the aorist never differed.

13. A satisfactory illustration of the principle which has just been stated in relation to the second aorist may be found in our own language. In English, also, there are two originally distinct modes of forming the common past tense: the first by adding the syllable ed, as in I killed; the other chiefly by certain changes in the vowels; as in I wrote, I saw, I knew, I ran, &c. Let the student call the former and regular form the first aorist, and the latter the second, and he will have a correct idea of the amount of the distinction between those tenses in Greek. The form ἐκτενε in Greek is what I killed is in English; that is, the regular form of the past tense, which obtains in a vast majority of verbs: the form ἔλαβον, on the contrary, is altogether analogous to I took, or I saw, acknowledged by all grammarians not as a second or distinct preterit, but as an instance of irregular variety of formation obtaining in certain verbs.

14. It may be objected to this view of the subject, that there are verbs in Greek in which both forms of the aorist occur. A careful examination, however, will prove that the number of such verbs is extremely small compared with that of those which have only the one or the other aorist. But even here the analogy is supported by the English verb, since we meet with many instances in which English verbs retain both forms of the preterit. Thus, for example, I hanged, or I hung; I spit, or I spat; I awaked, or I awoke; I cleft, I clave, or I clove. Such duplicates in Greek verbs are extremely rare; probably there is not one Greek verb in five hundred in which they can be met with. The form called the second aorist is, indeed, common enough; but, then, where it exists, that of the first aorist is almost always wanting. We have εὔρον, ἔλαβον, εἶδον, ἤγαγον, ἔλιπον, ἑώραμον; but the regular form is as much a nonentity in these verbs as it is in the English verbs I found, I took, I saw, I led, I left, I ran, &c. The first aorist in these would be sheer vulgarity; it would be parallel to I finded, I taked, I seed.

15. In strictness, therefore, the Greek verb has but one aorist active; that aorist, when regular, following the model of ἐτινθα, but being sometimes formed less regularly, in another manner, like ἔλαβον. Now and then, in the variety of dialects and styles, two forms appear in the same verb, as in ἔπεισα and ἐπιθον; one of these, however, as in this instance ἔπεισα, being that in ordinary use, the other rare, anomalous, and nearly obsolete.

16. The second future, also, has only, in strictness, an existence in name, and the same principle may be applied to it as in the case of the second aorist. Verbs in λω, μω, νω, ρω, have no second future; in other verbs the second future is only a dialect modification of the first.

4. VOICES.

The active and passive voices of the Greek verb have nothing very peculiar in their signification when compared with the corresponding voices of the Latin verb. We shall therefore confine our remarks to

The Middle Voice.

1. The Middle Voice has been so called by grammarians, as having a middle signification between the active and passive, implying neither action nor passion simply, but a union in some degree of both.

2. The principal usages of the middle voice are five in number. The first four may be called usages of reflexive, the fifth the usage of reciprocal signification.¹

- I. Where A does the act on himself, or on what belongs to himself; or, in other words, is the object of his own action; as, ἀπήγγξατο, "he hung himself;" κεφαλὴν ἐκόψατο, "he wounded his own head."
- II. Where A does the act on some other object M, relatively to himself, and not for another person; as, κατεστρέψατο τὸν Μῆδον, "he made the Median subject to himself."
- III. Where A gets an act done for himself, or for those belonging to him, by B. Thus of Chryses it is said, in the Iliad, that he came to the Grecian camp, λυσόμενος θυγάτρα, "to get his daughter released by Agamemnon, on the payment of a ransom;" that is, briefly, "to ransom his daughter." Whereas, of Agamemnon it is said, οὐδ' ἀπέλυνε θυγάτρα, "he did not release her," namely, to Chryses. Under this same head may be ranked the following instances: διδάσασθαι τὸν υἱόν, "to get one's son instructed;" δανείζω, "to lend;" δανείζομαι, "to get a loan for one's self;" "to borrow."
- IV. Where, in such verbs as κόπτομαι, "to mourn;" σέβομαι, "to urge one's self on," the direct action is done by A on himself, but an accusative or other case follows of B, whom that action farther regards. Thus, ἐκόψαντο αὐτόν, "they mourned for him;" i. e., they cut or lacerated themselves for him. Σέβονται αὐτόν, "they stir themselves in pursuit of him." Ἐπιλλέσθην αὐτόν, "they tore their hair in mourning for him." So, also, φυλάξαι τὸν παῖδα, "to guard the boy;" but φυλάσασθαι τὸν λέοντα, "to guard one's self against the lion." And again, where, in the Iliad, it is said of Hector, ὡς εἰπὼν, οὐ παῖδος ὀρέξατο, "thus having spoken, he stretched out his arms to receive his son."

1. Mus. Crit. No. 1, p. 102, seq.

V. Where the action is reciprocal between two persons of parties, and A does to B what B does to A; as in verbs signifying to contract, quarrel, fight, converse, &c. Thus, in Demosthenes, it is said, εὗς ἂν διαλυσώμεθα τὸν πόλεμον, "until we shall have put an end to the war, by treaty mutually agreed upon." To this head belong such verbs as μάχεσθαι, σπένδεσθαι, διαλέγεσθαι, &c.

2. Though, on some occasions, the active voice is used where the middle would be proper, that is, where the act is denoted without relation to the agent, though there does exist a middle verb, so to denote it, yet where the two voices exist in actual use, the middle denoting the action relatively to the agent, as in No. II., is very seldom, if ever, in pure Attic, used to denote the action when it regards another person. Thus, ιστάναι τρόπαιον may be said of an army who erect their own trophy; for it is true, as far as it goes, they do erect a trophy. But ἐστήσατο τρόπαιον cannot be said of him who erected a trophy for others, but only ἔστησεν.

3. In many verbs, the perfect, pluperfect, and aorist passive are used in a middle sense, besides the ordinary meaning of the passive. Thus, ἐπίδεδειγμένος τὴν πονηρίαν, "having openly manifested his wickedness;" μεμισθωμένος χώρον, "having hired a piece of ground;" κατεκλίθη, "he laid himself down;" ἀπηλλάγη, "he departed." The regular middle form of the aorist in such verbs is unusual or obsolete. In some it has a special signification; as, σταλῆναι, "to travel;" but στείλασθαι, "to array one's self."¹

1. As regards the use of the perfect and pluperfect passive in a middle sense, the opinion of Buttmann appears the most rational, that in all cases where a verb has a regular middle voice, with its appropriate reflex signification, the perfect and pluperfect passive, and they alone, are used as the perfect and pluperfect of that voice, and possess that signification along with their own. In conformity with this doctrine, the middle voice would seem to be nothing else than the passive verb, used under a peculiar modification of its meaning, and illustrating the tendency of the Greeks in early times to look upon themselves in all reflex acts, whether external or internal, as patients rather than agents; a tendency which is exemplified in every page of the Homeric poems, and which belongs more or less to every people in an early stage of civilization, before the nation comes of age, and acquires the consciousness, along with the free use, of its powers. This seems to be the reason

4. With regard to the *perfect middle*¹ it may be remarked, that this tense is of very rare occurrence, so as to have far more the character of an occasional redundancy than of a regular formation. In fact, when the preterit exists in this particular form, it very rarely exists in the same verb in any other form; and where two forms do occur, it will generally be found that the one did not come into use till the other was growing obsolete. The perfect middle, it is true, has undoubtedly some degree of alliance with a neuter meaning, but then this alliance is very far from being constant. This form has often a truly active and transitive signification; as, for example, λέλοιπα, "I have left;" έκτονα, "I have killed;" while, on the other hand, the form considered as active is of frequent occurrence in a neuter or reflex sense; as in κέκμηκα, "I am weary;" έστηκα, "I stand;" μεμένηκα, "I remain;" βεβίωκα, "I have lived," &c. These instances, which might be easily multiplied, are sufficient to prove that there is no good ground for assigning to either of these forms of the perfect any determinate cast of signification, whether it be active or neuter. Some preference of what is called the middle form for the neuter sense is the utmost that can with truth be ascertained. In a few instances both the forms certainly do exist, and with a characteristic difference of signification; as, όλώλεκα, "I have destroyed;" and όλωλα, "I am undone;" πέπεικα, "I have persuaded;" and πέποιθα, "I am confident;" in others the two forms occur, indeed, but with little why so many of the verbs employed by the Greeks to denote states of mind or of feeling have a passive form, such as όλομαι (οίμαι), αισθάνομαι, σκέπτομαι, έπίσταμαι, βούλομαι, άγαμαι, ήδομαι, μαίνομαι. In some tenses, indeed, in which a variety of forms presented itself, one of them was allotted more peculiarly to the passive signification, another to the middle: that instinct which, in all languages, is evermore silently at work in giving definiteness to the speech of a people, in proportion as its thoughts become more definite, manifested itself in assigning one form of the future and aorist to the passive voice, another to the middle; the preference being perhaps determined by the affinity of the latter to the corresponding active tenses, of the former to the perfect passive. Instances, however, remain to show that, at the time when the Greek language comes first into view, the line of demarcation was not deemed quite impassable; and the passive voice would not unfrequently assert its rights to its cast-off future, and now and then, though very rarely, even to the aorist. Philol. Museum, No. iv., p. 221, seq.

discrimination in sense ; as, πέπραχα and πέπραγα, δέδουκα and δέδωκα.

5. The future middle is often found in a passive sense, the reason of which appears to be this. That form of the future which, in the later ages of the Greek language, when the grammarians wrote, seems to have been used exclusively in a middle sense, had previously a wider range legitimately belonging to it.

5. FORCE OF THE MOODS.

Indicative.

The indicative is used in Greek when anything is to be represented as actually existing or happening, and as something independent of the thought and conception of the speaker. Hence it is put in very many cases where, in Latin, the subjunctive must be used.

1. The indicative is put after relatives, both pronouns and particles, where, in Latin, the dependance of this clause is expressed by the subjunctive ; the Greek often uses the future of the indicative to denote what shall or will happen, not what is merely conceived as such. Thus, Soph. Philoct. 303, οὐ γάρ τις ἄρμος ἐστὶν, οὐδ' ὅποι πλέων, ἐξεμπολήσει κέρδος, ἢ ξενώσεται, " For there is no harbour (here), nor any place unto which one sailing shall carry on therein gainful traffic, or be hospitably entertained."

2. The indicative is also used after negative propositions with the relative ; as, παρ' ἐμοὶ οὐδεὶς μισθοφορεῖ, ὅστις μὴ ἰκανός ἐστιν ἴσα πονεῖν ἐμοί, " No soldier serves for pay with me who is not able to endure equal toils with me." Here the Latin idiom would require qui possit.

3. The indicative is likewise used in indirect interrogations ; thus, ὁρᾶτε τί ποιοῦμεν, " You see what we are actually doing." Whereas, ὁρᾶτε τί ποιῶμεν means, " You see what we are to do." So, also, ἐκεῖνος οἶδε τίνα τρόπον οἱ νέοι διαφθείρονται, " He knows in what way the young are actually destroyed." Here διαφθείροντο ἄν would mean, " might have been destroyed."

Imperative.

The imperative is used in Greek, as in other languages in addresses, entreaties, commands, &c. The personal pronouns, as in other languages, are omitted, except when they serve for distinction or have an emphasis.

1. The second person sometimes receives an indefinite subject, and thus stands, as it were, for the third; as, παῖε, παῖε πᾶς τις ἄν, "Strike, strike, every one, whosoever thou mayst be."

2. Sometimes the plural of the imperative is used, though only one person be addressed, whenever strength of feeling is meant to be expressed, or any other force is to be imparted to the clause; as, προσέλθετ', ὦ παῖ, πατρί, "Come, oh my child, to thy father."

3. The negative μη is joined in prohibitions with the imperative, if the present tense be required; but, if the aorist be needed, the mood then changes to the subjunctive; as, Herod. 1, 155, σὺ μέντοι μὴ πάντα θυμῷ χρέω, μηδέ ἐξαναστήσης πόλιν ἀρχαίην, "Do not thou indeed yield in all things to thy anger, nor have destroyed an ancient city." So in Od. 16, 168, we have μήδ' ἐπικεύθε, "and be not concealing it;" but in Od. 15, 263, μήδ' ἐπικεύσῃς, "and do not have concealed it."

4. The imperative is used not unfrequently by the Attic poets in a dependant proposition after οἶσθ' ὥς, or οἶσθ' ὅ; as, Soph. Œd. T. 543, οἶσθ' ὥς ποιήσῃς; "Knowest thou in what way thou must act?" (i. e., act, knowest thou in what way?); οἶσθ' οὖν ὃ δρᾷσῃς; "knowest thou what to do?" (i. e., do, knowest thou what?)

5. The imperative sometimes expresses not so much a command as a declaration of what is proper to be done, according to the situation in which a person is placed; as, Eurip. Iph. T. 337, εὖχου δὲ τοιάδ' σφάγια παρῆναι, "thou shouldst wish, therefore, for such victims to be present." So, also, Æschyl. Prom. 713, στεῖχ' ἀνηρότους γῦας, "thou must go over unploughed fields."

6. Hence the imperative is found also in interrogations, after particles or the relative; as, Plat. Leg. 7, p. 801, Δ., τί οὖν; κείσθω νόμος; "what then? shall a law exist?"

Optative.

The optative and subjunctive express, according to its different modifications and shades of meaning, that which in Latin can only be signified by the subjunctive. Both represent an action, not as something real, but rather as something only conceived of. That which is conceived of, however, is either something merely possible, probable, desirable, and, consequently, uncertain, or something which, as it depends on external circumstances, may be expected with some definiteness. The former is expressed by the optative, the latter by the subjunctive. Hence,

The optative is used to indicate a wish, something merely possible or probable, and, therefore, especially accompanies past actions.

Optative in dependant propositions.

1. The optative is used in the expression of a wish, and is then put without ἄν, or its equivalent the poetic κε; as, τίσειαν Δαναοὶ ἐμὰ δάκρυα σοῖσι βέλεσσιν, "May the Greeks atone for my tears by thy arrows." And again, ὦ παῖ γένοιο πατρός εὐτυχέστερος, "Oh, my son, mayst thou be more fortunate than thy father."

2. In this case, εἰ, εἰ γάρ, or εἰθε, utinam, or ὥς, or else πῶς ἄν, are often used with the optative; as, Od. 3, 205, εἰ γὰρ ἔμοι τόσσῃνδε θεοὶ δύναμιν παραθεῖεν, "Would that the gods had bestowed upon me so great power." And again, Callim. frag. 7, Χαλύβων ὥς ἀπόλοιτο γένος, "Would that the race of the Chalybes might perish."

3. On other occasions the optative is used in connexion with ἄν, or its equivalent the poetic κε, in order to give to a proposition an expression of mere conjecture or bare possibility, and hence of uncertainty or doubt. Thus, Plato, Leg. 3, p. 677, B., οἱ τότε περιφυγόντες τὴν φθορὰν σχεδὸν δρειοὶ τινες ἄν εἰεν νομεῖς, "They who on that occasion escaped destruction were, probably, with a few exceptions, mountain shepherds." So, also, Xenophon, Cyrop. 1, 2, 11, καὶ θηρῶντες μὲν οὐκ ἄν ἀριστήσαιεν, "And while actually engaged in the hunt they hardly ever breakfast." Hence it is employed in a rough estimate; as, Xen. Cyrop. 1, 2, 13, εἰησαν μὲν ἄν οὗτοι πλεῖόν τι ἢ πεντήκοντα ἔτη γεγονότες ἀπὸ γενεᾶς, "These, on a rough estimate, are somewhat more than fifty years of age."

4. The optative with ἄν is therefore employed also to denote an inclination, the indulgence of which depends on circumstances, and which is therefore only possible and contingent. Thus, βουλοίμην ἄν, "I could wish;" ἐβούλόμην ἄν, "I could have wished." So, also, Plato, Crat. p.

411, A., ἡδέως ἂν θεασάμην ταῦτα τὰ καλὰ ὀνόματα, "I would gladly contemplate those fine terms."

5. Hence the optative occurs in interrogations ; as, II. 3, 52, οὐκ ἂν δὴ μείνεις Ἀρηίφιλον Μενέλαον ; " Couldst thou not then await Menelaus dear-to-Mars ?" So, also, Plato, Gorg., ἀλλ' ἄρα ἐβελήσειεν ἂν ἡμῖν διαλεχθῆναι ; " But would he be willing to converse with us ?"

6. Very often, however, the optative serves to express even the most definite assertions with modesty and politeness, as a mere conjecture ; a moderation which, in consequence of their political equality, was peculiar to all the Greeks, but particularly the Athenians, and which very seldom occurs in modern languages. Thus, Aristoph. Plut. 284, οὐκέτ' ἂν κρύψαμι, " I will no longer conceal it from you."

Of the Optative in dependant propositions, or after conjunctions.

1. When the chief verb of the whole proposition, or, in other words, the leading verb in the sentence, expresses an action of past time, the following verb, which depends upon the conjunction, is put in the optative. If, on the other hand, the leading verb be in the present or the future tense, the following verb is put in the subjunctive. Thus, that which is in Latin the sequence of tenses, is in Greek the sequence of moods. The subjunctive, therefore, in Greek, after a conjunction, answers to the Latin present of the subjunctive ; while the optative after a conjunction answers to the Latin imperfect of the subjunctive.

2. The conjunctions and particles after which these moods are thus put are, 1. Those which express a purpose ; as, ἵνα, ὅφρα, ὥς, ὅπως, and μή. 2. Particles of time ; as, ἐπεὶ, ἐπειδὴ, ὅτε, ὥς, and ἐπὶν, ἐπειδάν, ὅταν, πρίν, ἕως, &c. 3. Conditional particles ; as, εἰ, and εἰάν, ἥν. 4. Relatives ; as, ὅς, ὅλος, ὅσος, ὅπου, ὅθεν, &c.

1. Optative after ἵνα, ὅφρα, &c.

1. Here, particularly, the rule just mentioned holds good, according to which the optative is put after verbs of past time ; as, Τυδείδῃ Παλλὰς ἔδωκε μένος καὶ θάρσος, ἵν' ἔκδηλος γένοιτο καὶ κλέος ἄροιτο, " Minerva gave strength and daring to Tydides, in order that he might become conspicuous, and might bear off renown."

2. The optative is also employed when the leading verb is in the present tense as used for the past. Thus, Eurip. Hec. 10, πολλὸν δὲ σὺν ἐμοὶ χρυσὸν ἐκπέμπει λάθρα πατήρ, ἔν', εἶπον' Ἰλίου τεῖχῃ πέσοι, τοῖς ζῶσιν εἰη παῖσι μὴ σπάνις βίον, "And my father sends out secretly along with me a large quantity of gold, in order that, if the walls of Ilium should fall, there might be unto his surviving children no want of the means of subsistence."

3. Sometimes, also, the optative is used after a leading verb in the present or future, when the action which follows the conjunction is to be marked as only presumptive and probable. Thus, Od. 2, 52, πατὴρ δὲ μὲν ἐς οἶκον ἀπεθρήγασι (present perfect) νέεσθαι Ἰκαρίον, ὥς κ' αὐτὸς ἐδυνώσαιτο θυγάτρα, "They dread to go to the house of her Icarian father, that he may perhaps give some dowry to his daughter." So, also, Soph. Oed. Col. 11, στήσόν με κάξιδρυσσον, ὥς πνυθόμεθα, "Place and seat me here, that we may perchance learn."

4. Very frequently, where the leading verb is in the past tense, the following verb is put after ἵνα, ὥς, or μή, in the indicative mood, to express an action which should have happened, but has not. Thus, Eurip. Phæn. 213, Τύριον οἶμα λιποῦσ' ἔβαν ἔν' ὑπὸ δειράσι Παρνασσῶ κατενόσθη, "Having left the Tyrian wave, I came hither and should have been now dwelling beneath the summits of Parnassus."

2. Optative after particles of time.

1. The optative is put with the particles ἐπεὶ, ἐπειδὴ, ὅτε, ὁπότε, where the discourse is concerning a past action, which, however, was not limited to a precise point of time, but was often repeated by several persons or in several places. Thus, Il. 3, 232, πολλὰκι μιν ξείνισσεν Ἀρηϊφίλος Μενέλαος, ὁπότε Κρήτηθεν ἰκοίτο, "Menelaus, beloved of Mars, often entertained him when he came from Crete." So, also, Herod. 7, 6, ὅπως ἀπικοίτο ἐς δῖον τὴν βασιλῆος κατέλεγε τῶν χρησμῶν, "As often as he came into the presence of the king he mentioned some of the oracles."

2. With the remaining particles of time, which do not determine a space of time during which an action takes place, but a point of time before or until which something takes place, as, ἕως, ἕστ', ἄν, πρίν, μέχρις οὗ, the optative is used, for the most part, in the same cases as with ἵνα and ὅρα. Thus, περιεμένομεν ἕως ἀνοιχθεῖν τὸ δεσμωτήριον, "We remained about the place until the prison was opened." But ἕως, "whilst," "as long as," has only the indicative.

3. Optative after conditional particles.

1 The optative is used after conditional particles when the reference is to something that is merely possible or contingent. In this construction the optative is employed with ἄν in the apodosis, or second clause of the sentence, to show that a case is adduced which is merely problematical, while in the protasis, or leading clause, the optative is used with εἰ, without ἄν, as the condition itself is also only problematical. Thus, εἰ τις τοὺς κρατοῦντας τοῦ πληθους ἐπ' ἀρετὴν προτρέψειεν, ἀμφοτέρους ἄν ὠφελήσαιεν, "If one would urge on to virtue those who control the multitude, he would benefit both."

2. But when the condition contains a determinately expressed case, εἰ is used with the indicative in the leading clause. Thus, Soph. Antig. 925, ἀλλ', εἰ μὲν οὖν τάδ' ἐστὶν ἐν θεοῖς φίλα, παθόντες ἄν ξυγγνοῖμεν ἡμαρτηκότες, "But if, then, these things are approved of among the gods, we may, perhaps, by suffering, be made conscious that we have erred."

3. On the other hand, εἰ is used with the optative in the protasis, or leading clause, and the indicative in the apodosis, or succeeding part of the sentence, when the latter asserts something definitely, while the protasis conveys only a possible case. Thus, Thucyd. 2, 5, οἱ ἄλλοι Θηβαῖοι, οὓς ἔδει τῆς νυκτὸς παραγενέσθαι πανστρατιᾷ, εἰ τι ἄρα μὴ προχωροῖν τοῖς ἐσεληλυθόσι, ἐπεβοήθουν, "The rest of the Thebans whom it behooved to be present during the night with their full force, if, perchance, success should not attend those who had entered the city."

4. Optative after the relatives ὅς, ὅστις, &c.

1. If the relatives refer to definite persons or things, they are followed by the indicative; but if the person or thing be indefinite, then the verb is in the optative or subjunctive; in the optative with ἄν when the whole proposition affirms something of past time, and in the subjunctive with ἄν when it affirms something of present or future time. Thus, ὅντινα μὲν βασιλῆα καὶ ἑξοχὸν ἄνδρα κιχέη, τὸνδ' ἀγανοῖς ἐπέεσσιν ἐρητύσασκε παραστάς, "Whatever monarch and distinguished chieftain he found, this one, standing by his side, he detained by bland words." And again, πάντας ὅτῳ ἐντύχοιεν, καὶ παῖδας καὶ γυναῖκας, κτείνοντες, "Slaying all, whomsoever they might meet, both children and women."

2. From these, however, are to be distinguished those passages in which the optative is put after the relatives, in the sense which it usually has in independent propositions. Here it regularly takes ἄν, and is found even when a present action is spoken of. Thus, οὐκ ἔστι τοῦτον ὅστις ἂν κατακάνοι, "There is no one who might slay this person." And again, οὐ γάρ ἐστι, περὶ ὅτου οὐκ ἂν πιθανώτερον εἰποι ὁ ῥητορικὸς ἢ ἄλλος ὅστις οὖν, "For there is nothing about which the rhetorician would not speak in a more persuasive manner than any other person whatsoever."

5. Optative in the "oratio obliqua."

1. When anything that has been said or thought by another is quoted as such, not as an idea or sentiment of the writer himself, and yet, not in the words of the speaker, but in narration (i. e., in oratione obliqua), the optative is frequently used and without ἄν. Thus, οἱ Ἀχαρνῆς ἐκάκιζον τὸν Περικλέα, ὅτι στρατηγὸς ὦν οὐκ ἐπέξάγοι, "The Achærians reviled Pericles, because, being commander, he did not lead forth against the foe." And again, Τισσαφέρνης μὲν ὤμοσεν Ἀγησιλάῳ, εἰ σπεύσαιτο, ἕως ἔλθοιεν, οὓς πέμψειε πρὸς βασιλέα ἀγγέλους, "Tissaphernes took an oath unto Agesilaus, that, if the latter will make a truce with him until the messengers should return, whom he had sent to the king," &c. Here πέμψειε is used to indicate a mere assertion on the part of Tissaphernes, for the truth of which the writer does not mean to vouch.

2. In particular, the optative is put in this case after ὅτι or ὥς, whether the action belongs to the present, past, or future time. Thus, τῇ δὲ ὑστεραίᾳ ἦκεν ἄγγελος λέγων, ὅτι λελοιπῶς εἴη Σενένσεις τὰ ἄκρα, "On the following day, however a messenger came with the intelligence that Syennesis had left the heights;" i. e., had left (λελοιπώς εἶη) the heights, as the messenger said. And again, ἀγγεῖλαι, ὅτι φάρμακον πικρὸν ἀποθάνοι, "To announce that, having drunk poison, he had died."

Subjunctive.

The general distinction between the optative and subjunctive has already been given, but may here be stated again. These two moods both represent an action, not as something real, but rather as something only conceived of. That which is conceived of, however, is either something merely possible, probable, desirable, and, consequently, uncertain, or something which, as it depends on external circumstances, may be expected with some definiteness. The former is expressed by the optative, the latter by the subjunctive.

1. Subjunctive in independent propositions.

1. The subjunctive is used without ἄν or κε in exhortations in the first person plural; as, ἴωμεν, "let us go;" μαχώμεθα, "let us fight." It indicates, therefore, that something ought to take place. But in the second and third persons the optative is used, as implying more of uncertainty, when the speaker refers not to himself along with others, but to others merely. Thus, ἐλθωμεν ἀνὰ ἄστυ, καὶ σὺ γένοι' ἄν οὐ κακός, "Let us go throughout the city, and do thou become not cowardly." The first person singular of the subjunctive is often found in exhortations in Homer; as, ἰδωμαι, "let me see;" λίσσωμ' ἀνέρα τοῦτον, "let me supplicate this man."

2. The subjunctive is employed in questions of indecision and doubt, when a person asks himself or another what he is to do. In these cases it occurs, as in the previous instances, without ἄν, and with or without an interrogative particle. Thus, αὐθι μένω μετὰ τοῖσι, ἥθ' ἰθέω νεοτά σ' αὐτίς, "Shall I wait there with these, or shall I run back again unto thee?" And again, τί φῶ; τί ὀρῶ; "what am I to say? what am I to do?"

3. In a similar way, the subjunctive is used without a conjunction, and without ἄν after βούλει in interrogations. Thus, βούλει λάβωμαι ὅγτα καὶ θίγω τί σον; "Dost thou wish, then, that I take hold of thee, and touch thee in aught?"

4. The subjunctive is also employed in questions of indignation, with which a previous command or injunction is repeated. Thus, Aristoph. Ran., 1132, ΔΙΟΝ. Αλοχύλε, παραινῶ σοι σιωπᾶν. ΑΙΣΧ. ἐγὼ σιωπῶ τῷδε; "Bacch. Æschylus. I admonish you to be silent. Æsch. Am I to be silent before this man?"

5. In negative propositions, the subjunctive is used after μή or οὐ μή for the future; but, usually, only the first aorist subjunctive passive, or the second aorist active and middle. Instead of the first aorist active the future is employed. Thus, Æsch. S. c. Th. 201, λευστήρα δήμον δ' οὔτι μή φύγη μόρον, "And by no means shall any one escape death by stoning at the hands of the people." And again, Soph. Electr. 42, οὐ γάρ σε μή γήρη τε καὶ χρόνῳ μακρῷ γνῶσ' οὐδ' υποπτεύουσιν ὥδ' ἠνθισμένον, "For they shall not, through both thine own age and the long lapse of time, recognise, or even suspect thee thus attired." This construction probably arose from οὐ δέδοικα μή γνῶσι, "I am not afraid that they will not know thee;" i. e., they certainly will not know thee. This being stronger than οὐ γνώσονται, this οὐ μή was also prefixed, for the sake of a stronger negation, to the future tense.¹

6. From this case, however, we must distinguish μή οὐ with the subjunctive, in which also δέδοικα is omitted. Thus, Plato, Phæd., p. 67, B., μή καθαρῷ γὰρ καθαρῶ ἐφάπτεσθαι μή οὐ θεμτὸν ἤ, "Since I fear it is not lawful for an impure person to touch one that is pure." In Latin this would be vereor ne nefas sit, which is also a milder expression for nefas est.

2. Subjunctive in dependant propositions.

1. If the leading verb be in the present or future tense, the following verb is put in the subjunctive, with and without ἄν. Thus, ἄλλ' ἴθι, μή μ' ἐρέθιζε, σωτέρος ὥς κε νέηαι, "But go, provoke me not, in order that thou mayst return in greater safety than otherwise." And again, λέξω ἵνα εἰδῇς, "I will speak, that thou mayst know."

2. The subjunctive, moreover, is frequently used, although the preceding verb be in the perfect tense, when the verb which depends upon the conjunction denotes an action that is continued to the present time. Thus, Hom. II. 5, 127, ἀχλὺν δ' αὖ τοι ἀπ' ὀφθαλμῶν ἔλον, ἢ πρὶν ἐπῆεν, ὄφρ' εὖ γινώσκῃς ἡμὲν θεὸν ἢ δὲ καὶ ἄνδρα, "I have, moreover, taken away from thy eyes the darkness that was previously upon them, in order that thou mayst know well either a god or a man." At the time at which Minerva is here represented as speaking, γινώσκῃς is a consequence still continuing of the past action denoted by ἀχλὺν εἶλον.

3. The future is often used instead of the subjunctive. In this case the future expresses a state that continues, or something that will occur at an indefinite future time. The aorist of the subjunctive, on the other hand, indicates a transient state occurring in particular cases, and then completely concluded. Thus, ὁρᾷτε μὴ ἐκάστω ἡμῶν καὶ ὀφθαλμῶν καὶ χειρῶν δεήσει, "See whether each one of us will not need both eyes and ears." On the contrary, ὁρᾷτε μὴ πάθωμεν, "See whether we shall not have suffered."

3. Subjunctive after particles of time.

1. The subjunctive is put with ἐπὶν, ἐπειδάν, ὅταν, ὁπότεν, where the discourse is concerning an action belonging to present or future time. Thus, ὅπερ καὶ νῦν ἐτι ποιοῦσιν οἱ βάρβαροι βάσιλεις, ὁπότεν στρατοπεδεύονται, "Which the barbarian monarchs do still, even at the present day, whenever they encamp."

2. Sometimes the subjunctive with these particles does not express an action frequently repeated at the present time, but merely a future action. Thus, οὐ γὰρ ἔτ' ἄλλη ἔσται θαλπωρὴ ἐπεὶ ἂν σύ γε πότμον ἐπίσπῃς, "For no longer will there be any other solace, when thou shalt have encountered thy destined end."

4. Subjunctive after conditional particles.

When in the apodosis, or latter part of the sentence, the future, or the imperative; or an indicative is found, then the condition is expressed by εἰ with the future, or more mildly by εἰάν, ἤν, ἂν (in the Ionic poets εἰ, κε, or αἴκε), with the subjunctive, and uncertainty is denoted with the prospect of decision. Thus, εἰάν τι ἔχωμεν, δώσομεν, "If we have anything, we will give it." And again, εἰάν τις τινα τῶν ὑπαρχόντων νόμων μὴ καλῶς ἔχειν ἠγγῆται, γραφέσθω, "If any one think any one of the existing laws unsuitable, let him petition against it."

5. Subjunctive after the relatives ὅς, ὅστις, ὅλος, &c.

The subjunctive is employed with ἄν after relatives when the proposition affirms something of present or future time. Thus, ἐπεσθε ὅποι ἄν τις ἡγῆται, "Follow, whithersoever one may lead you." And again, ὃν δέ κ' ἐγὼν ἀπάνευθε μάχης ἐθέλοντα νοήσω μιμνάζειν, οὗ οἱ ἄρκιον ἐσσεῖται φυγέειν κύνας ἢ δ' οἰωνούς, "But whomsoever I shall perceive inclining to remain apart from the fight, it shall not be possible for him to escape the dogs and birds."

DEPONENT VERBS.

1. Deponent verbs may be referred to the class of middle ones.

2. They have the middle form, except in the perfect, pluperfect, and third future, or paulo-post-futurum, of which the forms are passive. Their perfect has sometimes both an active and passive sense; as, ἐργασμαι, from ἐργάζομαι.

3. Some of these verbs have, besides a middle, a passive first aorist and first future, the signification of which is passive. In the other tenses a middle meaning may generally be traced.

4. The following is a synopsis of their form.

Moods and Tenses of Dependent Verbs.

	Indic.	Imper.	Optat.	Subj.	Infinit.	Part.
Present,	δέχομαι,	δέχ-ου,	-οίμην,	-ωμαι,	-εσθαι,	-όμενος,
Imperfect,	έδεχόμην,
Perfect,	δέδεγμαι,	δέδε-ξο,	-γμένος,	-γμένος,	-χθαι,	-γμένος,
Pluperfect,	έδεδεγμην,
1st Aorist M.	έδεξάμην,	δέξ-αι,	-αίμην,	-ωμαι,	-ασθαι,	-άμενος,
1st Future M.	δέξομαι,
1st Aorist P.	έδεχθην,	δέχθ-ητι,	-οίμην,	-ω,	-εσθαι,	-όμενος,
1st Future P.	δεχθήσ-ομαι,
2d Future P.	δεδέξ-ομαι,		-οίμην,		-εσθαι,	-όμενος

5. A few of these verbs have a second aorist middle; as, πυνθάνομαι, επυνθόμην.

CONTRACTED VERBS.

1. Verbs in άω, έω, and όω correspond entirely, in their general formation, to the rules and examples already given for verbs in ω.

2. But in the present and imperfect of the active and passive forms, where the vowels α, ε, ο stand immediately before the vowels of the flexible endings, there arises in the Attic and common language a contraction, the rules for which are as follows :

3. Verbs in άω contract αω, αο, and αου into ω ; as, τιμάω, τιμῶ ; τιμάομεν, τιμῶμεν ; τιμάουσι, τιμῶσι. Otherwise they contract into α ; as, τίμαε, τίμα. They also subscribe ι ; as, τιμάοιμι, τιμῶμι ; τιμάεις, τιμᾷς.

4. Verbs in έω contract εε into ει, and εο into ου ; as, φίλεε, φίλει ; φιλέομεν, φιλοῦμεν. Otherwise they drop ε ; as, φιλέω, φιλῶ ; φιλέεις, φιλεῖς.

5. Verbs in όω contract ο, with a long vowel, into ω ; as, δηλόω, δηλῶ ; with a short vowel, or ου, into ου ; as, δηλόετε, δηλοῦτε ; δηλόουσι, δηλοῦσι. Otherwise into οι ; as, δηλόης, δηλοῖς. In the infinitive οειν is contracted into ουν.

6. Four verbs in άω, namely, ζάω, πεινάω, διψάω, and χραομαι, contract αε into ῆ, and αι into η ; as, ζάω, ζῆς, ζῆ, ζῆτε, ζῆν ; imperfect ἔζων, ἔζης, ἔζη. So, also, πεινῆν, διψῆν, χρησθαι, χρηται.

7. Dissyllables in έω are contracted in the imperative and infinitive only. Thus we say, πλέω, πλέομεν, and not πλῶ, πλοῦμεν.

REMARKS ON VERBS IN ω .Active Voice.

1. In the third person plural of the imperative, in Attic, the termination -όντων is more usual than -έτωσαν. The former occurs even in the Ionic writers; as, Il. 8, 517, ἀγγελλόντων; Od. 1, 340, πινόντων. The form -έτωσαν, however, is found in the older Attics occasionally; as, Thucyd. 1, 34, μαθέτωσαν; Plat. Leg. 6, p. 759, D., φέρέτωσαν.

2. The form in όντων was also used by the Dorians. Some Doric tribes omitted the v; as, ποιούντω, ἀποστειλάντω; whence the Latin imperative in the third person plural, amanto, docento.

3. The optative in οιμι, particularly in the contracted verbs, has also in Attic the termination -οίην; as, ποιοίην, φιλοίην, διερωτώην, &c. This form οίην is also found in Ionic and Doric writers. The termination in -οιην occurs less frequently in the barytone verbs than in the contracted ones; yet still we have, in Attic, διαβαλοίην, φανοίην, πεποιθοίην, &c.

4. In some perfects in -ηκα the Ionians rejected the letters ηκ in the dual and plural, not, however, in the singular; as, τέθνατον, τέθναμεν, τέθνατε, τεθνᾶσι. Besides τέθνηκα and ἔστηκα, the form βέβηκα is also syncopated in this way by the Attic writers; as, βέβαμεν, βεβᾶσι, &c.

5. The primitive form of the pluperfect, which occurs in Homer and Herodotus, was -εα, in the third person -εε; as, ἐγεγόνεε, ἀποβεβήκεε. Hence arose, on the one hand, the Doric form -εια; as, συναγαγόχεια, and, on the other, by contraction, the Attic form -η in the first person; as, ἤδη.

6. Instead of the termination -εισαν for the pluperfect, the form εσαν is almost universal in Ionic and Attic; as, ἀκηκόεσαν, ἐγεγόνεσαν.

7. Instead of the form -οιμι, in the first aorist of the optative, the Attics chiefly use the primitive Æolic form -εια, -ειας, -ειε, after the example of the Ionians and Dorians, but only in the second and third persons singular and third person plural.

Passive Voice.

1. In the perfect optative the ι is subscribed under the η or ω; as, τετιμῆμην, τετιμῆτο, τετιμῆτο, &c. Instead of μεμνήμην, κεκτῆμην, &c., there was another form with ω. It seems, therefore, as if to the roots μεμνη-, κεκτη-, the form of the optative present had been appended, μεμνήοιτο, κεκτῆοιτο, whence came μεμνέωτο and κεκτέωτο, contracted μεμνώτο. So μέμνοιο (μεμνώο) is found in Xen. Anab. 1, 7, 5.

2. The perfect subjunctive is exactly like the present of the same mood, -ῶμαι, -ῆ, -ῆται; as, πεφιλῶμαι, πεφιλῆ, πεφιλῆται. But it seldom occurs, and, instead of it, the circumlocution πεφιλημένος ὦ is used.

3. In the third person plural of the perfect and pluperfect, the Ionians and Dorians change the ν before ται and το into α, in which case the original aspirated consonant again enters before the α; as, τεθάφεται, from τέθαμμαι (θάπτω), for τεθαμμένοι εἰσί; κεκρύφεται, from κέκρυμμαι (κρύπτω), for κεκρυμμένοι εἰσί. So, also, κατείλιχато for κατείλιγμένοι ἦσαν; ἐσεσάχато for σεσαγμένοι ἦσαν.

4. If α arising from the linguals δ, θ, τ, ζ, precedes the termination of the perfect passive -μαι, -σαι, -ται, it is changed into δ before the termination -αται, -ατο. Thus, ἐσκενδάτο for ἐσκενασμένοι ἦσαν, from σκενάζω; ἐστολλίδατο for ἐστολισμένοι ἦσαν, from στολλίζω.

5. In a similar way, the termination -ανται of the perfect is changed into -έαται; as, ἀναπεπτέαται for ἀναπέπτανται; ἐπεπειρέατο for ἐπεπείραντο.

6. In the same way ν, in the third person of the present and aorist, optative passive and middle, of the imperfect passive and middle, and even of the present, in some words, is changed into α. In the optative this is very frequent, even in the Attic poets; as, πενθόλατο, ἀποφερόλατο, ἀλσθανόλατο, for πενθόλντο, &c. In the imperfect we find ἐπειρώατο for ἐπειρῶντο; in the second aorist, ἀπικέατο for ἀπικόντο; διεφθάρεατο for διεφθάροντο. In the present we have, in Herodotus, κέαται, δυνέαται.

DIALECTS OF VERBS IN ω .Active.

1. In the old Homeric language, and generally in the Ionic and Doric dialects, the termination $\sigma\kappa\omicron\nu$ is annexed to the historical tenses of the indicative active, passive, and middle. In barytones, and those whose characteristic is ϵ , $\epsilon\iota$, or η , this termination succeeds ϵ in the imperfect and second aorist; as, $\pi\acute{\epsilon}\mu\pi\epsilon\sigma\kappa\epsilon$ for $\acute{\epsilon}\pi\epsilon\mu\pi\epsilon$; $\phi\acute{\alpha}\nu\epsilon\sigma\kappa\eta$ for $\acute{\epsilon}\phi\acute{\alpha}\nu\eta$. Where two ϵ 's come together, one is often rejected; as, $\pi\omega\lambda\acute{\epsilon}\sigma\kappa\epsilon\tau\omicron$ for $\acute{\epsilon}\pi\omega\lambda\acute{\epsilon}\tau\omicron$; $\kappa\alpha\lambda\acute{\epsilon}\sigma\kappa\epsilon\tau\omicron$ for $\acute{\epsilon}\kappa\alpha\lambda\acute{\epsilon}\tau\omicron$. If α is the radical vowel, then α comes before the termination; as, $\acute{\epsilon}\alpha\sigma\kappa\epsilon\varsigma$ for $\epsilon\iota\alpha\varsigma$; $\alpha\acute{\upsilon}\delta\eta\sigma\alpha\sigma\kappa\epsilon$ for $\alpha\acute{\upsilon}\delta\eta\sigma\epsilon$. These forms are never mere imperfects or aorists, but have always the force of an action repeated in past time. The frequentatives in $\sigma\kappa\omega$ are probably derived from this source. The augment is usually, but not always, wanting.

2. The termination $\epsilon\iota\varsigma$ (second person singular present) and $\epsilon\iota\nu$ (infinitive) were, in Doric, sometimes $\epsilon\varsigma$ and $\epsilon\nu$ respectively; as, $\sigma\upsilon\rho\acute{\iota}\sigma\delta\epsilon\varsigma$ for $\sigma\upsilon\rho\acute{\iota}\zeta\epsilon\iota\varsigma$; $\sigma\upsilon\rho\acute{\iota}\sigma\delta\epsilon\nu$ for $\sigma\upsilon\rho\acute{\iota}\zeta\epsilon\iota\nu$.

3. In verbs pure in $\acute{\alpha}\omega$ the Æolians pronounced separately the ι subscribed in the second and third persons singular of the present; as, $\beta\omicron\acute{\alpha}\iota\varsigma$, $\gamma\epsilon\lambda\acute{\alpha}\iota$, for $\beta\omicron\acute{\alpha}\varsigma$, $\gamma\epsilon\lambda\acute{\alpha}$.

4. The Dorians make the first person plural of all tenses end in $\mu\epsilon\varsigma$ instead of $\mu\epsilon\nu$; as, $\acute{\epsilon}\rho\acute{\iota}\sigma\delta\omicron\mu\epsilon\varsigma$ for $\acute{\epsilon}\rho\acute{\iota}\zeta\omicron\mu\epsilon\nu$; $\acute{\alpha}\delta\iota\kappa\omicron\upsilon\mu\epsilon\varsigma$ for $\acute{\alpha}\delta\iota\kappa\omicron\upsilon\mu\epsilon\nu$; $\delta\epsilon\delta\omicron\iota\kappa\acute{\alpha}\mu\epsilon\varsigma$ for $\delta\epsilon\delta\omicron\iota\kappa\alpha\mu\epsilon\nu$.

5. The third person plural in $-\sigma\iota$ ends in Doric in $-\tau\iota$; and before this final syllable, instead of the long vowel or diphthong in the barytones, the short vowel with ν is placed, in a manner analogous to the dative plural of the third declension, and to the participles in $\alpha\varsigma$; as, $\acute{\alpha}\nu\alpha\pi\lambda\acute{\epsilon}\kappa\omicron\nu\tau\iota$ for $\acute{\alpha}\nu\alpha\pi\lambda\acute{\epsilon}\kappa\omicron\upsilon\sigma\iota$; $\mu\omicron\chi\theta\acute{\iota}\zeta\omicron\nu\tau\iota$ for $\mu\omicron\chi\theta\acute{\iota}\zeta\omicron\upsilon\sigma\iota$. From this termination comes the Latin termination in nt . In the common dialect, and afterward in the Alexandrian, from $-\alpha\nu\tau\iota$ in the perfect arose the termination $-\alpha\nu$; as, $\acute{\epsilon}\sigma\omicron\rho\gamma\alpha\nu$, $\pi\acute{\epsilon}\phi\omicron\rho\iota\kappa\alpha\nu$.

6. In Doric, particularly, verbs pure in $\acute{\alpha}\omega$ have, after contraction, η for \tilde{a} ; as, $\phi\omicron\iota\tau\eta\varsigma$ for $\phi\omicron\iota\tau\tilde{a}\varsigma$. The Attics retain this in the verbs $\zeta\acute{\alpha}\omega$, $\pi\epsilon\iota\nu\acute{\alpha}\omega$, $\delta\iota\psi\acute{\alpha}\omega$, and $\chi\rho\acute{\alpha}\sigma\mu\alpha\iota$. In the imperfect the Dorians contract $\alpha\epsilon$, not into α , but into η ; as, $\acute{\epsilon}\phi\omicron\iota\tau\eta$, $\acute{\epsilon}\tau\rho\acute{\upsilon}\pi\eta$.

7. The termination ον of the third person plural of the imperfect and second aorist was in some of the common dialects -σαν, and remained also in the Alexandrian dialect; as, ἐσχάζσαν. This is particularly the case in the Greek version of the Old Testament, and also in the New.

8. The second person in -ης, both in the subjunctive and indicative, was often lengthened in the old language by the addition of the syllable θα, which has remained in the Æolic, Doric, Ionic, and in some words in the Attic dialect. Thus we find ἐθέλησθα for ἐθέλης. In Attic, ἦσθα for ἦς; ἔφησθα for ἔφης; οἶσθα for οἶδας.

9. The third person singular of the subjunctive in Ionic received the addition of the syllable σι; as, ἐλθῃσι for ἐλθῃ; λάβῃσι for λάβῃ, &c. 'This σι the Dorians changed into τι; as, ἔθελῃτι.

10. In the old poets, the subjunctive active, if the penult be long, has, for the most part, in the first and second persons plural, the short vowel instead of the long one, namely, ο for ω. Thus we have, Il. 2, 72, θωρήξομεν; Od. 15, 297, ἐρύξομεν; Il. 21, 443, ἀπολύσομεν, &c. These must not be mistaken for futures.

11. In the infinitive, instead of the form εἶν and εἶν, the termination μεναι, and shortened μεν, was frequently used in the old language, as, for example, by Homer and Hesiod, and in the Æolic and Doric dialects. Thus, ἐλθέμεναι and ἐλθέμεν for ἐλθεῖν; πινέμεναι for πίνειν; οὐτάμεν for οὐτάν, &c.

12. Hence, from such a form as τυπτέμεν, we obtain, by syncope, the Ionic τυπτέεν, and from this latter, by crasis, the Attic τύπτειν. From τυπτέεν comes also, by contraction, the Doric τύπτειν.

13. In the participle, the Dorians used in the feminine, instead of ουσα, the form οισα, not only in the present, as, καυχάλοισα, ἔχοισα, but also in the second aorist; as, λαβοῖσα, λιποῖσα. They employed also the form εὔσα in verbs pure for έουσα; as, ζατεῦσαι for ζητοῦσαι; γελευσα for γελῶσα, &c. The Æolians and some Dorians used for the circumflexed οὔσα the form ῶσα; as, λιπῶσαι. Hence arose the Laconian form ῶα; as, παιδῶων for παιζουσῶν.

14. The Æolians formed the termination of the participles -ῶν and ων in εἰς, because they formed the verbs in έω and άω in ημι; thus they said, όρεῖς, στοιχεῖς, from δρημι, στοιχῆμι.

15. The termination of the first aorist active, ας, ασα, εν, was, in Doric, αις, αισα; as, τανύσαις, ῥάβαις, τελέσαις, &c.

16. Instead of ωσαν in the third person plural of the imperative, the termination ων was very much used in Ionic, Doric, and particularly Attic; as, ἐπέσθων, λεξέσθων, μαχέσθων, &c.

Passive.

1. In verbs pure an ε is inserted before εαι, which the Ionic prose writers preserve unchanged; as, διαίρεεαι, φοβέεαι.

2. The termination εο, which in the Attic dialect was contracted into ου, is in Doric, and sometimes in Ionic, contracted into εν; as, ἔπλεν, μάχεν, ἐκέλεν.

3. Instead of the termination of the first person plural in μεθα, the Æolians said μεθεν; as, τυπτόμεθεν.

4. Instead of ην in the first person singular of the second aorist, αν is found; as, ἐτύπαν, Theocr. 4, 53. In the first person plural of the aorists the Dorians said ημες for ημεν; as, ἐκκλίνθημες.

5. In the third person plural of the aorists the Æolians and Dorians said εν for ησαν; as was the case, also, in the old Ionic. Thus we have ἐφίληθεν, Il. 2, 668; φάνεν, Pind. Ol. 10, 101.

6. The infinitive of the aorists is in Doric -ῆμεν for -ῆναι, abbreviated from the old form in -ήμεναι, which form is frequent, particularly in Homer; as, δοιμνηθήμεναι, Il. 2, 124; ὁμοιωθήμεναι, Il. 1, 187.

Middle.

1. The form αο of the second person, first aorist middle, occurs frequently in the Ionic and Doric writers; as, Il. 5, 88, εγείναιο; Theocrit. 29, 18, ἐθήκαο.

2. Hence arose, in the Syracusan dialect, the form -α, the ο being omitted; as, φυσᾶντες for φυσάοντες, Theocr. 4, 28.

3. In the third person of the optative, first aorist middle, -αίατο for -αίντο is very frequent in the Ionic and Attic poets; as, Od. 1, 164, ἀρησαίατο; Herod. 3, 75, ἀνακτισαίατο; Æschyl. Pers. 360, ἐκωσαίατο, &c.

VERBS IN μ .

1. Verbs in μ are formed from verbs of the third conjugation in $\acute{\alpha}\omega$, $\acute{\epsilon}\omega$, $\acute{\omicron}\omega$, and $\acute{\upsilon}\omega$,

1. By prefixing the reduplication with ι .
2. By changing ω into μ .
3. By lengthening the penult.

2. In this way are formed the following :

$\iota\sigma\tau\eta\mu$,	from	$\sigma\acute{\tau}\acute{\alpha}\omega$.
$\tau\acute{\iota}\theta\eta\mu$, ¹	"	$\theta\acute{\epsilon}\omega$.
$\delta\acute{\iota}\delta\omega\mu$,	"	$\delta\acute{\delta}\omega$.
$\delta\epsilon\acute{\iota}\kappa\nu\mu$,	"	$\delta\epsilon\acute{\iota}\kappa\nu\acute{\omega}$.

3. If the verb begin with a vowel, with $\pi\tau$ or $\sigma\tau$, then ι aspirated is alone prefixed ; as, $\xi\omega$, $\iota\eta\mu$; $\pi\acute{\tau}\acute{\alpha}\omega$, $\iota\pi\tau\eta\mu$. This is called the Improper Reduplication.

4. The reduplication takes place in the present and imperfect merely.

5. Verbs in $\nu\mu$ have no reduplication ; neither is it found in those verbs in μ which are formed from verbs of three syllables ; as, $\kappa\acute{\rho}\epsilon\mu\nu\acute{\alpha}\omega$, $\kappa\acute{\rho}\epsilon\mu\nu\eta\mu$. It is also wanting in $\phi\eta\mu\acute{\iota}$ from $\phi\acute{\alpha}\omega$.

6. Verbs in μ have only three tenses of that form, namely, the present, imperfect, and second aorist. They take the other tenses from verbs in ω . Thus, $\delta\acute{\iota}\delta\omega\mu$ makes $\delta\acute{\omega}\sigma\omega$ and $\delta\acute{\epsilon}\delta\omega\kappa\alpha$ from $\delta\acute{\delta}\omega$.

7. Verbs in $\nu\mu$ have no second aorist, nor the optative or subjunctive mood. When these moods are needed they are borrowed from forms in $\acute{\upsilon}\omega$.

8. Verbs in μ have no second future, second aorist passive, nor perfect middle.

1. Old form $\theta\acute{\iota}\theta\eta\mu$, changed to $\tau\acute{\iota}\theta\eta\mu$, in order to prevent an aspirate from beginning two successive syllables.

FORMATION OF THE TENSES.

ACTIVE VOICE.

The Imperfect

is formed from the present by prefixing the augment and changing μ into ν ; as, $\tauίθημι$, $ἐτίθην$.

The Second Aorist

is formed from the imperfect by dropping the reduplication ; as, $ἐτίθην$, $ἔθην$; or by changing the improper reduplication into the augment ; as, $ιστήν$, $ἔστην$.

PASSIVE VOICE.

The Present

is formed from the present active by shortening the penult and changing μ into $\muαι$; as, $ιστημι$, $ιστᾶμαι$.

The Imperfect

is formed from the present by prefixing the augment and changing $\muαι$ into $\muην$; as, $τίθεμαι$, $ἐτιθέμην$.

MIDDLE VOICE.

The Second Aorist

is formed from the imperfect by dropping the reduplication ; as, $ἐτιθέμην$, $ἐθέμην$; $ιστάμην$, $ἑστάμην$.

REMARKS ON VERBS IN μ .

1. The number of verbs in μ , in the Attic and common dialects, is very small, and among these few are only four which have a complete conjugation peculiar to themselves, namely, $\tauίθημι$, $ἵημι$, $ιστημι$, and $δίδωμι$.

2. These verbs were chiefly used in the Æolo-Doric dialect ; and in the writers of that dialect verbs very frequently occur in the form μ , which in other dialects terminate in $άω$, $έω$; as, $νίκημι$, $φόρημι$, for $νικάω$, $φορέω$.

3. These forms in μ are to be regarded as among the oldest in the language, and occur frequently in the poems of Homer and Hesiod. After the dialects arose, the Ionic and Attic retained some of these verbs, namely, those above given (§ 1) and those in νμ, instead of which they very seldom use the forms in ύω. The Æolic, however, which retained the most of the ancient language, continued to use the greater part of them.

4. Historically considered, then, the verb in μ must have been at least as old as those in ω, and of more extensive use than appears in the works which have come down to us.

5. The first aorists in κα, of verbs in μ, are thought to have been originally perfects, and to have been subsequently used as aorists, when a peculiar form was introduced for the perfect.

6. The aorists in κα have not the rest of the moods after the indicative; and, therefore, in giving the moods and tenses, we cannot say έθηκα, θήκων, θήκαμι, &c., but must pass to the second aorist; as, έθηκα, θές, θείην, &c.

7. In Ionic and Doric the forms έω, άω, όω, often occur in the present and imperfect singular, with the reduplication; as, τιθείς, έπιτιθείς, διδοίς, έδίδους, &c.

8. In the third person plural the form άσι is used by the Attics, which occurs also frequently in Ionic, and hence is called Ionic; as, τιθέάσι, διδόάσι, &c.

9. The first aorist in κα occurs in good writers almost exclusively in the singular and in the third person plural. In the rest of the persons the second aorist is more used, which, again, hardly ever occurs in the singular.

10. The optative present and second aorist, as in the aorist passive of verbs in ω, have in the plural, in the poets as well as prose writers, more commonly είμεν, είτε, ειέν; αίμεν, αίτε, αίεν; οίμεν, οίτε, οίεν; instead of έλημεν, έλητε, &c.

11. In the verb ίστημι, the perfect, pluperfect, and second aorist have an intransitive meaning, "to stand;" the rest of the tenses a transitive one, "to place." Thus, έστηκα signifies "I stand;" έλοθήκειν, "I was standing." But έστην, "I stood," as a transient action.

12. The form έστακα, which is found in the common grammars, occurs in later writers only, and in a transitive sense, "I have placed." The Doric form έστακα, with the long penult, is distinct from this.

IRREGULAR OR DEFECTIVE VERBS IN μ may be divided into three classes, each containing three verbs.

I. From $\xi\omega$ are derived $\epsilon\mu\acute{\iota}$, to be ; $\epsilon\dot{\iota}\mu$ and $\iota\eta\mu$, to go.

II. From $\xi\omega$ are derived $\iota\eta\mu$, to send ; $\eta\mu\alpha\iota$, to sit ; $\epsilon\dot{\iota}\mu\alpha\iota$, to clothe one's self.

III. $\kappa\epsilon\dot{\iota}\mu\alpha\iota$, to lie down ; $\iota\sigma\eta\mu$, to know ; $\phi\eta\mu\acute{\iota}$, to say.

REMARKS.

1. The Attics regularly use the present tense of εἶμι in a future sense, "I will go." This usage occurs also in Ionic. The form εἴσομαι occurs in Attic only as the future of οἶδα.

2. The form εἶ is more used in Attic than εἷς. Homer has also εἴσθα, Il. 10, 450, &c.

3. In the imperative, the form ἴθι is more used than εἶ. For ἔωσαν we have occasionally, in Attic, ἔρων.

4. The imperfect ἦεν is nothing more than the form εἶν with η as a prefix, analogous to which are the forms ἡλιδειν and ἦιον. The form ἦια, Attic ῥα, also occurs, and is erroneously regarded by some as the perfect middle, just as ἦεν is sometimes miscalled the pluperfect middle. The best grammarians regard ἦια as merely an Ionic form for ἦεν; just as in τίθημι, the Ionic ἐτίθεα is the same as ἐτίθην; and in εἰμί, I am, the Ionic ῥα is the same as ἦν.

5. The form ῥα never has the signification of the perfect, and ἦεν never that of the pluperfect; but both forms agree in this respect, and designate generally a time past, either absolutely, or with reference to another time; that is, they stand for the aorist and imperfect.

6. From what has been said respecting ἦεν, it will be seen at once how erroneous it is to subscribe the ι under the η. This mistake arose from the tense in question being regarded as a pluperfect, and deduced from ῥα. In ῥα the subscript ι is correct, since this form is contracted from ῥια.

7. We have called λών the second aorist participle, since it follows the analogy of the aorist participle in having the accent on the ending. Others make it a present participle.

1. The verb ἴσθμι occurs in the singular only in Doric writers; as, ἴσᾶμι, Theocrit. 5, 119. According to the grammarians, οἶδαμεν, the first person plural of οἶδα, was changed by the Ionic writers into ἴδμεν, which the Attics softened into ἴσμεν, and from this last was formed a new present, namely, the verb ἴσθμι.

2. In common use, the dual and plural of the present tense alone occur. For the singular οἶδα is employed. Thus, οἶδα, οἶσθα, οἶδε; dual, ἴστων, ἴστων; plural, ἴσμεν, ἴστε, ἴσασι.

REMARKS.

1. The present indicative of φημί, with the exception of the second person singular, is enclitic ; i. e., throws back its accent upon the preceding word.

2. The imperfect ἔφην, &c., is generally placed after one or more words of the speaker, as an aorist, like the Latin inquit, even when another word of the same signification precedes. Ἐφην, φῶ, and the infinitive φάναι, are always used of past time ; as, φάναι τὸν Σωκράτη, "that Socrates has said."

3. In the language of common life ἦν, ἦς, ἦ, is frequently put for ἔφην, ἔφης, ἔφη. Thus, ἦ δ' ἔς, "said he;" ἦν δ' ἐγώ, "said I."

4. The aorist ἔφησα is hardly used in the Attic dialect, except in the sense of "to maintain;" as, ἀπέφησε, "she refused;" Xen. Cyrop. 6, 1, 32. The optative φήσαιμι and subjunctive φήσω often occur in this same sense.

DEFECTIVE VERBS.¹

1. From irregular verbs must be distinguished the defectives, of which a considerable number occur in the Greek language. These exhibit no deviation in the formation of tenses, like the irregular verbs, but are characterized by the following peculiarities:

2. From the great copiousness of the Greek language; from the diversity of its dialects, of which several attained a high cultivation, and were established in written productions; and from the particular attention continually bestowed, by the Greeks in general, upon the harmony and improvement of their language, it could not fail to happen that a multitude of old forms gradually declined in use, and were, at length, entirely supplanted by others of more modern date. Thus the simplest form, the present of many verbs, has become obsolete, and is no longer to be met with in the writings of the Greeks; while individual forms, chiefly for the narrative tense, the aorist, are still in use.

3. Every such relic of an old verb is now associated with the more modern present form to which it belongs in signification, although the two frequently possess no resemblance to each other. Thus we say, that to the present αἰρέω belongs the aorist ἔλλον, although it is impossible for the latter form to be deduced in any way from the former, but the two are allied together solely by the common signification, "to take away." The same is the case with respect to ἐλεύσομαι and ἦλθον, both being associated with the present ἐρχομαι, and to others enumerated in the following catalogue.

CATALOGUE OF IRREGULAR AND DEFECTIVE VERBS.

Observations.

1. The forms distinguished by capitals are all obsolete roots, which are requisite for the deduction of irregular forms still in use, but must no longer be used themselves.

2. To avoid unnecessary prolixity, the extant forms of an irregular verb are often not completely enumerated. These, however, are merely forms which continue in the analogy, and can be formed easily and regularly, and the omission is always indicated by &c. Thus, for example, in ἀλνέω, after assigning the future ἀλνέσω, the aorist ἤνεσα can be formed at once, and, therefore, has not been received into the catalogue.

3. Where the signification is not specifically given, the natural one, such as is clear from the signification of the present, must be understood to remain.

4. Forms which are usual only with the poets and in the older language are designated by an * at the beginning.

ἄω*, "I hurt," of which the aorist ἔασα or ἔσα, in the active; ἔαται, the third person singular of the present; ἄσθην, in the passive aorist, and ἄσάμην, in the middle aorist, are alone used.

Ἀγείρω*, "I assemble," future, ἀγερῶ, perfect, ἤγερκα, both regular. The pluperfect, with the Attic reduplication, ἀγήγερκα; third person pluperfect passive, ἀγγήγατο*; third person plural, second aorist middle, ἤγεροντο*, besides its participle ἀγρόμενος*.

Ἀγαμαι*, "I admire," present and imperfect like ἴσταναι; future, ἀγάσομαι; first aorist passive, ἤγασθην; first aorist middle, ἤγασάμην.

Ἀγνυμι*, "I break," from ἄΓΩ*, future, ἄξω; first aorist, ἔαξα (with the old form of the augment), in the epic dialect also ἤξα; perfect middle, ἔαγα (with an intransitive signification, "I am broken"); second aorist passive, ἔαγην.

ἄγω*, "I load," future, ἄξω, &c.; second aorist, ἤγαγον; infinitive of the second aorist, ἀγαγεῖν; second aorist middle, ἡγαγόμην (all these three with the Attic reduplication); perfect, ἤχα, Doric ἀγῆχα.

*Αἶρω, "I raise up," used only in the participle, αἶρων; participle passive, αἰρόμενος; participle of the first aorist active, αἶρας; of the first aorist middle, αἰράμενος; of the first aorist passive, ἀρθεῖς; and in the third person singular of the first aorist passive, ἀρθεῖν; the third person plural of the same tense, ἀρθεν; the third person singular of the pluperfect passive, ᾤωτο. All its remaining forms are deduced from αἶρω.

*ΑΕΩ, infinitive, ἀῆναι or ἀημεναι, "to blow," retains the long characteristic vowel also in the dual and plural, as well as in the passive. Present passive, ἀημαι; first aorist active, ἔεσα; first aorist infinitive active, ἔσαι, "to sleep."

Αἰνέω, "I praise," future, αἰνέσω, &c.; perfect passive, ἤνημαι; but first aorist passive, ἠνέθην.

Αἰρέω, "I take," future, αἰρήσω; perfect, ἤρηκα, Ionic, ἀραίρηκα; perfect passive, ἤρημαι; first aorist passive, ἠρέθην. The second aorist is borrowed from the obsolete root ἘΑΩ, and makes εἶλον, infinitive εἶλεῖν, for the active; and εἶλόμην, infinitive ἐλέσθαι, for the middle.

Αἶρω, "I raise," future, ἄρῶ, &c.

Αισθάνομαι, "I feel," future, αἰσθήσομαι, &c.; second aorist, ἤσθόμην; perfect, ἥσθημαι.

*Ακαχμένο, "pointed," perfect participle passive, from an unusual root, which may be ἈΚΑΖΩ or ἈΚΩ, according as a reduplication is assumed or not in ἀκαχμένο.

*ΑΚΑΧΩ, "I afflict," second aorist, ἤκαχον; first aorist, ἠκάχησα or ἀκάχησα; second aorist middle, ἠκαχόμην or ἀκαχόμην; perfect passive, ἀκάχημαι and ἀκήχημαι; third person plural perfect passive, ἀκηχέδαται for ἀκήχενται; third person plural pluperfect passive, ἀκαχέιατο for ἀκάχηντο.

*Αλεείνω, "I avoid," to which the epic forms of the first aorist middle are, ἠλεύατο or ἀλεύατο; participle, ἀλενόμενος; infinitive, ἀλέσθαι and ἀλεύσθαι, deduced from a root ἈΛΕ without σ.

Ἀλέξω, "I avert," future, ἀλεξήσω; and, from ἈΛΕΚΩ, the first aorist middle infinitive, ἀλέξασθαι. From the syncopated form ἈΑΚΩ, and by reduplication, are formed the epic second aorist infinitive, ἀλάλκεῖν, &c.

Ἀλθαίνω, "I heal," future, ἀλθήσω; second aorist middle, *ἀλθόμην, with an intransitive signification.

Ἀλίσκομαι, "I am caught," from ἈΛΟΩ, future, ἀλώσομαι; second aorist active (with a passive signification, "I was caught"), ἤλων, Attic ἐάλων; second aorist infinitive, ἀλῶναι; second aorist subjunctive, ἀλῶ, ἄλῃς, &c. ; second aorist optative, ἄλοιγν ; participle of second aorist, ἄλούς ; perfect, ἤλωκα, Attic ἐάλωκα (in a passive signification, "I have been caught").

*Ἀλιταίνω, "I sin," future, ἀλιτήσω ; second aorist, ἤλιτον ; second aorist middle, ἤλιτόμην. Also ἀλιτήμενος, as present participle middle, from an accessory form, ἀλίτημι.

*Ἀλλομαι, "I spring," future, ἀλοῦμαι ; first aorist, ἤλαμην ; second aorist middle, ἤλόμην ; epic, in the second and third persons, syncopated and without aspiration, ἄλσο, ἄλτο.

*Ἀλύσκω, "I shake," future, ἀλύξω ; first aorist, ἤλυξα.

*Ἀμαρτάνω, "I err," future, ἀμαρτήσομαι ; perfect, ἡμάρτηκα ; second aorist, ἡμαρτον, epic ἡμροτον.

*Ἀμβλίσκω, "I miscarry," future, ἀμβλώσω, &c., from ἈΜΒΛΟΩ.

*Ἀμπεύω and ἀμπισχνούμαι, see under Ἐχω.

*Ἀμπλακίσκω, "I err" or "miss," future, ἀμπλακίσω ; second aorist, ἡμπλακον ; second aorist infinitive, ἀμπλακεῖν.

*Ἀμφιέννυμι, "I dress," ἈΜΦΙΕΩ, future, ἀμφιέσω, Attic, ἀμφιῶ ; first aorist, ἡμφίεσα ; perfect passive, ἡμφίεσμαι, ἀμφιείμαι.

*Ἀναλίσκω, "I consume" or "spend," forms from ἀναλόω the future, ἀναλώσω ; first aorist, ἀνάλωσα ; perfect, ἀνάλωκα, both unaugmented with the Attics ; but in Ionic with the augment ἡνάλωκα or ἀνήλωκα.

*Ἀνθάνω, "I please," imperfect, ἡνθάνον, and ἐάνθανον epic, also ἐήνθانون ; second aorist, ἔαδον epic, and also ἔδον, besides the third person, εὐάδε ; second aorist infinitive, ἀδεῖν ; perfect, ἔαδα and ἔαδα ; future, ἀθήσω.

*Ἀνήνοθεν, third person singular of the perfect middle, to denote a finished action, "gushes forth," "rises up ;" to be derived from ἈΝΘΩ, allied to ἀνθέω, "I flower."

*Ἀνοίγω or ἀνοίγνυμι, see Οἶγω.

*Ἀνωγα, an old perfect form of uncertain derivation, and with a present meaning, "I command" or "commission." First person plural in a syncopated form, ἄνωγμεν ; imperative, ἄνωχθι, besides ἡνώγεα as a pluperfect. Hence a new present, ἀνώγω ; imperfect, ἡνώγον and ἡνώγεον ; future, ἀνώξω ; first aorist, ἡνώξα.

*Ἀπηύρων, as first person singular and third person plural of the imperfect, with also an aorist signification, "I took away ;" second person, ἀπηύρας ; third person, ἀπηύρα, from an assumed radical form, ἀπαυράω, of which, however, nothing occurs besides the forms just enumerated. To it ἀπούρας belongs as a participle, although their connexion does not admit of being clearly pointed out.

*Ἀπαφίσκω, "I deceive," second aorist, ἡπαφον ; second aorist infinitive, ἀπαφεῖν ; future, ἀπαφίσω.

'Απεχθάνομαι, "I am hated," future, ἀπεχθήσομαι; perfect, ἐπήχθη-μαι; second aorist, ἀπηχθόμην.

'Αραρίσκω, "I fit," second aorist, ἤραρον; future, ἄρω; first aorist, ἤρσα; first aorist middle, ἤρσάμην. The perfect middle, ἄρῶρα or ἄρηρα, has an intransitive signification, as also the perfect passive, ἀρήρεμαι.

'Αρέσκω, "I make favourable" or "pleasing," also intransitive "I please," future, ἀρέσω, &c.; perfect passive, ἤρεσμαι; first aorist passive, ἤρέσθην.

'ΑΡΩ, radical form to ἀραρίσκω and ἀρέσκω; also to αἶρω.

Αύξάνω, "I increase," second aorist, ἤξον; future, αὐξήσω; first aorist, ἤυξα; perfect passive, ἠύξημαι; first aorist passive, ἠύξθην; first future middle, αὐξήσομαι, as future passive, "I shall grow," i. e., be increased.

'Αχθομαι, "I am vexed," future, ἀχθήσομαι; first aorist passive, ἤχθέσθην.

*'ΑΧΩ, radical form to ἀχνομαι and 'ΑΚΑΧΩ.

B.

Βαίνω, "I go," primitive form ΒΑΩ, by reduplication Βιβάω, βίβημι, or, by the insertion of σκ, βύσσω; future, βήσομαι; perfect, βέβηκα; second aorist, ἔβην; second aorist subjunctive, βῶ; second aorist optative, βαίην; imperative, βήθι; infinitive, βῆναι; participle, βάς. Some compounds take a transitive signification, and therefore form also the passive forms, perfect, βέβαμαι; first aorist, ἐδάθην. In the Ionic dialect the simple verb is also used in the transitive sense, "to lead," "to bring," and the future βήσω and first aorist ἔβησα stand exclusively in this signification. The following accessory forms, from the dialects, must also be observed. 1. Of the third person present, βιδᾷ, participle, βιδῶν, formed from βιδάω, and βιδάς from βίδημι. 2. Of the second aorist, third person dual, βύτην, besides βήτην; third person plural, ἔδαν, besides ἔθησαν; subjunctive, βῶ, lengthened into βέω and βείω, plural, βείομεν. 3. The syncopated accessory forms of the perfect, first person plural, βέβαμεν, third person plural, βεβίασι; third person plural of the pluperfect, βέβασαν; participle of the perfect, βεβας, βεβανία, contracted βεώς, βεβῶσα, &c. All these forms belong to the poets, and particularly to the epic poets, with whom an aorist middle, βήσετο, and an imperative, βήσεο, also occur.

Βάλλω, "I throw," future, βαλῶ, Ionic and with later writers, βαλλήσω; second aorist, ἔβαλον; perfect, βέβληκα; perfect passive, βέβλημαι; first aorist passive, ἐβλήθην; second aorist middle, ἐβαλόμην. There are also formed in epic, from an assumed form ΒΑΗΜΙ, a third person dual, βάλῃτην, either of the imperfect or second aorist; and a third person singular of the second aorist middle, ἐλάτρε, with a passive signification; besides the infinitive, βλέσθαι; participle, βλέπων; optative, βλέιην, βλείο. Epic writers also form βεβόληται, as a third person singular of the pluperfect passive; and δεδολημένος, as a perfect participle passive, from an accessory form ΒΟΛΕΩ.

ΒΑΡΕΩ*, usual present, βαρύνω, "I load;" from the old radical form comes the epic perfect participle βεβαρής.

Βαστάζω, "I bear," future, βαστάσω, &c.; adopts in the passive the other mode of formation, according to the characteristic γ; as, first aorist passive, ἐδοστάχθην.

Βάσκω, ΒΑΩ, ΒΙΒΗΜΙ, see Βαίνω.

Βιβρώσκω, "I eat," from ΒΡΩΩ, future, βρώσω and βρώσομαι, &c.; second aorist, έβρων.

Βίωω, "I live," future, βιώσομαι; first aorist, έβίωσα, besides the second aorist, έβίων, of which the remaining moods are chiefly used; as, subjunctive, βιῶ, βιῶς, &c.; optative, βιῶην; imperative, βίωθι; infinitive, βιῶναι; participle, βιούς.

Βλαστάνω, "I sprout," future, βλαστήσω, &c.; second aorist, έβλαστον.

ΒΑΗΜΙ and ΒΟΛΕΩ, see βάλλω.

Βόσκειω, "I feed," future, βοσκήσω, &c.

Βουλόμαι, "I will," imperfect, έβουλόμην and ήβουλόμην; future, βουλήσομαι; perfect, βεβούλημαι; first aorist, έβουλόθην and ήβουλόθην.

ΒΡΩΩ, see Βιβρώσκω.

Γ.

Γαμέω, "I marry," future, γαμέσω, Attic, γαμῶ, also γαμήσω; perfect, γεγάμηκα; first aorist, έγημα; first aorist infinitive, γῆμαι; future middle, γαμοῦμαι; first aorist middle, έγημέμην, from the root ΓΑΜΩ.

Γέγωνα*, a form for the perfect, similar to άνωγα, used also in the signification of the imperfect and aorist, "I cried aloud;" participle, γεγωνώς; infinitive, γεγωνεῖν and γεγωνέμεν. Also a new imperfect, εγεγώνευν, contracted from εγεγώνεον.

ΓΕΝΩ, the obsolete root of γείνομαι (a purely poetic form) and γίνομαι or γίγνομαι, which transitively signifies, "I beget;" intransitively, "I am born," "arise," "become." The transitive signification, however, belongs only to the aorist εγεγένεμην, "I beget." All the remaining forms in use, namely, future, γενήσομαι; second aorist, εγενόμην; perfect, γέγονα and γεγέννημαι, have the intransitive signification alone. In epic, and with the poets, perfect, γέγονα; third person plural, γεγάσσι; first person plural, γέγαμεν; infinitive, γενέμεν; participle, γεγάς, γε- γῶντα, contracted γεγῶς, γεγῶσα; which forms are all to be deduced from the simple root Γῆ, and by change of sound ΓΑ.

Γῆθῶς, "I rejoice," future, γηθήσω, &c.; perfect middle, γέγηθα, in the signification of the present.

Γινώσκω (Attic, besides γινώσκω), "I know," root, ΓΙΝΩ, future, γνώσμαι; perfect, έγνωκα; perfect passive, έγνωμαι; first aorist passive, έγνώσθην. The second aorist, formed according to the conjugation in μ, is έγνων; plural, έγνωμεν, &c.; infinitive, γινῶναι; imperative, γνῶθι, γνῶτω, &c.; optative, γνοίην; participle, γνούς.

Δ.

Δαίναι, see ΔΑΩ.

Δάνα, "I bite," from ΔΗΚΩ, future, δήξομαι; perfect, δέδηχα, &c.; second aorist, έδακον.

Δαμάω, "I tame" or "subdue," simple root, ΔΑΜΩ, whence second aorist, έδάμην; subjunctive, δαμῶ, lengthened into δαμῶτω and δαμείω; perfect, δέδηκα; perfect passive, δέδημαι; first aorist passive, έδαμήθην.

Δαρβάνω, "I sleep," future, δαρθήσομαι; perfect, δέδαρθηκα; second aorist, έδαρθον, by transposition, έδαρθον; and, with a passive form but an active signification, έδαρθην.

*ΔΑΩ, primitive to διδάσκω, "I teach," from which, with an active signification only, second aorist, έδαον or δέδαον. The most usual forms are, the second aorist passive, έδάην, "I was taught;" infinitive, δαιναι; subjunctive, δαιῶ (by an epic prolongation for δαῶ); future, δαήσομαι. The passive signification belongs also to the perfect, δέδαηκα, δέδαα, δέδαμαι. Of the middle, the epic infinitive, δεδάασθαι, "to become acquainted with," "inquire into," is alone extant.

Δεῖ, see ΔΕΩ.

Δεῖδω, see ΔΙΩ.

Δεικνύμι, "I show," future, δείξω, &c. The Ionians make the derivative forms without ι, thus, δέξω, έδεξα, &c. The epic form of the perfect passive, δείδεγμαι, is irregular.

Δέμω, "I build," first aorist, έδειμα; perfect, δέδηκα; to be distinguished from the like forms of the verb δαμάω.

Δέκω, usually δέκκομαι, "I see," perfect, δέδορκα, with a present signification; second aorist, έδορακον (by transposition from έδορακον), also έδοράκην and έδέρχθην, all with an active signification.

Δέχομαι, "I receive," future, δέξομαι, &c. The epic forms of the second aorist, without a connective vowel, έδέγμεν, third person singular, έκετο and έδεκτο; imperative, δέξο; infinitive, δέχθαι; participle, δέγμενος, are to be observed.

Δέω, "I bind," future, δέσω; first aorist, έδερα; perfect, δέδεκα; perfect passive, δέδεμαι; first aorist passive, ἐδέσθην. The third future passive, δεδήσομαι, has the signification of the simple future passive.

Δέω, "I want," "am deficient," passive, δέομαι, "I have need of," "beg"; future, δεήσω, &c. In general, the active occurs only as an impersonal; present, δεῖ; subjunctive, δέη; optative, δέοι; infinitive, δεῖν; participle, δέον; imperfect, έδει; first aorist, ἐδέησε; future, δεήσει.

ΔΗΚΩ, see Δάκνω.

Διδάσκω, "I teach," future, διδάξω; first aorist, ἐδίδαξα; perfect, δεδίδαχα, &c.

Διδράσκω, "I run away," usually occurring only in compounds, borrows, from the root ΔΡΑΩ, the future, δράσομαι; perfect, δέδρακα; second aorist, έδραν, ας, α; subjunctive, δρῶ, δρῆς, δρῆ, &c.; optative, δραῖην; imperative, δράθι; infinitive, δράναι; participle, δράς, all formed according to the conjugation in μ.

Δίξημι, "I seek," retains the long characteristic vowel in the passive form, contrary to the analogy of the conjugation in μ.

Δίω, "I fear," "fly"; δίομαι, "I scare," "terrify," both in use only with epic writers. Hence are deduced the perfect, δέδια, "I fear," in epic also δεΐδια; plural, without a connecting vowel, δεΐδμεν, δεΐδιτε, δεΐδιασι; imperative, δεΐδιθι; infinitive, δεΐδέσθαι, epic δεΐδμεν; participle, δεΐδιώς, genitive, -ότος and -ώτος; third person plural of the imperfect, δεΐδισαν. The common language has the present, δεῖω; future, δείσομαι; first aorist, έδεισα, epic έδδεισα; perfect, δέδοικα, with a present signification.

Δοκέω, "I appear," "seem," from ΔΟΚΩ, future, δόξω, &c.; perfect, with a passive form, δέδογμα, "I have appeared." The regular formation, δοκήσω, &c., is more rare.

ΔΡΑΩ, see Διδράσκω.

Δύναμαι, "I am able," second person, δύνασαι (not δύνῃ); imperfect, ἡδυνάμην, conjugated like ἵσταμαι; future, δυνήσομαι; first aorist, έδυνήθην and έδυνάσθην; perfect, δεδύνημαι.

Δύω, "I cover," future, δύσω; first aorist, έδυσα; first aorist passive, έδύθην. The perfect, δέδυκα, and the second aorist, έδυν; infinitive, δύναι, epic δύμεναι; participle, δύς, have, like the middle, whose forms are regular, the signification, "to immerse one's self," "to immerse one's self."

E.

Εγείρω, "I wake" or "arouse," regular in most of its forms, perfect, έγήγερκα (with the Attic reduplication). The middle, εγείρομαι, "I awake," syncopates the second aorist, ήγρόμην (for ήγερόμην); infinitive, εγείσθαι. To this middle the perfect εγήγρηκα (for εγήγρηκα) belongs in signification, besides the epic accessory forms ἐργάροθαι and ἐργαργόθαι (as the second and third persons plural), and the infinitive, ἐργαργόθαι.

ἔδω, "I eat," used in this form only with the epic writers and Ionians, besides the perfect, ἐδήδα (with the Attic reduplication), and the future, ἐδομαι (for ἐδοῦμαι). Prose writers make use of ἐσθίω as a present, and attach to it forms from ἔδω, ΕΔΕΩ : perfect, ἐδήδοκα (ἥδεκα, by change of vowel ῆδοκα, with the Attic reduplication ἐδήδοκα); perfect passive, ἐδήδεσμαι; first aorist passive, ῆδέσθην. As second aorist active, ἔφαγον; infinitive, φαγεῖν.

ἔσθωμαι, "I sit," future, ἐσθῶμαι.

ἔθέλω and θέλω, "I am willing," future, θελήσω and θελήσω, &c.

ἔδω, "I am wont," only with epic writers, together with the perfect middle ἐλώθα, Ionic ἐωθα, in the same signification.

ΕΙΔΩ, an obsolete form with the signification "I see," "perceive," in epic yet used as a passive, εἶδομαι, "I am seen," "appear," "seem," besides the aorist εἶσάμην or εἰσάμην. The primitive form is ΙΔΩ; second aorist, εἶδον, epic also without augment, ἴδον; subjunctive, ἴδω; optative, ἴδοιμι; imperative, ἴδε; infinitive, ἴδειν; participle, ἰδών; second aorist middle, εἰδόμην, ἰδόμην, in the same signification. The perfect οἶδα ("I have perceived" or "seen into," i. e., "I know"), which belongs thereto, is anomalous in formation and conjugation (vid. page 166); second aorist subjunctive, εἶδω; optative, εἰδείην; imperative, ἴσθι; infinitive, εἰδέναι, epic, Ionic ἰδμέναι; participle, εἰδώς, νῖα, ός, &c.; pluperfect, ῆδειν, epic ῆδεα, Attic ῆδη (formed from the root eid with an augment); second person, ῆδεις and ῆδειςθα, also ῆδησθα; third person, ῆδει, epic ῆδεε and ῆδεεν; dual, ῆδειτον or ῆστον; third person, ῆδείην or ῆστην; plural, ῆδειμεν or ῆσμεν; ῆδειτε or ῆστε; ῆδεσαν or ῆσαν. Epic collateral forms of this pluperfect are, first person, ῆειδειν; second persons, ῆειδεις or ῆειδης; third person, ῆειδει, ῆειδη, or ῆειδε. As future to οἶδα stands εἰσομαι, "I shall know."

εἶλω, "I am like," besides the future εἰξω, usual only in the older language. The common language has the perfect middle, τοίκα, Ionic οἰκα; first person plural, τοίκαμεν and τοίγμεν, in the present signification; participle, τοικός, Ionic οἰκός, Attic εἰκός (which is always used by the Attics for the signification probable, reasonable; while τοικός in Attic only signifies similar); pluperfect, ἐώκειν. Epic collateral forms without a connecting vowel are εἰκτον and εἰκτην, as third person dual of the perfect and pluperfect, and ῆικτο or εἰκτο, as third person singular of the pluperfect with a passive form.

Εἰλω* and εἰλέω, Attic εἰλέω, "I press," future, εἰλήσω, &c. Epic writers adopt forms from the root ἔαω, as, first aorist, ἔλαα; infinitive, Ελσαι or ελσαι; participle, Ελσας; perfect passive, ἐλμαι; second aorist passive, ἐάλην or έάλην, and as third person singular pluperfect passive, έόλητο.

Ειμαρται, see ΜΕΙΠΟΜΑΙ.

Εἰπεῖν, "to say," used only as an aorist; indicative, εἶπον; subjunctive, εἶπω; optative, εἶποιμι; imperative, εἶπέ, in the plural, besides εἶπετε, also ἐσπετε; participle, εἰπών. Besides these a first aorist also εἶπα, particularly usual in the imperative, εἶπον, εἰπάτω, &c.

Εἶρω, "I say," as a present only in epic; future, ἐρέω, Attic ἐρῶ; perfect, εἶρηκα; perfect passive, εἶρημαι; future, εἰρήσομαι (with a middle form and a passive signification); first aorist passive, εἰρήσθην Ionic, ἐρήσθην Attic; infinitive, ρηθῆναι; participle, ρηθείς; future, ρηθήσομαι; from a root PEΩ.

Εἶρω, "I connect together," perfect passive, ἐρμαι; pluperfect passive, έέρμην.

Εἰωθα, see έθω.

Ἐλαίνω and έλάω, "I drive," future, ἐλάσω, Attic έλω, έλας, έλα, &c.; infinitive, έλᾶν; first aorist, ήλᾶσα; perfect, έλήλακα; perfect passive, έλήλάμαι, third person plural epic, έληλάδαται for έλήλανται; first aorist passive, ήλᾶθην.

ΕΛΕΥΘΩ, ΕΔΥΘΩ, ΕΔΘΩ, see Ἐρχομαι.

Ἐλπομαι*, "I hope," perfect middle, έολπα; pluperfect, έώλπειν.

ἘΔΩ, see Αἰρέω.

ΕΝΕΓΚΩ, ΕΝΕΙΚΩ, see Φέρω.

Ενέπω*, also εννέπω, "I relate," "tell," second aorist, ἐνισπον; subjunctive, ἐνίσπω; optative, ἐνίπομι; imperative, ἐνισπε; infinitive, ἐνισπεῖν; future, ἐνισπήσω and ἐνίψω. From it must be distinguished ἐνίπτω or ἐνίσσω, "I chide," "address harshly," to which the double form of the second aorist belongs, namely, ήνιπακον and ενένικον.

Ενήνοθε*, "is or lies thereon," an old perfect form, with the signification of the present and aorist, used only in composition, as, ἐπενήνοθε and the like, formed from an obsolete root, ἘΝΘΩ, by the insertion of ο, or from ἘΝΕΘΩ by change of the vowel, and in both cases with the Attic reduplication.

Ενίπτω*, see under Ἐνέπω.

Εννυμι*, "I dress," in the present formed regularly like δείκνυμι, takes an augment only in the perfect; future, έσω and έσσω; first aorist, έσσα; infinitive, έσαι; perfect passive, είμαι, and in compounds also έμαι; pluperfect passive, είμην; second person, είσο and έσσο; third person, έστο and έεστο (from έσμεν, έέσμεν).

Επαυρεῖν*, "to enjoy," as second aorist infinitive, from the indicative, ἐπηύρον; subjunctive, ἐπαύρω; second aorist middle, ἐπηυρόμην; first aorist middle, ἐπηυράμην; future, ἐπαυρήσομαι. The present is ἐπαυρίσκω, of rare occurrence.

Ἐπίσταμαι, "I know," imperfect, ἠπιστάμην (like ἴσταμαι); future, ἐπιστήσομαι; first aorist, ἠπιστήθην.

Ἔπω*, "I am occupied," "am about something," takes ει in prefixing the augment of the imperfect, εἶπον; second aorist, ἔσπον; subjunctive, σπῶ; infinitive, σπεῖν (used only in compounds). The middle ἐπομαι, "I follow," is also much used in prose; imperfect, εἰπόμην; future, ἐφομαι; second aorist, ἐσπόμην; subjunctive, σπῶμαι and ἐσπώμαι; optative, σποίμην and ἐσποίμην; imperative, σπού, epic σπέο and σπειο; infinitive, σπένσθαι and ἐσπένσθαι; participle, σπόμενος and ἐσπόμενος. The forms of the moods of this second aorist, with ε prefixed, are peculiar to the poets alone, and can never be used in composition.

Ἐράω, "I love," has, besides the present, only the imperfect, ἤρων, with an active form. The remaining tenses have a passive form, but are used in an active sense, as, first aorist, ἠράσθην; future, ἐρασθήσομαι. The present ἐρώμαι alone has also a passive signification. A poetic collateral form with an active signification is ἐραμαι; first aorist, ἠρασάμην.

Ἐρῶ and ἐρῶ, see Ἔζω.

Ἐρομαι, "I ask," occurs in the general language only as an aorist, namely, ἠρόμην, ἠρετο, to which the remaining moods must also be added, although the infinitive is accented ἑρεσθαι as well as ἑρέσθαι. Future, ἐρήσομαι. All deficiency is supplied by ἐρωτάω. The Ionians have, instead of it, the present εἶρομαι, imperfect εἶρόμην, future εἰρήσομαι.

Ἐφθῶ, "I go away," future, ἐφθήσω; first aorist, ἤφθησα.

Ἐρυθαίνω, also ἐρεύθω, "I make red," future, ἐρύθησω; first aorist, ἠρύθηνα and ἤρευσα; perfect, ἠρύθηκα.

Ἐρύκω*, "I keep back," future, ἐρύξω; first aorist, ἐρυξα (rare); more usual, second aorist, ἠρύκακον.

Ἐρχομαι, "I go," forms from ἘΑΕΥΘΩ the future ἐλεύσομαι or ἐλευσοῦμαι; second aorist, ἤλυθον, Attic ἦλθον, Doric ἦνθον; infinitive, ἐλθεῖν; imperative, ἐλθέ, &c.; perfect, ἐλήλυθα, epic also εἰλήλυθα.

Ἐσθίω, "I eat," see Ἔδω.

Ἔδω, καθεύδω, "I sleep," future, εὐδήσω, καθευδήσω; imperfect, ἐκάθευδον, more rarely καθηνῶδον and καθευδον.

Εὕρισκω, "I find," from ΕΥΡΩ; second aorist, εὔρον; imperative, εὕρέ; future, εύρησω; perfect, εὔρηκα; perfect passive, εῤρημαι; first aorist passive, εὔρέθην; aorist middle, εὔρόμην and εὔραμην.

Ἐχθόμαι, "I am hated," future, ἐχθήσομαι; perfect, ἤχθημαι.

Ἐχω, "I have," future, ἔξω and σχέσω; second aorist, έσχον; imper-itive, σχεῖν; subjunctive, σχῶ; optative, σχεῖσθαι; imperative, σχέ, and also *σχέ*s (for σχεθι, according to the conjugation in μ); perfect, έσχηκα. Passive future, σχεθήσομαι. Middle, future, έξωμαι and σχήσομαι; second aorist, έσχόμην. From the root ΣΧΩ, whence the aorist is borrowed, a new present is formed, with the prefix ε, namely, έχω, "I hold or keep," to which also the future σχήσω belongs in signification.

The following, as compounds of έχω, must be adduced on account of certain irregularities:

1. ένέχομαι, "I endure," takes a double augment; as, imperfect, ήνεχόμην; second aorist, ήνεσχόμην.
2. άμπεχω, "I wrap up," imperfect, άμπειχον; future, άμψέξω; second aorist, ήμπισχον; infinitive, άμπισχεῖν. Middle, άμπέχομαι or άμπισχνούμαι, "I have on;" future, άμψέξομαι; second aorist, ήμπισχόμην.
3. έπισχνούμαι, "I promise," future, έπισχέσομαι; second aorist, έπεσχόμην; imperative, from the passive, έπισχέσθην; perfect, έπέσχημαι.

Έβω, "I boil," future, έβήσω, &c.; verbal adjective, έβής and έβητός, έβητος.

Z.

Ζάω, "I live," takes, in contraction, η instead of α, as, second persons ζῆς; third person, ζῇ, &c.; infinitive, ζῆν. Imperative, ζῇθι (according to the conjugation in μ); imperfect, έζων, έζης, &c.

Ζεύνημι, "I join," future, ζεύξω, &c.; second aorist passive, έζύγην.

Ζώννυμι, "I gird," future, ζώσω, &c.; perfect passive, έζώσμαι; first aorist passive, έζώσθην.

H.

Ήμαι, "I sit." In prose, the compound κάθημαι, which generally takes the augment in the preposition, is more usual; imperfect, έκαθήμην, and also forms peculiar moods; as, subjunctive, κάθωμαι; optative, καθόμην; imperative, κάθησο (also κάθου, for νάθωσο, with the σ dropped). As varieties of dialect, the collateral forms of the third person plural, ήνται and ήντο, are to be observed, which in Ionic are έσται, έστω, and in epic είσται, είστω.

Θ.

ΘΑΝΩ, see θνήσκω.

Θάπτω, "I bury," forms, from the root ΘΑΦΩ, future, θάψω; first aorist, έθαψα; perfect, τέταφα; perfect passive, τέθαμμαι; first aorist passive, έθάφθην; second aorist passive, έτάφην, and so on. From this is to be distinguished the obsolete form ΘΑΦΩ, "I am astonished," from which τέθηκα, as a perfect middle, with a present signification, and έτραπον, as a second aorist, occur in the poets.

Θέω, "I run," future, θεύσομαι or θευσοῦμαι; the remaining tenses are supplied by the forms of τρέχω.

Θιγγάνω, "I touch," forms, from θίγω, future, θίξω and θίξομαι; second aorist, έθιγον.

Θνήσκω, "I die," forms, from ΘΑΝΩ, second aorist, έθανον; future, θανοῦμαι; perfect, τέθνηκα (by transposition of the radical letters), besides the syncopated forms, first person plural, τέθναμεν; third person plural, τεθνᾶσι; optative, τεθναίην; imperative, τέθναθι; infinitive, τεθνάναι; participle, τεθνηκώς, together with τεθνεώς, τεθνηώς, τεθνεύς. From the perfect is formed a future, τεθνήξω and τεθνήξομαι, in frequent use with the Attics.

Θορέω and ΘΟΡΩ, see θρώσκω.

Θρέφω, see Τρέφω.

Θρέχω, see Τρέχω.

Θρόπτω, "I bruise," future, θρόψω, &c.; second aorist passive, έτρήφην.

*Θρώσκω, "I spring," forms, from ΘΟΡΩ, second aorist, έθορον; future, θοροῦμαι.

ΘΥΦΩ, see Τύφω.

Θύω, "I sacrifice," future, θύσω, &c.; first aorist passive, έτίθειν.

I

ΤΙΔΩ, see ΕΙΔΩ.

Τίζω, καθίζω, "I seat," "make to sit," future, Ιζήσω, καθιζήσω, or καθιῶ (for καθίσω); first aorist, έκάθισα.

Τικνέομαι, more rarely Ικω, "I come," future, Ιξω; usual, Ιξομαι; first aorist, Ιξα; usual, first aorist, Ιξον; second aorist middle, Ικόμεν; perfect, Ιγμαι. In prose, the compound άμφικνέομαι is alone used.

Τλάσσομαι, "I propitiate," "appease," future, Ιλάσομαι, epic Ιλάσσομαι (from the root Ιλάομαι or Ιλαμαι, which are still used in single forms with the epic writers); first aorist, Ιλασάμην. Of the active, Ιλάω and Ιλημι, "I am propitious," an imperative, Ιληθι; and of the perfect a subjunctive, Ιλήκω; optative, Ιλήκοιμι; occur with the epic writers.

Τπταμαι, see πέτομαι.

K.

*ΚΑΔΩ, a primitive for the derivation of several verbal forms: 1. for καίννμαι, "I am distinguished," "excel," perfect, κέκασμαι; pluperfect, ηκεκάσμεν: 2. for κήδω, "I trouble," future, κεκαθήσω; second aorist infinitive, κεκαδεῖν; participle, κεκαδών. Middle, κῆδομαι, "I am troubled," future, κεκαδήσομαι; perfect, κέκηθα, with a present signification. 3. For χάζω or χάζομαι, "I give way," second aorist, κεκαδόμην, besides the regular ἐχασάμην or ἐχασσάμην.

Καθίζομαι, καθεύδω, κάθημαι, καθίζω, see ἔζομαι, εὔδω, ἤμαι, ίζω.

Καίννμαι, see ΚΑΔΩ.

Καίω, "I burn," Attic κάω, with long α, and without contraction; future, καύσω; first aorist, ἐκανσα; perfect, κέκαυκα; perfect passive, κέκαυμαι; first aorist passive, ἐκαύθην; second aorist passive, ἐκάην. Besides the given form of the first aorist, must be observed the double epic form ἐκηα and ἐκεια, and the Attic ἐκαα, all formed without σ; subjunctive, κῆω; optative, κῆαμι; imperative, κεῖον; infinitive, κῆαι; participle, κείας. Also in epic ἐκηάμην and ἐκειάμην occur in the middle form.

Καλέω, "I call," future, καλέσω, Attic καλῶ; first aorist, ἐκαλεσα; perfect, κέκληκα; first aorist passive, ἐκλήθην; perfect passive, κέκλημαι, "I am named," "am called," optative, κεκλήμην, κέκληρο, &c.; future passive, κληθήσομαι; third future passive, κεκλήσομαι. Middle, in the same signification with the active, future, καλοῦμαι (for καλέσομαι); first aorist, ἐκαλεσάμην.

Κάμνω, "I grow weary," from ΚΑΜΩ; second aorist, ἐκαμον; future, καμοῦμαι; perfect, κέκμηκα; participle, κεκμηκώς, epic κεκμηός.

Κεῖμαι, "I lie," second person, κεῖσαι, &c.; subjunctive, κέωμαι, κῆγ, &c.; optative, κεοίμην; imperative, κείσο; infinitive, κεῖσθαι; participle, κείμενος; imperfect, ἐκείμην, ἐκείσο, &c.; future, κείσομαι; epic and Ionic collateral forms of the third person plural present are κείσται and κέσται for κεῖνται. In composition with prepositions, the accent recedes in the indicative to the preposition; but in the infinitive it remains on the root; as, κατάκειμαι, but κατακεῖσθαι.

Κεράννμι, "I mingle," from κεράω, which is still found in the epic language; future, κεράσω, Attic κερῶ; first aorist, ἐκεράσα, epic κέρασσα, also ἐκρησα; perfect, κεκράκα; perfect passive, κέκράμαι and κεκράσμαι; first aorist passive, ἐκράθην and ἐκεράσθην.

Κερδαίνω, "I gain," future, κερδάνω and κερδήσω; first aorist, ἐκέρδηνα, ἐκέρδᾶνα, and ἐκέρδησα.

Κήδω, see ΚΑΔΩ.

Κίρνημι, an epic collateral form of κεράννμι, which see.

Κιχάνω, "I reach," "overtake," subjunctive, κιχῶ, epic κιχεῖω; optative, κιχείην; infinitive, κιχῆναι; participle, κιχείς; third person dual of the imperfect, κιχήτην, all formed from ΚΙΧΗΜΙ; future, κιχήσω and κιχῆσομαι; second aorist, ἐκιχον.

Κίχρημι, see Χράω.

Κλάζω, "I sound," future, κλάξω; first aorist, ἐκλαξα; perfect middle, κέκληγα; second aorist, ἐκλαγον.

Κλαίω, "I weep," Attic κλάω, with long α, and without contraction; future, κλαύσομαι or κλανσοῦμαι; first aorist, ἐκλανσα; perfect, κέκλανκα. The future κλαιήσω or κλαήσω is more rare.

*Κλύω, "I hear," imperative, κλύθι and κέκλυθι.

Κορέννυμι, "I satisfy," future, κορέσω; first aorist, ἐκόρεσα; perfect, κεκόρηκα; perfect passive, κεκόρεσμαι, Ionic and epic κεκόρημαι.

*Κορύσσω, "I arm," perfect passive, κεκόρυθμαι.

Κράζω, "I cry," perfect middle, κεκράγα; first person plural, κέκραγμεν; imperative, κέκραχθι; third future passive, κεκράξομαι; second aorist, ἐκράγον.

Κρεμάννυμι, "I suspend," passive, κρεμάννυμαι, "I am suspended," and as a middle, "I suspend myself;" κρέμαμαι (like ἵσταμαι), "I hang," to which are joined, subjunctive, κρέμωμαι; optative, κρεμαίμην; future active, κρεμάσω, Attic κρεμῶ, ᾤς, ᾖ, &c. The aorist passive ἐκρεμάσθην is common to the passive, middle, and intransitive; but the future passive κρεμασθήσομαι belongs only to κρεμάννυμαι, since κρέμαμαι has a peculiar future, κρεμήσομαι, "I shall hang," "hover."

Κτείνω, "I kill," root ΚΤΕ, and, by changing the vowel, ΚΤΑ; future, κτενῶ, Ionic κτανέω; first aorist, ἐκτεῖνα; second aorist, ἐκτανον, besides epic ἐκταν, ας, α (formed according to the conjugation in μι, ας, ἔδραν, from διδράσκω); third person plural, ἐκταν for ἐκτασαν; subjunctive, κτῶ; infinitive, κτάναι, κτάμεναι, κτάμεν; participle, κτάς; perfect, ἐκτακα; perfect middle, ἐκτονα; first aorist passive, ἐκτάθην or ἐκτάνθην, besides the poetic form ἐκτάμην as passive to the second aorist ἐκταν.

Κυνέω, "I kiss," future, κυνήσομαι or (from ΚΥΩ) κύσω; first aorist, ἐκύσα.

Λ.

Δαγχάνω, "I receive by lot" or "fate," root ΔΑΧΩ and ΔΗΧΩ, future, λήξομαι; second aorist, ἔλαχον; perfect, εἴληχα or ἐλέλογχα (sometimes called a perfect middle), ας from ΔΕΓΧΩ.

Λαμβάνω, "I take," root ΛΑΒΩ and ΔΗΒΩ, future, λήψομαι; second aorist, ἔλαβον; perfect, εἴληφα; perfect passive, εἴλημμαι; first aorist passive, εἰλήφθην; second aorist middle, ἐλαβόμην. The Ionians form λελάβηκα, and, from ΛΑΜΒΩ, the future λάμψομαι, first aorist passive ἐλάμφθην, perfect passive ἐέλαμμαι, first aorist middle ἐλαμφάμην.

Δανθάνω, more rarely λήθω, "I am concealed," future, λήσω; second aorist, ἔλαθον; perfect middle, ἐέληθα. Middle, λανθάνομαι, more rarely λήθομαι, "I forget," future, λήσομαι; second aorist, ἐλαθόμην; perfect passive, ἐέλησμαι.

Δακτύ or λάσκω, "I resound," second aorist, Ελακον; future, λάξομαι; perfect, λέλακα and λέληκα.

Δέγω: 1. "I say," forms no perfect active in this signification, but uses instead of it εἶρηκα (see εἶρω), otherwise wholly regular; future, λέξω; first aorist, Ελεξα; perfect passive, λέλεγμαι; first aorist passive, εἰλέχθην. 2. "I gather," future, λέξω, &c.; perfect, εἶλοχα; perfect passive, εἰλεγμαι; second aorist passive, εἰλέγην; second future passive, λέγξομαι. 3. Middle, "I lay myself down," future, λέξομαι; first aorist, ελεξάμην; third person singular, second aorist, λέκτο, without a connecting vowel. Διαλέγομαι, "I converse," perfect, διείλεγμαι; first aorist, διελέχθην. Hence it unites in itself the forms given under 1 and 2.

ΔΗΒΩ, see Λαμβάνω.

Δήθω, see Λανθάνω.

ΔΗΧΩ, see Λαγχάνω.

Λούω, "I wash." In this verb the Attics almost invariably contract the connecting vowel of the termination with the οσ; as, έλου, third person singular of the imperfect; έλουμεν, first person plural. Present passive, λούμαι, &c.; infinitive, λούσθαι.

M.

Μαίομαι*, see ΜΑΩ.

ΜΑΚΩ, "I bleat." From this obsolete primitive form there remain only the second aorist Εμακον, and the perfect μέμηκα, participle μεμῆκνῖα, which are associated with the common present μηκάομαι.

Μανθάνω, "I learn," from ΜΑΘΩ, second aorist, Εμαθον; future, μαθήσομαι; perfect, μεμάθηκα.

Μάρναμαι*, "I fight," usual only in the present and imperfect; optative, μαρνοίμην.

Μάχομαι, "I fight," future, μαχέσομαι and μαχήσομαι, Attic μαχοσμαι; first aorist, εμαχεσάμην; perfect, μεμαχέσμαι and μεμάχημαι.

ΜΑΩ*, an obsolete primitive form, signifying, 1. "I desire," "strive," and has in this signification only the perfect, μέμαα; first person plural, μέμαμεν; participle, μεμαώς; genitive, -ότος and ώτος; third person plural pluperfect, μέμασαν. 2. "I taste," "feel," in which the present μαίομαι is usual; future, μάσομαι; first aorist, εμασάμην.

Μειρομαι*, "I obtain," from the root ΜΕΡΩ, perfect middle, έμμορα; perfect passive, ειμαρμαι. Hence ειμαρται, "it is ordained by fate."

Μέλλω, "I am about," "am to come," imperfect, ήμελλον, with the temporal augment; future, μελλήσω, &c.

Μέλω, "I concern," "give concern to," "lie at the heart of," is mostly used in the active form only, as an impersonal, μέλει; future, μελήσει, &c.; perfect epic, μέμηλε; middle, μέλομαι, "I am concerned;" future, μελήσομαι; first aorist, εμελήθην.

Μέμβλωκα, see ΜΟΛΩ.

Μένω, "I remain," perfect, μεμένηκα; perfect middle, μέμονα.

Μίγνυμι, also μίσγω, "I mix," future, μίξω; first aorist, έμιξα; perfect passive, μέμιγμαι; first aorist passive, έμίχθην; second aorist passive, έμίγην.

Μιμνήσκω, "I remind," from ΜΝΑΩ, future, μνήσω, &c. Middle, μιμνήσκομαι, "I remember," "mention;" first aorist, έμνήσθην; future, μνησθήσομαι; perfect, μέμνημαι, "I am mindful of," "think of," "remember;" subjunctive, μένωμαι; optative, μεμνήμην and μεμνώμην; to which is joined the third future passive, μεμνήσομαι, "I shall ever bear in mind."

ΜΟΛΩ*, "I go," future, μολοῦμαι; second aorist, έμολον; perfect, μέμβλωκα (formed from ΜΟΛΩ by a transposition of the radical letters, therefore properly μέμλωκα, and by the insertion of β). The usual present thereto is βλώσκω.

Μυκάομαι*, "I bellow," second aorist, έμύκον; perfect, μέμυκα; from ΜΥΚΩ.

N.

Ναίω*, "I dwell," future, νάσσομαι; first aorist middle, ένασάμην; first aorist passive, ένάσθην; perfect passive, νένασμαι. The first aorist active, ένασσα, has the transitive signification, "I bring into a dwelling."

Νάσσω, "I stuff," future, νάξω; first aorist, έναξα; perfect passive, νένασμαι.

Νέμω, "I distribute," future, νεμῶ and νεμήσω; first aorist, ένειμα; perfect, νενέμηκα; first aorist passive, ένεμήθην and ένεμέθην.

Νέω, "I swim," future, νεύσομαι and νευσούμαι; first aorist, ένενυσα, &c.

Νίξω, "I wash," borrows its tenses from νίπτω, future, νίψω, &c.

O.

Οῶ*, "I smell," "emit an odour," future, όξήσω; perfect middle, όδωδα, with the reduplication, and a present meaning.

Οίγω and οίγνυμι, usually άνοίγνυμι, "I open," imperfect, άνέωγον; first aorist, άνέφξα; infinitive, άνοιξαι; perfect, άνέφρα; perfect middle, άνέφρα, with an intransitive signification, "I stand open." Epic writers generally use only the temporal, not the syllabic, augment, and φ is then changed into ω; thus, first aorist, όιξα.

Οίδα, see Είδα.

Οίμαι or οίμαι, "I think," second person, οίει; imperfect, ζόμεν also ζμεν; future, οίσομαι; first aorist, ζήθην; infinitive, οίεσθαι. Epic writers lengthen the diphthong, and say οίμαι, or, with an active form, οίω, and form the remaining tenses to it regularly; as, first aorist middle, οίσάμην; first aorist passive, οίσθην.

Οίχομαι, "I depart," or "am gone," future, οίχσομαι; perfect, οίχμαι; or, in an active form with ω, οίχωκα.

ΟΙΩ, see οίμαι and φέρω.

Ολισθαίνω or ολισθάνω, "I slide," future, ολισθήσω; second aorist, ολισθον.

Όλλυμι, "I destroy," from ΟΑΩ, future, ολέσω, Attic ολώ; first aorist, ώλεσα; perfect, ολώλεκα. Middle, ολλύμαι, "I perish;" future, ολούμαι; second aorist, ώλόμην. The perfect middle ολώλα has the reduplication.

Όμνυμι, "I swear," future, ομοῦμαι; first aorist, ωμοσα; perfect, ομώμοκα; perfect passive, ομώμοσμαι, but in the third person also ομώμονται.

Όμωργνυμι, "I wipe off," future, ομώρξω, &c.

Όνινημι, "I am of use," forms the present and imperfect like ιστημι, but the remaining tenses from the primitive ΟΝΑΩ; future, ονήσω; first aorist, ωνησα. Middle, ονίναμαι, "I have advantage;" second aorist, ονάμην, epic and Ionic ώνήμην; optative, οναίμην; infinitive, ονασθαι.

*Όνομαι, "I revile," present and imperfect like δίδομαι, the rest from ΟΝΟΩ; future, ονόσομαι; first aorist, ωνοσάμην; first aorist passive, ωνόσθην.

Όπιω, "I see," perfect, οπωπα; future, οψομαι; first aorist passive, ώφθην (with an active as well as a passive signification); perfect passive, ώμμαι; future, οψθήσομαι.

Όράω, "I see," imperfect, έωρων, Ionic ώρων; perfect, έώρακα; perfect passive, έώραμαι; first aorist passive, έωράθην. All the remaining forms are wanting to this verb, and are supplied by those given under ΟΙΩ and είδω.

Όρνυμι, "I excite," from ΟΡΩ, future, ορσω; first aorist, ώρσα; second aorist, ωρορον, with the reduplication. Middle, ορννυμαι, "I arise;" second aorist, ώρόμην, or, by rejecting the connecting vowel, ώρμην; second person, ώρσο; imperative, ορσεο or ορσο; perfect, ορώρεμαι; perfect middle, ορώρα.

Όσφραίνομαι, "I smell," future, οσφρήσομαι; second aorist, ωσφρόμην, also οσφρόμην.

Όφείλω, "I am indebted," "am obliged," "ought," future, οφειλήσω, &c. The second aorist ώφalon is used merely to designate a wish, "oh that!" "would that!" and the more usual present is οφλισκάνω; future, οφλήσω, &c.

II.

ΠΑΘΩ, see Πάσχω.

Παίζω, "I jest," future, παίζομαι and παίζομαι; first aorist, έπαισα; perfect, πέπαικα; perfect passive, πέπαισμαι and πέπαιγμαι.

Παίω, "I strike," future, usually παίσω, but the remaining tenses regular; first aorist, έπαισα; perfect, πέπαικα; first aorist passive, έπαισθην.

Πάσχω, "I suffer," from ΠΑΘΩ, second aorist, έπαθον. Perfect middle, πέπονθα, from ΠΕΝΘΩ. The form πέπηθα for the perfect, έπησα for the first aorist, and πήσομαι for the future, are more rare, and are proper to the poetic language alone. A peculiar Homeric form is πέποσθε, as second person plural of the perfect.

Πείθω, "I persuade," proceeds regularly in the active, but forms, besides the first aorist έπεισα, a second aorist, έπιθον (with the epic reduplication πέπιθον), and likewise an epic future, πεπιθήσω. Passive and middle, πείθομαι, the latter voice with the meaning, "I believe," "follow," "obey;" second aorist middle, επιθόμην, with reduplication πεπιθόμην; perfect middle, πέποιθα, "I trust."

Πελάζω, "I make to approach," "bring near," regular up to the epic forms of the second aorist, έπλήμην (as middle, according to the conjugation in μι), and the first aorist passive, πελάσθην.

Πέπρωται, see ΠΟΡΩ.

Πέπτω, see Πέσσω.

*Πέρθω, "I lay waste," second aorist, έπραθον, by transposition of the radical letters, from έπαρθον.

Πέσσω, πέπτω, "I boil," future, πέψω, &c., from πέπτω.

Πεσεῖν, see πίπτω.

Πεταννυμι, "I spread," future, πετάσω, Attic πετώ; perfect passive, πέπταμαι (for πεπέτασμαι); first aorist passive, έπετάσθην.

Πέτομαι, "I fly." From this primitive form, by syncope, we have the second aorist έπτόμην, infinitive πτέσθαι, future πετήσομαι (usual form πτήσομαι). According to the conjugation in μι are formed the present, πέταμαι and ίπταμαι; first aorist, έπάμην; second aorist, έπτην; infinitive, πτήναι; participle, πτάς; perfect, πέπηκα. Besides these, epic writers use the lengthened forms ποτάομαι, πωτάομαι, and also ποτέομαι, the tenses of which are formed regularly; as, perfect, πεπότημαι, &c.

ΠΙΕΤΩ, see Πίπτω.

Πεύθομαι, see Πυνθάνομαι.

Πήγνυμι, "I fix," future, πήξω, &c.; first aorist passive, έπήχθην; second aorist passive, έπύγην; perfect middle, πέπηγα, "I stand fast."

Πίμπλημι, "I fill," infinitive, πιμπλάναι, formed by reduplication from the root ΠΑΑΩ, wherein μ is inserted to strengthen the syllable. This is frequently rejected by the poets, and also in prose, when in composition an additional μ happens to stand immediately before the reduplication (as, for example, ἐμπίπλημι). Future, πλήσω, &c.; perfect passive, πέπλησμαι; first aorist, ἐπλήσθην. Besides these are to be observed an epic second aorist middle, ἐπλήμην or πλήμην; optative, πλείμην, with an intransitive signification, "I am full," and a perfect middle, πέπληθα, likewise with an intransitive present signification, and derived from an accessory form πλήθω, which is also not unusual as a present.

Πίμπρημι, "I set on fire," infinitive, πιμπράναι, proceeds in the present and imperfect like ἴστημι; the remaining forms are from ΠΙΡΑΩ or πρήθω; thus, future, πρήσω, &c.; first aorist passive, ἐπρήσθην. Here, also, the μ inserted to strengthen the syllable is omitted when an additional μ stands immediately before the reduplication; as, ἐμπίπρημι.

Πίνω, "I drink," from ΠΙΩ, future, πίομαι; second aorist, έπιον; infinitive, πиеῖν, &c.; imperative, πίθι. All the rest are formed from ΠΙΟΩ; perfect, πέπωκα; perfect passive, πέπομαι; first aorist passive, ἐπόθην; future passive, ποθήσομαι. The forms πίσω, έπισα, have the transitive signification, "to give to drink," to which πιτίσκω is usual as a present.

Πιπράσκω, "I sell," from περάω, future, περάσω; first aorist, έπερασα. Then from ΠΙΡΑΩ, perfect, πέπρᾱκα; perfect passive, πέπρᾱμαι; first aorist passive, έπρᾱθην; third future passive, πεπρᾱσομαι.

Πίπτω, "I fall," forms from ΠΕΤΩ the future, πεσοῦμαι; second aorist, έπεσον; and from ΠΤΩ the perfect, πέπτωκα.

ΠΙΩ, see Πίνω.

Πλάζω, "I cause to wander," "drive about," future, πλάγξω, &c.

ΠΛΑΩ, πλήθω, see Πίμπλημι.

Πλέω, "I sail," future active, πλεύσω; future middle, πλεύσομαι and πλευσοῦμαι; first aorist active, έπλευσα, &c.; perfect passive, πέπλευσμαι; first aorist passive, έπλεύσθην.

Πλήσσω, "I strike," future, πλήξω, &c.; second aorist passive, έπλήγην, but in the compounds έπλᾱγην. An epic form is the second aorist active, πέπληγον, with the reduplication.

Πλώω, an Ionic accessory form of πλέω, whence a second aorist, έπλων, according to the conjugation in μι; participle, πλώς.

Πνέω, "I breathe," future, πνέσω or πνευσοῦμαι, &c.; first aorist passive, έπνευσθην; perfect passive, πέπνυμαι*, "I possess spirit," "am wise."

Ποθέω, "I long for," future, ποθήσω and ποθέσω, usually ποθέσομαι; perfect, πεπόθηκα; perfect passive, πεπόθημαι; first aorist passive, ἐποθέσθην.

Πορεῖν, ἔπορον, "I gave," a defective second aorist with the poets. To the same theme (in the sense of "to distribute") belongs the perfect passive πέπρωται, "it is ordained by fate;" participle, πεπρωμένος.

ΠΟΩ, see Πίνω.

ΠΡΟΩ, see Πορεῖν.

ΠΤΑΩ, see Πετάννυμι, Πέτομαι.

Πτήσσω, "I cower down," future, πτήξω, and the remaining forms regular; perfect participle, πεπτηώς.

ΠΤΩΩ, see Πίπτω.

Πυνθάνομαι, "I learn," from πυνθόμαι (poetic), future, πυνέσομαι; second aorist, ἐπυνθόμην; perfect, πέπυσμαι.

P.

Πέζω, "I do," future, βέξω, or, from ΕΡΤΩ, future, ἐρξω, &c.; perfect middle, ἔοργα.

Πέω, "I flow," future, βεύσω; future middle, βεύσομαι; first aorist active, ἔβρενσα. In the same signification, however, the second aorist ἔβρόνην (formed according to the conjugation μι, from a root ΠΤΕΩ), with the future βνήσομαι and perfect ἔβρόηκα, is more usual.

Πέω, "I say," see Εἶρω.

Πήγνυμι, "I rend," future, ρήξω, &c.; second aorist passive, ἐρράγην; perfect middle, ἐρρώγα, with an intransitive signification, "I am rent."

Πιγέω, "I shudder," future, ριγήσω, &c.; perfect middle, *ἐρρίγα.

Πίπτω and ριπτέω, "I throw," both forms usual in the present and imperfect; all the rest from the first only; future, ρίψω, &c.; second aorist passive, ἐρρίφην.

Πνέω, see Πέω.

Πύννυμι, "I strengthen," future, ρώσω, &c.; perfect passive, ἐρρώσμαι; imperative, ἐρρώσω, "farewell;" first aorist passive, ἐρρώσθην.

Σ.

Σαλπίζω, "I sound a trumpet," future, σαλπίγξω, &c.

Σβέννυμι, "I extinguish," future, σβέσω, &c.; perfect passive, ἐσβέσμαι; first aorist passive, ἐσδέσθην. The perfect ἐσθηκα, and the second aorist ἐσθην, infinitive σθῆναι, have the intransitive signification, "to be extinguished," like the passive.

*Σεύω, "I put in motion," first aorist, ἐσσενα, formed without σ; and, by doubling the σ in annexing the augment, perfect passive, ἐσσονμαι; first aorist passive, ἐσσύθην.

Σκεδάννυμι, "I scatter," future, σκεδάσω, Attic σκεδῶ, &c. ; perfect passive, ἐσκέδασμαι.

Σκέλλω, "I dry up," first aorist, ἐσκηλα (an epic form, as from a root ΣΚΑΛΩ). Middle, σκέλλομαι, "I am dried up," future, σκλήσομαι. To these, on account of a signification likewise intransitive, the active forms, perfect ἐσκληκα and second aorist ἐσκλην, infinitive σκλῆναι (formed according to the conjugation in μ), also belong.

Σμῖω, "I smear," second person, σμῆς, &c. ; infinitive, σμῆν; future, σμήσω, &c. ; first aorist passive, ἐσμήχθην, from σμήχω.

Σπεῖν, σπέσθαι, see Ἔπω.

Σπένδω, "I make a libation," future, σπεῖσω ; first aorist, ἐσπεισα ; perfect, ἐσπεικα ; perfect passive, ἐσπεισμαι ; first aorist passive, ἐσπείσθην.

Στερέω, "I deprive," proceeds regularly, but in the passive is the more simple form στέρομαι, to which a second aorist ἐστέρην, participle στερεῖς, and future στερήσομαι belong.

Στορέννυμι, στορννυμι, and στρώννυμι, "I spread," future, στορέσω and στρώσω ; first aorist, ἐστόρεσα and ἐστρωσα ; perfect, ἐστρωκα ; perfect passive, ἐστρωμαι, more rarely ἐστόρημαι ; first aorist passive, ἐστορέσθην and ἐστρώθην.

*Στυγέω, "I abhor," "I hate," future, στυγήσω, &c. The second aorist ἐστυγον is formed from a root ΣΤΥΓΩ, as also a first aorist, ἐστρυφα, with a transitive signification, "I make to shudder."

Σχεῖν, see Ἐχω.

Σώζω, "I save," future, σώσω ; perfect passive, σέσωμαι ; but first aorist passive, ἐσώθην.

T.

Ταλάω, "I endure," used only in the first aorist, ἐτάλασα, epic ἐτάλασσα. The perfect, τέτληκα (in the plural, by syncope, τέτλαμεν) ; imperative, τέτλαθι ; infinitive, τετλάναι, epic τετλάμεν ; future, τλήσομαι, and second aorist, ἐτλην (according to the conjugation in μ) ; infinitive, τλῆναι ; imperative, τλήθι ; optative, τλαίην ; participle, τλάς.

ΤΑΦΩ, see Θάπτω.

ΤΑΩ, see Τείνω.

Τείνω, "I stretch," future, τενῶ ; first aorist, ἐτεινα. From the radical form TE come the perfect τέτακα, perfect passive τέταμαι, first aorist passive ἐτάθην, future ταθήσομαι.

ΤΕΚΩ, see Τίκτω.

Τέμνω, "I cut," forms from TEMΩ the future τεμῶ, second aorist ἔτεμον, perfect τέτμηκα, perfect passive τέτμημαι, first aorist passive ἐπιθήην. In Ionic this verb is τάμνω, from which comes the second aorist ἔταμον, a form used also with the Attics.

*Τεταγών, "reaching," "seizing," 2^d second aorist participle, from the same root with τείνω.

Τεύχω. In this form two kindred verbs must be accurately distinguished.

1. Τεύχω, "I make," "fabricate," regular future, τεύξω; first aorist, ἔτευξα; perfect, τέτευχα; perfect passive, τέτυγμαι; first aorist passive, ἐτύχθην. Epic forms of the second aorist are τέτυκον, active, and τετυκόμην, middle, both by reduplication.

2. Τυγχάνω, "I happen," "acquire," future, τεύξομαι; second aorist, ἔτυχον; perfect, τετύχηκα.

Τίκτω, "I bring forth," from ΤΕΚΩ, future, τέξω; future middle, τέξομαι; second aorist, ἔτεκεν; perfect, τέτοκα.

Τιτρώ, "I bore," from ΤΡΑΩ, future, τρήσω, &c. An accessory form more usual with the Attics is τιτραίνω, to which belong the future τιτρανῶ and the first aorist ἐτέτρηνα. The perfect always from the radical form, τέτρηκα; perfect passive, τέτρημαι.

Τιτρώσκω, "I wound," epic τρώω, future, τρώσω, &c.; perfect passive, τέτρωμαι; first aorist passive, ἐτρώθην; future, τρωθήσομαι, and also τρώσομαι, with the form of the middle, but the signification of the passive.

Τίω, "I honour," is merely poetical, and forms regularly the future, τίσω, &c.; perfect passive, τέτιμαι. At the same time, however, it furnishes the derivative tenses also to Τίνω, "I pay," "atone for," future, τίσω; perfect passive, τέτισμαι; first aorist passive, ἐτίσθην. The middle τίνομαι, future τίσομαι, first aorist ἐτισάμην, has the signification, "to revenge," "punish."

ΤΑΗΜΙ, radical form assumed for the formation of some tenses of ταλάω, which see.

Τρέφω, "I nourish," future, θρέψω; perfect middle, τέτροφα; perfect passive, τέτρεφμαι; infinitive, τεθράφθαι; second aorist passive, ἐτράφην; more rarely, first aorist passive, ἐθρέφθην.

Τρέχω, "I run," future, θρέξω; future middle, θρέξομαι; first aorist active, ἔθρεξα. More usually, from ΔΡΕΜΩ, second aorist, ἔδραμον; future, δραμοῦμαι; perfect active, δεδράμηκα; perfect middle, δέδρομα.

Τρώω, "I eat," future, τρώξομαι; second aorist, ἔτραγον, from ΤΡΑΓΩ.

Τυγχάνω, see Τεύχω.

Τύπτω, "I strike," has commonly, with the Attics, future, τυπτήσω; second aorist passive, ἐτύπην.

Τύφω, "I fumigate," "burn," future, θύψω; second aorist passive, ἐτύφην.

Υ.

Ὑπιοσχεύομαι, see under Ἐχω.

Φ.

Φάγω, see Ἐδω.

Φαίνω, "I cause to appear," future, φανῶ; first aorist, ἔφηνα; second aorist, ἔφανον; perfect middle, πέφηνα; perfect passive, πέφασμαι; first aorist passive, ἐφάνθην; second aorist passive, ἐφάνην; second future passive, φανήσομαι. The passive has an intransitive signification, "I appear," which properly belongs to the middle.

Φείδομαι, "I spare," future, φείσομαι, &c. Epic forms are, perfect, πεφίδημαι, usual form πέφεισμαι; third future, πεφιδήσομαι, in the signification of the simple future; second aorist, πεφιδόμην, by reduplication.

Φέρω, "I bear," imperfect, ἔφερον; present passive, φέρομαι; imperfect, ἐφερόμην. All the other tenses are formed partly from ΟΙΩ, partly from ΕΝΕΓΚΩ. Thus, future, οἴσω; first aorist, ἤνεγκα (Ionic ἤνεικα); second aorist, ἤνεγκον; perfect, ἐνήνοχα; perfect passive, ἐνήνεγμαι (Ionic ἐνήνειγμαι); first aorist passive, ἤνέχθην (Ionic ἤνείχθην); future, ἐνεχθήσομαι and οἰσθήσομαι; future middle, οἴσομαι; first aorist middle, ἤνεγκάμην. In epic, several other forms are derived from ΟΙΩ, besides these adduced; as, imperative of the aorist, οἴσε, οἴσέτω, &c.; subjunctive of the aorist, third person singular, οἴσῃ.

Φθάνω, "I am beforehand," "anticipate," forms from ΦΘΑΩ, future, φθήσω; future middle, φθήσομαι; first aorist active, ἔφθασα; second aorist, ἔφθην; subjunctive, φθῶ; optative, φθαίην, &c.; perfect, ἐφθάκα.

Φύω, "I beget," future, φύσω; first aorist, ἔφυσα; middle, φύομαι, "I arise," "am born," &c.; perfect active, πέφυκα, "I am by nature;" second aorist, ἔφυν, "I am," &c.

Χ.

Χαίρω, "I rejoice," future, χαιρήσω; future middle, χαιρήσομαι, in epic also κεχαρήσω and κεχαρήσομαι; second aorist, ἐχάρην (according to the conjugation in μι); subjunctive, χαρῶ; optative, χαρείην, &c. Besides these are to be observed the forms of the aorist: ἐχαιρησα with later writers; ἐχηράμην and κεχαρόμην in epic. Perfect active, κεχάρηκα; perfect passive, κεχάρημαι, poetic κέχαρμαι.

Ἰέζω, "I stood," future, ἵεσω, more usual than ἱεσούμαι; perfect middle, κέχουδα.

Ἰέω, "I pour," future, ἱεύσω; first aorist, ἔχεα, epic ἔχενα (formed without the characteristic of the tense, by merely annexing the termination); infinitive of the first aorist, χέαι; imperative, χέον, χεάτω, &c.; perfect, κέχυκα; perfect passive, κέχυμαι; first aorist passive, ἐχύθην, &c.

Ἰράω. Of this verb must be distinguished five different forms of inflection, with their significations.

1. Ἰράω, "I give a response," proceeds regularly; infinitive, ἱρᾶν; future, ἱρήσω, &c.; first aorist passive, ἐρήσθην.
2. Κίχρημι, "I lend," proceeds like ἱστημι (yet without a second aorist); future, ἱρήσω; first aorist, ἔχρησα, &c.; middle, κίχραμαι, "I borrow;" future, ἱρήσομαι; first aorist, ἐχρησάμην.
3. Ἰράομαι, "I use," takes η instead of α in contraction; second person, ἱρή, &c.; infinitive, ἱρήσθαι; future, ἱρήσομαι; first aorist, ἐχρησάμην; perfect, κέχρημαι (usually in the signification, "I want"). It is remarkable that the Ionians, when they contract, take α here as the mingled sound; thus, infinitive, Ionic ἱρᾶσθαι. Generally, however, instead of ἱράομαι, they use the form ἱρέομαι, which is regularly conjugated throughout; they also change ο after ε into ω; as, ἱρέωνται.
4. Ἰρή, "it is incumbent," "one ought," &c., infinitive, ἱρῆναι; optative, ἱρείη; subjunctive, ἱρή; participle, ἱρέων; imperfect, ἐχρήν or χρῆν, never ἐχρη; future, ἱρήσει.
5. Ἀπόχρη, "it is sufficient," third person plural, ἀποχρῶσι; infinitive, ἀποχρῆν; participle, ἀποχρῶν, ὦσα, ὦν; imperfect, ἀπέχρη; future, ἀποχρήσει. Here also the Ionians usually take α instead of η; as, imperfect, ἀπέχρα.

Ἰρώννυμι, "I colour," future, ἱρώσω, &c.; perfect passive, κέχρωσμαι; first aorist passive, ἐχρώσθην.

Ἰώννυμι, "I heap up," "dam." The radical form ἰώω is usual as a present with the older writers. To this belong the infinitive, ἰοῦν; future, ἰώσω, &c.; perfect passive, κέχωσμαι; first aorist passive, ἐχῶσθην.

Ω.

Ἰωθέω, "I push," imperfect, ἐώθουν; future, ὠθήσω and ὠσω; first aorist, ἔωσα; perfect, ἔωκα; perfect passive, ἔωσμαι; first aorist passive, ἐώσθην; all from the radical form ὠθῶ.

R

XXVI. PARTICLES.

The Particles are Adverbs, Conjunctions, and Prepositions, the Interjections being ranked in Greek under Adverbs.

ADVERBS.

1. The most usual termination of an adverb is in ως.
2. If the adjective from which the adverb is derived be one that ends in ος, the adverb is formed by merely appending the termination ως to the root as indicated by the nominative. Thus, from σοφός (root σοφ), we have σοφῶς; from καλός (root καλ), καλῶς; from καίριος (root καιρι), καιρίως, &c.
3. In the case of other adjectives the root will be recognised most clearly in the genitive; and to the root thus found the termination ως is in like manner annexed. Thus, from μέγας (root μεγαλ), we have μεγάλως; from χαρίεις (root χαριεντ), χαριέντως; from ἀληθής (root ἀληθε), ἀληθέως, contracted ἀληθῶς, &c.
4. In many cases the adverb has no particular form, but is expressed by some part of an adjective. Thus :
 1. The neuter of the adjective, singular and plural, is used for an adverb chiefly by the poets; as, καλὸν αἰεῖδεν, "to sing beautifully;" βραχέα διελθεῖν, "to recount briefly."
 2. In like manner, also, the dative singular feminine occurs instead of an adverb; as, δημοσίᾳ, "publicly;" ιδίᾳ, "privately;" κοινῇ, "in common;" πεζῇ, "on foot;" ταύτῃ, "thus," "in this manner," &c. But, strictly speaking, in such constructions a substantive is always to be supplied, usually ὁδῶ.
5. Adverbs are also formed from substantives, and that in various ways. Thus :

1. Certain forms of substantives are used in the signification of adverbs ; as, ἀρχήν (in the beginning), "entirely;" ἀκμήν (at the point), "scarce;" κομιδῇ (with diligence), "very much;" σπουδῇ (with zeal or pains), "with trouble or difficulty," "scarce," "hardly." In all these, and others of the kind, there is an ellipsis of a preposition.
2. Some substantives furnish an adverbial sense when combined into one word with prepositions. Thus, παραχρῆμα (with the thing), "immediately;" προὔργου (πρὸ ἔργου, for the thing, to the purpose), "serving the purpose," "serviceable," "requisite," "useful;" ἐκποδῶν (from before the feet), "out of the way," "aside;" ἐμποδῶν, "in the way," "impeding."
3. Adverbs are derived from substantives by annexing certain syllables. Thus, the terminations θα, θι, οι, σι, χη, and χου, signify "in a place;" the terminations θε and θεν, "from a place;" and δε, σε, ζε,¹ "to a place;" as, ἐνταῦθα	here.

οὐρανόθι	in heaven.
οἴκοι	at home.
Ἀθήνησι	at Athens.
πανταχῇ }	everywhere.
πανταχοῦ }
ἄλλαχοῦ	elsewhere.
οὐρανόθεν }	from heaven.
οὐρανόθε }
οἴκοθεν	from home.

1. The termination ζε is nothing more than σδε, the double letter being put for the σδ. This change, however, occurs merely in some names of places, and in a few other words ; such as, θύραζε, for θύρασδε, "to the door," "out."

οὐρανόνδε	}	to heaven.
οὐρανόσε
Θήβαζε		to Thebes.
Αθήναζε		to Athens.

4. Adverbs are also formed from substantives by annexing the syllables δόν and ιστί, and those thus produced express comparison; as, βοτρυνδόν, "cluster-wise;" κυνηδόν, "after the manner of dogs;" Ἑλληνιστί, "after the manner of the Greeks;" ἀνδριστί, "after the manner of men."

5. Adverbs derived from substantives sometimes end in άδην, and then denote that something takes place by the application of the idea which is contained in the substantive; as, λογάδην (from λόγος), "by selection;" ἀμβολάδην (from ἀναβολή), "by delay."

6. Adverbs are also formed from verbs, and have the termination in δην, which termination is annexed immediately to the root. A preceding soft or aspirate, however, must change at the same time into the corresponding middle letter. Thus we have κρύβδην, from κρύπτω (root κρυβ), "secretly;" πλέγδην, from πλέκω (root πλεκ), "in a twisted manner or form;" συλλήβδην, from συλλαμβάνω (root συλληβ), "taken together."

7. Lastly, from some prepositions, also, adverbs are formed, which serve to denote place, and which all terminate in ω; as, ἄνω (from ἀνά), "above;" κάτω, "below;" ἔξω, "without;" εἰσω, "within;" πρόσω, "onward." This ω belongs also to some other adverbs; as, ἄφνω, "suddenly;" οὕτω, "thus;" ὀπίσω, "behind;" πρόρρω, "far."

8. Besides these there are yet many adverbs whose derivation does not admit of being accurately pointed out, and which are partly obsolete adjective forms; as, πλησίον, "near;" σήμερον, "to-day;" αὔριον, "to-morrow;" ἀγχοῦ,

"near;" ὁμοῦ, "at the same time;" ἐκῇ, "in vain;" δίχῃ, "in a twofold manner;" and partly genuine adverbs, with the terminations α, ας, ι, ει, οι, ου, τε; as, κάρτα, "very;" πέλας, "near;" μεγαλωσί, "greatly;" ἐκεῖ, "there;" ποῖ, "whither;" πότε, "when," &c.

9. Under the head of adverbial particles, the α (before a vowel αν) must be especially noticed. It is of three kinds: 1. α privative, which carries with it the force of a negation; as, ἄσοφος, "unwise;" ἄνυδρος, "without water;" 2. α intensive, which strengthens the meaning; as, ἄξυλος, "much wooded;" 3. α denoting union; as, ἄλοχος, "a consort."

10. The following also occur frequently in the poets, and denote increase, &c.

αρι;	as,	ἀρίδῃλος,	very conspicuous.
βον;	"	βοῦβρωστις,	voracious.
βρι;	"	βριήπνος,	shouting aloud.
δα;	"	δάσκιος,	thickly shaded.
ερι;	"	ἐριθρεμής,	loud roaring.
ζα;	"	ζάκοτος,	furious.
λα;	"	λάμαχος,	valiant.
λι;	"	λιλαίωμαι,	I desire earnestly.

NEGATIVE PARTICLES.

1. There are in Greek two simple negative particles, with which all other negations are compounded, οὐ and μή. The former of these becomes οὐκ before a vowel that has the soft breathing, and οὐχ before a vowel that is aspirated. The Attics, also, for greater emphasis, sometimes write οὐχί.

2. From these two negatives, οὐ and μή, are formed all the other modes of negation in Greek; such as οὐδέ, οὔτε, οὐδείς, οὔποτε, οὐπώποτε, οὐδαμῶς, οὐδαμοῦ, μηδέ, μήτε μηδείς, &c.

3. Although the English language possesses only one expression for both of these particles, yet between the use of οὐ and μή in Greek, a definite and important distinction obtains.

4. In general, this distinction is correctly designated by saying that οὐ denies positively and directly, but that μή, on the contrary, denies conditionally or prohibitively. Hence οὐ is used to deny a thing itself; μή, on the contrary, to deny the supposition of a thing.

5. Hereupon is founded the following general rule: οὐ stands as a negative particle in an independent proposition, and in all cases, likewise, where an idea is negated in and by itself: μή, on the contrary, denies in conditional propositions, whether they appear as really dependant, or the dependance lies merely in the imagination, as in conditional and assumed cases.

6. The following remarks will lead to a right application of this rule in single cases.

1. A whole and independent proposition, whether pronounced as an absolute assertion or as an opinion and view, or as a question, can be negated only by the particle οὐ. Thus, οὐκ ἀγαθὸν ἡ πολυκοιρανία, "The government of the many is not a good thing." Οὐκ ἂν ἀγαπῶν καλεῖσθαι ἀπιστος, "I would not like to be called faithless." Τί γὰρ οὐ παρῆστιν; "Why, then, is he not present?"
2. Μή, on the contrary, appears as a negation after all particles expressing condition, supposition, and intention; as, εἰ μὴ ὀρθῶς λέγω, σὸν ἔργον ἐλέγχειν, "If I do not speak correctly, it is your part to prove it."
3. Μή is used after relatives, and with participles when these likewise express a condition; as, τίς δὲ δοῦναι δύναται ἑτέρῳ ἢ μὴ αὐτὸς ἔχει; "Who can give a thing to another, if he has it not himself?" Here ἢ οὐκ αὐτὸς ἔχει would mean, "that which he has not himself." So, also, ὁ μὴ πιστεύων, "If a person does not believe." But ὁ οὐ πιστεύων, "One who does not believe."

4. Μὴ is used with infinitives, whether they be dependant upon a verb or accompanied by the article ; as, ἀνάγκη τοῦτο μὴ ποιεῖν, "It is necessary not to do this." Τὸ μὴ πεισθῆναί μοι αἰτιόν σοι τῶν κακῶν, "Your not being persuaded by me is to you the source of these evils."
5. Μὴ always stands with the imperative, as also with the subjunctive when it is used instead of the imperative, and with the optative when it indicates a wish ; as, μὴ πράττε τοῦτο, "Do not do this ;" μὴ τοῦτο δράσῃς ; and again, μὴ τοῦτο γένοιτο, "May this never be."
6. Every purpose implies a conception in the mind of some one or other, and therefore μὴ, not οὐ, follows ἵνα, ὅπως, ὅρα ; as, Σόλων ἀπεδήμησε ἔτεα δέκα ἵνα δὴ μὴ τινα τῶν νόμων ἀναγκασθῇ λύσαι, τῶν ἔθετο : "Solon absented himself from home for the space of ten years, in order that he may not be compelled to rescind any one of the laws which he had enacted."

7. Two negatives generally strengthen the negation, and do not destroy each other, as in Latin.

8. This rule may be expressed more fully as follows : When to a sentence already made negative, other qualifications of a more general kind are to be added, such as sometimes, some one, somewhere, &c., these are all commonly subjoined in the form of words compounded with the same negative particles ; as, οὐκ ἐποίησε τοῦτο οὐδαμῶς οὐδεὶς, "No one anywhere did this." And in the same manner, to the negation of the whole is subjoined the negation of the parts ; as, οὐ δύναται οὐτ' εὖ λέγειν, οὐτ' εὖ ποιεῖν τοὺς φίλους, "He can neither speak well of, nor do good to, his friends."

9. In some phrases both the particles οὐ and μή are united; as, οὐ μή and μή οὐ. In this combination, as in all other cases, οὐ denies objectively and μή subjectively. Hence οὐ μή implies the idea of no apprehension being entertained that a thing will take place; μή οὐ, on the contrary, the idea of an apprehension being entertained that a thing will not take place. Hence are derived the following observations:

1. Οὐ μή is an intensive and emphatical negation, and indicates the imagination of a thing which should not and must not take place; as, οὐ μή δυσμενῆς ἔσθι φίλοις, "That thou wilt not (I expect) be ill-inclined towards thy friends;" that is, "be not ill-inclined towards thy friends." And again, ἀλλ' οὐποτ' ἐξ ἐμοῦ γε μή μάθῃς τόδε, "Yet never (must thou expect) that thou wouldst learn this from me;" that is, "yet never shouldst thou learn this from me."
2. Μή οὐ, in dependant propositions, when the verb of the principal proposition is either accompanied by a negation or contains a negative idea in itself, destroy each other, and are often to be translated by "that." Thus, οὐκ ἀρνοῦμαι μή οὐ γενέσθαι, "I do not deny that it has taken place;" and again, πείθομαι γὰρ οὐ τοσοῦτον οὐδὲν ὥστε μή οὐ καλῶς θανεῖν, "For I am persuaded that there will nothing happen to me so bad but that I shall die nobly."
3. In independent propositions, on the contrary, μή οὐ is used in combination with the subjunctive to express negative assertions with less positiveness and strength, and is to be translated by "indeed not," "perhaps not," and explained by the addition of an omitted verb, as ὄρα, or the like. Thus, ἀλλὰ μή οὐκ ἢ διδακτὸν ἢ ἀρετή, "But virtue may, perhaps, be a thing not to be taught." Literally, "But see whether virtue may not be," &c., the verb ὄρα being supplied.

10. Besides the case of μη οὐ mentioned above, two negatives also destroy each other when they belong to different verbs; as, οὐδὲν ἔστιν ὅτι οὐκ ὑπέσχετο, "He promised everything;" literally, "There is nothing that he did not promise."

11. As compounded with the negation οὐκ, the particle οὐκουν may also find a place here. This particle, used by the Greeks both in questions and in direct propositions, admits of different translations, and is also differently accented, being sometimes written οὐκοῦν and sometimes οὐκουν. The following is to be remarked as essential concerning it.

1. In interrogative propositions, when the particle signifies not therefore? is it not so? not? it is always to be accented οὐκουν, because οὐκ must here be significantly and emphatically heightened. Thus, οὐκουν γέλως ἡδίστος εἰς ἐχθροὺς γελᾶν; "Is it not, then, the sweetest laughter to laugh at one's enemies?"
2. In direct propositions οὐκουν is either to be translated "therefore not," "yet not," or else it stands at the beginning of the proposition as a mere emphatical expression for the simple οὐν, and is to be translated by "therefore," "consequently;" as, οὐ τοῦτο ἐποίησας, οὐκουν ἔγωγε, "thou hast done this, therefore not I." In this case the accentuation is generally given as οὐκοῦν. Strictly considered, however, the idea of negation does not vanish in οὐκουν even where it is to be translated by therefore, but the particle is there, also, properly an interrogative one. Thus the following sentence, οὐκοῦν, ὅταν δὴ μὴ σθένω, πεπαύσομαι, "Therefore, when I am unable, I shall desist," is equivalent to "Is it not so? when I am unable, I shall desist?"

CONJUNCTIONS, &c.

ΑΑΑΑ.

1. 'Αλλά is an adversative conjunction, and answers generally to the English "but." From this meaning arise others, however, such as, "well, then," "therefore," in which case ἀλλά is generally elliptical. Thus, ἀλλ' ἴσθι, ὅτι ἔχει τοῦθ' οὕτως: "Well, then, know that this will be so." Supply οὐκ ἀντιστήσω, or the like; "I will not oppose, but, on the contrary, know," &c. So, in the following passage of Xenophon, it occurs in four different senses, all of which may be traced by means of ellipses to the primitive meaning of "but." 'Αλλὰ μὰ Δι', ἔφη, οὐκ αὐτὸς ἔλκεσθαι πρὸς σε βούλομαι, ἀλλὰ σε πρὸς ἐμὲ πορεύεσθαι. 'Αλλὰ πορεύεσθαι, ἔφη, μόνον ὑποδέχου. 'Αλλ' ὑποδέξομαι σε, ἔφη· ἐὰν μὴ τις φιλωτέρα σου ἔνδον ᾖ. "'Nay, indeed,' replied Socrates, 'I do not wish to be dragged unto you, but you to come to me.' 'Well, then,' said Theodota, 'I will come; do you only receive me.' 'Why, I will receive you,' replied Socrates, 'if there be not some one dearer than you within.'"

2. 'Αλλὰ γάρ. In this combination γάρ introduces a reason for the opposition, &c., expressed by ἀλλά. Thus, ἀλλὰ γὰρ Κρέοντα λεύσω, πᾶσιν τοῖς παρεστώτας λόγους. "But I will check what I am at present saying, for I see Creon." Sometimes, however, the reference is more latent, and a clause is to be supplied between ἀλλά and γάρ from what precedes. Thus, in Plato, Rep. 2, p. 336, we have, ἀλλὰ γὰρ ἐν ᾧδον οἰκὴν δώσομεν, where we must repeat from the previous clause, οὐκ ἀξήμιοι ἀπαλλάξομεν. "But we shall not escape unharmed, for we shall render atonement in Hades." In many instances the reference in ἀλλὰ γάρ is to be supplied by some general remark, such as, "but this was not at all surprising, for;" "but this was impossible, for," &c.

3. 'Αλλ' οὖν γε. These particles are often joined together, inasmuch as, along with the opposition, a consequence of what has preceded is also expressed. Thus, ἀλλ' οὖν τοῦτόν γε τὸν χρόνον ἤρτον ἀηδὴς ἐσομαι. "Yet (ἀλλά) I will, for this reason (οὖν), now at least (γε) be less disagreeable."

4. When joined with οὐδέ it strengthens the sense; as, ἀλλ' οὐδέ πειράσομαι, "Nay, I will not even try." Frequently, in this construction, οὐ μόνον οὐ is to be supplied in what precedes; as, in the present instance, we may say, "I will not only not do so, but I will not even try."

5. In ἀλλὰ τοι the particle τοι strengthens the force of ἀλλά; "but, indeed," "why, that, indeed," "why, as for that," &c. Thus, ἀλλ' ἡδύ τοι. "Why, that is a pleasant thing enough."

AN.

1. The particle άν, for which the epic writers use κέ or κέν, cannot well be expressed by any corresponding particle in English, but only gives to a sentence an air of uncertainty and mere possibility. It is employed, therefore, to modify or strengthen the subjunctive and optative ; and is also employed with the indicative, in order to impart to it more or less of uncertainty.

2. This particle commonly stands after one or more words in a clause, and is thus distinguished from the άν which is formed by contraction from εάν. This latter particle άν usually begins a clause, and has the meaning of "if," &c. The Attic prose writers usually change it into ήν, the Attic poets always.

3. The particle εάν, "if," is compounded of the conditional εἰ and the άν mentioned in the first paragraph.

4. The άν first mentioned is frequently put twice, sometimes even thrice, in a clause or sentence. In some cases, where the άν occurs twice, one of these particles attaches itself to a finite verb and the other to a participle or infinitive ; as, ὄρῶντες άν ἐχρήσαντο άν "If they had seen they would have used." Many cases occur, however, where this explanation will not answer, and where the second or repeated άν must be regarded as brought in merely to indicate more plainly the idea of uncertainty intended to be expressed. Thus, ἀλλὰ κἀν εὔξαιντο άν γε-νέσθαι "But they might, perhaps, have wished it to happen."

ΑΡΑ.

1. The primary power of ἀρα is that of deducing consequences from premises, and hence it has usually the signification of "therefore." It is regularly employed, therefore, in the conclusion of syllogisms ; as, εἰ γάρ εἰσι βωμοί, εἰσὶ καὶ θεοί· ἀλλὰ μὴν εἰσι βωμοί· εἰσὶν ἀρα καὶ θεοί. "For if there are altars, there are also gods. But there certainly are altars ; therefore there are gods too." When joined with εἰ, εἰ μὴ, or εάν, it signifies "if, then," "if, indeed," or, more probably, "consequently." Hence it serves for an emphatic asseveration, as if founded on an inference.

2. Different from this is the adverb ἀρα, which is an interrogative particle, like the Latin num or utrum. Thus, ἀρα κατάδηλον δ βοῦλομαι λέγειν ; "Is, then, what I wish to say evident ?" When a negative answer is expected, it has generally the particle μη attached to it. Thus, εάν δέ σου προσκατηγόρῃσω, διὰ διὰ τὸ ἡγασθαι αὐτοῦ, καὶ εὐνοϊκῶς ἔχεις πρὸς αὐτόν, ἀρα μὴ διαβάλλεσθαι δόξεις ὑπ' ἐμοῦ ; "But if I shall still farther allege against you, that, in consequence of your admiration of him, you feel also well disposed towards him, will you on that account think that you are slandered by me?" If we wish to express the Latin nonne, it is done by ἀρ' οἶ, and sometimes even by ἀρα alone.

3. The interrogative ἀρα is placed first in a clause or sentence; but the ἀρα first mentioned stands always after one or several words, and even at the close of a proposition.

TAP.

1. Τάρ, "for," never stands at the beginning of a proposition or clause, but, instead of it, καὶ γάρ is used at the beginning, like etenim in Latin. In Greek, the proposition of which that with γάρ assigns the cause is often omitted, inasmuch as it is easily understood, and is passed over by the speaker in the vivacity of discourse. Thus, in the answer so common in Plato, we have ἐστὶ γὰρ οὕτω, "(Certainly) for so it is." So it is often used in questions, because an additional member may always easily be supposed; as, for example, "I know," "I believe," "I cannot do it," &c. Thus, Hom. Od. 10, 501, ὦ Κίρκη, τίς γὰρ ταύτην ὁδὸν ἡγεμονεύσει; "Oh Circe (I cannot go thither), for who will guide me on this way?" By the frequency of this kind of interrogative use, it gradually lost its proper force, and came to be employed simply to strengthen a question, like the Latin nam in quisnam.

2. In such expressions as καὶ γάρ, ἀλλὰ γάρ, &c., the former particle indicates an omission of something, for which γάρ assigns a cause; and hence καὶ γάρ, when closely translated, means, "and (no wonder,) for," "and (this was natural,) for," &c. So in ἀλλὰ γάρ, we must say, when rendering literally, "but (this was impossible,) for," "but (this happened otherwise,) for," &c. The context will always, of course, suggest the proper ellipsis.

ΓΕ.

1. Γε, an enclitic particle, emphatically heightens the word which it follows above the rest of the clause, and thus strengthens the idea of the same. It is frequently joined to pronouns, particularly personal ones; as, ἐγώγε, "I, at least," "I, for my part." It is often, too, put in combination with other particles, from which it usually stands separated by one or more words; as, γε δὴ, "really," "certainly;" γέ τοι, "at least," "however."

2. Generally, also, γε is used in rejoinders and answers, either to confirm or restrict; and likewise in exhortations, to render them more impressive. But in English it often happens that the sense of γε, in its various combinations, can only be indicated by heightening the tone of the word to which it refers.

ΔΕ.

1. The particle δέ is always placed after one or more words in a clause, and properly signifies "but," both as distinguishing and opposing. Very often, however, it serves to mark a transition from one proposition to another; and, generally speaking, every proposition which has no other conjunction at its commencement takes this δέ, whether it be really opposed to the preceding or not, particularly in enumerations. In such cases, therefore, it generally remains untranslated in English. In the ancient form of the language, especially in Homer, it often stands for "and;" and it is also used on some occasions, in the old poets, to explain what goes before, in which cases it answers to γάρ, "for."

2. The principal use of δέ, however, is its opposition to μέν. The opposition in which one member of a sentence stands to another can be stronger or slighter. The Greeks in both cases use μέν and δέ for connexion; but in English we can only employ the particles "indeed" and "but" to designate the stronger opposition; and hence we are often deficient in definite expressions for the Greek μέν and δέ, which we then translate sometimes by "and," "also;" sometimes by "partly—partly," "as well—as also," &c.

3. When μέν is put in the first member of a sentence, the thought necessarily turns to an opposite member with δέ. Several cases nevertheless occur where, with μέν preceding, the expected δέ does not actually occur. Namely, either (1.) the antithesis to the member formed with μέν expressly exists, but declares itself so clearly by the position and subject that δέ can be omitted. This is chiefly the case when temporal and local adverbs are used, which stand in a natural opposition between themselves; as, ἐνταῦθα and ἐκεῖ, πρῶτον and ἐπειτα, &c. Or (2.) the antithesis lies only in the mind, but is not expressly assigned in the discourse. This is chiefly the case when personal and demonstrative pronouns are used at the beginning of a proposition, in combination with μέν; as, ἐγὼ μὲν προήρημαι, "I have formed the resolution" (another probably not). Καὶ ταῦτα μὲν ὧς τοιαῦτα, "These things are so circumstanced" (but others differently). Or (3.) the antithesis is indicated by another particle; as, ἀλλὰ, ἀντάρ, αὐτε, &c.

1. The primary use of ἢ is disjunctive, and its sense is "or." Next to its disjunctive use is that connected with doubt or deliberation, where it has the meaning of "whether—or;" as, μερμήριξεν ἢ οὐκ Ἀρτεΐδῳ ἐναρίξοι, ἢ δὲ χόλον παύσειεν. "He pondered whether he should slay Atreides or calm his wrath."

οὐρανόνδε	} to heaven.
οὐρανόσε
Θήβαζε	to Thebes.
Αθήναζε	to Athens.

4. Adverbs are also formed from substantives by annexing the syllables δόν and ιστί, and those thus produced express comparison; as, βοτρυδόν, "cluster-wise;" κυνηδόν, "after the manner of dogs;" Ἑλληνιστί, "after the manner of the Greeks;" ἀνδριστί, "after the manner of men."

5. Adverbs derived from substantives sometimes end in άδην, and then denote that something takes place by the application of the idea which is contained in the substantive; as, λογάδην (from λόγος), "by selection;" ἀμβολάδην (from ἀναβολή), "by delay."

6. Adverbs are also formed from verbs, and have the termination in δην, which termination is annexed immediately to the root. A preceding soft or aspirate, however, must change at the same time into the corresponding middle letter. Thus we have κρύδην, from κρύπτω (root κρυβ), "secretly;" πλέγδην, from πλέκω (root πλεκ), "in a twisted manner or form;" συλλήδην, from συλλαμβάνω (root συλληβ), "taken together."

7. Lastly, from some prepositions, also, adverbs are formed, which serve to denote place, and which all terminate in ω; as, ἄνω (from ἀνά), "above;" κάτω, "below;" ἔξω, "without;" εἰσω, "within;" πρόσω, "onward." This ω belongs also to some other adverbs; as, ἄφνω, "suddenly;" οὕτω, "thus;" ὀπίσω, "behind;" πρόρω, "far."

8. Besides these there are yet many adverbs whose derivation does not admit of being accurately pointed out, and which are partly obsolete adjective forms; as, πλησίον, "near;" σήμερον, "to-day;" αὔριον, "to-morrow;" ἀγχοῦ,

"near;" ὁμοῦ, "at the same time;" εἰκῇ, "in vain;" δίχῃ, "in a twofold manner;" and partly genuine adverbs, with the terminations α, ας, ι, ει, οι, ου, τε; as, κάρτα, "very;" πέλας, "near;" μεγαλωσί, "greatly;" ἐκεῖ, "there;" ποῖ, "whither;" πότε, "when," &c.

9. Under the head of adverbial particles, the α (before a vowel αν) must be especially noticed. It is of three kinds: 1. α privative, which carries with it the force of a negation; as, ἄσοφος, "unwise;" ἄνυδρος, "without water;" 2. α intensive, which strengthens the meaning; as, ἄξυλος, "much wooded;" 3. α denoting union; as, ἄλοχος, "a consort."

10. The following also occur frequently in the poets, and denote increase, &c.

αρι;	as,	ἀριδῆλος,	very conspicuous.
βου;	"	βούβρωστις,	voracious.
βρι;	"	βριήπνος,	shouting aloud.
δα;	"	δάσκιος,	thickly shaded.
ερι;	"	ἐριθρεμής,	loud roaring.
ζα;	"	ζάκοτος,	furious.
λα;	"	λάμαχος,	valiant.
λι;	"	λιλαίωμαι,	I desire earnestly.

NEGATIVE PARTICLES.

1. There are in Greek two simple negative particles, with which all other negations are compounded, οὐ and μή. The former of these becomes οὐκ before a vowel that has the soft breathing, and οὐχ before a vowel that is aspirated. The Attics, also, for greater emphasis, sometimes write οὐλί.

2. From these two negatives, οὐ and μή, are formed all the other modes of negation in Greek; such as οὐδέ, οὔτε, οὐδεῖς, οὔποτε, οὐπώποτε, οὐδαμῶς, οὐδαμοῦ, μηδέ, μήτε, μηδεῖς, &c.

3. Although the English language possesses only one expression for both of these particles, yet between the use of οὐ and μή in Greek, a definite and important distinction obtains.

4. In general, this distinction is correctly designated by saying that οὐ denies positively and directly, but that μή, on the contrary, denies conditionally or prohibitively. Hence οὐ is used to deny a thing itself; μή, on the contrary, to deny the supposition of a thing.

5. Hereupon is founded the following general rule: οὐ stands as a negative particle in an independent proposition, and in all cases, likewise, where an idea is negated in and by itself: μή, on the contrary, denies in conditional propositions, whether they appear as really dependant, or the dependance lies merely in the imagination, as in conditional and assumed cases.

6. The following remarks will lead to a right application of this rule in single cases.

1. A whole and independent proposition, whether pronounced as an absolute assertion or as an opinion and view, or as a question, can be negated only by the particle οὐ. Thus, οὐκ ἀγαθὸν ἡ πολυκοιρανία, "The government of the many is not a good thing." Οὐκ ἂν ἀγαπῶν καλεῖσθαι ἀπιστος, "I would not like to be called faithless." Τί γὰρ οὐ πάρεστιν; "Why, then, is he not present?"

2. Μή, on the contrary, appears as a negation after all particles expressing condition, supposition, and intention; as, εἰ μὴ ὀρθῶς λέγω, σὸν ἔργον ἐλέγχειν, "If I do not speak correctly, it is your part to prove it."

3. Μή is used after relatives, and with participles when these likewise express a condition; as, τίς δὲ δοῦναι δύναται ἑτέρῳ ἢ μὴ αὐτὸς ἔχει; "Who can give a thing to another, if he has it not himself?" Here ἢ οὐκ αὐτὸς ἔχει would mean, "that which he has not himself." So, also, ὁ μὴ πιστεύων, "If a person does not believe." But ὁ οὐ πιστεύων, "One who does not believe."

4. Μὴ is used with infinitives, whether they be dependant upon a verb or accompanied by the article ; as, ἀνάγκη τοῦτο μὴ ποιεῖν, "It is necessary not to do this." Τὸ μὴ πεισθῆναι μοι αἰτιόν σοι τῶν κακῶν, "Your not being persuaded by me is to you the source of these evils."

5. Μὴ always stands with the imperative, as also with the subjunctive when it is used instead of the imperative, and with the optative when it indicates a wish ; as, μὴ πράττε τοῦτο, "Do not do this ;" μὴ τοῦτο δράσῃς ; and again, μὴ τοῦτο γένοιτο, "May this never be."

6. Every purpose implies a conception in the mind of some one or other, and therefore μὴ, not οὐ, follows ἵνα, ὅπως, ὅρα ; as, Σόλων ἀπεδήμησε ἕτεα δέκα ἵνα δὴ μὴ τινα τῶν νόμων ἀναγκασθῇ λύσαι, τῶν ἔθετο : "Solon absented himself from home for the space of ten years, in order that he may not be compelled to rescind any one of the laws which he had enacted."

7. Two negatives generally strengthen the negation, and do not destroy each other, as in Latin.

8. This rule may be expressed more fully as follows : When to a sentence already made negative, other qualifications of a more general kind are to be added, such as sometimes, some one, somewhere, &c., these are all commonly subjoined in the form of words compounded with the same negative particles ; as, οὐκ ἐποίησε τοῦτο οὐδαμῶς οὐδεὶς, "No one anywhere did this." And in the same manner, to the negation of the whole is subjoined the negation of the parts ; as, οὐ δύναται οὗτ' εὖ λέγειν, οὗτ' εὖ ποιεῖν τοὺς φίλους, "He can neither speak well of, nor do good to, his friends."

9. In some phrases both the particles οὐ and μή are united; as, οὐ μή and μή οὐ. In this combination, as in all other cases, οὐ denies objectively and μή subjectively. Hence οὐ μή implies the idea of no apprehension being entertained that a thing will take place; μή οὐ, on the contrary, the idea of an apprehension being entertained that a thing will not take place. Hence are derived the following observations :

1. Οὐ μή is an intensive and emphatical negation, and indicates the imagination of a thing which should not and must not take place; as, οὐ μή δυσμενῆς ἔσθι φίλοις, "That thou wilt not (I expect) be ill-inclined towards thy friends;" that is, "be not ill-inclined towards thy friends." And again, ἀλλ' οὐποτ' ἐξ ἐμοῦ γε μή μάθῃς τόδε, "Yet never (must thou expect) that thou wouldst learn this from me;" that is, "yet never shouldst thou learn this from me."
2. Μή οὐ, in dependant propositions, when the verb of the principal proposition is either accompanied by a negation or contains a negative idea in itself, destroy each other, and are often to be translated by "that." Thus, οὐκ ἀρνοῦμαι μή οὐ γενέσθαι, "I do not deny that it has taken place;" and again, πείθομαι γὰρ οὐ τοσούτον οὐδὲν ὥστε μή οὐ καλῶς θανεῖν, "For I am persuaded that there will nothing happen to me so bad but that I shall die nobly."
3. In independent propositions, on the contrary, μή οὐ is used in combination with the subjunctive to express negative assertions with less positiveness and strength, and is to be translated by "indeed not," "perhaps not," and explained by the addition of an omitted verb, as ὅρα, or the like. Thus, ἀλλὰ μή οὐκ ἢ διδακτὸν ἢ ἀρετή, "But virtue may, perhaps, be a thing not to be taught." Literally, "But see whether virtue may not be," &c., the verb ὅρα being supplied.

10. Besides the case of $\mu\eta\ \acute{o}\nu$ mentioned above, two negatives also destroy each other when they belong to different verbs; as, $\acute{o}\nu\delta\acute{\epsilon}\nu\ \acute{\epsilon}\sigma\tau\iota\nu\ \acute{\omicron}\tau\iota\ \acute{o}\nu\kappa\ \acute{\upsilon}\pi\acute{\epsilon}\sigma\chi\epsilon\tau\omicron$, "He promised everything;" literally, "There is nothing that he did not promise."

11. As compounded with the negation $\acute{o}\nu\kappa$, the particle $\acute{o}\nu\kappa\omicron\nu\nu$ may also find a place here. This particle, used by the Greeks both in questions and in direct propositions, admits of different translations, and is also differently accented, being sometimes written $\acute{o}\nu\kappa\omicron\upsilon\nu$ and sometimes $\acute{o}\nu\kappa\omicron\nu\nu$. The following is to be remarked as essential concerning it.

1. In interrogative propositions, when the particle signifies not therefore? is it not so? not? it is always to be accented $\acute{o}\nu\kappa\omicron\nu\nu$, because $\acute{o}\nu\kappa$ must here be significantly and emphatically heightened. Thus, $\acute{o}\nu\kappa\omicron\nu\nu\ \gamma\acute{\epsilon}\lambda\omega\varsigma\ \acute{\eta}\delta\iota\sigma\tau\omicron\varsigma\ \acute{\epsilon}\iota\varsigma\ \acute{\epsilon}\chi\theta\rho\omicron\upsilon\varsigma\ \gamma\acute{\epsilon}\lambda\alpha\iota\nu$; "Is it not, then, the sweetest laughter to laugh at one's enemies?"
2. In direct propositions $\acute{o}\nu\kappa\omicron\nu\nu$ is either to be translated "therefore not," "yet not," or else it stands at the beginning of the proposition as a mere emphatical expression for the simple $\acute{o}\nu$, and is to be translated by "therefore," "consequently;" as, $\sigma\acute{\upsilon}\ \tau\omicron\upsilon\tau\omicron\ \acute{\epsilon}\pi\omicron\iota\eta\sigma\alpha\varsigma$, $\acute{o}\nu\kappa\omicron\nu\nu\ \acute{\epsilon}\gamma\omega\gamma\epsilon$, "thou hast done this, therefore not I." In this case the accentuation is generally given as $\acute{o}\nu\kappa\omicron\upsilon\nu$. Strictly considered, however, the idea of negation does not vanish in $\acute{o}\nu\kappa\omicron\nu\nu$ even where it is to be translated by therefore, but the particle is there, also, properly an interrogative one. Thus the following sentence, $\acute{o}\nu\kappa\omicron\upsilon\nu$, $\acute{\omicron}\tau\alpha\nu\ \delta\acute{\eta}\ \mu\eta\ \sigma\theta\acute{\epsilon}\nu\omega$, $\pi\epsilon\pi\acute{\alpha}\upsilon\sigma\sigma\omicron\mu\alpha\iota$, "Therefore, when I am unable, I shall desist," is equivalent to "Is it not so? when I am unable, I shall desist?"

CONJUNCTIONS, &c.

ΑΑΑΑ.

1. 'Αλλά is an adversative conjunction, and answers generally to the English "but." From this meaning arise others, however, such as, "well, then," "therefore," in which case ἀλλά is generally elliptical. Thus, ἀλλ' ἴσθι, ὅτι ἔξει τοῦθ' οὕτως: "Well, then, know that this will be so." Supply οὐκ ἀντιστήσω, or the like; "I will not oppose, but, on the contrary, know," &c. So, in the following passage of Xenophon, it occurs in four different senses, all of which may be traced by means of ellipses to the primitive meaning of "but." Ἀλλὰ μὰ Δι', ἔφη, οὐκ αὐτὸς ἔλκεσθαι πρὸς σε βούλομαι, ἀλλὰ σε πρὸς ἐμὲ πορεύεσθαι. "Ἀλλὰ πορεύεσθαι, ἔφη, μόνον ὑποδέχου. Ἀλλ' ὑποδέξομαι σε, ἔφη· ἐὰν μὴ τις φιλωτέρα σου ἐνδόν ᾖ. "Nay, indeed,' replied Socrates, 'I do not wish to be dragged unto you, but you to come to me.' 'Well, then,' said Theodota, 'I will come; do you only receive me.' 'Why, I will receive you,' replied Socrates, 'if there be not some one dearer than you withinin.'"

2. Ἀλλὰ γάρ. In this combination γάρ introduces a reason for the opposition, &c., expressed by ἀλλά. Thus, ἀλλὰ γὰρ Κρέοντα λεύσω, παύσω τοὺς παρεστῶτας λόγους. "But I will check what I am at present saying, for I see Creon." Sometimes, however, the reference is more latent, and a clause is to be supplied between ἀλλά and γάρ from what precedes. Thus, in Plato, Rep. 2, p. 336, we have, ἀλλὰ γὰρ ἐν ᾧδον δίκην δώσομεν, where we must repeat from the previous clause, οὐκ ἀζήμιοι ἀπαλλάξομεν. "But we shall not escape unharmed, for we shall render atonement in Hades." In many instances the reference in ἀλλὰ γάρ is to be supplied by some general remark, such as, "but this was not at all surprising, for;" "but this was impossible, for," &c.

3. Ἀλλ' οὖν γε. These particles are often joined together, inasmuch as, along with the opposition, a consequence of what has preceded is also expressed. Thus, ἀλλ' οὖν τοῦτόν γε τὸν χρόνον ἤττον ἀηδὴς ἔσομαι. "Yet (ἀλλά) I will, for this reason (οὖν), now at least (γε) be less disagreeable."

4. When joined with οὐδέ it strengthens the sense; as, ἀλλ' οὐδέ πειράσομαι, "Nay, I will not even try." Frequently, in this construction, οὐ μόνον οὐ is to be supplied in what precedes; as, in the present instance, we may say, "I will not only not do so, but I will not even try."

5. In ἀλλά τοι the particle τοι strengthens the force of ἀλλά; "but, indeed," "why, that, indeed," "why, as for that," &c. Thus, ἀλλ' ἡδύ τοι. "Why, that is a pleasant thing enough."

AN.

1. The particle άν, for which the epic writers use κέ or κέν, cannot well be expressed by any corresponding particle in English, but only gives to a sentence an air of uncertainty and mere possibility. It is employed, therefore, to modify or strengthen the subjunctive and optative; and is also employed with the indicative, in order to impart to it more or less of uncertainty.

2. This particle commonly stands after one or more words in a clause, and is thus distinguished from the άν which is formed by contraction from εάν. This latter particle άν usually begins a clause, and has the meaning of "if," &c. The Attic prose writers usually change it into ήν, the Attic poets always.

3. The particle εάν, "if," is compounded of the conditional εἰ and the άν mentioned in the first paragraph.

4. The άν first mentioned is frequently put twice, sometimes even thrice, in a clause or sentence. In some cases, where the άν occurs twice, one of these particles attaches itself to a finite verb and the other to a participle or infinitive; as, ὁρῶντες άν ἐχρήσαντο άν "If they had seen they would have used." Many cases occur, however, where this explanation will not answer, and where the second or repeated άν must be regarded as brought in merely to indicate more plainly the idea of uncertainty intended to be expressed. Thus, ἀλλὰ κὰν εὖξαιτο άν γενέσθαι: "But they might, perhaps, have wished it to happen."

ΑΡΑ.

1. The primary power of ἀρα is that of deducing consequences from premises, and hence it has usually the signification of "therefore." It is regularly employed, therefore, in the conclusion of syllogisms; as, εἰ γάρ εἰσι βωμοί, εἰσὶ καὶ θεοί: ἀλλὰ μὴν εἰσι βωμοί: εἰσὶν ἄρα καὶ θεοί. "For if there are altars, there are also gods. But there certainly are altars; therefore there are gods too." When joined with εἰ, εἰ μὴ, or εάν, it signifies "if, then," "if, indeed," or, more probably, "consequently." Hence it serves for an emphatic asseveration, as if founded on an inference.

2. Different from this is the adverb ἀρα, which is an interrogative particle, like the Latin num or utrum. Thus, ἄρα κατάδηλον δ βούλομαι λέγειν; "Is, then, what I wish to say evident?" When a negative answer is expected, it has generally the particle μη attached to it. Thus, εάν δέ σου προσκατηγόρησω, διὰ τὸ ἄγασθαι αὐτοῦ, καὶ εὐνοϊκῶς ἔχεις πρὸς αὐτόν, ἀρα μὴ διαβάλλεσθαι δόξεις ὑπ' ἐμοῦ; "But if I shall still farther allege against you, that, in consequence of your admiration of him, you feel also well disposed towards him, will you on that account think that you are slandered by me?" If we wish to express the Latin nonne, it is done by ἄρ' οὐ, and sometimes even by ἄρα alone.

3. The interrogative ἄρα is placed first in a clause or sentence; but the ἄρα first mentioned stands always after one or several words, and even at the close of a proposition.

TAP.

1. Γάρ, "for," never stands at the beginning of a proposition or clause, but, instead of it, καὶ γάρ is used at the beginning, like etenim in Latin. In Greek, the proposition of which that with γάρ assigns the cause is often omitted, inasmuch as it is easily understood, and is passed over by the speaker in the vivacity of discourse. Thus, in the answer so common in Plato, we have ἐστὶ γὰρ οὕτω, "(Certainly) for so it is." So it is often used in questions, because an additional member may always easily be supposed; as, for example, "I know," "I believe," "I cannot do it," &c. Thus, Hom. Od. 10, 501, ὦ Κίρκη, τίς γὰρ ταύτην ὁδὸν ἡγεμενέουσι; "Oh Circe (I cannot go thither), for who will guide me on this way?" By the frequency of this kind of interrogative use, it gradually lost its proper force, and came to be employed simply to strengthen a question, like the Latin nam in quisnam.

2. In such expressions as καὶ γάρ, ἀλλὰ γάρ, &c., the former particle indicates an omission of something, for which γάρ assigns a cause; and hence καὶ γάρ, when closely translated, means, "and (no wonder,) for," "and (this was natural,) for," &c. So in ἀλλὰ γάρ, we must say, when rendering literally, "but (this was impossible,) for," "but (this happened otherwise,) for," &c. The context will always, of course, suggest the proper ellipsis.

TE.

1. Τε, an enclitic particle, emphatically heightens the word which it follows above the rest of the clause, and thus strengthens the idea of the same. It is frequently joined to pronouns, particularly personal ones; as, ἐγώ τε, "I, at least," "I, for my part." It is often, too, put in combination with other particles, from which it usually stands separated by one or more words; as, γε δὲ, "really," "certainly;" γέ τοι, "at least," "however."

2. Generally, also, γε is used in rejoinders and answers, either to confirm or restrict; and likewise in exhortations, to render them more impressive. But in English it often happens that the sense of γε, in its various combinations, can only be indicated by heightening the tone of the word to which it refers.

ΔΕ.

1. The particle δέ is always placed after one or more words in a clause, and properly signifies "but," both as distinguishing and opposing. Very often, however, it serves to mark a transition from one proposition to another; and, generally speaking, every proposition which has no other conjunction at its commencement takes this δέ, whether it be really opposed to the preceding or not, particularly in enumerations. In such cases, therefore, it generally remains untranslated in English. In the ancient form of the language, especially in Homer, it often stands for "and;" and it is also used on some occasions, in the old poets, to explain what goes before, in which cases it answers to γάρ, "for."

2. The principal use of δέ, however, is its opposition to μέν. The opposition in which one member of a sentence stands to another can be stronger or slighter. The Greeks in both cases use μέν and δέ for connexion; but in English we can only employ the particles "indeed" and "but" to designate the stronger opposition; and hence we are often deficient in definite expressions for the Greek μέν and δέ, which we then translate sometimes by "and," "also;" sometimes by "partly—partly," "as well—as also," &c.

3. When μέν is put in the first member of a sentence, the thought necessarily turns to an opposite member with δέ. Several cases nevertheless occur where, with μέν preceding, the expected δέ does not actually occur. Namely, either (1.) the antithesis to the member formed with μέν expressly exists, but declares itself so clearly by the position and subject that δέ can be omitted. This is chiefly the case when temporal and local adverbs are used, which stand in a natural opposition between themselves; as, ἐν ταῦθα and ἐκεῖ, πρῶτον and ἔπειτα, &c. Or (2.) the antithesis lies only in the mind, but is not expressly assigned in the discourse. This is chiefly the case when personal and demonstrative pronouns are used at the beginning of a proposition, in combination with μέν; as, ἐγὼ μὲν προήρημαι, "I have formed the resolution" (another probably not). Καὶ ταῦτα μὲν ὧς τοιαῦτα, "These things are so circumstanced" (but others differently). Or (3.) the antithesis is indicated by another particle; as, ἀλλὰ, ἀντάρ, αὐτε, &c.

Η.

1. The primary use of ἥ is disjunctive, and its sense is "or." Next to its disjunctive use is that connected with doubt or deliberation, where it has the meaning of "whether—or;" as, μερμήριζεν ἥ οὐκ Ἀρτεΐδῳ ἐναρίξοι, ἥ δὲ χόλον παύσειεν. "He pondered whether he should slay Atreides or calm his wrath."

2. The particle ἤ is also frequently used in a question, when a preceding and indefinite question is made more definite; as, τίς οὖν μοι ἀποκρίνεται; ἢ ὁ νεώτατος; "Who, then, will answer me? the youngest?" Even in its interrogative sense, however, this particle still retains, in fact, its disjunctive meaning, as will be apparent if we supply as an ellipse before it, "Am I wrong in my conjecture?" Thus, in the passage just quoted, we may say, "Am I wrong in my surmise, or is it the youngest?"

H.

1. The primary and true sense of ἦ is that of affirmation. It is explained, therefore, by ὁντως, ἀληθῶς, "in reality," "in truth." Its affirmation, however, affects whole sentences or propositions; as, ἦ μέγα θαῦμα τόδ' ὀφθαλμοῖσιν ὁρᾶμαι. "Assuredly, I see in this a great wonder for the eyes."

2. In the combination ἦ γάρ it is remarkable that the former particle affects the latter. This happens because γάρ is always a subjunctive particle; and thus ἦ is confirmatory of the causal signification of γάρ; as in Priam's words (Il. 22, 532), where, after giving orders to keep the city gates open for the reception of his routed forces, he adds the reason, ἦ γάρ Ἀχιλλεύς ἐγγὺς ὅδε κλονέων "for see, too surely is Achilles near throwing all things into confusion." So Calchas (Il. 1, 78) gives a reason for bespeaking the protection of Achilles; ἦ γάρ ὀδομαι ἄνδρα χολωσέμεν, κ. τ. λ. "for I assuredly do think that I will make that man angry," &c.

3. In the combination ἦ πού the particle ἦ is affirmative and πού conjectural, and hence the two, when combined, express a degree of probability bordering on certainty. They do not however, coalesce into one word, for, if they did, ἦ would have the acute accent. We must render ἦ πού by "in all probability," "doubtless," "unless I am very much mistaken," &c.

KAI.

1. As particles for uniting together the members of a proposition, the Greeks make use of καί and the enclitic τε, the use and distinction of which are pointed out in the following observations:

2. Καί and τε serve for the simple union both of single ideas and of entire parts of a sentence. The connexion by τε is more usual in the elder and poetic language than in Attic prose, and generally this particle is not merely put once between the two ideas to be connected, but joined to each of the connected parts; as, πατήρ ἀνδρῶν τε θεῶν τε, "the father of both gods and men." This connexion by τε—τε occurs with Attic prose writers only in the union of strongly opposed ideas ; as, φέρειν χρῆ τὰ τε δαιμόνια ἀναγκαίως τὰ τε ἀπὸ τῶν πολεμίων ἀνδρείως. "We must bear the dispensations of the gods as a matter of necessity, and the inflictions of our foes with a spirit of manly resistance." With Homer, however, frequently, and with the Attic poets rarely, τε—τε are used in the union of kindred ideas. If more than two ideas are connected, Homer proceeds with the repetition of τε ; as, in Il. 1, 177, αἰεὶ γάρ τοι ἔρις τε φίλη, πόλεμοι τε, μάχαι τε ; or, after having several times repeated τε, then uses καί ; as, Od. 3, 413, seq., Ἐχέφρων τε, Στράτιός τε, Περσεύς τ', Ἀρητὸς τε, καὶ ἀντίθεος Θρασυμήδης ; or interchangeably τε, καί, τε.

3. The particles τε καί connect more closely than the simple καί, and are chiefly used when ideas are to be represented as united in one supposition. Hence this kind of combination is also chiefly used, when opposite ideas are to be assigned as closely connected ; as, χρηστοί τε καὶ πονηροί.—ἀγαθὰ τε καὶ κακά. For this reason we say ἄλλως τε καί (both in other respects and also), "particularly also," "especially," because ἄλλως already expresses a natural and strong antithesis to that which follows.

4. The combination καί—καί, "as well—as," "both—and," can only be adopted when the combined ideas are of different kinds, but never in those which are perfectly homogeneous. Hence several substantives can always be connected by καί—καί ; as, ἀπέκτειναν καὶ παῖδας καὶ γυναικᾶς. But, in the case of adjectives, only those which contain nothing homogeneous in their idea ; as, ἀνθρώπους εὐρήσεις καὶ ἀγαθοὺς, καὶ κακοὺς, or καὶ πένητας καὶ πλουσίους, and the like ; not πόλις καὶ μεγάλη καὶ πολυάνθρωπος, but μεγὰλὴ τε καὶ πολυάνθρωπος.

ΠΕΡ.

Περ is an enclitic, and in signification closely allied to γε. It denotes, conformably to its derivation from περί, comprehension or inclusion, and hence, like γε, it is employed to strengthen single ideas. It very frequently enters into combination with relative pronouns, as also with temporal, causal, and conditional particles, to confirm their signification. The sense of this particle is generally, as in the case of γε, indicated in English merely by a stronger intonation of the word, although it may frequently also be translated by "very," "ever." In combination with a participle we often translate it by "although" or "how much soever." Thus, λέγει, ἅπερ λέγει, δίκαια πάντα, "he says all, whatever he does say, justly ;" μήτε σὺ τόνδ', ἀγαθὸς περ ἔων, ἀποαίρεο κόρυνην, "Nor do thou, excellent though thou art, deprive him of the virgin ;" i. e., be thou never so excellent, however excellent thou art ; εὐθὺς πορεύεται πρὸς

Κῶρον ἤπερ εἶχεν, "He proceeds straightway unto Cyrus, just as he was."

ΠΩΣ.

1. The particle πῶς, when circumflexed, is interrogative, and signifies "how?" The combination πῶς γάρ is employed as an emphatic negative, "not at all." Thus, πῶς γάρ ποιήσω, "I will not do it at all," literally, "for how shall I do it?" In the same way καὶ πῶς is used; as, καὶ πῶς σιωπῶ; "I cannot be silent," literally, "and how am I to be silent?"

2. As an enclitic, πως signifies "somehow," "in some degree," &c.; as, ἄλλως πως, "in some other way;" ὥδε πως, "somehow thus," &c.

ὍΣ.

1. The particle ὡς is sometimes used for ἵνα, to denote a purpose; as, ὡς δείξωμεν, "in order that we may show." Occasionally, as in the case of ἵνα, the word is omitted, the purpose of which is to be expressed; as, ὡς δ' ἀληθῆ λέγω, κάλει μοι τοὺς μάρτυρας. "But that thou mayst see that I speak the truth, call for me the witnesses."

2. It is also used for ὅτι, with the meaning of "that;" as, λέγοντες, ὡς ἐκεῖνός γε οὐ πολεμεῖ τῇ πόλει. "Saying, that he does not make war upon the city."

3. It is also used with the meaning of "as," which is its more ordinary acceptation. Sometimes the tragic writers repeat the word that precedes ὡς when signifying "as," and this is done when the speaker, from unpleasant recollections, does not choose to be more precise. Thus, δλωλεν ὡς δλωλεν, "He has perished as he has perished;" i. e., he has perished; no matter how.

4. With the acute accent, it is used in the sense of οὕτως, and then stands at the beginning of propositions. This usage is very frequent in Homer; as, ὡς εἰπὼν. We must be careful, however, not to confound ὡς for οὕτως, with ὡς changed to ὥς because followed by an enclitic, nor with ὥς placed after a word on which it depends, and receiving in consequence the tone or accent; as, θεὸς ὥς, "as a god."

5. It is often used in exclamations, with the signification of "how;" as, ὡς σε μακαρίζομεν! "How happy we deem you!" βροτοῖς ἔρωτες ὡς κακὸν μέγα! "How great an evil is love to mortals!" On this is founded the use of ὡς with optatives, in the sense of the Latin utinam, "I wish;" as, ὡς μ' ἔφελ' Ἑκτωρ κτεῖναι! "Would that Hector had slain me!" literally, "how Hector ought to have slain me!"

6. It is put, like ὅτι, before superlative adjectives and adverbs, and strengthens the meaning as, ὡς τάχιστα, "as quickly as possible."

7. In many cases ὥς came to be regarded as nothing more than a mere strengthening particle, and hence we have the idioms, ὥς ἀληθῶς, "truly;" ὥς ἀτεχνῶς, "entirely," &c.

8. It is often used in limiting propositions with the infinitive; as, ὥς εἰκασαι, "as far as one may conjecture;" ὥς ἔμοιγε δοκεῖν, "as far as appears to me at least;" ὥς εἰκασαι, "as far as one may conjecture;" ὥς εἰπεῖν, "so to speak."

9. It is frequently found in this same sense with prepositions following; as, ὥς ἐκ' ὀφθαλμῶν, "to judge by the eye;" ὥς ἐπὶ τὸ πολὺ, "for the most part." Hence it is often used in comparisons; as, ἀπιστον τὸ πλῆθος λέγεται ἀπολείσθαι, ὥς πρὸς τὸ μέγεθος τῆς πόλεως. "An incredible number are said to have perished, in proportion to the size of the city."

10. It is elegantly joined to participles in the genitive absolute, and the participle must then be rendered, in English, by a tense of the verb; as, ὥς ταύτης τῆς χώρας ἐχυρωτάτης οὐσης. "Because this place was the most secure." Sometimes, also, it is connected with the accusative or dative of the participle. In these constructions with the participle, whether in the genitive, dative, or accusative, it has the force of as, since, because, inasmuch as, as if, &c.

11. It also has the meaning of "when," as a particle of past time; as, ὥς δὲ ἦλθε, "but when he came." And sometimes, also, the force of "while."

12. With numerals it signifies "about;" as, ὥς τεσσαράκοντα, "about forty;" ὥς τρία ἢ τέτταρα στάδια, "about three or four stadia."

13. It is sometimes put, especially by Attic writers, instead of the preposition εἰς, πρὸς, or ἐπὶ. In truth, however, the preposition in such instances must always be regarded as understood, while ὥς retains in translation nothing of its original meaning. It must be remarked, however, that ὥς, when put for εἰς, πρὸς, or ἐπὶ, is generally found with persons, and seldom with inanimate things. The primitive meaning of ὥς πρὸς, ὥς εἰς, &c., is "as towards," "as to," and the particle serves to indicate that the preposition must not be taken in a strict and definite sense. Hence, when ὥς alone appears, with the preposition understood, it always implies that the approach is made with some degree of timidity or reverence. Thus, ὥς τοὺς θεοὺς, "unto the gods;" ὥς τὸν βασιλέα, "to the king." In this lies the reason why ὥς is seldom ever construed in this way with the names of places or things, but generally with animate objects.

PREPOSITIONS.

I. Prepositions, in Greek, govern the genitive, dative, or accusative. Some govern only one case, others two cases and others, again, three ; as follows :

GENITIVE ONLY.

'Αντί, 'Από, 'Εκ or 'Εξ, and Πρό.

DATIVE ONLY.

'Εν and Σύν.

ACCUSATIVE ONLY.

Εἰς or 'Ες.

GENITIVE AND ACCUSATIVE.

Διά, Κατά, and 'Υπέρ.

DATIVE AND ACCUSATIVE.

'Ανά.

GENITIVE, DATIVE, AND ACCUSATIVE.

'Αμφί, 'Επί, Μετά, Παρά, Περὶ, Πρός, 'Υπό.

II. We will now proceed to illustrate by examples the force of each, arranging them according to the cases which they respectively govern.

I. Prepositions governing the

GENITIVE.

1. The fundamental idea of the genitive is that of separation or abstraction, of going forth, from, or out of anything.

2. The prepositions, therefore, that are combined with the genitive, carry with them the general meaning of proceeding from something ; though, strictly speaking, the ideas of, out of, and from, lie primarily in the genitive case itself.

Ἀντί.

1. The primitive meaning of this preposition was "against," "contrary to." It has lost, however, its original signification, except in the case of compounds; as, ἀντιτάττειν, "to place over against;" ἀντιλέγειν, "to contradict."

2. The secondary meanings of ἀντί, deducible from the primitive meaning, are "instead of," "for," and refer to the relations of exchange, purchase, value, &c., where the objects referred to are supposed to be set opposite or over against each other, and their respective value thus estimated. Hence we have the following examples: δοῦλος ἀντί βασιλέως, "a slave instead of a king;" ἀνθ' ὧν, "for which reasons" (on which account).

Ἀπό.

1. The leading meaning of this preposition is "from," and it has reference either to place, time, or the assigning of the origin or cause of a thing. I. The relation of place; as, ἀπὸ χθονός, "from the ground;" ἀφ' ἵππων, "from on horseback." II. The relation of time; as, γενέσθαι ἀπὸ δείπνου, "to have done supper" (to be from supper); πίνειν ἀπὸ τοῦ αἵνιου, "to drink just after eating" (to drink from eating). III. The assigning of the origin or cause; as, ἀπὸ δικαιοσύνης, "from a love of justice;" πέφνεν ἀπ' ἀργυρέοιο βιοῖο, "he slew him by means of a silver bow;" οἱ ἀπὸ τῆς στοῦς, "the Stoics" (the philosophers from the porch); οἱ ἀπὸ Πλάτωνος, "the Platonics," &c.

2. It must be borne in mind, that, when ἀπό refers to place, it denotes the place at or near which any one was; whereas the place within is expressed by ἐκ.

Ἐκ or Ἐξ.

1. Ἐκ (before a vowel ἐξ) has for its leading signification "out of," "from," and serves to indicate a choice out of several objects, or to denote a whole consisting of many parts. It may be viewed, like ἀπό, under the three relations of place, time, and the assigning of origin and cause. I. The relation of place; as, ἐκ τῆς πόλεως, "out of the city," which presupposes that one has been in the city, whereas ἀπὸ τῆς πόλεως merely implies that one has been near the city. II. The relation of time; as, ἐκ τίνος χρόνου, "since a certain time;" ἐξ οὗ, "since" (supply χρόνου). III. The origin or cause; as, τὰ ἐκ πατρὸς προσταθέντα, "the things commanded by a father;" ἐξ ἐμέο, "through me" (by my means or authority).

2. The following examples, falling under some one or other of the three relations to which we have just referred, deserve to be noticed: ἐκ θαλάττης, "on the side towards the sea;" ἐξ ἑω, "at dawn;" ἐξ ἡμέρας, "since it became day;" ἐκ τῶν ζωστήρων φορεῖν φιάλας, "to carry cups suspended to the girdles" (the point of suspension commencing with or arising out of the girdles); ἐκ τοῦ ποδὸς κρεμάσαι τινά, "to hang one by the foot;" ἐκ σκῆπτρων ὁδοιπορεῖν, "to travel by means of staves;" λαμβάνειν ἵππον ἐκ τῆς οὐρᾶς, "to take a horse by the tail;" γελάειν ἐκ τῶν πρόσθεν δακρύων, "to laugh after tears;" ἐκ τοῦ ἐμφανοῦς, "openly;" ἐκ τοῦ ἀφανοῦς, "unawares;" ἐξ ἀπροσδοκῆτον, "unexpectedly."

Πρό.

1. The primitive meaning of πρό is "before," and it may be considered under the three relations of place, time, and preference. I. The relation of place; as, πρὸ ἄλλων, "before others;" πρὸ πόλεως, "before the city." II. The relation of time; as, ταῦτα πρὸ τῆς Πεισιστράτου ἡλικίας ἐγένετο. "These things happened before Peisistratus came of age." III. The relation of preference; as, οὐδεὶς οὕτως ἀνόητός ἐστιν, ὅστις πόλεμον πρὸ εἰρήνης αἰρεῖται, "No one is so foolish as to prefer war to peace" (literally, "who makes choice to himself of war before peace); πρὸ πολλοῦ ποιεῖσθαι, "to value highly" (to value before much), &c.

2. Hence arise the following examples: μάχεσθαι πρὸ τινος, "to fight for one," because he who fights for one places himself before him. So ναυμαχεῖν πρὸ τῆς Πελοποννήσου, "to fight a naval battle for the Peloponnesus;" ἀθλεῖν πρὸ ἀνακτος ἀμειλίχου, "to toil on account of a cruel king."

II. Prepositions governing the DATIVE.

1. The fundamental idea of the dative is directly opposed to that of the genitive, since in the dative the idea of approach lies at the basis; or, in other words, it serves to indicate the more remote object.

2. This general idea of approach branches off into the kindred ideas, 1. of union or coming together; 2. of likeness; 3. of advantage or disadvantage.

3. The dative also denotes, as consequences of the same general idea, 1. the instrument or means for effecting anything ; 2. the manner ; 3. the cause ; 4. a particular or definite time.

Ἐν.

The primary meaning of this preposition is "in," as indicative of place ; as, ἐν ταῖς Ἀθήναις, "in Athens ;" ἐν Ῥώμῃ, "in Rome." From this primary use in definitions of places, the following constructions are derived, which accord in part with the English or Latin idiom : I. To denote the person or thing on which, as its substratum, the action is performed ; as, ἐπιδείκνυσθαι ἐν τινί, "to show in the case of a certain one." II. Among several ; as, ἐν Ἀργείοις, "among the Argives ;" ἐν ἀθανάτοις, "among the immortals." III. ἐν φόβῳ εἶναι, "to be in fear ;" ἐν ὀργῇ εἶναι, "to be in a rage with any one ;" ἐν αἰσχύναις ἔχειν, "to be ashamed ;" ἐν ἐλαφρῷ ποιεῖσθαι, "to make light of." IV. Referring to clothing, array, &c. ; as, ἐν βινυῷ λέοντος, "in the skin of a lion ;" ἐν πέλταις, ἀκοντίοις, τόξοις διαγωνίζεσθαι, "to contend, equipped with shields, spears, bows ;" ἐν στεφάνοις, "adorned with chaplets." V. Denoting a means or cause on which something depends ; as, τὰ μὲν πρότερον πραχθέντα ἐν ἄλλαις πολλαῖς ἐπιστολαῖς ἴστε, "Ye know the things previously done through many other letters ;" ἐν νομοθέταις θέσθαι νόμον, "to enact a law by means of the nomotheta," &c.

Σύν.

1. The primary meaning of this preposition is "with," denoting accompaniment ; as, πότμῳ σὺν εὐδαίμονι, "with a happy lot ;" σὺν τινί εἶναι, "to be in company with any one ;" σὺν τοῖς Ἑλλησι μάλλον ἢ σὺν τῷ βαρβάρῳ εἶναι, "to be on the side of the Greeks rather than of the barbarian ;" σὺν τῷ σὺ ἀγαθῷ, "to thy advantage ;" σὺν τῷ Θεῷ, "with the assistance of the Deity."

2. Hence it also expresses a mean, which, as it were, accompanies the effect ; as, τοὶ καὶ σὺν μάχαις δις πόλιν Τρώων πᾶθον, "Who twice, by means of battles, sacked the city of the Trojans."

III. Preposition governing the

ACCUSATIVE.

1. The accusative denotes the immediate object upon which the action of a transitive verb is directed.

2. All prepositions connected with the accusative denote a direction or extension to some point, a stretching, reaching, finishing, completing. Hence they designate particular parts of the general relation expressed by the accusative, and are added to the same for greater perspicuity and distinctness.

Εἰς.

1. The primitive meaning of this preposition is "into;" as, εἰσῆλθον εἰς τὴν πόλιν, "they entered into the city." With this is connected the meaning of "to;" as, ἰκετεύειν εἰς τινα, "to come as a suppliant to any one."

2. With the verbs "to say," "to show," the reference or direction to the persons, to whom anything is said or shown, is sometimes considered as analogous to an actual motion, and this analogy is expressed by εἰς; as, οἱ πατέρες πολλὰ δὴ καὶ καλὰ ἔργα ἀπεφάναντο εἰς πάντας ἀνθρώπους. "Your fathers exhibited many and honourable deeds before all men." Hence it frequently signifies "with respect to," a general reference, which in English is often expressed by the more definite "on account of," "in consequence of;" as, φοβεῖσθαι εἰς τι, "to be alarmed on account of anything;" δυστυχεῖν εἰς τι, "to be unfortunate on any account;" λυδορεῖν τινα εἰς τι, "to blame one on any account."

3. The idea of a direction or relation lies also at the foundation of the following combinations; as, εἰς ἀπαλλαγὰς κάκων, "for a deliverance from evils;" ἔβησαν ἐς ἀνδρείον, "they displayed valour;" εἰς ταῦτόν ηἵκει; "to be in the same circumstances;" ἐς τοσοῦτον, "so far" or "so much," &c.

4. In definitions of time εἰς has several meanings. I. "Towards;" as, εἰς ἑσπέραν, "towards evening." II. Duration; as, εἰς ἐνιαυτόν, "for a year." III. A point of time; as, ἐς ἡῶ, "at dawn." It is joined also frequently with adverbs of time; as, εἰς ἅπας, "once;" εἰς ἀεί, "for ever," &c.

5. With numerals εἰς sometimes signifies "about;" as, ναὺς ἐς τὰς τετρακοσίας, "about four hundred vessels;" and sometimes it makes them distributive; as, εἰς δύο, "bini."

6. Frequently the noun which is governed by εἰς is understood, and it is then put with the genitive which is dependant upon that noun; as, εἰς Αἰγύπτιο (supply ῥόον); εἰς διδασκάλων (supply δάματα). This is especially the case with the names of deities; as, εἰς Ἀρτεμίδος, "to Diana's" (supply ἱερὸν). So in Latin, ventum est ad Cereris, scil. templum.

IV. Prepositions governing the

GENITIVE AND ACCUSATIVE.

Διά.

1. The primitive meaning of διά is "through." With the genitive this meaning may be considered under two relations: I. Of space and time; II. Of cause and means.

2. I. The relation of space and time; as, τὸ ἐγχος ἦλθε διὰ τοῦ θώρακος, "the spear went through the corslet;" δι' ὀλίγου εἶναι, "to be within a little distance of;" ποταμὸς διὰ πέντε σταδίων ἀναφανόμενος, "a river appearing five stadia off;" διὰ μακροῦ χρόνου, "after a long time;" δι' ἑνδεκάτου ἔτους, "eleven years after." But frequently, with ordinals, it expresses the recurrence of an action after a certain period of time; as, διὰ τρίτου ἔτους, "every third year;" δι' ἐνῆτου ἔτους, "every ninth year."

3. II. The relation of cause and means; as, δι' ἑαυτοῦ, "by his own means;" δι' ἀγγέλων λέγειν, "to announce by means of messengers;" διὰ τῶν ὀφθαλμῶν ὁρᾶν, "to see by means of the eyes," &c.

4. WITH THE ACCUSATIVE διά is again to be considered under two relations: I. The relation of place; II. The relation of cause.

5. I. The relation of place; as, διὰ πόντιον κύμα πορεύεσθαι, "to go through the ocean wave;" διὰ δώματα, "throughout the mansion." II. The relation of cause; as, διὰ τοῦτο, "on this account;" διὰ τοὺς εὖ μαχομένους κρίνονται αἱ μάχαι, "battles are decided by those who fight bravely."

Κατά.

1. The primitive meaning of this preposition denotes a downward direction towards an object. Hence we have, in the genitive, κατὰ σκοποῦ τοξεύειν, "to shoot at a mark," because the arrow, proceeding in a curve, descends to the mark; κατὰ κόρυς τύπτειν, "to strike at the head," i. e., down against. Hence is deduced the signification "with respect to," which frequently, however, may be rendered "against." Thus, κατὰ τινος εἰπεῖν, "to say something with respect to any one," or, if this be prejudicial, "to say something against one." So also ψεύδεσθαι κατὰ τοῦ Θεοῦ, "to say something falsely of the Deity," or "to speak falsely against the Deity." On the contrary, μέγιστον καθ' ὑμῶν ἐγκῶμον, "the greatest compliment paid you," literally, "with regard to you," "upon you."

2. Κατά is used, especially with the genitive, to denote motion from above downward, and then answers to the Latin de. Thus, βῆ δὲ κατ'

Οὐλύμποιο καρήνων, "he went down from the summits of Olympus;" κατ' ὀφθαλμῶν κέχυτ' ἄχλὺς, "darkness was poured down over his eyes;" κατ' ἄκρας, "from the top downward," speaking of the destruction of cities, whereas the Latins say "funditus delere." Hence κατὰ χειρὸς ὕδωρ διδόναι, "to pour water upon the hands;" κατὰ γῆς ἵέναι, "to go beneath the earth."

3. The following phrases are to be noticed: εὐχεσθαι κατὰ βόας, "to vow an ox;" εὐχεσθαι καθ' ἑκατόμβης, "to vow a hecatomb." In such constructions as these the idea is implied of a vow offered down upon (i. e., resting upon) something as its basis. In the following, καθ' ἑρῶν ὀμόσαι, "to swear by the victim," the reference is plainer, for the party is supposed, according to the Grecian custom, to touch the victim at the time of making the oath.

4. WITH THE ACCUSATIVE κατὰ chiefly indicates "as relates to," "according to." Thus, κατὰ τοῦ μαντήλιον ἀπόκρισιν, "as regards the answer of the oracle;" τὰ κατὰ Πανσανίαν καὶ Θεμιστοκλέα, "the things relating to Pausanias and Themistocles."

5. From this general meaning several others are deduced. Thus, "on account of;" as, κατὰ τὸ ἔχθος τὸ Λακεδαιμονίων, "on account of his hatred towards the Lacedæmonians," literally, "in accordance with." Hence it is often put with verbs of motion, in order to show the object of them; as, κατὰ λητὴν ἐκπλώσαντες, "having sailed out in quest of plunder," literally, "with reference to."

6. Κατὰ is also joined with the accusative to denote similitude, correspondence, suitableness, &c.; as, πατέρα τε καὶ μητέρα εὐρήσεις οὐ κατὰ Μιθραδάτην καὶ τὴν γυναῖκα αὐτοῦ, "You will find your father as well as mother very different people from Mithradates and his wife," literally, "not in accordance with." So also κατ' ἐμαυτόν, "of the same kind as myself;" οἱ καθ' ἡμῶς, "men of our station," "of our character," and also "our contemporaries." And again, with comparatives; as, μείζον, ἢ κατ' ἄνθρωπον, νοσεῖς, "You are labouring under a malady worse than man can bear."

7. Κατὰ is likewise joined with the accusative in definitions of place; as, κατὰ στρατόν, "in the army;" κατ' Ἀργος, "in Argos;" κατὰ γῆν, "by land;" κατὰ τὸν πλοῦν, "on the voyage;" κατὰ Φωκαίην πόλιν, "near the city of Phocæa." Hence in Hægner, χωόμενος κατὰ θυμόν, "enraged in soul."

8. It also appears in definitions of time; as, κατὰ τὸν πόλεμον, "at the time of (or during) the war;" κατὰ τὸν κατὰ Κροῖσον χρόνον, "in the time of Cræsus." Hence οἱ καθ' ἡμῶς, "our contemporaries," mentioned in § 6.

9 With numerals, κατὰ serves to express the same as the Latin distributives. Thus, καθ' ἓνα, "one by one," singly;" καθ' ἑπτα, "seven at a time;" and without numerals; as, κατὰ μῆνα, "every month;" κατ' ἐνιαυτὸν, "every year;" κατὰ πόλεις, "by cities;" κατὰ κώμας, "by villages," &c.

10. It is often with its case expressed by an adverb in English; as, κατὰ μοῖραν, "properly," "fitly;" κατὰ μικρόν, "gradually;" κατὰ κράτος, "vehemently," with all one's might; κατὰ πόδα, "quickly," "immediately," &c.

1. The primitive meaning of this preposition is "above," "over," "beyond." Thus, ὁ ἥλιος ὑπὲρ ἡμῶν καὶ τῶν στέγων πορευόμενος, "the sun moving above us and our dwellings;" ὑπὲρ πολλῶν, "beyond many." Hence also it is employed in speaking of the sites of towns and places on rivers or the sea, because they are higher than it; as, λιμὴν καὶ πόλιν ὑπὲρ αὐτοῦ, "a harbour, and a city upon it."

2. From the primitive meaning is deduced that of "for," "in behalf of," when a person is supposed to go, as it were, in front of or beyond another, and occupy a place which the latter would otherwise have been compelled to fill; and in this way to act for or in behalf of that one. Thus, θύειν ὑπὲρ τῆς πόλεως, "to sacrifice in behalf of the state;" μάχεσθαι ὑπὲρ τινος, "to fight for one;" τιμωρεῖν ὑπὲρ τινος, "to punish for one." Hence δεδιέναι ὑπὲρ τινος, "to fear for one."

3. Connected with this is the meaning "on account of;" as, ἐρίδος ὑπὲρ, "on account of strife;" ἀλγέων ὑπὲρ, "on account of sorrows;" ὑπὲρ τοῦ μὴ ποιεῖν τὸ προσταττόμενον, "in order not to do what was ordered."

4. From the same source arises also the meaning "for the sake of," as used in prayers. Thus, καὶ μὴν ὑπὲρ πατρὸς καὶ μητέρος καὶ τέκος λίσσσο, "and entreat him for the sake of his father, and mother, and offspring."

5. With the accusative, ὑπὲρ has the meaning of "over," as in the genitive; as, βυπτόνουσι ὑπὲρ τὸν οἶκον, "they fling it over the house;" and also the force of "above;" as, ὑπὲρ τὰ τεσσαρῆκοντα ἔτη, "above forty years." So, also, ὑπὲρ μόρον, "more than destiny requires," literally, "above destiny;" ὑπὲρ λόγον, "above all description."

V. Preposition governing the

GENITIVE AND ACCUSATIVE.

Ἀνά.

1. The primitive meaning of this preposition is directly opposite to that of κατὰ, and denotes motion upward. Hence its original significance tion is "up," "up on," &c. This, however, seldom occurs, and derivative meanings are more commonly found.

2. 'Ανά governs a dative in the epic and lyric poets only ; as, χρυσῷ ἀνὰ σκήπτρῳ, "on the top of a golden sceptre;" χρυσταῖς ἀν' ἱπποῖς, "in a golden chariot," carrying with it the idea of being mounted on high ; εὐδαι δ' ἀνὰ σκάπτῳ Διὸς ἑστὸς, "the eagle sleeps on the sceptre of Jove," i. e., on the top of the sceptre ; ἀνὰ ναυσίν, "in ships," i. e., up on ships.

3. Elsewhere it governs the accusative, and expresses, 1. A duration or continuance, both of time and space ; as, ἀνὰ τὸν πόλεμον τοῦτον, "throughout this whole war," i. e., up along this whole war ; ἀνὰ πᾶσαν ἡμέραν, "daily;" ἀνὰ δῶμα, "throughout the mansion."

4. With numerals it makes them distributive ; as, ἀνὰ πέντε, "five at a time;" ἀνὰ πέντε παρασάγγας τῆς ἡμέρας, "five parasangs each day."

VI. Prepositions governing the GENITIVE, DATIVE, AND ACCUSATIVE.

'Αμφί.

1. The primitive meaning of this preposition is "around," "about," "round about."

2. WITH THE GENITIVE, ἀμφί has its primitive meaning ; as, οἱ ἀμφὶ ταύτης οἰκοῦσι τῆς πόλιος, "who dwell around this city;" with this same case also it has the signification of "concerning," which it shares with περί ; as, ἀποπέμπομαι ἐννυχον ὄψιν, ἃν περὶ παιδὸς ἐμοῦ, ἀμφὶ Πολυξείνης τε φίλης θυγατρὸς, δι' ἐνέρων εἶδον, "I turn me with horror from the nocturnal vision, which I saw in dreams concerning my son, and concerning my beloved daughter Polyxena."

3. WITH THE DATIVE it signifies "about," in answer to the question "where?" even when the whole thing is not covered ; as, ἀμφὶ πλευραῖς μασχαλιστήρας βάλε, "fling the broad bands of iron around his sides;" ἑρῶσει μὲν τεν τελαμῶν ἀμφὶ στήθεσιν, "the strap shall be moist with perspiration around the breast of each one."

4. Sometimes the case which is governed by the preposition does not express the thing about which something else is, but that which is about the latter ; as, ἀμφὶ πυρὶ στήσαι τρίποδα, "to set the tripod on the fire, so that the latter blazes around it;" ἀμφὶ κλάδοις ἐξέσθαι, "to sit surrounded with boughs." Hence, when a place is only generally expressed ; as, ἤριπε δ' ἀμφ' αὐτῷ, "he fell beside him;" ἀμφὶ τραπέζαις κρέα διεόσαντο, "they divided the flesh around the table," i. e., the table where several sat, consequently in different places ; ἀμφὶ δίναις Εὐρίπου, "near the eddies of the Euripus."

5. It has also with the dative the signification of "concerning," whence are deduced the kindred meanings, "on account of," "about," "through," &c. Thus, τοὺς μὲν Ἀτρεϊδῶν κάτα, τοὺς δ' ἄμφ' Ὀδυσσεύϊ, "some against the Atridae, and some about Ulysses;" τοῖσδ' ἄμφι γυναικὶ πολλὸν χρόνον ἄλγεα πάσχειν, "to suffer woes for a long time about such a woman." Hence ἄμφι τάρβει, "through fear."

6. WITH THE ACCUSATIVE ἄμφι denotes "about," in answer to the questions "where?" and "whither?" as, ἀσπίδ' ἄμφι βραχίονα περικύβων, "wielding lightly the shield about his arm;" ἄμφι ψάμμαθον ἐκβεβλήσθαι, "to be cast out into the sand," so that the sand surrounds the body; ἄμφι τι ἔχειν, "to concern one's self about anything."

7. Ἄμφι frequently stands in this sense with the accusative, not to signify a surrounding, but only to denote a place generally. Thus, ἄμφι τε ἄστυ ἐρόμεν ὑπὸ θεοῖσιν, "we offer sacrifices to the gods throughout the whole city," i. e., all around throughout the city. So ἄμφι Ὀρήκην, "anywhere in Thrace," i. e., in the whole of Thrace, round about.

8. To this head belongs the phrase of ἄμφι or περὶ τινα. It means,

I. The person signified by the proper name, with his companions, followers, &c.; as, καὶ οἱ ἄμφι Πεισίστρατον ἀπικνέονται ἐπὶ τῆς Ἀθηναίης ἱερὸν, "and Pisistratus, with his troops, comes to the temple of Minerva." So οἱ περὶ Θρασύδουλον, "Thrasymbulus with his followers;" οἱ ἄμφι Ὀρφέα, "Orpheus with his scholars," &c.

II. Sometimes this phrase signifies merely the person whom the proper name expresses, but only in later writers. Thus, Arrian, Exp. Al. p. 385, οἱ ἄμφι Κρατερὸν, "Craterus;" and again, Ælian, V. H. 1, 16, οἱ ἄμφι τὸν Κρίτωνα καὶ Συμμίαν καὶ Φαίδωνα, "Crato, and Simmias, and Phado." This usage occurs particularly in the later grammarians.

III. Sometimes the phrase denotes principally the companions or followers of the person indicated by the proper name, the latter being merely mentioned in order to express the former more definitely. Thus, Xen. Hist. Gr. 7, 5, 12, οἱ περὶ Ἀρχιδάμου, "the companions of Archidamus."

Ἐπί.

1. The primitive meaning of ἐπὶ is "upon," whence various kindred meanings arise.

2. WITH THE GENITIVE it signifies "on," "at," "in," or "near;" as, ἐπὶ τῶν κοινῶν τῆς πόλεως βωμῶν, "upon the public altars of the city;" ἐπὶ κρατὸς λιμένος, "at the head of the haven;" ἐστρωτες ἐπὶ τῶν θυρῶν, "standing near the door." Hence the phrase ἐπὶ τῶν τοιῶν θεῶναι, "to stand near and swear by the entrails."

3. It is also used in answer to the question "whither?" as, πλεῖν ἐπὶ Σάμῳ, "to sail towards Samos" (i. e., literally, "to sail upon Samos"); ἐπὶ Σάρδεων φεύγειν, "to flee towards Sardis." Hence ὁδὸς ἡ ἐπὶ Καρίας φέρονσα, "the road that leads to Caria."

4. In definitions of time ἐπὶ has the meaning of "during," "under," &c.; as, ἐπὶ Κέκροπος, "during the time of Cecrops" (i. e., resting upon this period as a species of base); ἐν εἰρήνῃ, "in time of peace;" ἐπὶ τῶν ἡμετέρων προγόνων, "in the days of our forefathers."

5. It has frequently also the force of the Latin de, and denotes "of," "concerning," &c.; as, ὅπερ ἐπὶ τῶν δούλων ἐλέγομεν, "what we were remarking concerning the slaves" (literally, "were speaking upon the subject of the slaves").

6. With the verbs "to name," "to be named," &c., it has the meaning of "after," "from;" as, ὀνομάζεσθαι ἐπὶ τινος, "to be named after one" (literally, "to be named upon one").

7. It often expresses a connexion, accompaniment; provision, &c., either with things or with persons; as, ἐπὶ μικρῶν λόγων, "with a few words;" καθίστο Καδμῶν λαὸς ὀπίσθιν ἐπὶ, "the people of Cadmus had sat down arrayed with shields;" ἐπὶ προσκόλου μᾶς χωρεῖν, "to go accompanied by a single maid-servant." Hence is deduced the meaning of "before;" as, ἐπὶ μαρτύρων, "before witnesses;" ἐπωμόσαντο ἐπὶ τῶν στρατηγῶν, "they swore in the presence of the generals," &c.

8. In this way the following phrases appear to have originated: ἐφ' αὐτοῦ, "by himself," "peculiarly;" ἐπὶ σφῶν αὐτῶν, "by themselves," "unmixed with others," &c. Hence ἐφ' αὐτοῦ οἰκεῖν, when said of states, means "to live by themselves, not dependant upon others, but having a constitution of their own."

9. Ἐπὶ is also used in the genitive with numerals; as, ἐπὶ τριῶν στήναι, "to stand three deep;" ἐπὶ τεσσάρων, "four deep;" ἐφ' ἐνὸς ἡ κατάβασις ἦν, "the descent was by one at a time."

10. WITH THE DATIVE ἐπὶ denotes, in particular, subordination, the being in the power of any one, &c. Thus, τῶν ὄντων τὰ μὲν ἔστιν ἐφ' ἡμῖν, τὰ δ' οὐκ ἐφ' ἡμῖν, "of the things that are, some are in our power (under our control), others are not in our power;" ἐπὶ μάντεσιν εἶναι, "to be dependant upon soothsayers;" ποιεῖν τι ἐπὶ τινι, "to submit a thing to any one's judgment;" τὸ ἐν' ἐμοί, "as far as depends upon me."

11. With the dative ἐπὶ also denotes condition, especially in the phrase ἐφ' ᾧ or ἐφ' ὧτε, "upon condition." That also is regarded as a condition, on account of which, in order to obtain it, something is done which is the price or the foreseen result of the action. Thus, ἐπὶ δόροις, "on account of promised gifts;" δώρω ἐπὶ μεγάλῳ, "for a large gift;" ἐπὶ μόσχῳ φθεῖν, "to sing for the price of a calf;" ἐπὶ τούτοις μόνοις ζῆν, "to live upon condition of having this only;" χώραν ἀναθεῖναι Ἀπόλλωνι ἐπὶ πάσῃ ἀεργίᾳ, "to consecrate a territory to Apollo, on condition of its remaining entirely uncultivated."

12. Hence it frequently expresses an object or aim, inasmuch as this is the condition upon which the action is performed. Thus, μὴ κλώπες ἐπὶ δηλήσει φανέωσι ὑμῖν, "lest thieves appear to you in order to do you mischief;" οὐκ ἐπὶ τέχνῃ ἐμαθες, "you have not learned it in order to exercise it as a profession;" ἕγειν τινα ἐπὶ θανάτῳ, "to lead one away to execution."

13. From this is deduced the meaning "on account of;" as, φρονεῖν ἐπὶ τινι, "to pride one's self on account of anything;" θαυμάζεσθαι ἐπὶ τινι, "to wonder on any account," &c.

14. Sometimes, also, it signifies "at," as a definition of place; as, ἐπὶ τῷ Ἄλῃκι ποταμῷ, "at the river Alex;" and sometimes it is employed to express generally a combination or coexistence. To this latter head belong the phrases ζῆν ἐπὶ παῖσιν, "to live, having children;" ζῆν ἐπ' ἰσοῖσιν, "to live upon a footing of equal rights with others;" ἐπὶ δυσκλείᾳ, "with disgrace;" καθῆσθαι ἐπὶ δάκρυσι, "to sit down in tears," &c.

15. Frequently ἐπὶ, when thus construed, signifies not so much a being together as an immediate following upon, or connexion of time and space; as, ἀνέστη ἐπ' αὐτῷ Φεραύλας, "Pheraulas arose immediately after him;" δγχνῇ ἐπ' δγχνῇ γηράσκει, "pear after pear grows ripe."

16. In many cases ἐπὶ with the dative has the same or a similar signification with the genitive; as, ἐπὶ χθονί, "on the earth;" ἐπὶ νυκτί, "in the night," &c.

17. WITH THE ACCUSATIVE ἐπὶ signifies particularly "upon," "against," in answer to the question "whither?" in those cases where, in Latin, in is put with the accusative; as, ἀναβαίνειν ἐφ' ἵππον, "to mount upon horseback;" ἀναβαίνειν ἐπὶ θρόνον, "to ascend a throne;" ἐπὶ τινι μηχανᾶσθαι, "to contrive against one." So in ἐπὶ πόδα ἀναχωρεῖν, "to retreat," where the Greeks seem to have had in view the return into the place which the foot previously occupied. Hence ἐπὶ is often put after verbs of motion with substantives which do not denote a place, but an action, which is the end of one's going; as, λέναι ἐπὶ θήραν, "to go upon a hunt;" λέναι ἐπὶ ὕδωρ, "to go in quest of water;" ἐπὶ τί, "to what end?" "wherefore?" Sometimes, however, we find ἐπὶ with the accusative after verbs of rest, but then motion is always implied with the preposition. Thus, ἵεσθαι ἐπὶ τι, "to go anywhere in order to seat one's self there ; κείσθαι ἐπὶ ἀριστερὰ, "to be carried to the left and lie there ;" ἐπὶ τὰ τεῖχη ἀντιπαρετάσσοντο, "they were drawn up against them on the walls," where the idea of ἀναβάντες, "having ascended," is implied in ἐπὶ τὰ τεῖχη.

18. With definitions of time it answers to the question "how long ?" as, ἐπὶ χρόνον, "for some time ;" ἐπὶ δύο ἡμέρας, "for two days." It is also used with definitions of space ; as, ἐπὶ τεσσαράκοντα στάδια, "for the space of forty stadia." With numerals it denotes "about ;" as, ἐπὶ τριαύσια, "about three hundred."

Μετά.

1. The leading idea in this preposition is connexion, either in a greater or less degree. It is weaker, however, in this respect than σύν.

2. WITH THE GENITIVE μετά signifies "with," "together with ;" as, καθῆσθαι μετὰ τῶν ἄλλων, "to sit down along with the rest." Hence μετὰ τινος εἶναι, "to be on any one's side." With the words "to contend, fight, carry on war," μετά expresses the side which is favoured ; as, ἐπολέμησαν μετὰ τῶν συμμάχων πρὸς ἀλλήλους, "they waged war along with their allies against one another."

3. Hence arise various constructions, the basis of which is the idea of a connexion, which in other languages is differently expressed. Thus, μετὰ πολιτείας εἶναι, "to have a regular government ;" μετὰ τοῦ λόγου, "under the guidance of reason ;" μετὰ τῶν νόμων, "agreeably to the laws ;" μετὰ κινδύνων, "in the midst of dangers ;" μετὰ παιδιᾶς καὶ οἴνου, "in jest and drunkenness."

4. WITH THE DATIVE it occurs in the poets only, with the meaning of "among," "with ;" as, μετὰ δὲ τριτάτοισιν ὕνασσαν, "and he was reigning among the third (generation) ;" μετὰ στρατῷ, "among the army ;" νῦν δὲ μετ' ὑμετέρῃ ἀγορῇ ἡμαί, "and now I am sitting amid your assembly." Hence arises the general meaning of "in ;" as, πηδάλιον μετὰ χειρὸν ἔχοντα, "holding the rudder in his hands ;" ἄλλην μῆτιν ὕφαινε μετὰ φρέσιν, "he wove another plan in mind."

5. WITH THE ACCUSATIVE it denotes "after," of which instances everywhere occur. Thus, μετὰ ταῦτα, "after these things ;" μετὰ τὸν ἄνθρωπον, "after the man," &c. Hence also ἐπεσθαι μετὰ τινα, "to follow after one." This literal following was transferred to a figurative following, or guiding one's self by the example of another. Thus, μετὰ σὸν καὶ ἐμὸν κῆρ, "agreeably to thy sentiment and mine ;" μετὰ κλέος ἐρχεσθαι, "to go for glory," i. e., where glory called him (Il. 20, 227).

6. It is likewise joined, by the Attics particularly, with ἡμέρα alone, or with an ordinal number ; as, μετ' ἡμέραν, "in the daytime ;" μετὰ τρίτῃν ἡμέραν, "on the third day."

7. In Homer especially it means "among" several, with plural or collective words, both where motion and rest are expressed. Thus, μετὰ πάντας ὁμήλικας, "among all his companions in years;" μεθ' ὄμιλον, "among the throng."

Παρά.

1. The primitive meaning of παρά is "by the side of," a signification which lies at the basis of all the other meanings assigned to this preposition.

2. WITH THE GENITIVE it signifies "from" (i. e., from the side of), and expresses motion from a place; as, φάσαντον ἐρύσσατο παρά μηροῦ, "he drew his sword from his thigh;" παρ' Αἰήταο πλέουσα, "sailing from Æetes." Hence it denotes what originates and proceeds from something; as, μαθεῖν παρά τινος, "to learn from any one;" ἀγγέλλειν παρά τινος, "to announce from any one."

3. So also in the expressions, παρ' ἑαυτοῦ διδόναι, "to give something from his own substance;" παρ' αὐτοῦ, "by his command" (Xen. H. G. 2, 1, 27), &c.

4. WITH THE DATIVE it signifies "with," "at," in answer to the question "where?" Thus, Φημίος δὲ β' ἤειδε παρά μνηστῆρσιν ἀνάγκη, "Phemius, who sang with the suitors (i. e., among them) through compulsion;" παρὰ θεοῖς καὶ παρ' ἀνθρώποις, "with gods and men."

5. WITH THE ACCUSATIVE it signifies "to," "towards" (i. e., to the side of); as, παρὰ νῆας Ἀχαιῶν, "towards the ships of the Greeks;" παρὰ Καμβύσεα, "to Cambyses;" παρὰ τὴν Βαβυλῶνα, "to Babylon." It is frequently used thus in answer to the question "where?" but then the idea of motion is always implied in the preposition. Thus, οἱ μὲν κομήσαντο παρά πρυμνήσια νηός, "they on their part lay down to rest by the stern-fasts of the ship," i. e., they went to and lay down by them.

6. It often occurs with the meaning "in comparison with," "by the side of," "for." Thus, ὁρῶν τὰ ἐπιτηδεύματα αὐτῶν ἐγγύθεν παρά τὰ τῶν ἄλλων, "seeing their objects of pursuit from near at hand in comparison with those of the rest;" ἐν πᾶρ' ἐσλὸν πῆματα σνόνδον δαίονται βροτοῖς ἄδάνατοι, "for one piece of good fortune the gods bestow upon mortals a pair of evils;" παρὰ τὰ ἄλλα ζῶα, "in comparison with the other animals" (Xen. Mem. 1, 4, 14).

7. From the primitive meaning "by the side of" are derived the following phrases: παρὰ μικρόν, "almost" (by the side of little); παρὰ πολὺ, "by far" (by the side of much), &c.

8. It has also the meaning of "along," which results directly from the meaning "by the side of;" as, παρὰ θίνα θαλάσσης, "along the shore of the sea;" παρὰ νῆας ἵκναι, "to go alongside the ships" (Euseb.

Bacch. 17), not, as elsewhere, "to go towards the ships." Hence also of time, "during," "throughout;" as, παρ' ὅλον τὸν βίον, "through one's whole life." Especially when a definite point of time is expressed; as, παρὰ τὴν πόσιν, "in drinking;" παρ' αὐτὰ τὰ ἄδικήματα, "at the very moment of the unjust transaction."

9. It has also the meaning of "against," "contrary to," "otherwise than;" as, παρὰ δόξαν, "contrary to opinion;" παρὰ φύσιν, "contrary to nature," &c.

Περί.

1. The primitive meaning of this preposition is "about," "around," from which are deduced various other significations.

2. WITH THE GENITIVE it answers most nearly to the Latin de, and denotes "of," "concerning," &c.; as, περί τινος λέγειν, "to speak concerning any one." The most universal sense, however, is "with respect to," "as regards," "in point of," &c. Thus, περί μέν ὃν βρώσεως καὶ πόσεως, "as regards, then, eating and drinking;" οὐδεὶς αὐτῶν πλῆθεος ἐπὶ ἕξις συμβληθῆναι ἐστι, "no one of them is worthy of being compared with it in point of size."

3. The following phrases serve to express value; as, ποιεῖσθαι τι περί πολλοῦ, "to value a thing highly," i. e., in respect of much; ἡγεῖσθαι τι περί πλείστου, "to regard a thing as of the greatest value," i. e., in respect of very much. So, also, ποιεῖσθαι τι περί μικροῦ, "to set little value upon a thing;" ἡγεῖσθαι τι περί οὐδενός, "to regard a thing as of no value."

4. In Homer περί often carries with it the meaning of superiority, and has the meaning of "above," &c.; as, ἐθέλει περί πάντων ἐμμεναι ἄλλων, "he wishes to be above all others;" οἱ περί μὲν βουλὴν Δαναῶν, περί δ' ἐστὲ μάχεσθαι, "ye who are superior to the rest of the Greeks in council, and superior in the fight." Here βουλὴν is governed, not by περί, but by κατά understood.

5. WITH THE DATIVE it signifies "about," "around," "on," in answer to the question "where?" as, περί τῇ χειρὶ χρυσοῦν δακτύλιον φέρειν, "to wear a golden ring on the hand;" often when something surrounds that which is in the dative; as, περί δουρὶ ἥσπαιρει, "he ranged around his lance," i. e., on his lance; πεπτώτα τῷδε περί νεορβάντῳ ξίφει, "having fallen on this sword fresh sprinkled with blood." So in the general designation of a place; περί Σκαιῇσι πύλῃσι, "in the neighbourhood of the Scæan gate." Hence probably in Herodotus (9, 101), μη περί Μαρδονίῳ πταίσῃ ἡ Ἑλλάς, "lest Greece strike on Mardonius, as on a shoal."

6. With the poets περί with the dative signifies also "for," answering to the Latin pro; as, περὶ φόβῳ, "for fear," i. e., from fear, pro metu.

7. WITH THE ACCUSATIVE it signifies particularly "round about," in answer to the questions "where?" and "whither?" as, θώραξ περὶ τὸ στήνα, "a corslet round about the breast." It is here also used like ἀμφί, to denote not so much a surrounding as a place or region generally. Thus, περὶ Θεσσαλίην, "somewhere in Thessaly," not "around Thessaly."

8. It is often put also with definitions of time; as, περὶ τούτους τοὺς χρόνους, "about this same time;" περὶ πλήθουσιν ἀγοράν, "about the time when the market-place fills." With numerals also it signifies "about," "nearly;" as, περὶ τρισχιλίων, "about three thousand."

9. It signifies also "with regard to," when it may be rendered "in," "of," "against;" as, ἁμαρτάνειν περὶ τινα, "to offend against any one;" ἄδικος περὶ τινα, "unjust towards one;" σωφρονεῖν περὶ τοὺς θεούς, "to be sound in one's belief as regards the gods."

Πρός.

1. The primitive idea expressed by this preposition is that of something proceeding from one thing towards another.

2. WITH THE GENITIVE it denotes "from," "of," "by;" as, πρὸς γὰρ Διὸς εἰσιν ἅπαντες ξενοί, "for all guests are from Jove," i. e., are protected by Jove; πρὸς θυμοῦ, "of one's free will," i. e., cordially; τὸ ποιούμενον πρὸς Λακεδαιμονίων, "what was done by the Lacedaemonians."

3. Hence result the following phrases: εἶναι πρὸς τινος, "to be on any one's side," like the Latin stare ad aliquo; δ' ἐστὶ πρὸς τῶν ἡδίκη- κότων μᾶλλον, "which is to the advantage rather of those who have acted wrongfully;" τὸ πρὸς κείνου, "that which speaks for him," i. e., serves for his exculpation. Hence πρὸς δίκης τι ἔχειν, for δικαίον εἶναι. So, also, πρὸς πατρός, "on the father's side;" οἱ πρὸς αἵματος, "the relations by blood."

4. It is often used with the genitive in entreaties and protestations; as, πρὸς τοῦ σου τέκνον καὶ θεῶν ἱκνοῦμαι, "I supplicate thee by thy child and by the gods," i. e., by every consideration proceeding from them.

5. It has also the meaning of "towards;" as, πρὸς πόλιος, "towards the city" (Il. 22, 198); πρὸς μεσημβρίας, "towards the South" (Herod. 2, 99); πρὸς ἡλίου δυσμέων, "towards the setting of the sun" (Id. 7, 115).

6. WITH THE DATIVE it signifies chiefly either "at," "with," in answer to the question "where?" as, πρὸς τούτῳ ὅλος εἰμί, "I am wholly at this," i. e., wholly occupied with this; πρὸς τινι εἶναι, "to ponder on anything;" or else it has the meaning of "besides," "in addition to;" as, πρὸς τούτους, "in addition to these things;" πρὸς ἐμοὶ καὶ σοὶ, "besides thee and me."

7. WITH THE ACCUSATIVE it has the signification of "to," in answer to the question "whither?" as, ἀπέβη πρὸς μακρὸν Ὀλυμπον, "he departed to lofty Olympus;" πρὸς πατέρα τὸν σὸν, "to thy father." Frequently, however, it expresses, generally, a direction to an object, with the meaning of "towards," "after;" as, πρὸς ᾧ τ' ἥελίον τε, "towards Aurora and the sun," i. e., towards the rising sun (Il. 12, 239); πρὸς ζόφον ἡρόεντα, "towards the dark West" (Ib. 240). Herodotus, in this sense, often puts the genitive, as above, § 5.

8. Sometimes it has the meaning of "on account of;" as, πρὸς ὃν τὴν ὄψιν ταύτην, "on account, then, of this vision" (Herod. 1, 38): λέγεις δὲ ὃν τί καὶ πρὸς τί; "you say, then, what, and on what account?" i. e., with what view (Plat. Hip. Min. p. 370, extr.). So, φοβεῖσθαι πρὸς τι, "to be afraid on any account" (Soph. Trach. 1211); θαυμάζειν πρὸς τι, "to wonder on any account" (Id. Œd. C. 1119); πρὸς οὐδέν, "on no account;" πρὸς ταῦτα, "on this account," &c.

9. It has also, with the accusative, the meaning of "for," "with respect to;" as, καλὸς πρὸς δρόμον, "fair for running;" τέλος πρὸς ἀρετήν, "matured for virtue." Hence it is particularly used in comparisons; as, ὑπιστον πλῆθος ὡς πρὸς τὸ μέγεθος τῆς πόλεως, "an incredible number for the size of the city," literally, "in comparison with;" περὶ τὴν σοφίαν φαύλους πρὸς ὑμῖς, "unfit for wisdom in comparison with you."

10. It also signifies "according to," "conformable to," "after;" as, πρὸς τὰ τοῦ Βαβυλωνίου ῥήματα, "according to the words of the Babylonian;" πρὸς ταύτην τὴν φήμην, "in accordance with this prediction;" οὐ πρὸς τοὺς ὑμετέρους λόγους, "not taking your words for a pattern."

11. The idea of direction towards some particular object is the groundwork also of the following phrases: σφάζει πρὸς ὄρθον χῶρι' Ἀχιλλεῖου τάφου, "to immolate, turning towards the lofty mound of Achilles' tomb;" διεκρίθησαν πρὸς τε Ἀθηναίους καὶ Λακεδαιμονίους οἱ Ἕλληνες, "the Greeks separated, and went over, some to the Athenians, others to the Lacedæmonians."

12. It has also, with the accusative, an adverbial sense; as, πρὸς τὸ δεινόν, "cruelly;" πρὸς τὸ καρτερόν, "violently;" πρὸς εὐσέβειαν, "piously;" πρὸς βίαν, "perforce;" πρὸς ἡδονήν, "willingly."

13. With numerals it denotes "about," "nearly;" as, πρὸς τετρακισίους, "about four hundred;" πρὸς ἑκατόν, "nearly one hundred."

ὑπό.

1. The primitive meaning of this preposition is "under," a signification which it often has with the genitive ; as, ὑπὸ γῆς, "under the earth ;" and often it signifies "from under ;" as, ὑπὸ χθονὸς ἤκε φώσδε, "he sent it from beneath the earth into the light."

2. Like the Latin sub, it sometimes expresses proximity with a higher place ; as, ὑφ' ἅματος, "near the chariot," where the reference is to one who is standing on the ground, with the chariot erect by his side. Hence, figuratively, "below the chariot."

3. From the meaning of "under" is deduced that of "by," especially with passive verbs, the reference being to something under the influence of which a certain act is performed or result brought about. Thus, ἐκταυεῖσθαι ὑπὸ τινος, "to be praised by any one ;" σφαγείσθαι ὑπ' Αἰγίσθου, "immolated by Ægisthus ;" ἀποθανεῖν ὑπὸ τινος, "to die by the hands of one ;" ὑπ' ἀγγέλων πορεύεσθαι, "to go by reason of messengers ;" ἄελλα ὑπὸ βροντῆς πατρὸς Διὸς εἰσι πέδονδε, "the tempest, by the thunder of father Jove, descends to the plain ;" ὑπὸ τῶν τριάκοντα κώνουν πιόντες, "having drunk hemlock by command of the thirty."

4. From the two meanings of "under" and "by" combined seem to have arisen such phrases as the following : ὑπὸ φορμύγγων χορεύειν, "to dance to the music of harps ;" ὑπ' αὐλοῦ κωμάζειν, "to revel to the flute." For here the preposition with its case appears to express, on the one hand, a kind of subordination, inasmuch as the subject of the action conforms itself to the substantive which is governed by the preposition ; and, on the other hand, the action is effected, or at least defined, by the substantive in the genitive, as in the construction of the passive with ὑπὸ and the genitive.

5. WITH THE DATIVE it has often the same signification as with the genitive, as, for example, with passives in the sense of a or ab. Thus, ἃ ὑπισχνού ἀποτετέλεσται σοι ἤδη, "what you promised have been now done by you ;" προσπόλοις φυλάσσεται, "he is guarded by his attendants." So, also, as with the genitive, ὑπὸ θαρβίτῳ χορεύειν, "to dance to the lyre," &c.

6. It often, in particular, when joined with this case, signifies "under," with the idea of subordination ; as, ὑπὸ τινι εἶναι, "to be under one," i. e., obedient to one ; ποιεῖν τι ὑπὸ τινι, "to submit anything to any one," &c.

7. WITH THE ACCUSATIVE it signifies "under," "at," analogous to the Latin sub, in answer to the question "whither ?" as, ὑπὸ Ἰλίον ἦλθεν, "he came beneath Ilium," i. e., under the walls of Troy. It is likewise employed with this case in definitions of time ; as, ὑπὸ τοῦς αὐτοὺς χρόνους, "about the same time."

8. Sometimes it is found with the accusative, in answer to the question "where?" as, οὐτε ἔπασσι οἰκήματα ὑπὸ γῆν, "nor are there any chambers under ground" (Herod. 2, 127); εἰ τινὰς ἀγαιντο τῶν ὑφ' ἐσπεροῦς, "in case they thought highly of any of those under them" (Xen. Cyrop. 3, 3, 6). Hence, ὑπ' ἀγὰς ὁρᾶν τι, "to examine anything by the light," i. e., under the light; with the light streaming down upon it; ὑπὸ τι, "in some measure," &c.

9. With names of places it expresses proximity, like the Latin sub, but refers to some elevated object. Hence, perhaps, the expression, ὑπὸ δικαστήριον ἀγειν τινά, "to lead a person to the tribunal of judges," the judges sitting on elevated seats.

GENERAL REMARKS ON PREPOSITIONS.

1. Prepositions are often used as adverbs, without a case, especially ἐν in the Ionic and Attic poets. Thus, ἐν δὲ δὴ καὶ Λεσβίους εἶλε, "among others, then, he took the Lesbians" (Herod. 3, 39); ἐν δ' ὁ πυρφόρος θεὸς σκῆψας ἐλαύνει, λομὸς ἐχθιστος, πόλιν, "while within the fiery god, in the shape of a most odious pestilence, having descended like a thunderbolt, ravages the city." Among the Attic writers πρὸς especially is thus used, with the meaning of "besides;" as, Μενέλαε, σοὶ δὲ τὰδε λέγω, ὁράσω τε πρὸς, "Menelaus, I say these things unto thee, and besides I will do them" (Eurip. Orest. 615).

2. Hence in Ionic writers they are often put twice, once without a case adverbially, and again with a case or in composition with a verb. Thus, ἐν δ' Ὀδυσσεὺς πολύμητις ἀνίστατο, "up thereupon arose the sagacious Ulysses" (Il. 23, 709); ἐν δὲ καὶ ἐν Μέμφει, "in Memphis also" (Herod. 2, 176), &c.

3. In composition with verbs the prepositions are always used adverbially. Hence, in the older state of the language, in Homer and Herodotus, it is customary to find the preposition and verb separated by other words, and the former coming sometimes immediately after the verb; as, ἦμῖν ἀπὸ λοιγὸν ἁμῖναι (Il. 1, 67); ἐνάρκων ἀπ' ἔντρα (Il. 12, 195); ἀπὸ μὲν σευῶνδον ὤλεσας (Herod. 3, 36), &c. Hence, when the verb is to be repeated several times, after the first time the preposition only is often used; ἀπολεῖ πόλιν, ἀπὸ δὲ πατέρα (Eurip. Herc. F. 1056); κατὰ μὲν ἔκανσαν Δρυμόν πόλιν, κατὰ δὲ Χαράδραν (Herod. 8, 33), &c.

4. In the cases mentioned under § 3 there is properly no tnesis, i. e., the separation of a word used at that period of the language in its compounded form; but the prepositions at that time served really as adverbs, which were put either immediately before or after the verbs. At a later period, however, particularly in Attic, the composition became more firmly established, and the prepositions were considered as a part of the verb. In Attic writers the proper tnesis is extremely rare.

5. The prepositions are often separated from their case. Thus, ἐν γὰρ σε τῇ νυκτὶ ταύτῃ ἀναίρεομαι (Herod. 6, 69); especially when a word is repeated in two different cases; as, παρ' οὐκ ἐθέλων ἐθελούσῃ (Od. 5, 155), &c.

6. Prepositions likewise are often put after their case; as, νεῶν ἀπο καὶ κλισιάων, particularly in Ionic and Doric writers and the Attic poets. This takes place in the Attic prose writers only in περί, with the genitive, of which the instances are frequent.

7. When a preposition should stand twice with two different nouns, it is often put only once by the poets, and that, too, with the second noun; as, ἡ ἀλὸς ἡ ἐπὶ γῆς (Od. 12, 27); ἐδόμα καὶ σὺν δεκάτῃ γενεᾷ (Pind. Pyth. 1, 16), &c.

SYNTAX.¹

THE ARTICLE.

1. The article ὁ, ἡ τό, is properly a demonstrative pronoun, and is used as such, in the elder language, by Homer, and, in imitation of him, by the later epic poets; as, ὁ γὰρ βασιλῆϊ χολωθεῖς, "for this (deity) being incensed against the king;" τὰ δ' ἄποινα δέχεσθε, "and receive this ransom."

2. But in later Greek, and especially among the prose writers, the article is generally employed to mark emphasis or distinction, and loses its demonstrative force;² as, ὁ πόλεμος οὐκ ἄνευ κινδύνων, ἡ δὲ εἰρήνη ἀκίνδυνος, "war is not free from dangers, but peace is without danger" (here the article is put on account of the opposition of war and

1. The greater part of the rules which are common to the Greek and Latin languages are here omitted.

2. But the prose usage, it must be remembered, is derived from the original demonstrative force of the article. Thus, ὁ πόλεμος is strictly "that state of things called war," and ἡ εἰρήνη, "that state of affairs termed peace." So ὁ Κύρος is literally "that well-known Cyrus."

peace); ὁ Κῦρος πολλὰ ἔθνη κατεστρέψατο, "the celebrated Cyrus subdued many nations" (here the article is emphatic).

3. When a proper name first occurs in prose, it is without the article (unless meant to be emphatic); but when it occurs the second time it generally has the article.¹ This is called the usage of renewed mention. Thus, ἦν Ξενοφῶν Ἀθηναῖος ὁ μὲντοι Ξενοφῶν ἀνακοινοῦται Σωκράτει καὶ ὁ Σωκράτης συμβουλεύει αὐτῷ, "there was Xenophon, an Athenian . . . this Xenophon, however, confers with Socrates . . . and he, Socrates, advises him."

4. But the article must always be omitted before a proper name when an additional substantive, with the article, is subjoined to the same for nearer definition; as, Κῦρος, ὁ τῶν Περσῶν βασιλεὺς, "Cyrus, the king of the Persians;" Θῆβαι, αἱ ἐν Βοιωτίᾳ, "Thebes, the city in Boeotia."

5. Every expression which does not merely indicate an object generally, but represents it as existing in a particular state or in a peculiar relation, is accompanied in Greek by the definite article; as, τὸν γέροντα ἀδείσθαι χρή, "one ought to reverence an old man;" τῶν τοῦ βίου ἀγαθῶν μετέχειν δεῖ καὶ τὸν δοῦλον, "even a slave ought to participate in the good things of life."²

6. The article is used in prose with the demonstratives οὗτος and ἐκεῖνος, in which case the pronoun either precedes the article or follows the substantive; as, οὗτος ὁ ἀνὴρ, or ὁ ἀνὴρ οὗτος (not ὁ οὗτος ἀνὴρ), "this same man."

7. The article is also added to the possessive pronoun, for the purpose of giving a more precise definition. Thus, ἐμὸς υἱός is merely a "son of mine;" but ὁ ἐμὸς υἱός is "my son," who is already known from the context.

8. Adverbial expressions become adjectives by the ac-

2. Literally, "the one that is old;" "the one that is a slave." cession of the article ; as, οἱ πάλαι ἄνθρωποι, "the early race of men;" ὁ μεταξὺ χρόνος, "the intervening time."¹

9. The neuter of the article τό is joined also to infinitives, and forms in this way a species of verbal noun ; as, τὸ πράττειν, "the doing;" τὸ καλῶς λέγειν, "the speaking well."²

10. The article is also combined with μέν and δέ, and then has in some degree the force of a pronoun ; as, οἱ μὲν ἐς φυγὴν ἐτρέποντο, οἱ δὲ ἔμειναν, "these, indeed, turned themselves to flight, but those remained;" τοὺς μὲν ἐπῆνευ, τοὺς δ' ἐκόλαζεν, "the former he praised, but the latter he punished."³

THE NOMINATIVE AND VERB.

1. A verb agrees with its nominative in number and person ; as, ἐγὼ λέγω, "I say;" τοῦτω τῷ ἄνδρι ἡγησάσθην, "these two men thought;" οἱ θεοὶ κολάζουσι, "the gods punish."

2. A neuter plural, however, is generally joined with a singular verb ;⁴ as, ἄστρο φαίνεται, "stars appear;" ταῦτά ἐστιν ἀγαθά, "these things are good."

3. But when the neuter plural refers to living persons, the verb is often put in the plural also, because persons are for the most part considered separately by the mind, but things as forming a class.⁵ Thus, τὰ τέλη ὑπέσχοντο,

1. When a substantive is omitted, they supply the place of substantives ; as, ἡ αὐριον, "the morrow," supply ἡμέρα ; and again, οἱ πλησίον, "neighbours," supply ἄνθρωποι.

2. Sometimes the article is joined to an entire clause ; as, ἐὰν τοῦτο βεβαίως ὑπάρξῃ, τότε καὶ περὶ τοῦ τίνα τιμωρήσεται τις ἐκείνον τρόπον ἐξέσται σκοπεῖν, "if this be firmly established, then will it be allowed us also to consider in what manner one shall punish that monarch."

3. So in the neuter, τὰ μὲν—τὰ δέ, "partly—partly," &c.

4. This usage is more observed by the Attics than by the older writers in the Ionic and Doric dialects, and is frequently neglected by the Attics themselves.

5. Sometimes we find even a singular verb following a masculine or feminine plural ; as, ὕμνοι τέλλεται, "hymns arise," Pind. Ol. 11, 4 ; ἀγεῖται ὁμῶς μέλειν, "the voices of song resound," Id. fragm. In the Attic writers, however, this takes place only where the verb precedes,

"the magistrates promised;" τοσάδε μὲν μετὰ Ἀθηναίων ἔθνη ἐστράτεον, "so many nations served along with the Athenians."

4. When the subject consists of several persons or things singly specified, and which follow the verb, the latter often stands in the singular; as, ἐστι καὶ ἐν ἄλλαις πόλεσιν ἀρχοντες τε καὶ δῆμος, "there are in other cities also both magistrates and a commons." Here, if ἀρχοντες stood alone, the verb would necessarily be εἰσί.

5. Collective nouns, on the contrary, that is, nouns singular which express multitude or number, have often their verb in the plural;¹ as, τὸ στρατόπεδον ἀνεχώρουν, "the army retired;" πολὺ γένος ἀνθρώπων χρῶνται τούτῳ, "a large class of men use this."

6. A dual nominative is sometimes joined with a plural verb;² as, τῷ δὲ τὰχ' ἐγγύθεν ἦλθον, "they two quickly drew near;" ἀμφω λέγουσι, "both say."

7. The nominative is often omitted when the verb itself expresses the customary action of the subject; as, σαλπίζει, "the trumpeter sounds his trumpet," where ὁ σαλπικτής is implied; ἐκήρυξε, "the herald made proclamation," where ὁ κήρυξ is implied.

8. When two or more substantives are connected by a conjunction, the verb which belongs to all, instead of being in the plural, is sometimes found to agree with one of these substantives, and usually with that one which is nearest to it, and the most important in the sentence; as, σοὶ γὰρ ἔδ-in which case probably the author had the whole in his mind, and explained or defined it afterward by the substantive in the plural. Thus, δέδοκται φυγαί, "exiles are decreed," Eurip. Bacch. 1340.

1. This construction occurs even in the genitive absolute; as, τοῦ στόλου πλεόντων, Demosth. in Mid. 45.

2. Sometimes, on the other hand, the dual of the verb is put with the plural nominative, even when more than two persons are signified. This occurs chiefly in the earlier epic poets, and is not found in the tragedians and prose writers. Many scholars consider the passages in question corrupt, or think that they must be explained otherwise. The whole difficulty is removed, however, by regarding the dual as originally an old form of the plural, limited subsequently to the expression of two.

ᾠκε νίκην Ζεὺς Κρονίδης καὶ Ἀπόλλων, "for unto thee has Jove, the son of Saturn, given victory, and Apollo."

9. Sometimes a nominative is put without a verb following, and is then called the nominative absolute; as, ἐκείνοι δὲ εἰσελθόντες, εἶπεν ὁ Κριτίας, "they having entered, Critias said."

THE SUBSTANTIVE AND ADJECTIVE.

1. An adjective is often put in the neuter gender, without regard to the gender of the substantive which stands with it in the sentence, χρῆμα being understood, and remains in the singular even when the substantive is in the plural;¹ as, οὐκ ἀγαθὸν ἡ πολυκοιρανία, "the government of the many is not a good thing;" μεταβολαὶ εἰσὶ λυπηρόν, "changes are a sad thing."

2. An adjective of the masculine gender is often found with a feminine noun of the dual number, and under this rule are also included the pronoun, participle, and article;² as, ἀμφὼ τούτῳ τῷ πόλει, "both these cities;" δύο γυναῖκες ἐρίζοντε, "two women quarrelling;" τῷ χεῖρι, "the two hands."

3. An adjective is often put in a different gender from the substantive with which it stands, as referring to the person or persons implied by that substantive;³ as, φίλε τέκνον, "dear child" (Il. 22, 84), spoken of Hector; τέκος ἀτρυτώνη, "indefatigable offspring" (Il. 2, 157), spoken of Minerva.

4. Hence a collective noun in the singular number, and of the feminine or neuter gender, is often accompanied by the adjective in the plural and masculine; as, ἔχομεν τήν

1. In all such constructions as these, the substantive is regarded by the mind as representing merely some general class of things, and hence the adjective is put in the neuter gender.

2. Hence it has been inferred that the dual of the adjective, pronoun, participle, and article had originally only one form, namely, the masculine.

3. Grammarians call this synesis (σύνεσις), i. e., an understanding of the person implied by the substantive.

ἄλλην ὑπηρεσίαν πλείους καὶ ἀμείνους, "we have the rest of the crews more numerous and skilful."

5. Among the tragic writers, when a woman speaks of herself in the plural number, she uses the masculine; and the masculine is also employed when a chorus of women are speaking of themselves. Thus, οἱ προβνήσκοντες (Eurip.), where Alcestis speaks of herself; ᾠκτεῖ' ἀκούσας (Eurip. Androm.), "I pitied, on having heard," where the chorus speak.

6. A substantive is often used as an adjective;¹ as, γλῶσσαν Ἑλλάδα ἐδίδαξε, "he taught the Greek tongue."

7. The substantive is often changed into a genitive plural; as, οἱ χρηστοὶ τῶν ἀνθρώπων, "the worthy ones among men," for οἱ χρηστοὶ ἄνθρωποι, "worthy men."

8. This construction takes place also in the singular, especially in Attic; as, τὴν πλείστην τῆς στρατίας (Thucyd.), "the greatest part of the army;" τὸν πολὺν τοῦ χρόνου, "a great part of the time."

9. An adjective in the neuter gender, without a substantive, governs the genitive; as, μέσον ἡμέρας, "the middle of the day;" τόσον ὄμιλου, "so great a throng."

10. Adjectives are very often put in the neuter singular and plural, with and without an article, for adverbs; as, πρῶτον, "in the first place;" τὸ πρῶτον, "at first;" κρυφαῖα, "secretly;" φαιδρὰ, "cheerfully."

PRONOUNS.

1. The noun to which the relative refers is often omitted in the antecedent proposition, and joined to the relative in the same case with it; as, οὗτός ἐστιν, ὃν εἶδες ἄνδρα, "this is the man whom you saw;" οὐκ ἔχω, ᾧ τιμι πιστεῦσαι ἂν δυναίμην φίλῳ, "I have no friend on whom I might rely."

1. This is of very ordinary occurrence in our own language; as, seawater, house-dog, &c.

2. The substantive is here considered as a whole, and the adjective as a part.

2. The relative often agrees with its antecedent in case, by what is called attraction; as, σὺν τοῖς θησαυροῖς, οἷς ὁ πατήρ κατέλιπεν, "with the treasures which his father left behind;" ἄγων ἀπὸ τῶν πόλεων, ὧν ἐπεισε, στρατιάν, "leading a body of troops from the cities which he had persuaded."

3. If, in this attraction, the word to which the relative refers be a demonstrative pronoun, this pronoun is generally omitted, and the relative takes its case; as, σὺν οἷς μάλιστα φιλεῖς, "with those whom you most love," for σὺν τούτοις οἷς μάλιστα φιλεῖς.

4. Sometimes the antecedent takes the case of the relative; as, ἄλλου οὐκ οἶδα, οὗ ἂν τεύχεα δύω, "I know not any other whose arms I may put on."

5. The nominative of the personal pronoun is usually omitted with the personal terminations of verbs, as in Latin, except where there is an emphasis; as, ἀλλὰ πάντως καὶ σὺ ὄψει αὐτήν, "but you, by all means, shall even see her."

6. The possessive pronouns are only employed when an emphasis is required; in all other cases the personal pronouns are used in their stead; as, πατήρ ἡμῶν, "our father" (literally, "the father of us"); but πατήρ ἡμέτερος, "our own father."

7. A substantive is sometimes put in the genitive, as in apposition with another genitive implied in a possessive pronoun;¹ as, ἐκκόψει κόραξ τόν γε σὺν ὀφθαλμόν τοῦ πρέσβως, "may a raven strike out the eye of you the ambassador."

8. The possessive pronoun is sometimes used objectively;² as, σὸς πόθος, not "thy regret," but "regret for

1. So in Latin, mea ipsius causa, where ipsius is in apposition with the genitive implied in mea. So, also, nomen meum absentis, mea praesentis preces" (Cic. Planc. 10, 26).

2. This is called by the older grammarians the passive use of the possessive. Consult Ruddiman, Instit. G. L. ed. Stallb. vol. ii., p. 50.

thee;" τὰμὰ νουθετήματα, "the lessons which thou givest me."

9. The pronoun αὐτός is often used after ordinal numbers, to show that one person with several others, whose number is less by one than the number mentioned, has done something; as, Κορινθίων στρατηγὸς ἦν Ξενοκλείδης, πέμπτος αὐτός, "Xenoclide was leader of the Corinthians along with four others."

10. The demonstrative pronouns οὗτος and ὅδε are generally distinguished in this way, that οὗτος refers to what immediately precedes, and ὅδε to what immediately follows. Thus, πέμψασα ἡ Τόμυρις κήρυκα ἔλεγε τάδε, "Tomyris, having sent a herald, announced as follows;" ταῦτα δὲ ἀκούσας εἶπε, "having heard these things, he said."

11. The demonstrative pronouns are often used instead of the adverbs "here" and "there;" as, ἀλλ' ἥδ' ὀπαδῶν ἐκ δόμων ἔρχεται, "but here comes a maidservant out of the mansion;" αὗται γὰρ, αὗται πλησίον θρώσκουσί μου, "for there, there, they are leaping near me."

12. The reflexive pronoun ἑαυτοῦ is sometimes used for the other reflexive pronouns of the first and second persons; as, δεῖ ἡμᾶς ἀνερέσθαι ἑαυτούς, "it behooves us to ask our own selves;" εἰ δ' ἐτητύμως μόρον τὸν αὐτῆς οἶσθα, "but if you truly know your own fate."

THE GENITIVE.²

1. The verbs εἶμι and γίγνομαι, denoting possession, property, part, or duty, require the genitive; as, τοῦτο τὸ πεδίον ἦν μὲν ποτε τῶν Χορασμίων, "this same plain belonged formerly to the Chorasmians;" πολλῆς ἀνοίας ἐστὶ

1. Some accompanying gesture must be supposed, that may serve to express the reference of the pronoun.

2. The fundamental idea of the genitive is that of separation or abstraction, of going forth, from, or out of anything.

θηρᾶσθαι κενά, "it is the part of great folly to hunt after vain things."

2. The genitive is used with verbs of all kinds, even with those which govern an accusative, when the action does not refer to the whole object, but only to a part; as, ὀπτῆσαι κρεῶν, "to roast some flesh;" ἔτεμον τῆς γῆς, "they laid waste a part of the country;" παροίξας τῆς θύρας, "having opened the door a little."

3. On the general principle of reference to a part, the genitive is put with verbs that denote "to take hold of," "to touch," and also with their opposites, "to let go," "to loose," &c.; as, ἔλαβοντο τῆς ζώνης, "they took hold of his girdle;" εἰ τις ὑμῶν δεξιᾶς βούλεται τῆς ἐμῆς ἄψασθαι, "if any one of you wishes to touch my right hand;" τῇσδ' ἐκούσα παιδὸς οὐ μεθήσομαι, "I will not willingly let go of this my child."

4. On the same principle of a part, the genitive is put with the verbs μνησκειν, "to remind;" μεμνησθαι, "to remember;" λανθάνεσθαι, "to forget," because remembering and forgetting refer always to particular properties and circumstances only, and therefore to parts of the whole. Thus, φίλων καὶ παρόντων καὶ ἀπόντων μέμνησο, "remember friends both when present and absent;" οὐδὲ τότε ἐπιλήσομαι αὐτοῦ, "even then I will not forget him."

5. The genitive is also put with the verbs "to begin," such as ἀρχειν, ἀρχεσθαι, ὑπάρχειν, &c., because here also the reference is only to a part, that is, the commencement of an action; as, ἀρχετε ἀδικίας, "begin injustice;" ὑπῆρξαν τῆς ἐλευθερίας ἀπάσῃ τῇ Ἑλλάδι, "they made a beginning of freedom for all Greece."

6. Verbs signifying the operations of the senses, such as "to hear," "to feel," "to smell," and the like, but not those denoting "to see," require the genitive;¹ verbs signifying

1. The genitive is put with these verbs only of the object which produces the thing perceived, or of an occurrence of which we perceive only "to see" take the accusative. Thus, παντὸς βασιλεὺς ἀκούει, "a king hears everything;" ὄζω μύρον, "I smell of myrrh."

7. Adverbs of place and time require the genitive, because the adverb denotes a single point only, but the subjoined definition of place and time designates the whole; as, πανταχοῦ γῆς, "everywhere on earth;" ὄψε τῆς ἡμέρας, "late in the day."

8. Time when, that is, part of time, is put in the genitive; as, θέρους τε καὶ χειμῶνος, "in both summer and winter."

9. The material of which anything is made is put in the genitive, the thing made being a single object, but the subjoined definition denoting an entire class or kind of materials, part of which go to compose that object; as, τὸν δίφρον ἐποίησεν ἰσχυρῶν ξύλων, "he made the chariot of strong wood."

10. The superlative degree is also followed by a genitive, this genitive marking the entire class, of which the superlative indicates the most prominent as a part or parts; as, ἔχθιστος πάντων, "most hated of all;" ἀριστοὶ Τρώων, "bravest of the Trojans."

11. Hence the genitive is put also with verbs, adjectives, and adverbs, which are either derived from superlatives, or in which merely the idea of preferableness is implied; as, ἐκαλλιστεύετο πασῶν γυναικῶν, "she was the handsomest single parts. The thing perceived, on the contrary, stands in the accusative. Hence, for the various construction of these verbs, the following rules obtain: 1. If the person alone is named, this stands in the genitive. 2. If both person and thing are named, the person stands in the genitive and the thing in the accusative; as, τοῦτο Σωκράτους ἤκουσα. 3. If the thing alone is named, the question then is, whether this is conceived as a simple part which I comprehend with my senses, or as a compound whole of which single parts only are perceived; in the first case the accusative stands, in the second the genitive; as, ὡς ἤσθετο τὰ γιγνόμενα, "when he perceived what was taking place." On the contrary, always αἰσθάνεσθαι κραυγῆς, θορύβου, &c., because one can only perceive indications of the noise. In like manner, ἀκούειν δίκης, "to hear a suit;" αἰσθάνεσθαι ἐπιβουλῆς, "to perceive a plot;" but ξυνίεναι τὰ λεγόμενα, "to comprehend or understand what is said."

of all women;" διαπρεπεῖς θνητῶν, "conspicuous among mortals;" ἐξόχως πάντων, "in a manner surpassing all."

12. To words of all kinds other words are added in the genitive, which show the respect in which the sense of these words must be taken; and, in this case, the genitive properly signifies "with regard to," or "in respect of;" as, ὕλης πῶς ὁ τόπος ἔχει; "how is the place with regard to timber?" συγγνώμων τῶν ἀνθρωπίνων ἁμαρτημάτων, "forgiving with respect to human errors;" πόρῳ τῆς ἡλικίας, "far advanced in years" (properly, "far advanced with respect to years").

13. Hence all words expressing ideas of relation, which are not complete without the addition of another word as the object of that relation, take this object in the genitive: and to this rule belong in particular the adjectives "experienced, ignorant, desirous," and the like, as also the verbs "to concern one's self, to neglect, to consider, to reflect, to be desirous," &c. Thus, ἔμπειρος κακῶν, "experienced in evils;" ἀπαιδευτός ἀρετῆς, "uninstructed in virtue;" τοῦ κοινοῦ ἀγαθοῦ ἐπιμελεῖσθαι, "to take care of the common good;" μεγάλων ἐπιθυμεῖν, "to desire great things."

14. Words signifying plenty or want are followed by a genitive, because the term, which expresses of what anything is full or empty, indicates the respect in which the signification of the governing word is taken; as, μεστὸς κακῶν, "full of evils;" ἔρημος φίλων, "destitute of friends;" πλησθῆναι νόσου, "to be full of sickness;" δεῖσθαι οἰκετῶν, "to be in want of inhabitants."

15. The comparative degree is followed by a genitive, because this genitive indicates the respect in which the comparative is to be taken; as, μείζων πατρός, "greater than a father," which properly means, "greater with respect to a father."

1. Hence appears to have arisen the rule found in most grammars, that adjectives compounded with ἀ privative govern the genitive. But ἀ privative cannot well determine the use of either the genitive or any other case.

16. All words derived from comparatives, or which involve a comparison, are followed by the genitive; as, ἡττάσθαι τινος, "to be defeated by any one" (literally, "to be less than any one"); ὑστεραίος τῆς μάχης, "after the battle;" περιγένεσθαι τοῦ βασιλέως, "to prove superior to the king;" δεύτερος οὐδενός, "second to no one."

17. All verbs that are equivalent in meaning to a noun and verb, and especially those in which the idea of ruling is implied, are followed by a genitive; as, ἀνάσσειν τῶν Μήδων, "to reign over the Medes" (equivalent to ἀναξ εἶναι τῶν Μήδων); ἀρχειν ἀνθρώπων, "to rule over men" (equivalent to ἀρχων εἶναι ἀνθρώπων); and, in the same manner, κυριεύειν for κύριος εἶναι; τυραννεύειν for τύραννος εἶναι, &c.

18. Words indicating value or worth require the genitive; as, ἔρδει πολλῶν ἄξια, "he performs actions equivalent to those of many;" ἰατρὸς πολλῶν ἀντάξις, "a physician equal in value to many men."

19. All verbs denoting "to buy," "to sell," "to exchange," &c., are followed by a genitive; as, ὠνοῦνται τὰς γυναῖκας χρημάτων πολλῶν, "they purchase their wives for much money;" ἐπώλουν πολλοῦ τοῖς ἄλλοις, "they sold for a large sum to the rest."

20. All verbs denoting "to accuse," "to criminate," &c., are followed by a genitive;¹ as, γράφομαι σε φόνον, "I accuse you of murder;" διώξομαι σε δειλίας, "I will prosecute you for cowardice."

21. The genitive often stands alone in exclamations, with and without an interjection, as indicating the cause from which the feeling in question originates; as, ὦ Ζεῦ βασιλεῦ τῆς λεπτότητος τῶν φρενῶν! "Oh supreme Jove, the acuteness of his intellect!" Ἀπολλων, τοῦ χασμήματος!
"Apollo, what a pair of jaws!"

1. The genitive here denotes the object of the action. For this same reason ἐνεκα and ὑπέρ govern the genitive.

1. The dative stands in answer to the questions to whom or what? for whom or what? to whose advantage? to whose disadvantage? as, ἔδωκά σοι τὸ βιβλίον, "I gave the book to thee;" ἑπεσθέ μοι, ὦ παῖδες, "follow me, my children;" ἐπιτάττω σοι τοῦτο, "I enjoin this upon you;" θεοῖς ἀρέσκει, "he pleases the gods;" φίλος ἐκείνῳ, "a friend to him;" ἀγαθὸν τῇ πόλει, "good for the state."

2. Words which express the idea of approach, meeting, union, or connexion, as well as all verbs implying an action which cannot be accomplished without approach to the object, as, to associate, to speak, to converse, to pray, to dispute, to contend, to vie, to be attentive, and the like, are joined with the dative; as, ὁρῶ ἡμῖν βαρβάρους προσιόντας, "I see barbarians approaching us;" μὴ ἔριζε τοῖς γονεῦσιν, "contend not with your parents;" εὐχονται πᾶσι θεοῖς, "they pray to all the gods."

3. Verbs to rebuke, to blame, to reproach, to envy, to be angry, take the dative of the person; as, ἐμοὶ λοιδορήσεται, "he will reprove me;" μέφομαί τοις ἀρχεῖν βουλομένοις, "I blame those who wish to rule;" οὐ φθονεῖτε τούτῳ, "envy not this man;" τί χαλεπαίνεις τῷ θεράποντι; "why art thou angry at the attendant?"

4. Words implying equality, resemblance, suitableness, or the contrary, have the dative case; as, ἴσος τοῖς ἰσχυροῖς, "equal to the powerful;" ἔοικας δούλῳ, "you resemble a slave;" ἀνόμοιος τῷ πατρί, "unlike his father."

5. In like manner, the dative stands also with ὁ αὐτός, because it expresses perfect equality; as, ἐν τῷ αὐτῷ κινδύνῳ τοῖς φανλοτάτοις, "in the same danger with the worst;" τοῖς αὐτοῖς Κύρῳ ὅπλοις, "in the same arms with Cyrus."

1. The dative serves to designate the more remote object, that is, it designates the object which merely participates in an operation, without being immediately affected by it, or in which the effect or consequence of an action is shown.

6. The means by which, and the instrument with which, a thing is accomplished, are both put in the dative, since this case also serves in Greek to indicate all definitions that are mentioned incidentally and secondarily to the main object ;¹ as, τοῖν ὀφθαλμοῖν ὁρῶμεν, "we see with the two eyes;" οἱ πολέμοι ἐβαλλον λίθοις, καὶ ἔπαιον μαχαίραις, "the enemy threw with stones and struck with swords."

7. The motive and cause are put in the dative, and hence the verbs "to rejoice," "to be delighted," "to be grieved," &c., govern the object by which the feeling is occasioned in the dative ; as, φόβῳ ἀπῆλθον, "they departed through fear;" σοὶ χαίρουσιν, "they delight in thee;" λυπούμεθα τούτοις, "we are grieved by these things."

8. The manner and way in which a thing takes place are put in the dative ; as, βίῃ εἰς τὴν οἰκίαν εἰσῆλθον, "they entered into the house by force;" πάντα διετέτακτο μέτρῳ καὶ τόπῳ, "all things were arranged by measure and by place."

9. The period of time at which a thing takes place, or during which a thing continues or exists, is put in the dative ; as, τῇδε τῇ νυκτί, "on this very night;" τρὶς ἐνίκησαν ταύτῃ τῇ ἡμέρᾳ, "they conquered thrice during this same day."

10. The verb εἰμί, when put for ἔχω, "to have," governs the dative ; as, ὅσοις οὐκ ἦν ἀργυρος, "as many as had not money."

11. An impersonal verb governs the dative ; as, ἔξεστί μοι ἀπιέναι, "it is lawful for me to depart."

12. Neuter adjectives in τέον govern the person in the dative, and the thing in the case of the verb from which they are derived ; as, τοῦτο ποιητέον ἐστί μοι, "I must do this;" τοῦτου ἐπιμελητέον ἐστὶν ὑμῖν, "you must take care of this."

1. Hence the verb χρῆσθαι, "to use," "to make use of," takes the dative.

ACCUSATIVE.

1. A verb signifying actively governs the accusative ; as, οἱ Ἕλληνες ἐνίκησαν τοὺς Πέρσας, "the Greeks conquered the Persians."

2. Other verbs also, which in Latin frequently take the object in the dative, or are connected with it by a preposition, require in Greek the accusative ; such as verbs signifying "to benefit," "to injure," and, in general, all which denote an action tending to the advantage or disadvantage of a person ;¹ as, ὠφέλησε τοὺς συνόντας, "he benefited those who associated with him ;" ὁ κολακεύων τοὺς φίλους βλάπτει, "he that flatters injures his friends ;" τιμωροῦνται τοὺς ἀδίκους, "they punish the unjust."

3. The accusative also occurs in Greek with intransitive verbs, when the object which receives the action contained in the verb is definitely assigned, as in verbs signifying "to go," "to come," "to reach," "to arrive at," &c. Thus, τὴν νῆσον ἀφίκετο, "he came to the island ;" πορεύεσθαι ὁδόν, "to go upon a journey."

4. Every verb may take an accusative of a cognate noun ; as, κινδυνεύσω τοῦτον κίνδυνον, "I will encounter this danger ;" ἡσθένησαν ταύτην ἀσθένειαν, "they were sick with this sickness ;" ἐπιμέλονται πᾶσαν ἐπιμέλειαν, "they exercise all care ;" πόλεμον πολεμήσομεν, "we will wage war."

5. Many verbs, the action of which admits of more than one object, without determining the nearest, have in Greek a double accusative, namely, the accusative of the person and the accusative of the thing. To these belong verbs signifying "to do good or evil to one," "to speak good or evil of one," "to ask," "to demand," "to teach," "to put on or off," "to take away," "to deprive," "to conceal," &c. ; as,

1. The verb λυσιτελεῖν, "to be of use to," always takes the dative ; on the contrary, the occurrence of ὠφελεῖν with the dative is rare, and confined to the poets ; as, Soph. Antig. 558, ὥστε τοῖς θανούσιν ὠφελεῖν.

κακὰ πολλὰ ἔοργε Τρῶας, "he has done many evils to the Trojans;" ἀγαθὰ εἶπεν αὐτοὺς, "he said good things of them;" εἶρετο ἅπαντας τὸν παῖδα, "he asked all about his son;" τοὺς μαθητὰς ἐδίδαξε σωφροσύνην, "he taught his disciples continence."

6. Verbs governing two accusatives in the active retain one in the passive, namely, the accusative of the thing; as, σκῆπτρον τιμὰς τε ἀποσουλᾶται, "he is despoiled of his sceptre and honours;" ἐπαιδεύθη μουσικὴν καὶ ῥητορικὴν, "he was taught music and rhetoric."

7. When, in addition to the whole object, which receives the action of the verb, particular specification is also made of a part, in which this action is principally shown, both the whole and part stand, especially with the poets, as proximate objects in the accusative; as, μὲν λόντα βάλε στῆθος, "he wounded him, as he came on, in the breast;" τρόμος ὑπῆλθε γυῖα ἕκαστον, "trembling came upon each one in his limbs beneath."

8. Since the accusative serves always to designate the object upon which an action immediately passes, it frequently stands also with intransitive verbs and adjectives containing a general expression, and indicates the part or more definite object to which this expression must be principally referred. This is called the accusative of nearer definition, and is to be expressed in English by different prepositions, especially by in, as to, with respect to.¹ Thus, τὸν δάκτυλον ἀλγῶ τοῦτον, "I feel a pain in this finger;" πόδας ὥκεις Ἀχιλλεύς, "Achilles swift as to his feet;" Σύρος ἦν τὴν πατρίδα, "he was a Syrian as to his native country;" τὸ δένδρον πεντήκοντα ποδῶν ἔστι τὸ ὕψος, "the tree is fifty feet in height."

9. Time how long is put in the accusative; as, ὅσον χρόνον ἂν πόλεμος ᾔ, "for as long a time as there may be war;"

1. It is generally assumed that κατά, or some other preposition, is understood in such constructions, but this is not correct.

καὶ χθὲς δὲ καὶ τρίτην ἡμέραν τὸ αὐτὸ τοῦτο ἐπραττον,
"they did this same thing during both yesterday and the day previous."

10. Distance and space are put in the accusative; as, ἀπέχει ὀκτὼ ἡμερῶν ὁδὸν ἀπὸ Βαβυλῶνος, "it is distant a journey of eight days from Babylon."

VERBS PASSIVE.

1. Verbs of a passive signification are followed in Greek by a genitive, governed by ὑπό, ἀπό, ἐκ, παρά, or πρὸς; as, ὁ νοῦς ὑπὸ οἴνου διαφθείρεται, "the understanding is impaired by wine;" ἅλλαι γυνῶμαι ἀφ' ἐκάστων ἐλέγοντο, "other opinions were expressed by each."

2. The dative, however, is sometimes employed by the poets instead of the genitive; as, Ἀχιλλῇ ἐδάμη, "he was subdued by Achilles."

3. The dative is very frequently put with the perfect passive of verbs, whose perfect active is not much used; as, ταῦτα λέλεκται ἡμῖν, "these things have been said by us," for λέλοχα ταῦτα.

INFINITIVE.

1. The infinitive mood is used to express the cause or end of an action; as, θέλω ᾄδειν, "I wish to sing."

2. The infinitive, with the neuter of the article prefixed, is used as a species of verbal noun; and very frequently the article is thus appended to an entire clause, of which the infinitive forms a part; as, τὸ λύειν, "the loosening;" τὸ ἔχειν χρήματα, "the having money."

3. The infinitive in Greek is governed by adjectives, and denotes the respect in which the idea of the adjective is to be applied;¹ as, ἱκανοὶ τέρπειν φαίνονται, "they appear calculated to delight;" οὐ δεινὸς ἐστὶ λέγειν, ἀλλ' ἀδ-

1. This is imitated in Latin by the poets; as, idoneus delectare, utilis facere. In prose, however, the gerund with a preposition must be employed; as, idoneus ad delectandum, &c.

ύνατος σιγᾶν, "he is not able in speaking, but unable to keep silent."

4. The infinitive is used with ὥστε, more rarely with ὡς, to express the consequence of an event indicated by the leading verb; as, φιλοτιμώτατος ἦν ὁ Κῦρος, ὥστε πάντα ὑπομεῖναι τοῦ ἐπαινέσθαι ἕνεκα, "Cyrus was very ambitious, so as to endure all things for the sake of being praised."

5. The infinitive is frequently used, in short intermediate propositions, sometimes with, sometimes without ὡς, to indicate an aim, or else to qualify what precedes; as, ὡς ἐπος εἰπεῖν, "so to speak;" ἀπλῶς εἰπεῖν, "to speak plainly;" ὅσον ἐμὲ εἰδέναι, "as far as I know;" ἐμοὶ δοκεῖν, "as appears to me."

6. The nominative, and not the accusative, is put with the infinitive whenever the reference is to the same person that forms the subject of the leading verb;¹ as, ἔφασκεν εἶναι Διὸς υἱός, "he said he was the son of Jupiter;" ἐπεισα αὐτοὺς εἶναι θεός, "I persuaded them that I was a god."

7. The genitive and dative sometimes follow the infinitive by a species of attraction; as, ἐδέοντο αὐτοῦ εἶναι προθύμον, "they besought him to be zealous;" δός μοι φανῆναι ἄξιον, "grant unto me to appear worthy."

8. The infinitive εἶναι, with and without an article, is put absolutely with adjectives, adverbs, or prepositions, with their case; as, ἐκὼν εἶναι, "willingly;" τὸ σύμπαν εἶναι, "generally;" τὸ μὲν τήμερον εἶναι, "to-day at least;" τὸ κατὰ τοῦτο εἶναι, "with respect to this."

9. The infinitive is frequently put for the imperative, particularly in the poets;² as, θαρσῶν νῦν, Διόμηδες, ἐπὶ Τρώεσσι μάχεσθαι, "taking courage, now, oh Diomede, fight

1. The accusative, however, is joined with such infinitives whenever emphasis is required; as, Κροῖσος ἐνόμιζε ἐαυτὸν εἶναι πάντων ὀλβιώτατον, "Cresus thought that he himself was the happiest of all men" (Herod. 1, 34).

2. Some understand, but without any necessity, an ellipsis of some verb, such as ἔρα or δός, in such constructions.

against the Trojans;" φάσκειν Μυκήνας ὄραν, "say that thou seest Mycenæ."

10. The infinitive of the present, future, and aorists, but more particularly of the future, when preceded by the verb μέλλω, expresses the future, and answers to the future participle active in Latin with the verb sum; as, μέλλω γράφειν, "I am about to write" (scripturus sum); μελλήσω γράφειν, "I will be about to write" (scripturus ero); ἐμέλλησα γράφειν, "I was about to write" (scripturus fui).

PARTICIPLE.

1. The participle is put after a verb, and in the nominative case, when the reference is to some state as existing at the time on the part of the subject, or to some action as being performed by it.¹ Thus, οἶδα θνητὸς ὦν, "I know that I am a mortal;" φαίνεται ὁ νόμος ἡμᾶς βλάπτων, "the law appears to be injuring us;" παύσασθε ἀδικοῦντες, "cease acting wrongfully."

2. If, however, the subject belonging to the participle stands with the principal verb as a proximate object in the accusative, the participle also stands in the accusative; as, οἱ Ἀθηναῖοι ἐπαυσαν αὐτὸν στρατηγοῦντα, "the Athenians caused him to cease being a commander;" οὗς ἂν ὁρῶ τὰ ἀγαθὰ ποιούντας, "whomsoever I may see doing the things that are good."

3. If the subject belonging to the participle stands with the principal verb as the remote object in the genitive or dative, the participle, in like manner, takes the genitive or dative;² as, ᾗσθόμην αὐτῶν ολομένων εἶναι σοφωτάτων, "I perceived that they fancied themselves very wise;" οὐδέποτε

1. This again is a species of attraction, and proceeds, as in other cases, from the circumstance of a dependant proposition having no subject of its own.

2. When a reflexive pronoun stands with the verb, the participle can be put in either of two cases, according as it is referred to the subject contained in the verb or pronoun; as, συνοῖδα ἑμαυτῷ σοφὸς ὦν, "I am conscious to myself of being wise;" σαντῷ συνήδεis ἀδικοῦντι, "you were conscious to yourself of acting wrongfully."

μετεμέλησέ μοι σιγήσαντι, "I never repented of having been silent."

4. The verb "to be ashamed" takes the participle when the action of which one is ashamed is performed; the infinitive when the action is declined through shame; as, αλσχύνομαι ποιήσας, "I am ashamed to have done it;" αλσχύνομαι ἔρσεθαι, "I am ashamed to ask."

5. The verbs "to commence," "to begin," take the participle when the assigned state has already begun to take place; the infinitive when it is just about to take place; as, ὁ χειμῶν ἤρξατο γενόμενος, "the winter was come on;" ὁ χειμῶν ἤρχετο γίγνεσθαι, "the winter was beginning to come on" (i. e., it approached, but was not yet arrived).

6. The verbs "to hear" and "to learn" take the participle when a fact is adduced which we perceive with our own ears; the infinitive when something is assigned which we hear from the narration of others; as, ἤκουσα τὸν Δημοσθένη λέγοντα, "I heard Demosthenes speak;" ἀκούω τὸν Δημοσθένη λεγείν, "I hear (i. e., I am told) that Demosthenes says."

7. The verb φαίνεσθαι takes the participle in the signification "to be evident," "to be manifest;" but the infinitive in the signification "to seem," "to have the appearance;" as, ἐφαίνετο κλαίειν, "he was just as though he wept;" ἐφαίνετο κλαίων, "he evidently wept."

8. Verbs signifying "to declare," "to announce," "to show," take the participle when something is announced or shown as a fact; but the infinitive when it is assigned that something may or is said to be. Thus, ἀπηγγέλλετο Ποτιδαία πολιορκουμένη, "Potidaea was announced to be in a state of siege" (when it is certain that it is besieged); ἀπηγγέλλετο Ποτιδαία πολιορκεῖσθαι, "Potidaea was reported to be in a state of siege" (when intelligence is given merely resting on report).

9. To some verbs which merely express subordinate definitions of an action, the Greeks add the participle of the verb which expresses the principal action. Such verbs are τυγχάνω, λανθάνω, φθάνω, διατελέω, &c., which, in translation, are sometimes rendered by adverbs.¹ Thus, ἔτυχον παρόντες, "they chanced to be present;" ἔλαθεν ἐργετῶν, "he conferred kindnesses secretly;" φθάνει ποιῶν, "he does it before another;" διατετέλεκα φεύγων, "I have always avoided."

10. The participle in intermediate propositions is either explanatory, and is then expressed by the relative who, which; or, 2. it denotes relations of time, and is expressed by the English particles when, while, after, &c.; or, 3. it denotes relations of cause, like the particles because, since, as; or, 4. it expresses condition, like the particles if, although. Thus, χαλεπὸν ἐστι λέγειν πρὸς γαστέρα, ὥτα οὐκ ἔχουσιν, "it is a difficult thing to speak to a stomach which has no ears;" ἀδύνατον πολλὰ τεχνῶμενον ἄνθρωπον πάντα καλῶς ποιεῖν, "it is impossible for a man when trying many things to do all well;" ἀδικεῖ Σωκράτης οὐ νομίζων θεοὺς εἶναι, "Socrates violates the laws, because he does not think that there are any gods;" δένδρα μὲν τμηθέντα ταχέως φύεται, "trees, although lopped of their branches, quickly grow again."

11. A participle and verb are to be translated as two verbs with the copulative conjunction; as, τὴν οἰκίαν πριάμενος ἀπῆλθε, "he bought the house and departed."

12. A participle, with a substantive, &c., whose case depends on no other word, is put in the genitive absolute;²

1. With a participle τυγχάνω signifies forte; λανθάνω, clam or imprudens; and φθάνω, præ. The primitive meaning of φθάνω is "to get beforehand," "to get the start of." The verb τυγχάνω is often used in the manner indicated by the rule, when it is impossible to be expressed in translation. For the Greeks, in order to designate the absence of human intention and will, very frequently join it with those verbs also which, without it, express a mere occurrence of nature or of chance; as, ἔτυχε θανόν, "he was dead;" τυγχάνουσιν ἔχοντες, "they have."

2. If a longer historical period is to be assigned by this genitive, the preposition ἐπὶ is usually added; as, ἐπὶ Κύρου βασιλεύοντος, "under the reign of Cyrus," i. e., as long as Cyrus reigned.

as, ἐκείνου εἰπόντος, πάντες ἐσίγων, "he having spoken, all were silent."

13. As the dative also is frequently used in Greek for definitions of time, and to assign the cause, datives absolute also occur, though much more rarely than the genitive;¹ as, περιῖοντι τῷ ἐνιαυτῷ, "as the year came to a close;" εἰργόμενοις αὐτοῖς τῆς θαλάσσης, "they being cut off from the sea."

14. Accusatives absolute stand in Greek only in those cases where, in relating another's actions, the narrator assigns by conjecture the motive which influenced the agent. The participle is then accompanied by the particles ὥς, ἄτε, ὥσπερ, or ὥς ἂν, and the use of the accusative must be explained elliptically, as dependant upon a verb "to suppose," "to believe," "to imagine," which is indicated in the particles ὥς, &c.; as, ᾗχετο πρὸς τοὺς θεοὺς ἀπλῶς τὰγαθὰ διδόναι, ὥς τοὺς θεοὺς κάλλιστα εἰδότες, ὅποια ἀγαθὰ ἔστιν, "he prayed the gods simply to give him the things that were good, since (in his belief) the gods know best what things are good."

15. If in an intermediate proposition one of the relations, which are otherwise designated by genitives absolute, is to be expressed by the participle of an impersonal verb, this participle then stands in its absolute form, as a nominative absolute.² Thus, διὰ τί μένεις, ἔξδὸν ἀπιέναι; "why do you remain, when it is allowed you to depart?" ὁ δ' ἐμὸς παῖς βαλὼν, οὐδὲν δέον, καταβάλλει τὸν ἄρκτον, "but my son, having thrown, what ought not to have been done, strikes down the boar."

1. Care must, however, be taken not to consider passages of ancient authors as proofs of this usage, where the dative can by any means be explained in a dependant sense.

2. The nominative absolute is also used in impersonal phrases formed with ἔστι and a neuter adjective, where a participial construction enters; as, δίκαιον ἐν, "it being just;" ἀδύνατον ἐν, "as it is impossible."

PROSODY.¹

1. PROSODY (προσῳδία), in its common acceptation at the present day, treats of the quantity of syllables, or the time occupied in pronouncing them.

2. In the ancient grammarians, προσῳδία applies also to accent and breathings.

3. The vowels ε and ο are short by nature; η and ω are long by nature; and α, ι, υ, are termed doubtful.

4. When a vowel is said to be short by nature, the meaning is, that it is short by its natural pronunciation, being equivalent merely to one short time. On the other hand, a vowel long by nature is long by its natural pronunciation, being equal to two short times. Thus η is equivalent to εε, and ω to οο.

5. Hence it follows, that the short vowel ε has η for its corresponding long one; and the short vowel ο, in like manner, has ω for its long. But in the case of α, ι, υ, there is no distinct mark or letter by which the eye can tell at the instant whether these vowels are long or short, and hence they are called doubtful.

6. It must be carefully borne in mind, however, that, by actual usage, every syllable in any particular case always has a definite quantity, either long or short; and that, when we speak of doubtful syllables, we do not mean that they have anything doubtful in their nature, or wavering between long and short as regards the same word; but only that they have no corresponding long or short marks by which the eye can detect their quantity at a glance.

1. For a more enlarged view of this subject, consult the author's larger work on Greek Prosody.

7. The quantity of syllables is determined by various methods :

I. POSITION.

1. A short or doubtful vowel before two consonants or a double letter is almost always long ; as, στῆλλω, ὄμμα, ἀντάγω, τράπεζα, ἄμαξα, δῖψα.

2. These two consonants may belong to the same word with the vowel ; as, ἔσπερος, or one of them may belong to the same word, and the other to the succeeding word ; as, τῶν ἀμόθεν γε, θεὰ θύγατερ Διός, or both may be found at the beginning of the following word ; as, ἀνδρᾶ θνητὸν ἔοντα.

3. In scanning the dramatic writers, the following exceptions to this rule of position must be carefully noted.

I. A short vowel before a soft mute (π, κ, τ), or an aspirate (φ, χ, θ) followed by a liquid, is much rather left short than lengthened by the Attic poets.

II. A short vowel before a middle mute (β, γ, δ), followed by ρ, is short in the comic writers, but in tragedy is mostly long.

III. A short vowel before a middle mute, followed by any liquid except ρ, is almost always long. In Euripides such syllables are always long ; but in Æschylus, Sophocles, and Aristophanes, they are sometimes short.

IV. The tragic writers occasionally leave a vowel short before the two liquids μν.

4. The epic writers, such as Homer, &c., mostly avoid the shortening of syllables before a mute and liquid, and employ it chiefly when the word cannot in any other manner be adapted to the measure. Thus, in the case of such forms as Ζάκυνθος, Ζέλεια, Σκάμανδρος, σέπαρνον, &c., a preceding short vowel in another word remains short, notwithstanding the double consonant Ζ and the two mutes σκ following immediately after.

II. ONE VOWEL BEFORE ANOTHER.

1. One vowel before another or before a diphthong is generally short, unless lengthened by poetic license or some other peculiar cause; as, ἀγλαός, ἡέριος.

2. But the Greek poets, especially the epic, often lengthen vowels, even when another follows, by the aid of the arsis; and this takes place not only in doubtful vowels, but also in those which are naturally short.

3. By arsis, which is called by some cesura, is meant the stress of the voice that is brought to bear upon a particular syllable in each foot during the reciting of a line. In the dactyl it falls on the first syllable; in the iambus on the last; and in the trochee again on the first; its place being regulated by the long syllable.

4. The spondee leaves the place of the arsis undetermined; and this becomes settled only by the nature of the verse in which the spondee is employed. Thus, in dactylic and trochaic measure, the arsis falls on the first syllable of the spondee; but in iambic on the last.

5. The following are instances of lengthening by arsis. Thus, οἶες (Od. 9, 425); κατὰ λιπάρην (Il. 6, 64); δὲ μελίην (Il. 20, 322), &c.

6. In the epic writers, long vowels and diphthongs are mostly short at the end of words when the next word begins with a vowel;¹ as, ἡμένη ἐν βένθεσσιν (Il. 1, 358) ἄμφω ὁμῶς (Ib. 23); δεχθαὶ ἄποινα (Ib. 57).

7. On the contrary, the long vowel retains its natural

1. The principle on which this depends is easily explained. The η in ἡμένη, for example, is equal to εε, and one of these epsilons being supposed to be elided before the initial vowel of the following word, the other epsilon remains, of course, short by nature. In other words, the final vowel of ἡμένη loses, as it were, a portion of its natural length by the sinking of the voice and by the vowel immediately following it. So the ω in ἄμφω is equivalent to two omicrons, one of which it loses before the following vowel, while the other remains short. In like manner, the diphthong αι in δεχθαί is supposed to lose a vowel.

measure when it falls in the arsis of the foot. The following Homeric verse contains examples of both kinds.¹

Ἥμετέρῳ ἐνὶ οἰκῷ, ἐν Ἀργεῖ, τηλόθι πάτρης. (Il. 1, 30.)

III. CONTRACTION.

1. All contracted syllables are long ; as, ἱρός for ἱερός ; ὄφις for ὄφιος, &c.

2. Two vowels forming two syllables are frequently contracted into one in poetry ; as in χρυσέω (Il. 1, 15), where εω forms a single syllable. This is frequent in the dramatic writers, where the syllables are in different words, and is called synizesis ; as, μὴ εἰδέναι (Hippol. 1331), where the η and ει are to be pronounced as one syllable ; ἦ εὐγένειαν (Eurip. Electr. 1104).

IV. DIALECT.

1. The Doric α is long ; as, φάμᾱ, γυνᾱ, Αἰνείᾱ. And so is the α in the uncontracted form αο of the genitive ; as, Ἀτρείδᾱο.

2. The Æolic α is short ; as, νύμφᾱ, ποιήτᾱ, κομήτᾱ.

3. In the Ionic dialect α is generally short in the penult of the perfect tenses, such as γεγάᾱ ; and always short in the third person plural of the passive in ᾶται and ᾶτο ; as, ἔᾶται, δεδμήᾶτο.

4. The Ionic third person plural in ασι is always long ; as, ἔᾱσι, τιθεᾱσι.

5. The Ionic writers double the σ and some other consonants at pleasure ; a license which the Attic poets never used, either in tragedy or comedy. Thus, in Homer, we have στήθεσιν for στήθεσιν; ὀπότερος for ὀπότερος, &c.

1. Here, after one of the vowels has been supposed to be elided, and a single short vowel remains, this latter, being in the arsis of the foot, receives the stress of the voice, and becomes long again. Thus, in the foot ρῶ ἐνι, the syllable ρω is in the arsis, and hence, though one of the omicrons composing the omega is supposed to be cut off before the initial vowel of ἐνι, and only a single omicron remains, that omicron is nevertheless lengthened by the stress of the voice falling upon it. On the other hand, in the foot οἰκῷ ἐν, the omega is not in the arsis, and hence, after this vowel has lost one of its component omicrons before the next word, there is no stress of the voice upon the other omicron, and therefore it remains short.

V. DERIVATION.

1. Derivatives for the most part follow the quantity of the words from which they are derived; as, νικάω from νίκη; τιμάω from τιμή.

2. But many derivatives from verbs differ in quantity from the present tenses of these verbs, as being immediately formed from the perfect passive, with a short penult. Thus, κρίτης and κρίσις, though the verb be κρίνω, because they are immediately formed from κέκριται, κέκρισαι.¹

VI. COMPOSITION.

1. Compound words generally follow the quantity of their primitives; as, ἄτιμος from τιμή; μυοπαῖρων from μῦς, γενῆμος and παῖρων.

2. The privative a is commonly short; as, ἄεργός, ἄεκων, ἄθυμος, but ἄθάνατος and ἄκάματος are excepted, and, on account of the number of short syllables that follow, and which would make the words otherwise difficult to employ in verse, have the initial a always long.

3. The particles δα, ζα, αρι, ερι, and δως, are short; as, δαφοινός, ζᾶθεος, ἄριδείκετος, ἔρικνός, δύσαής.

VII. INCREASE OF NOUNS.

1. A in the increment of nouns is generally short; as, σῶμα, ἄτος; κρέας, ἄτος; νέκταρ, ἄρος; μέλαν, ἄνος, &c.

Exceptions.

1. All increments in ανος are long except τάλαντος and μέλαντος; as, Τιτάν, ἄνος; Πάν, ἄνος.

1. In the same way, διατρίβα, from διέτρίβον, the second aorist of διατρίβω; and παρὰψύχῃ, from παρέψυχον, the second aorist of παράψυχω.

2. All increments in ακος, from nominatives in αξ pure, are long; as, ολαξ, ἄκος; ῥυαξ, ἄκος; φλυαξ, ἄκος, &c.

3. A is long in the dative plural of nouns, &c., that have a long penult in the genitive singular; as, γίγας, αντος, ᾱσι; τύψας, αντος, ᾱσι, &c. But those that are syncopated in the singular have the a short; as, ἀνδρᾱσι, πατρᾱσι, &c.

2. I is short in the increment of neuter nouns; as, μέλι, ἶτος; and in masculines and feminines which have the genitive in ιος, ιδος, or ιτος; as, πόλις, ἶος; ξίς, ἶδος; χάρις, ἶτος. But ἀψίς, βαλδής, καρίς, κνημής, σφραγής, and several others, are excepted.

3. I is long in the increment of masculine and feminine nouns which have two terminations in the nominative; as, δελφίς or δελφίν, ἶνος; ἄκτίς or ἄκτίν, ἶνος.

4. I is also long in the increment of monosyllables; as, θίν, θίνος; ἴς, ἶνος; λής, λήτος; excepting, however, τίς, τίνος; and Δίς, Διός.

5. I is also long in nouns in ις, ἰθος; ιψ, ἱπος; ιξ, ἱγος; and ιξ, ἱκος; as, ὄρνις, ἰθος; τῆττιξ, ἱγος; μάστιξ, ἱγος ("a lash"); φοίνιξ, ἱκος. Homer, however, has Θρήϊκες always short.

6. But i is generally short in nouns in ιψ, ἶθος; and ιξ, ἶχος; as, χέρνιψ, ἶθος; θρίξ, τρήχος; μάστιξ, ἶχος, "a gum."

7. Υ is short in the increment of monosyllables in υς, ὕος; as, δρῦς, δρῦος; μῦς, μῦός.

8. Υ is also short in the increment of neuters in υ; as, δάκρυ, ὕος; and in the increment of masculines and feminines in υς and υρ; as, νέκυς, ὕος; ἰλύς, ἰλῦος; λχθύς, λχθῦος; and also in the neuter noun πῦρ, πῦρός. But δαδός, ὑδός and κωμύς, ὕθος, must be excepted.

9. Υ is generally short in the increment of nouns in υξ and υψ; as, ὄρνυξ, ὕχος; Χάλυψ, ὕθος; except δοίδυξ, ὕκος; κόκκυξ, ὕγος; κήρυξ, ὕκος; κήϋξ, ὕκος; γρύψ, ὕπος; γρύψ, ὕπος; while Βέβρυξ has either ὑκος or ἕκος:

10. Nouns of two terminations, in υς and υν, have υ long in the increment; as, Φόρκυς, or Φόρκυν, ὑνος.

VIII. INCREASE OF VERBS.

1. The quantity of the penult in the present and imperfect remains the same through all the voices and moods; as, κρίνω, ἐκρίνον, κρίνε, κρίνοιμι, κρίνω, κρίνειν, κρίνων, κρίνομαι, ἐκρίνομην, κρίνον, &c.

2. Most tenses have the same quantity in the penult as those from which they are formed; as, ἐτύπον, τύπῳ, ἐτύπην, τύπήσομαι, τέτυπα, έτετύπειν.

3. Verbs in άζω, ίζω, and ύζω, are made short in the future; as, ἀρπάζω, ᾶσω; νομίζω, ῖσω; κλύζω, κλύσω.

4. Verbs in άω, where άω is preceded by a vowel, and all verbs in ράω, have the penult of the future long; as, έάω, έᾶσω; όράω, ᾶσω; δράω, ᾶσω.

5. Verbs in άω, when preceded by a consonant other than ρ, have the penult of the future short; as, σπάω, ᾶσω; γελάω, ᾶσω.

6. Liquid verbs, or those ending in λω, μω, νω, ρω, shorten the penult of the future, but in the first aorist active they invariably take either a long vowel or a diphthong; as, θάλλω, θαῶ, έθηλα; τέλλω, τέλω, έτελλα; φαίνω, φᾶνω, έφηνα; δαρθύνω, δαρθύνω, έδάρθυνα.

7. Verbs in ίω, not proceeding from roots in ζω, are made long in the future; as, κυλίω, ῖσω; κονίω, ῖσω. But έσθίω has the ι everywhere short.

8. Dissyllabic verbs in ύω are for the most part long in the future and aorists; as, δύω, δύσω, έδύσα; τρύω, τρύσω, έτρύσα. Except πτύω, πτύσω, έπτύσα; κύω, κύσω, έκύσα; and one or two others.

9. Polysyllabic verbs in ύω, in the same manner, are for the most part long in the penult of the future and aorist; as, ισχύω, ισχύσω, ισχύσα; δακρύω, δακρύσω, έδακρύσα.

10. But polysyllables in υω are for the most part short ; as, ἀνῦω, ἀνῦσω ; ἀρῦω, ἀρῦσω ; ἀφῦω, ἀφῦσω.

11. Verbs in νω, which have lengthened forms in νμ, for the most part shorten the doubtful vowel ; as, δεικνῦω, ἐδείκνυον ; μυγνῦω, ἐμύγνυον. The verbs φῦω and δῦω are not exceptions to this rule, since they do not furnish complete forms in νμ, but only in the second aorist.

12. Polysyllables in νμ have the υ everywhere short, except in the singular number of the present tense active, and the third person plural of the same tense and voice ; as, ζεύγνυμι, ζευγνῦσι ; but ζεύγνυμεν, ζεύγνυτε, ζεύγνυναι, &c.

13. On the other hand, dissyllables in νμ have the υ everywhere long ; as, δῦθι, δύναι, ἐδῦτε, &c.

14. The penult of the second future and second aorist is always short ; as, δᾶμῶ, λᾶθῶ, κρῦβῶ, λίπῶ ; ἐδᾶμον, ἐλᾶθον, ἐκρῦβον, ἐλίπον. With the single exception of the verb πλήσσω, which, in the epic dialect, retains the long vowel in the penult ; as, ἐπλήγγον, ἐπλήγγην.

15. The third person plural in ασι, and the feminine participle in ασα, are always long ; as, λελοίπᾱσι, κεκρύφᾱσι, ἰστᾱσι ; τύφᾱσα, γράφᾱσα, &c.

16. The augment, which, in verbs beginning with υ or ι, consists merely in lengthening this vowel, makes, of course, the initial syllable of the historical tenses long ; as, ἵκετεύω, ἰκέτενον, ἰκέτενσα.

17. The doubtful vowel in the penult of the perfect active strictly follows the measure of the root in the present. Hence the middle syllable is short in most forms which have α in the present ; as, γράφω, γέγραφα ; but it fluctuates in those with ι and υ ; as, τρίβω, τέτριφα, but ρίπτω, ῥήριφα ; and again, κύπτω, κεκῦφα ; but κρύπτω, κέκρῦφα.

18. The perfect middle, with the exception of those which have α in the root, and change it into ο (as τρέφω, ἔτραφον, τέτροφα), has usually a long vowel in the penult ; as, ἄγω,

"I break," perfect middle ἔαγα. So ἀνδάνω, ἔαδα; κράζω, κέκρᾱγα; ῥιγέω, ἔρριγα; τρίζω, τέτριγα; φρίσσω, πέφρικα, &c. But πέφρᾱδα and some others are found short, and, in old forms, the first vowel was shortened by position after rejecting the intermediate consonant; as, βέβᾱα, γεγαᾱ, δειδᾱα, πεφῶα.

19. Perfects with what is called the Attic reduplication have usually, in polysyllabic verbs, a short vowel in the penult; as, ἀλείφω, ἀληλίφα; ὀρύσσω, ὀρώρῡχα, &c. Still, however, in Ionic poets, forms of this kind are occasionally lengthened; as, εἰλήλουθα, ὑπεμνήμυκε (Il. 22, 491).

20. When α is inserted in the third person plural of the perfect or pluperfect, or of the optative, it is always short; as, ὀρωρέχᾱτο, κεκλίᾱται, πειθοίᾱτο, &c.

21. The reduplication before the root of verbs in μ is short; as, τίθημι, δίδομι.

22. In verbs in μ the α is always short; as, ἰσᾱ́τον, ἰσᾱ́μεν, &c. Except in the third person plural in ᾱσι, and in the masculine and feminine participles; as, ἰσᾱ́σι, ἰσᾱ́ς, ἰσᾱ́σα.

IX. DOUBTFUL VOWEL IN THE PENULT.

As a general rule, it may be laid down that a doubtful vowel in the penult of Greek words is generally short. Some particular exceptions, however, will here be noted.¹

I. Long a in the penult.

1. In ᾱήρ and compounds; Πτολεμᾱίς, Λυκᾱων, Μαχᾱων, Ποσειδᾱων, and the like; λαός and derivatives; ναός, αἵξ, and compounds; and in verbs in ᾱω, when ᾱω is preceded by an ε or the letter ρ; as, ἔᾱω, περᾱω, δρᾱω, with their compounds. Still, however, there are several exceptions; as, κυκᾱω, τιμᾱω, ἐρυθριᾱω, μειδιᾱω, σιγαᾱω, σιωπᾱω, &c., in which ᾱω is not preceded by an ε or the letter ρ.

1. These exceptions are noted more fully in the larger Prosody.

2. In ικᾶνω and compounds. So, also, in κικᾶνω and φθᾶνω with Homer and the epic poets, but κικᾶνω and φθᾶνω in the Attic tragic writers.
3. In all derivatives from verbs in ᾰω pure and ῥᾰω; as, θεᾶμα, θεᾶσις, θεᾶτός; δράμα, δράσις, δράτός; λάμα, λάσις, λάτρος, &c.
4. In names of nations and proper names; as, Ἀσιᾶτης, Σπαρτιᾶτης, Τεγεᾶτης. And also in the feminines formed from them; as, Ἀσιᾶτις, Μιδεᾶτις. Add likewise names of rivers, mountains, and islands; as, Εὐφράτης, Νιφᾶτης, Λευκάτης, &c. But forms of this kind proceeding from short roots have the short vowel; as, Δαλμᾶτης, Γαλᾶτης, &c.

II. Long ι in the penult.

1. Ι in the penultimate is long in Homeric feminines, such as ἀεργίη, ἀθνημία, ἀπιστιή, &c., where the Attics have ἀργία, ἀθνημία, ἀπιστία, &c. But άνια and καλλία are long in both Homeric and Attic Greek, the Homeric form being άνιη and καλίη. Another term, κονία (Hom. κονίη), has the penult common in Homeric Greek, but in the singular more frequently long, in the plural always short. In the tragic writers it occurs thrice, and each time with the penult short.
2. Ι is long in proper names in ων, which shorten the vowel in the genitive; as, Ἀμφίων, Δολίων, Πανδίων, gen. Πανδίωνος. On the contrary, those remain short which take the long vowel in the genitive; as, Βουκολίων, Ἡετίων, Ολνοπίων, gen. Ολνοπίωνος.
3. Comparatives in ων have the ι long in Attic, but short elsewhere; as, γλυκίων, κακίων, &c.
4. Ι is long in the penult of verbs in ίω, not proceeding from roots in ζω; as, φθίω, χρίω, πρίω, κυλίω, &c. But those which had originally a ζ in the root are short; as, ἀτίω, μαστίω, to which add ἐσθίω and αἰώ, though not from such roots.

5. I is long in the penult of verbs in ίνω ; as, κλίνω, κρίνω, πίνω, ορίνω, &c. Except τίνω and φθίνω, which are long in Homer, but short in Attic.
6. I is long in nouns in ίτη, ίτης, ίτις ; as, Ἀφροδίτη, Ἀμφιτρίτη, δωματίτις, πολίτης, οπλίτης, &c. Except, however, κρίτης, and other derivatives from the perfect passive with a short penult.

III. Long v in the penult.

1. Υ is common in the penult of verbs in ύω. Some, however, occur more frequently with the long penult ; as, ισχύω, δακρύω, ξύω, θύω, λύω ; others, again, are found more commonly with the short penult ; as, βρύω, άρύω, άρτυω, δεικνύω, πληθύω, &c.
2. Υ is long in most verbals in υμα, from verbs in ύω ; as, θύμα, κῦμα, λῦμα, άρτυμα, μηνῦμα ; except, however, έρυμα, πλύμα, ρύμα, "a river," &c., which are invariably short.
3. Υ is long in θύμος, "animus," and its compounds, άθύμος, ράθύμος, &c. But θύμος, "thymus," has the penult short.
4. Υ is long in the plural cases of the pronoun συ ; as, ὑμεῖς, ὑμῶν, ὑμῖν, ὑμῶς.
5. Υ is long in verbs in ύνω ; as, εὐθύνω, ὀτρύνω, πλύνω, &c., but not in the future ; as, εὐθύνῶ, ὀτρύνῶ. When, however, they terminate in έω, the v is short ; as, πλυνέω.
6. Υ is long in all verbs in ύρω ; as, φύρω, σύρω, κύρω, άθύρω, &c. But, when ύρω becomes υρέω, the v is short ; as, κῦρέω, μαρτυρέω, &c.
7. Υ before σ is almost always long ; as, Δίονῦσος, Χρῦσός, Ἀμφρύσος, Καμβύσης, &c. Except verbals in ύσις ; as, λύσις, άνυσις, &c.
8. Υ is long in derivatives in ύτηρ, ύτης, and ύτις ; as, μηνύτηρ, μηνύτης, πρεσβύτης, πρεσβύτις

9. Υ is long in adjectives in $\upsilon\tau\omicron\varsigma$ derived from long verbal roots in $\acute{\upsilon}\omega$; as, $\acute{\alpha}\delta\acute{\alpha}\kappa\rho\upsilon\tau\omicron\varsigma$, $\pi\omicron\lambda\nu\delta\acute{\alpha}\kappa\rho\upsilon\tau\omicron\varsigma$, $\acute{\alpha}\tau\rho\upsilon\tau\omicron\varsigma$, &c.
10. Υ is long in verbs in $\acute{\upsilon}\chi\omega$; as, $\beta\rho\acute{\upsilon}\chi\omega$, $\tau\rho\acute{\upsilon}\chi\omega$, and their compounds.
11. Υ is long in the following words ; $\psi\acute{\upsilon}\chi\eta$, $\psi\acute{\upsilon}\chi\omicron\varsigma$, $\acute{\epsilon}\mu\psi\acute{\upsilon}\chi\omicron\varsigma$, $\kappa\alpha\tau\alpha\psi\acute{\upsilon}\chi\omega$, &c.

X. DOUBTFUL VOWEL BEFORE THE PENULTIMATE.

The doubtful vowels before the penultimate are generally short. The exceptions to this rule are, however, many in number, and are best learned from a prosodial lexicon.¹

XI. FINAL SYLLABLES.

I. Final α , $\alpha\nu$, $\alpha\rho$, and $\alpha\varsigma$.

- I. Final α is short ; as, $\tau\rho\acute{\alpha}\pi\epsilon\zeta\acute{\alpha}$, $\acute{\iota}\nu\acute{\alpha}$, $\acute{\iota}\pi\pi\acute{o}\tau\acute{\alpha}$, $\tau\acute{\epsilon}\tau\nu\phi\acute{\alpha}$.

Exceptions.

1. But α pure is long ; as, $\acute{\Lambda}\theta\acute{\eta}\nu\alpha\acute{\alpha}$, $\phi\acute{\iota}\lambda\acute{\iota}\alpha$, $\sigma\acute{\iota}\kappa\acute{\upsilon}\nu\alpha$; except verbals in $\tau\rho\acute{\iota}\alpha$; as, $\psi\alpha\lambda\tau\rho\acute{\iota}\alpha$; and derivatives from adjectives in $\eta\varsigma$; as, $\acute{\alpha}\lambda\acute{\eta}\theta\epsilon\iota\alpha$; and also $\acute{\iota}\epsilon\rho\epsilon\iota\alpha$, $\kappa\acute{\omega}\delta\epsilon\iota\alpha$, $\beta\alpha\sigma\acute{\iota}\lambda\epsilon\iota\alpha$ ("a queen") ; but $\beta\alpha\sigma\iota\lambda\epsilon\acute{\iota}\alpha$ ("a kingdom") and $\beta\alpha\sigma\iota\lambda\epsilon\acute{\iota}\alpha$ (adj. fem. "royal") have the final vowel long.
2. The Doric α for η is long ; as, $\phi\acute{\alpha}\mu\alpha$, $\acute{\Lambda}\iota\nu\epsilon\acute{\iota}\alpha$; and also the Doric genitive in α from nominatives in $\alpha\varsigma$ and $\eta\varsigma$; as, $\acute{\Lambda}\nu\nu\acute{\iota}\beta\alpha\varsigma$, $\acute{\alpha}$; $\acute{\Lambda}\tau\rho\epsilon\acute{\iota}\delta\eta\varsigma$, $\acute{\alpha}$.
3. Words in $\delta\alpha$ and $\theta\alpha$ have the α long ; as, $\beta\alpha\sigma\acute{\iota}\lambda\upsilon\delta\alpha$, $\acute{\Lambda}\acute{\eta}\delta\alpha$, $\Sigma\mu\alpha\acute{\iota}\theta\alpha$, except $\acute{\alpha}\kappa\alpha\nu\theta\alpha$ and $\acute{\eta}\lambda\iota\theta\alpha$.
4. Words ending in $\rho\alpha$, not preceded by a diphthong ; as, $\kappa\acute{\alpha}\rho\alpha$, $\pi\acute{\eta}\rho\alpha$, $\chi\alpha\rho\alpha$, except $\acute{\alpha}\gamma\kappa\upsilon\rho\alpha$, $\gamma\acute{\epsilon}\phi\upsilon\rho\alpha$, $\delta\lambda\upsilon\rho\alpha$, $\kappa\acute{\epsilon}\rho\kappa\upsilon\rho\alpha$, and the perfect middle of verbs in $\rho\omega$; as, $\delta\acute{\iota}\epsilon\phi\theta\omicron\rho\alpha$, $\pi\acute{\epsilon}\tau\omicron\rho\alpha$.
5. Words ending in $\rho\alpha$, with a consonant preceding ; as,

1. They are given in full in the larger Prosody.

ἄγρᾱ, πέτρᾱ, ἀέστρᾱ ; except σφοδρᾱ, σκολοπένδρᾱ, Τανάγρᾱ.

6. All feminines adjectives from masculines in ος , as, δικαίᾱ ; except δίᾱ, πότνιᾱ, ἰᾱ, and μίᾱ.
7. Duals in α, as μονσᾱ ; and vocatives from nouns in ας ; as, Αλνείᾱ ; or poetical vocatives of the third declension ; as, Λαοδάμᾱ, Πολυδάμᾱ.
8. The accusative in εα, from the genitive (third declension) in εως ; as, Πηλέᾱ, from Πηλέως ; Βασιλέᾱ, from Βασιλέως ; but, in Homeric Greek, Πηλῆᾱ, from Πηλῆος ; Βασιλῆᾱ, from Βασιλῆος.
9. Nouns in εἰα, from verbs in εύω ; as, προφητεῖᾱ, δουλειᾱ.

II. Final αν is short ; as, ᾶν, πάμπᾶν, Αἰᾶν, μέλᾶν, ποιησᾶν, ἔτηνᾶν.

Exceptions.

1. Masculines in αν are long ; as, Τιτᾶν, παιᾶν.
2. The neuter adjective πᾶν ; and hence the Attics appear to have taken occasion to lengthen here and there the forms compounded with it ; as, ἄπᾶν, ἐπίπᾶν, παράπᾶν. But πάμπᾶν and πρόπᾶν are probably everywhere decidedly short.
3. Adverbs in αν ; as, λίᾶν, ἄγᾶν, πέρᾶν. On the contrary, ὅτᾶν and ὁπότᾶν follow the quantity of the simple ᾶν.
4. Accusatives of the first declension, from a long nominative ; as, φιλίᾶν, from φιλίᾱ ; Αλνείᾶν, from Αλνείας. But the accusative in αν from a short nominative is short ; as, ποτνίᾶν, from ποτνίᾱ ; τράπεζᾶν, from τράπεζᾱ.
5. The Doric genitive plural of the first declension in ᾶν, formed by contraction, is likewise always long ; as, μελιᾶν, νυμφᾶν, for μελιῶν, νυμφῶν. So, also, the Doric forms derived from those in η, or produced by contraction; as, ποιμᾶν, Ποσειδᾶν, Ἀλκμᾶν.

III. Final αρ is short; as, ὄνᾱρ, νέκτᾱρ, μάκᾱρ.

Exceptions.

1. Monosyllables in αρ are long; as, κᾱρ, ψᾱρ.
2. The adverb γάρ is properly short; but before οἰ and similar words it very often occurs long in epic language, through the force of the following breathing.

IV. Final ας is long; as, Αἰνεῖᾱς, πᾱς, ἰμᾱς, φιλῖᾱς, τύψᾱς, ἡμᾱς.

Exceptions.

1. Words of the third declension, not forming the genitive in αντος; as, μέλᾱς, μέγᾱς, λάμπᾱς, σέλᾱς, κέρᾱς, &c. But τάλᾱς has the final syllable long.
2. The accusative plural of nouns and participles of the third declension; as, Τιτᾶνᾱς, τύπτοντᾱς, ποιμενᾱς, φρένᾱς, &c. (but βασιλέᾱς, from βασιλέᾱ). The accusative plural of the first declension, on the other hand, is always long.
3. Adverbs in ας are short; as, πέλᾱς, ἀτρέμᾱς, ἀγκᾱς.
4. ας is short in the second person of the different tenses which terminate therein; as, ἐτεγξᾱς, τέγξειᾱς, οἰδᾱς, λέλοιπᾱς, πέφνκᾱς.
5. By a license of the Doric dialect, forms in ας, otherwise long, are occasionally shortened, and that, too, even in accusatives plural of the first declension; as, μοίρᾱς (Theocrit. 2, 160); αὐτᾱς (Id. 3, 2); νύμφᾱς (Id. 4, 29).

II. Final ι, ιν, and ις.

- I. Final ι is short; as, ἰφῖ, δῖ, μέλλι, τύπτονουῖ, τίθημι, &c.

Exceptions.

1. But the abridged form κρί (for κρίθη) is long, together with the names of letters in ι ; as, ξι, πι, &c.
2. The paragoric ι, added by the Attic comic poets and orators to certain pronouns and adverbs, is likewise long ; as, ούτοσί, νυνί, ούτωσί, &c. So the similar ι in the words όδι, ταυτί, δευρί, &c.
3. Adverbs ending in ι, and formed from nouns, have the ι either long or short, but more commonly short ; such as άμοχθί, άμαχητί, πανδημί, πανομλί, άπονητί, &c. But those which refer to nations have the ι always short ; as, Σκυθιστί, Άργολιστί, Βαρβαριστί, &c.

II. Final ιν is short ; as, τύπτουσιν, ξρύν, πάλιν, πόλιν, πρίν, νίν, σφίν.

Exceptions.

1. Final ιν, making ίνος in the genitive, is long ; as, ρήγμιν, ικτίν.
2. Nouns that have two terminations for the nominative ; as, δελφίν (otherwise δελφίς), άκτίν, ρίν, ιν, λίν.
3. The datives plural ήμιν and ύμιν, though in several instances Sophocles makes ήμίν and ύμίν, and the epic dialect has also άμμιν, ύμμιν.

III. Final ις is short ; as, όίς, τρίς, πόλεις, τυραννίς, &c.

Exceptions.

1. Monosyllabic nouns, and those which have two terminations for the nominative ; as, ις, λίς, ρίς, κίς, δελφίς, άκτίς.
2. Dissyllables which make the penult of the genitive long ; as, άψίς, βαλδής, κληής, κνημής, κρηπίς, όρνις, &c.
3. Polysyllables with two short syllables before the last ; as, βατραχίς, καλαμής, κανονής, πλοκαμής ραφανής, but not βασιλής, ίκετής.
4. Adjectives in ις, compounded from long forms, are likewise long in the final syllable; as, ἀλικρηπίς, βαθυκνημῖς, &c.

III. Final υ, νν, νρ, and υς.

- I. Final υ is short; as, σῦ, γόνῦ, γλυκῦ, δάκρῦ, ἄστῦ.

Exceptions.

1. The third person singular of the imperfect and second aorist of verbs in νμ; as ἔδῦ, ἔφῦ; also the second person of the imperative in one of its forms; as, δεικνῦ, ὀμνῦ.
2. The names of the letters μῦ, νῦ, and fictitious words; as, ὦ, γρῦ.

- II. Final νν is short; as, σὺν, πολὺν, βραδύν, ζευγνύν.

Exceptions.

1. The accusative of nouns which have υς in the nominative; as, λλῦν, ιχθῦν, ισχῦν, ὄφρῦν, μῦν.
2. Nouns that have two terminations for the nominative; as, Φόρκυν (otherwise Φόρκυς); or ὕνος in the genitive; as μόσσυν.
3. The first person singular of the imperfect and the second aorist of verbs in νμ; as, ἔφῦν, ἔδῦν, ἐδείκνυν, ἐζεύγνυν.
4. Νῦν, "now," is long; but νὺν, the enclitic, is for the most part short. It is long, however, on several occasions in tragedy, and always long in comedy.¹

III. Final νρ is long; as, πῦρ, μάρτῦρ. Yet, in the oblique cases, these make πῦρος, πῦρι; μάρτῦρος, μάρτῦρι.

IV. Final υς is short; as, βαθῦς, κόρυς, πῆχϋς, πρέσβϋς, βαρϋς, ὀξϋς.

Exceptions.

1. Nouns in υς, which have νος in the genitive; as, ἀχλϋς, λλϋς, ιχθϋς, νηδϋς, οφρϋς, πλεθϋς.

1. Ellendt, however, Lex. Soph. s. v., maintains that ννν enclitic is never long.

2. Nouns which have two terminations in the nominative; as, Φόρκυς.
3. Monosyllables; as, μῦς, σῦς.
4. Terminations of verbs in υμι; as, δείκνυς (second person singular present), δείκνυς (participle), ἐδείκνυς, &c.

OF FEET.

I. A foot, in metre, is composed of two or more syllables, and is either simple or compound.

II. Of the simple feet four are of two, and eight of three syllables.

III. There are sixteen compound feet, each of four syllables.

SIMPLE FEET.

Four of 2 syllables.	{	Pyrrhich	two short syllables . .	as, θεός.
		Spondee	two long syllables . .	ψυχή.
		Iambus	one short and one long	θεῖα.
		Trochee	one long and one short	σῶμα.
Eight of three syllables.	{	Tribrach	three short	πόλεμος.
		Moloesus	three long	εὐχῶλη.
		Dactyl	one long and two short	σώματα.
		Anapaest	two short and one long	βούσιλευς.
		Bacchius	one short and two long	ἀνῶσει.
		Antibacchius	two long and one short	μῆντεμα.
		Amphibrach	one long between two short	θαλάσση.
		Amphimacer	one short between two long	δεσποτής.

COMPOUND FEET.

Sixteen of four syllables.	{	Choriambus	Trochee and Iambus . .	σώφροσύνη.
		Antispast	Iambus and Trochee . .	ἡμάρτημα.
		Ionic a majore	Spondee and Pyrrhich . .	κόσμητόρα.
		Ionic a minore	Pyrrhich and Spondee . .	πλεόνεκτής.

		Ditrocheus	Two Trochees	δυστύχημα.

Dochmius Antispast and long syllable " ἡμάρτηματων.

METRE.

1. Metre, in its general sense, means an arrangement of syllables and feet in verse, according to certain rules; and in this sense it applies not only to an entire verse, but to a part of a verse, or any number of verses.

2. But a metre, in a specific sense, means a combination of two feet, and sometimes one foot only.

3. There are nine principal metres; viz., 1. Iambic; 2. Trochaic; 3. Anapæstic; 4. Dactylic; 5. Choriambic; 6. Antispastic; 7. Ionic a majore; 8. Ionic a minore; 9. Pæonic.

4. These names are derived from the feet which prevail in them. Each species of verse would seem originally to have been composed of those feet solely from which it derives its name; and other feet, equal in time, were not admitted until afterward, and then only under certain restrictions.

5. It must be carefully noted, that two feet make a metre in the iambic, trochaic, and anapæstic measures, but that one foot constitutes a metre in all the rest.

6. When a verse consists of one metre it is called monometer; when it has two metres, dimeter; three metres, trimeter; four, tetrameter; five, pentameter; six, hexameter; seven, heptameter.

7. From what has just been remarked, it follows that, in iambic, trochaic, and anapæstic verse, a monometer consists of two feet; a dimeter of four; a trimeter of six, &c.; whereas, in all other kinds of verse, a monometer consists of one foot, a dimeter of two, a trimeter of three, &c.

8. Verses are also denominated acatalectic when complete; catalectic when they want a syllable at the end; brachycatalectic when they want two syllables at the end; hypercatalectic when they have a syllable over at the end; and accephalous when they want a syllable at the beginning.

9. The last syllable of a verse is common, except in anapæstic and greater Ionic measure.

DACTYLIC MEASURE.¹

1. Dactylic hexameter, or heroic verse, is composed of six feet, the last of which must be a spondee, while the fifth is almost always a dactyl. The first four may be either dactyls or spondees, at the option of the poet. Thus,

γαῖαν ὄμ | οὐ καὶ | πόντον ὄρ | ὤρε | δ' οὐρανὸν | θέν νύξ.

2. Sometimes, in a solemn, majestic, or mournful description, the spondee takes the place of the dactyl in the fifth foot, and the line is then called a spondaic one; as,

ὦ Ἀχῖ | λεῦ κελεῖ | αἰ μὲ Δι | ι φίλῃ | μῦθῃ | σᾶσθαί.

3. A short syllable in the beginning of a foot is often made long in epic poetry. The reason is, that, as the first syllable of the foot was pronounced with the rising inflection of the voice in heroic verse, so by pronouncing it, when short, with a sharper tone, it was brought nearer in sound to a long syllable, by which the deficiency in time was scarcely perceived. The following examples show a short cæsural syllable made long at the beginning of a foot:

ναύλοχον | ἐς λίμεν | ἃ καὶ | τις θεὸς | ἡγεμό | νευεν.

δῦν' ὕχος | ἄτλη | τὸν δ' ὁ ἦρ | α Τρω | σὶν μενε | αίνων.

II. PENTAMETER.

1. This species of verse consists of two equal portions, each containing two feet followed by a long syllable.

2. The first two feet may be either dactyls or spondees, then comes a long syllable, to which succeed two dactyls, followed by another long syllable. Thus,

ἐρπύλλ | ὅς κεῖτ | αἶ || ταῖς ἐλῖ | κῶνιᾶ | σί.

τὸλμῶ | ἐν δ' ἐρίσ | αἶ || σκῶπες ἄ | ῥῶδονί | σιν.

3. The pause always takes place after the long syllable in the middle of the verse, marked by the double line in the two examples just given.

4. Another, but less correct¹ mode of scanning pentameters is as follows: the first and second feet either a dactyl or spondee, the third always a spondee, the fourth and fifth anapæsts; as,

οὐτὲ πῶδ | ὦν ἄρετ | ῆς οὐ | τὲ πᾶλαισ | μῶσυνῆς. |

5. A dactylic hexameter and pentameter, alternately succeeding each other, form what is called elegiac verse. Thus,

κρήναι | αἶ λιβᾶ | δες, τί πῆ | φευγᾶτῆ; | ποῦ τῶσδν | ὀδῶρ;

τίς φλόξ | ἄενᾶ | οὐς || ἐσθῆσεν | ἀέλι | οὔ;

III. IAMBIC MEASURE.¹

1. The only species of iambic verse which we will here consider is the trimeter acatalectic, called also senarius, from its containing six feet.

2. In the trimeter the iambus is admitted into any one of the six places; and, when all the feet are thus iambi, the verse is called a pure iambic one.

1. Consult the larger Prosody.

3. A pure iambic line, however, is not of so frequent occurrence among the tragic writers as what is called a mixed one, namely, where other feet are admitted besides the iambus.

4. The reason why other feet were allowed to enter appears to have been, not only to lessen the difficulty of composing, but in order to remove the monotonous and unpleasing effect of a succession of iambs, and also to impart more dignity and elevation to the style.

5. The feet admissible into this measure, besides the iambus, are the spondee, dactyl, anapæst, and tribrach. The rules for their admission are as follows :

1. The spondee is allowed to enter into the uneven places, namely, the first, third, and fifth, and into no other.
2. The dactyl is admitted into the first and third places only.
3. The anapæst is admitted into the first place alone, except in the case of a proper name, when it may come into any place but the last, provided the anapæst be all contained within the proper name.
4. The tribrach may come into any place but the last.
6. The following lines may serve to illustrate some of these laws.

ὃ πᾶσ | ἵ κλειν || ὅς Οἰδ | ἱποῦς || κάλοῦ | μένδς. ||
 ῥῶδης | στενᾶγ || μοῖς καὶ | γδοῖς || πλοῦτις | ἔταλ. ||
 μῆτ' ἄρ' αὐτ | ὅν αὐτ || οἷς γῆν | ἀνι || ἐναί | τῖνᾶ. ||
 Ἰερῆς | ἐγὼ || μὲν Ζῆν | ὅς· οἱ || δὲ τ' ᾗ | θέων. ||
 τῆτ' αὐτ | ὅν Ιππ || ὁμῆδοντ | ἀπέστ || εἰλεν | πᾶτῃρ. ||
 μῆτ' ῥός | ζῦγῃν || αἶ καὶ | πᾶτερᾶ || κᾶτᾶ | κτᾶνεῖν. ||

7. The double mark in these lines, after every two feet, indicates what is called a metre; it having been customary in reciting iambic verses to make a short pause after every second foot. Hence the name trimeter given to this species of lines, from their containing each three of these metres.

IV. ANAPÆSTIC MEASURE.

1. The most common species of anapæstic verse is the dimeter. In a system of legitimate dimeters each metre should end with a word, and the system should end with a catalectic verse called the paroemiac, preceded by a monometer acatalectic.

2. This metre admits indiscriminately the dactyl and spondee for the anapæst. But an anapæst ought not to follow a dactyl, to avoid too many short syllables occurring together.

3. In the catalectic verse, or paroemiac, which closes a system, the catalectic syllable should be preceded by an anapæst. There are, however, some verses in which it is joined to a spondee.

4. The last syllable of a verse in this metre, with the exception of the paroemiac, is not common, but subject to the same laws of quantity as if it was found in any other part of the verse.

5. The following is a system of anapæstic dimeters, closing with a paroemiac :

εἰ γάρ | μ' ἔπ' ὃ γῆν, || νέρθεν | τ' αἰδοῦ ||
 τοῦ νεκροῦ | δεγμὸνδ' || εἰς ἄπ'ερ | ἄντ'ον ||
 τῆρτ'ῶρδ'ον | ἦκεν, || δεσμοῖς | ἄλ'υτοῖς ||
 ἄγρι'ῶς | πελάσῳς, || ὥς μ'ῆ | τ'ε θ'εός, ||
 μ'ῆτ'ε τίς | ἄλλ'ός || τοῖσδ' ἐπ'ε | γῆθει. ||
 νῦν δ' αἰθ' | ἐρίδ'ον || κινύγμ' | δ' τ'ἄλ'ῳς ||
 ἐχθροῖς | ἐπ'ίχ'ῶρτ' || ἄ πεπὸνθ | ᾄ.

APPENDIX.

EXCURSUS A.

GREEK ALPHABET.

1. According to tradition, Cadmus brought sixteen letters from Phœnicia into Greece, to which Palamedes, at a subsequent period, added four more, namely, ϑ , ξ , ϕ , χ ; and Simonides, at a still later day, increased this number by other four, ζ , η , ψ , ω .

2. The meaning of this tradition evidently is, that the Phœnician alphabet was introduced into different parts of Greece in a more or less perfect shape; that some tribes received all the letters, while others were content with sixteen; that these last-mentioned tribes, however, gradually increased the number of alphabetical characters, by borrowing, at two different epochs, certain letters previously used in the more perfect systems of other Grecian communities.

3. The old sixteen, or primitive Cadmean letters, are supposed to have been the following, the υ being assigned to its true place as the representative of the digamma, and being indicated by the old sign of the digamma, namely, F.

Α Β Γ Δ Ε Ζ Η Θ Ι Κ Λ Μ Ν Ξ Ο Π Ρ Σ Τ.

4. A change, however, subsequently took place as regarded the introduction of Υ, which was formed from the Faυ, or digamma, by splitting its upper part. This new letter was then placed after the T, while the F itself was omitted.

5. The Ionians first adopted all the twenty-four letters, and of them first the Samians, from whom they were received by the Athenians; but it was not till after the Peloponnesian War, in the archonship of Euclides (B.C. 403), that they were used in public acts. Hence the twenty-four letters are called Ἴωνικὰ γράμματα, and the old sixteen Ἀττικὰ γράμματα.

6. In the most ancient times, according to Pausanias (5, 25), the Greeks, like the Orientals, wrote from right to left. They soon began, however, to write the first line from the left to the right, in the second from the right to the left, and so on alternately. This was called βου- στροφῆδόν, from its resembling the mode in which the ox turns with the plough. So the laws of Solon were written. But, as early as the time of Herodotus, it was the established custom to write from left to right.

EXCURSUS B.

1. The whole subject of the digamma rests on the following remarkable fact. A certain number of words beginning with a vowel, especially the pronoun οὐ, οἱ, ἐ, and also εἰδῶ, εἰκα, εἰπεῖν, ἄναξ, ἴλιος, οἶνος, οἶκος, ἔργον, ἴσος, ἕκαστος, with their derivatives, have in Homer the hiatus so often before them, that, leaving these words out of the account, the hiatus, which is now so frequent in Homer, becomes extremely rare, and, in most of the remaining cases, can be easily and naturally accounted for. These same words have also, in comparison with others, an apostrophe very seldom before them; and, moreover, the immediately preceding long vowels and diphthongs are far less frequently rendered short than before other words.

2. From an attentive examination of the subject, the illustrious Bentley was led to conclude, that the words before which these deviations from the usual rules of prosody took place, although beginning with a vowel, must have been pronounced at least, if not written, as if beginning with a consonant. He recollected that some ancient grammarians mentioned a letter as more particularly used by the Æolians or most ancient Greeks; and that its existence might be traced in the changes which some Latin words, derived from the Æolic Greek, had undergone; as, οἶνος, vinum; ἱς, vis; οἶκος, vicus; ἦρ, ver. The letter alluded to, which, from its form, has the name of digamma or double gamma (F), is yet to be seen in some ancient inscriptions and on coins; and it supplies the data for resolving the cases of metrical difficulty, where the lengthening of a short syllable uniformly takes place before particular words.

3. Let us examine some of the instances which are found at the very opening of the Iliad. Ἀτρεΐδης τε ἄναξ ἀνδρῶν (v. 7); Ἀγαμέμνονι ἦνδανε θυμῷ (v. 24); Ἀπόλλωνι ἄνακτι (v. 36); ὃ δ' ἦε νυκτὶ εἰοικώς (v. 47); θαρσύνσας μάλα, εἰπὲ (v. 85). In all these cases, according to the practice of the language in the days of Attic purity, the short vowel ought to have been elided before ἄναξ, ἦνδανε, &c. But if we write ἄναξ, ἦνδανε, &c., or fancy the words pronounced ἄναξ, ἦνδανε, &c., the difficulty will in a great degree disappear.

EXCURSUS C.

ACCENTS.

1. In every polysyllabic word, one syllable is to be regarded as the fundamental or radical syllable, or, in other words, that which contains the principal idea of the word. The rest, on the contrary, which are prefixed or appended to the fundamental syllable in the formation of words, are, in respect to the idea, of less weight.

2. The ascendant importance of the fundamental syllable of a word is, in every independent language, indicated by a sharpened elevation of the voice in its pronunciation; as, for example, du in duty, or set in beset.

3. This elevation of the voice in pronouncing one syllable of a word is called the tone or accent (προσῳδία, accentus), which can occur only once in each word, and of itself is one and the same in all words, namely, the acute or elevated accent (προσῳδία ὀξεῖα, accentus acutus). As a sign for this, use is made of a stroke from right to left (´); as, for example, λόγος.

4. In comparison with the accented or elevated syllable, all syllables of a word which are not accented must be spoken with a depressed or unelevated accent (προσῳδία βαρεῖα, accentus gravis). This depressed or grave accent is represented by an opposite sign, namely, a stroke from left to right (˘); so that λόγος was in fact λόγος. But, because every syllable of a word which has not the acute accent is necessarily to be spoken with the depressed tone, the sign for the grave is not used, but these syllables remain unmarked.

5. As an indication of the proper grave, therefore, is unnecessary, its sign is used for another purpose, namely, to mark what is called the softened acute at the final syllable of words in a continued discourse, and of which mention will presently be made.

6. If two vowels, the first of which has the acute, the second the grave, are united into one sound, this long sound receives a sign, which is formed by the union of those two, namely, (ˊ˘) or (ˊ˘); for which, however, a twisted line (͂) is more conveniently used,¹ indicating that the accent is to be lengthened in the pronunciation (προσῳδία περισπωμένη, accentus circumflexus); as, for example, ἄλλος for δέελλος, σῶμα for σόδωμα.

Position of the Accents.

In order to accentuate a Greek word correctly, it is necessary, 1. to determine the syllable on which the accent rests; and, 2. to know the sign by which, according to the nature of that and the remaining syl-

1. In the Porsonian type a semicircular mark is employed; as, σῶμα.

bles of the word, the accent is to be indicated. Concerning these two points, we shall here briefly assign what admits of accurate definition.

I. Determination of the accented syllable.

1. A Greek word can have its tone or accent only on one of the last three syllables.

2. In simple radical words (that is, those which are formed with a definite termination from an existing root, and not derived from a word already formed) the accent rests on the radical syllable; thus, root λεγ, whence λέγω, "I say;" λέξις, "expression;" λόγος, "speech."

3. In words which are derived from others, either by a prefix or an appended termination, the accent usually rests on the supplemental part (because this, as the sign of distinction from the radical word, defines the idea); thus, from λόγος is derived ἄλογος, "speechless;" from καρπος, "fruit," come ἄκαρπος, "fruitless," and εὐκαρπος, "fruitful;" from λέγω are derived λεκτός, "said," and λεκτός, "to be said;" from θῆρ, "an animal," is derived θηρίον, "a wild beast."

4. The nature of the final syllable has a decisive influence on the position of the accent; namely, if the final syllable of a word be long by nature, the accent cannot lie farther towards the beginning of the word than on the penultimate syllable. For a long syllable being equal to two short ones, if the accent were placed on the antepenult when the last syllable is long by nature, it would be placed, in fact, four places back from the end, whereas it can never go farther back than three.

The following cases, however, are to be noted as exceptions from this last rule.

1. The ω which the Attic and Ionic dialects make use of in declension for the ο of the other dialects has no influence on the position of the accent. It is right, therefore, to accentuate ὑπέρπλεως (Attic and Ionic for ὑπέρπλεος); ῥινόκερος, "a rhinoceros;" δυνάμειω, "of power;" Ἀτρεΐδω, "of Atreides."
2. The same exception holds good of the syllables αι and οι, as terminations in declension and conjugation. Hence we properly accentuate τράπεζαι, "tables;" λέγεται, "it is said;" ελαφοι, "stags." The termination of the third person singular of the optative, however, again forms an exception to this, and, being the result of contraction, is long as regards the accent. We are therefore to accentuate ἐκφέροι, not ἐκφεροι, from ἐκφέρω; νικήσαι, not νίκησαι, as the optative of νικάω.¹

1. From these fundamental rules numerous exceptions are found in Greek, which are best learned from actual reading and a good lexicon.

5. Some small words are so unimportant of themselves, that, in discourse, they almost unite their sound with the following word, and, therefore, remain unaccented. These are the forms ὁ, ἡ, οἱ, αἱ, of the article, besides the prepositions εἰς or ἐς, ἐν or ἐν, ἐκ or ἐξ; the conjunctions εἰ, ὥς, and the negative οὐ, οὐκ, οὐχ. These are called ἄτονα, "toneless," or προκλιτικά, "proclitic." Some of them, on a change of signification or position, receive the acute, namely, 1. the adduced forms of the article, when used as pronouns; 2. ὥς, when it either stands for ὁ-τως, "thus," "so," or in the signification "as" or "like," is placed after the chief word; as, κακοὶ ὥς, "as cowards" or "coward-like"; 3. οὐ or οὐκ, when it directly denies, without an additional word, like the English "no," or is placed after the word which it negatives.

II. Sign of the accent according to the nature of the syllables.

If the syllable on which the tone rests is known, the question then is, with what sign it is to be accented. Concerning this the following rules obtain:

1. The acute can stand on each of the last three syllables; as, κακός, "bad;" πόλις, "a city;" ἄνθρωπος, "a man." But it can stand on the third syllable from the end only when the last syllable is short by nature; thus, ἀνθρώπον, ἀνθρώπῳ, ἀνθρώποις, although the nominative is marked ἄνθρωπος.¹

2. The circumflex can only stand on a syllable long by nature, and only on the final or penultimate syllable, but never on the penultimate unless the final syllable is short by nature; thus, Περικλῆς, "Pericles;" κακοῦ, "of evil;" χῶρος, "space;" λείπε, "leave." On the contrary, λείπειν, "to leave;" yet λείπει, χῶροι, according to rule 2, § 4 of the previous head.

3. The mark properly belonging to the grave accent appears only on the last syllable of words standing in a continued discourse, as a sign of the softened tone of the acute. Thus, ἄνθρω, "a man;" ἀγαθός, "brave;" but in connected discourse, ἄνθρω ἀγαθός οὐ φεύγει, "a brave man fleeth not away."

4. The intimate connexion of discourse, which would be interrupted by the sharpened pronunciation of the acute on the final syllable of a word, alone renders necessary the transition of the acute into the grave. This change, therefore, must not take place before one of the greater signs of interpunction (period and colon); nor even before a comma, when it indicates a really distinct member of a proposition. But we also use the comma in assigning nearer definitions, and predicates, before relatives and before expositive or intentional particles, where evidently the internal connexion of the discourse must not be interrupted, and in this case, in Greek, the sign of the acute must not be placed on the final syllable before the comma. Thus, it is proper to write, τί δέ, ἣν χρέματα πολλὰ ἔχῃ τις; and, in like manner, οἱ μὲν ἀγαθοί, οἱ δὲ κακοί, because here is a perceptible cæsura in the discourse; but πατὴρ, ὃς ἔδωκε, and ἔλεγε πολλὰ, ὥς, κ. τ. λ., because here no abrupt separation of the single members of the proposition occurs.

1. For the double exception to the rule, that the acute can stand on the antepenult in case only of a short final syllable, see rule 2, § 4 of the previous head.

5. If the third syllable from the end is accented, it always possesses the acute.

6. If the final syllable is accented, it always bears the acute (or, in continued discourse, the grave), except when it arises by contraction, or forms the genitive and dative of the first two declensions, or belongs, as the termination, to adverbs in ως. Thus, βασιλεύς, "a king," but βασίλει (contracted from βασίλει); κακός, κακή, κακόν, κακοῦς, but κακοῦ, κακῆς, κακοῦ, κακῶ, κακῇ, κακῶν, κακοῖς (as genitive and dative of the first two declensions); κακῶς, an adverb.

7. Every dissyllabic word whose penult is long by nature, and followed by a short final syllable, is marked with a circumflex on the penult; as, χρῆμα, χώρος, τεῖχος, κείσθαι.

8. Words have denominations according to the position of the accent. If the final syllable bears the acute, the word is called an oxytone (ὀξύτονον), as, for example, κακός; if the circumflex, a perispome (περισπόμενον), as, ποιεῖν; if the final syllable is unaccented, the word is a bar-yton (βαρύτονον). If the accent rests on the penult as an acute, the word is paroxyton (παροξύτονον), as, νόμος; if as a circumflex, properispome (προπερισπόμενον), as, σῶμα; and, lastly, if the acute stands on the third syllable from the end, the word is proparoxytone (προπαροξύτονον), as, ἄνθρωπος.

III. Change of Accents.

1. If a word possessing an accent experiences such a change, by declension, or conjugation, or composition, that either the number or measure of its syllables is increased, the accent also is usually changed. These changes of the accent are of a threefold kind, namely:

1. The accent remains on the syllable on which it stands, but is itself altered, and becomes,

(A.) An acute from a circumflex; as, σώματος, from σῶμα; χώρου, from χώρος; κείμεθα, from κείσθαι.

(B.) A circumflex from an acute; as, φεύγε, from φεύγω.

2. The accent advances towards the end of a word,

(A.) If the word is increased by the annexation of syllables, so that the original accented syllable has more than two syllables between it and the end of the word ; as, ἀνθρώποισι, from ἄνθρωπος ; βελέεσαι, from βέλος ; πινόντων, from πίνω ; ἐστελλέσθην, from στέλλω.

(B.) If the word receives a termination which always or usually has the accent ; as, τετυφώς, τετυφέναι, τυπείς, τετυμμένος, all formed from τύπτω ; θηρός, from θῆρ ; κίος, from κίς, &c.

(C.) If, in the change of a word, the final syllable, which was before short, becomes long ; as, ἀνθρώπου, from ἄνθρωπος ; ἑτέρου, from ἕτερος ; πραγμάτων, from πᾶγμα.

3. The accent is drawn back towards the beginning of a word. This takes place,

(A.) If the word receives additions at the beginning, or if the cause is removed which held the accent on the penult ; as, ἐτυπτον, ἐτυπτε, from τύπτω ; παίδευε, from παιδεύω ; ὠφίλος, from φίλος ; σύνοδος, from ὁδός.

(B.) If, in dissyllabic words, the final syllable, which should bear the accent, is dropped on account of a succeeding vowel ; as, φήμ' ἐγώ for φημί ; and πόλλ' ἔπαθον for πολλά ; δειν' ἔτλην for δεινά.

But prepositions and particles, when the accented final vowel is dropped, remain unaccented ; as, ἐπ' αὐτόν for ἐπί ; παρ' ἐμοί for παρά ; ἀλλ' ἐγώ for ἀλλά ; οὐδ' ὀλίγον for οὐδέ.

IV. Recession of the accent to a preceding word.

1. Several small words unite themselves so closely, in respect to sense, with the preceding word, that they must be blended with it, as it were, in pronunciation. For this reason they throw back their accent on the preceding word, and hence derive the name of enclitics (μόρια ἐγκλιτικά).

2. Such enclitics are : the indefinite pronoun τις, τὶ, through all the cases ; the oblique cases of the personal pronouns, μοῦ or μεῦ, μοί, μέ, σοῦ or σεῦ, σοί, σέ, οὐ or ἐο, and ἔθεν, οἷ, ἐ, μίν, νίν, σφέ, σφωέ, σφωίν, σφέων, σφισί or σφισίν, and σφίν, σφέας, σφέα ; together with the present indicative of εἰμί and φημί (except the second person singular εἰς or εἶ, "thou art ;" φῆς, "thou sayst) ;" and, lastly, the adverbs and particles πώς, πῶ, ποί, πῇ, πού, ποθί, ποθέν, ποτέ, τέ, τοί, γέ, κέ (or κέν), θῆν, νύ (or νύν), πέρ, ρά.

3. All these words throw back their accent, as acute, on the last syl lable of the preceding word ; but the accentuation of that preceding word decides whether this accent must be expressed or not. Concerning this point the following rules must be observed :

(A.) If the preceding word is accented on the last syllable, or is marked with the acute on the penult, the enclitic loses its accent without farther change of the preceding word ; yet it is evident that the grave becomes an acute, because, properly, the enclitic unites itself immediately to the preceding word, and the accent syllable is therefore no longer to be considered as standing at the end of a word. Thus, we write ἀνὴρ τις (as if it were ἀνήρτις) ; ἀγαθός τε καλός τε ; φιλῶ σε ; μαθητῶν τινων, ἄνδρα τε, φίλος μου.

But, in the last case, when the preceding word has an acute on the penult, dissyllabic enclitics retain their proper accent ; as, ὣν λόγος ποτὲ ἐναντίος σφισίν.

(B.) If the preceding word is accented with a circumflex on the penult, or an acute on the antepenult, the accent, thrown back from the enclitic, stands as an acute on the final syllable ; as, ἄνθρωπος ἐστὶ θνητός ; ὁ Κροίσος ποτε ἔλεξεν.

If several enclitics follow one another, the preceding always takes the accent of the succeeding, and the last only remains unaccented ; as, εἰ τίς τινά φησί μοι παρῆναι.

(C.) The enclitic retains its accent (1.) in personal pronouns after a preposition ; as, περὶ σοῦ, παρὰ σοί, πρὸς σέ ; and, in this case, the longer forms of the pronoun of the first person, ἐμοῦ, ἐμοί, ἐμέ, must always be used ; as, ἐξ ἐμοῦ (not ἐκ μου) ; ἐν ἐμοί (not ἐν μοί). (2.) In the verb ἐστί (which then draws back its accent to the root), when it is used in the emphatic signification “ there is,” “ there exists,” “ it is situated,” or else stands followed by an infinitive, for ἔξεστι, “ it is possible,” “ it is permitted,” “ one can ;” as, for example, Θεὸς ἐστί, “ there is a God ;” ἐστί ὁρᾶς, “ it is so situated ;” ἐστί ν ἰδεῖν, “ one can see.”

4. From the enclitics adduced under § 2 must yet be distinguished the particles δέ and θέ or θέν, which entirely lose their independence, and become incorporated with the preceding word. Strictly considered, in annexing these particles to a word, the given rules of inclination ought also to be observed. On the contrary, θέ or θέν is usually regarded as any other appended termination ; and thus we write οἰκοθεν, not οἰκόθεν (from οἶκος). In the particle δέ, however, two cases are to be distinguished ; thus, if it is annexed to forms of nouns, it has the same influence as every other enclitic, and hence we write οἰκόνδε (from οἶκος), ἄιδόςδε (from ἄις), δόμονδε (from δόμος). But if it is annexed to demonstrative pronouns, the accent of the principal word advances towards that of the particle, and passes into the syllable immediately before δε; as, ροσόςδε (from ρόσος), ροῖόςδε (from ροῖος). And this accent thus retains itself regularly through all the cases and forms; consequently we write ροσῆδε, ροσοῖδε, ροσσύςδε; but ροσσῶδε, ροσῶδε, ροσῆδε, ροσοῖςδε.

EXCURSUS D.

DIALECTS.

1. Of the primitive language of the Greeks the most traces are left to us in their epic poems, the oldest monuments of the language of this people. The peculiar mode of speech observed in these is called the epic dialect. Its basis formed the old national language of the Greeks, which the poet, however, for his own purpose, variously modified and enriched. Its principal characteristic is a rhythmical harmony and a powerful fulness of tone.

2. The epic dialect is expressed the most purely and in a perfect form in the poems of Homer and Hesiod. The rest formed themselves according to the model of these two, particularly of Homer. The most eminent of them are, Theognis and the other gnomic poets, Apollonius of Rhodes, the author of the poems extant under the names of Orpheus, Quintus Smyrnaeus, and Nonnus.

3. Since the epic language was derived from the stores of the general national language, and variously enriched by the poet himself; since, moreover, the dialect found in the oldest epic remained in after times appropriated to this species of poetry, and thus was continually advanced in civilization and culture by new admixtures; it is natural, therefore, that it should not appear as a complete and finished whole, but should betray in its single parts many deviations and irregularities.

4. If the basis of the epic is the old primitive language of the Greeks, and the primitive contains all the germs of the subsequent development of a language, we may easily conceive how this dialect should evince divers traces of all the peculiarities which afterward were individually cultivated and retained in the single dialects. Thus, in epic occur Æolisms, Dorisms, Atticisms, and the like, as fundamental peculiarities of the Greek language. But it is erroneous to regard the epic language, on that account, as a mixture of all the dialects; as, on the other hand, it is wrong to confound it with the Ionic, from the circumstance of its having many fundamental peculiarities in common with that dialect.

The same obtains of Æolisms, Dorisms, Ionisms, and Atticisms in all cases where reference is made to them by grammarians and commentators.

5. The Hellenes, who migrated through Thrace into the country afterward called Hellas, were divided into several tribes, whereof two, the Dorians and Ionians, chiefly extended themselves. Each of these tribes cultivated an independent and peculiar character in language, as well as in manners and mode of life, and after their names we denominate the two principal dialects the Doric and Ionic.

6. The Dorians, the most powerful of the Hellenic tribes, preserved their dialect, which was widely diffused as the common language in Hellas proper and the colonies, pure from foreign intermixture, but did little for the particular advancement of their language. Hence the Doric dialect exhibits the most harshness in its forms of words, and a flatness of tone from the frequent use of the dull sound A, a peculiarity termed in Greek πλατειασμός. Besides this dialect, the Æolic also was formed according to the model of antiquity, and had many peculiarities in common with the Doric, whence it was considered as a refined collateral form of the same, cultivated particularly for the use of the poets.

7. The Doric and Æolic dialects became and continued to be the language of lyric and bucolic poetry. The character of the Doric is most purely expressed in the odes of Pindar; while those of Alcæus, Sappho, and Corinna exhibit rather the Æolic mode. The Doric is purer in the Idyls of Theocritus. In the lyric parts of the Attic tragedies also an approach to the sound of the Doric dialect has been preserved. Fragments of the Pythagorean philosophy furnish the only specimens of Doric prose.

8. Besides these, several dialects sprung up in the mouth of the people as individual varieties of the generally-diffused Doric dialect. But their peculiar character is, for the most part, known only from insulated expressions and short sentences, which are adduced in historians and comic poets. The most celebrated and extensive of them are the Lacæonian, Bæotian, and Thessalian dialects, and, next to these, the Sicilian.

9. The Ionians, driven from their settlements by the Dorians, betook themselves principally to Attica, and, when that barren country was unable to support the multitude of inhabitants, to the opposite coast of Asia. Under the mild climate of Lesser Asia, the form of their language became mild and soft, and nearly allied to the epic. Thus was developed the Ionic dialect, the principal characteristic of which is a softness of expression, acquired from the frequency of vowels and the solution of harsh syllables by interposed sounds. Herodotus and Hippocrates wrote in this dialect.

10. The numerous peculiarities common to the Ionic with the epic dialect have occasioned the latter also to be denominated Ionic ; although with this distinction, that the appellation of Old Ionic is given to the epic, but to the Ionic that of New Ionic.

11. The language of the Ionians who remained behind in Attica proceeded differently in its formation ; and hence arose a new dialect, the Attic, which observed an intermediate course between the Doric harshness and Ionic softness, adopting a perfect rotundity in its forms of words, and the greatest pliancy in their construction. The political consequence and the high pitch of intellectual culture to which Athens arrived, gave a wide circulation to this dialect, and the considerable number of eminent writings which are composed in it, and have been preserved, determine it for the groundwork in the study of the Greek language.

12. The most celebrated works written in the flourishing period of the Attic language and culture are, the historical books of Thucydides, the historical and philosophical writings of Xenophon, the philosophical books of Plato, and the orations of Demosthenes, Æschines, Lysias, Isocrates, &c., besides the tragedies of Æschylus, Sophocles, and Euripides, and the comedies of Aristophanes.

13. That peculiarity which the single Grecian states had preserved in language and manners disappeared with the general decline of their freedom. Athens, however, for a long time continued the chief seat of liberal information ; and the Attic dialect, as the purest and most widely diffused, became the court language of the now ruling Macedonians, and, by degrees, the general language of writing and the people. Hence it necessarily followed, that much of the old peculiarity of this dialect was sacrificed, and many innovations were introduced in expression and inflexion. This language, formed on the basis of the Attic dialect, is comprehended under the name of the common dialect. The authors of this period, however, endeavoured to exhibit the Attic dialect pure and uncorrupted, according to the early models, although many peculiarities of more modern times are interspersed throughout their writings. Hence their style has received the appellation of the later Attic.

14. Writers of this class are, Aristotle, Theophrastus, Pausanias, Apollodorus, Polybius, Diodorus, Plutarch, Strabo, Dionysius of Halicarnassus, Lucian, Ælian, Arrian, &c.

15. In Macedonia the Greek language was mingled with much foreign alloy ; and, thus corrupted, it spread itself, with the extension of the Macedonian empire, over other barbaric nations. Hence arose what may be denominated the Macedonic dialect.

16. Alexandria was a colony of liberal information under the Macedonian rulers. There a circle of learned men assembled together, and made it their chief study to preserve the purity of the genuine Attic dialect by rejecting all modern accessions, although their style also fell short of the ancient models. But the Greek language underwent a peculiar reformation by the translators of the Old and the authors of the New Testament, who designated by Greek expressions things of oriental conception and application. As this style occurs only in the Scriptures and some Christian writers, it has been called the ecclesiastical dialect, while others have preferred the epithet of Hellenistic.¹

17. By degrees, the old Greek language, under the influence of various causes, so far degenerated in the mouth of the people, and was deformed by so much heterogeneous admixture, that it gave rise to the new Greek, which has almost entirely exchanged the primitive character of the old for that of the more modern tongues, and still continues, in ancient Greece, as the language of the country.

1. From the Greek ἑλληνίζειν, whence comes ἑλληνιστής, as referring to one who speaks after the Greek manner, and, in the present case, to an Oriental trying to speak Greek.

SELECT ORATIONS OF CICERO, with English Notes, critical and explanatory, and Historical, Geographical, and Legal Indexes. A new Edition, with Improvements. 12mo. With a Portrait.

THE WORKS OF HORACE, with English Notes, critical and explanatory. New Edition, with corrections and improvements. 12mo.

JACOBS'S GREEK READER With Notes, critical and explanatory. A New Edition. 12mo.

A CLASSICAL DICTIONARY, containing an account of all the Proper Names mentioned in Ancient Authors, and intended to elucidate all the important points connected with the Geography, History, Biography, Archæology, and Mythology of the Greeks and Romans, together with a copious Chronological Table, and an Account of the Coins, Weights, and Measures of the Ancients, with Tabular Values of the same. By Charles Anthon, LL.D. In one volume, royal 8vo. (Nearly ready.)

The above editions of the Classical authors are based on the latest and most accurate texts, and are accompanied by English Commentaries, containing everything requisite for accurate preparation on the part of the student and a correct understanding of the author.

The publishers take the liberty of adding, that all of the above works have been republished in England and Scotland. Some of them, indeed, have already passed through four editions. They are republished under the superintendence of that eminent scholar, JAMES BOYD, LL.D., one of the masters in the High School in Edinburgh, who says, "In superintending the publication, I have not felt myself warranted to make any alteration on the text, as given by Professor Anthon, nor to mutilate, by the slightest omission, his admirable Explanatory Notes."

□ A more detailed view of the plan of the series, &c., will be found on the next page.

ANTHON'S SERIES OF CLASSICAL WORKS
FOR SCHOOLS AND COLLEGES.

IN presenting the volumes of this series, as far as it has been completed, to the notice of the public, the subscribers beg leave to say a few words respecting its general features, and the advantages that are to result from it both to students and instructors.

The plan proposed is to give editions of all the authors usually read in our schools and colleges, together with such elementary and subsidiary works as may be needed by the classical student either at the commencement, or at particular stages, of his career.

The editions of the Classical authors themselves will be based on the latest and most accurate texts, and will be accompanied by English commentaries, containing everything requisite for accurate preparation on the part of the student and a correct understanding of the author. The fear entertained by some instructors, lest too copious an array of notes may bribe the student into habits of intellectual sloth, will be found to be altogether visionary. That part of the series which contains the textbooks for schools must, in order to be at all useful, have a more extensive supply of annotations than the volumes intended for college lectures; and when these last make their appearance, the system of commenting adopted in them will not fail to meet with the approbation of all.

The advantages, then, which this series promises to confer are the following: the latest and best texts; accurate commentaries, putting the student and instructor in possession of the opinions of the best philologists; together with all such subsidiary information as may serve, not only to throw light upon the meaning of the author, but also to give rise in the young student to habits of correct thinking and to the formation of a correct taste.

Many of the works at present used in our Classical schools are either reprints of antiquated editions, swarming with errors, not merely in the typography, but in the matter itself; or else they are volumes, fair to the view, indeed, as far as manual execution is concerned, but either supplied with meager and unsatisfactory commentaries, or without any commentaries at all. These are the works that drive students to the use of translations, and thus mar the fairest prospects of youthful scholarship, producing an infinitely stronger habit of intellectual indolence than the most copious commentary could engender. Indeed, to place this matter in its proper light, and to show, within a very brief compass, how much good the projected series is about to accomplish, it may be sufficient to state, that the printed translations of those authors whose works have been thus far published in the series meet now with a much less ready sale than formerly; and are seldom, if ever, seen in the hands of those whose instructors have the good sense and judgment to give a decided preference to the volumes edited by Professor Anthon.

The publishers take the liberty to subjoin a few of the communications relative to the published volumes of the series, which they have received from gentlemen of high classical reputation in different parts of the country.

ANTHON'S SERIES OF CLASSICAL WORKS

FOR SCHOOLS AND COLLEGES.

From H. HUMPHREY, D.D., President of Amherst College, at Amherst, Mass.

I am very happy to see that you have undertaken to furnish uniform editions of the Latin classics for the use of our grammar schools and higher seminaries of learning. Professor Anthon deserves and will receive the thanks of the public for the labour which he has so judiciously and successfully bestowed upon Sallust, Cæsar, and Cicero. The explanatory notes or commentaries are more copious and comprehensive than those of any other edition I have seen, and much better adapted to the wants of young students. Among the most valuable of these notes are those which divert attention to the beautiful uses of the moods and tenses, and explain the delicate shades of meaning and peculiar beauties that depend upon them, which our language often expresses imperfectly and with difficulty, and which young learners rarely regard. The explanations of the force and meaning of the particles are also very useful.

The historical, geographical, and other indexes are also highly valuable, furnishing the student, as they do, with felicitous illustrations of the text, and much general information.

The text seems to be settled with much care and ability. The editions adopted as the basis or referred to as authority are those in the highest repute among scholars. The typographical execution is very fine, and this is a high merit. The wretched reprints of foreign editions of the classics, got up in cheap offices, on wretched paper, with incompetent proof-readers and no editors, to which, until within a very few years, our students have been universally condemned, have, by taking them young, been as successful in making them uncertain and inaccurate scholars as if that had been one of the main objects of the publishers. School books of all kinds, instead of being the worst (as they often are), should be the most carefully printed books we have.

H. HUMPHREY.

From the Rt. Rev. Bishop M'ILVAINE, President of Kenyon College, at Gambier, Ohio.

I anticipate the greatest benefits to our schools and colleges from the admirable edition of the classics which you are now publishing, under the superintendence and illustrated by the copious and learned notes of Professor Anthon. What your accomplished editor has aimed at in his Horace, Cæsar, and other volumes of the series, few can have been much connected with classical institutions in this country without learning to be precisely the one needful thing to their students. The object is most satisfactorily attained. The needed books we have, so far as your series has yet been published; and as to what are yet to come, we have learned from what we have, if I may use the words of one of your authors, quæ a summa virtute summoque ingenio expectanda sunt, expectare. Wishing you the most abundant encouragement in your important enterprise, I remain your obedient servant,

CHAS. P. M'ILVAINE.

From WILLIAM A. DUER, LL.D., President of Columbia College, in the City of New-York.

From the manner in which this undertaking has been so far executed, as well as from the established character and reputation of Professor Anthon as a scholar, his experience as an instructor, and the accuracy and judgment previously evinced by him as an editor and commentator, I can entertain no doubt of the success of the enterprise, so far as his editorial labours and your own skill and experience as publishers are concerned; and I trust that, from the increasing value of classical studies in the estimation of the public, this judicious and spirited effort to facilitate and promote so important a branch of education will be duly appreciated and liberally rewarded.

*I remain, gentlemen,
Your obedient servant,
W. A. DUER.*

ANTHON'S SERIES OF CLASSICAL WORKS.

From the Rev. B. P. AYDELOTT, President of the Woodward College, at Cincinnati, Ohio.

From some personal acquaintance, but much more from general reputation, I formed a very high opinion of Professor Anthon's abilities to prepare a full series of Latin and Greek Classics for the use of schools, colleges, &c. Accordingly, as soon as I could obtain the various authors edited by him, I procured them, and, upon a careful examination, was so impressed with their superior character, as to introduce them as fast as possible into the different departments of the institution under my charge.

The various Delphin editions are very good, so far as ancient geography, mythology, usages, &c., are concerned; but in respect to critical remarks and grammatical illustrations they are of little worth; they were, in general, however, the best we had.

But besides being abundantly full and clear in everything archæological, Professor Anthon has done more, in the editions of the classical authors prepared by him, to unfold the grammatical structure, and thus throw light upon the meaning and spirit of the original, than any other commentator whom I have consulted. It is a striking, and, I think, decisive, proof of their superiority, that the students show in their recitations that they have read his notes and profited by them, which they never seemed to me to have done when using other editions.

Some time ago I commenced a careful collation of the Greek Grammar of the same author with those of Butmann, Valpy, &c., making full notes as I went along, with the design of preparing a review of it at the request of the editor of an extensively circulated periodical, and such was my conviction of its peculiar fitness for the use of schools, that I have since recommended no other to our pupils.

I would add that the neatness and taste with which Professor Anthon's classics are got up (though they are far cheaper than the Delphin editions) ought to form no small recommendation of them. Our students purchase, study, and preserve them with manifest pleasure; and whatever has these effects upon the pupil, will certainly do much to promote the cause of sound and thorough classical learning.

B. P. AYDELOTT.

From the Rev. J. S. TOMLINSON,
D.D., President of Augusta College, Kentucky.

I take this opportunity to acknowledge the receipt (some time since) of four volumes of the Classical Series of Professor Anthon of New-York; and, after a careful examination of them, I can truly say that I am more than pleased; I am delighted with them. The avowed object of the publication, that of furnishing accurate and uniform editions of all the classical authors used in colleges and schools, is one that, in my judgment, has long been a desideratum in literature, and I am gratified to find it about to be accomplished, especially by one so entirely equal to the task as Professor Anthon has shown himself to be.

The biographical sketches, commentaries, and annotations with which the volumes are accompanied, while they reflect great credit upon the erudition and research of the author, cannot fail to enhance to the student, in a high degree, the attractions and value of classical reading. As an evidence of the estimate we place upon the series, we have hitherto used it as far as it was attainable, and shall, with great pleasure, avail ourselves of the opportunity now afforded to adopt the whole of it. Allow me to add, that the neat, tasteful, and, at the same time, substantial style of the mechanical execution of the work, fully sustains the well-earned reputation, in that respect, of the enterprising establishment whence it emanates. Respectfully,

Your obedient servant,
J. S. TOMLINSON.

From ALONZO CHURCH, D.D., President of the University of Georgia.

As far as time and a press of business would permit, I have examined these volumes, and am much pleased with them. They are, I think, well adapted to the wants of, particularly, young students, and will, I doubt not, furnish what has long been a desideratum in our preparatory schools, viz., cheap, yet correct editions of the common classics, accompanied with judicious English notes. I do not hesitate to say that, were I engaged in giving instruction to youth from these authors, I should prefer the editions of Professor Anthon to any which I have seen.

A. CHURCH.

From JEREMIAH DAY, D.D., LL.D., President of Yale College, at New-Haven, Conn.

..... I estimate highly the importance of furnishing for our schools and colleges accurate and neat editions of the ancient Classics; and I am much pleased with the general appearance and typographical execution of the specimens which you have given us. It would be presumptuous in one so little conversant with the fair fields of elegant literature to undertake to pass sentence on the finely-wrought productions of so accomplished a scholar as Professor Anthon.
..... His works have a reputation already too well established to need or to receive additional value from any recommendation which I can give.

JEREMIAH DAY.

From the Rev. B. HALE, D.D., President of Geneva College, at Geneva, N. Y.

..... Your object "to furnish accurate and uniform editions of Classical authors, read in colleges and schools, accompanied by a useful body of commentary, maps," &c., is a very useful one, and highly deserving of the public patronage, and no one, in our country, is more competent to the editorial supervision of such an undertaking than Professor Anthon. It is fortunate for the cause of Classical learning in our country, that so learned and enterprising a scholar has been brought into co-operation with publishers so enterprising.

So far as I have examined the works above mentioned, they appear to me exceedingly well adapted to their end, and to do credit both to the editor and the publishers. We have specified these editions in the requirements for admission to this college. BENJAMIN HALE.

From the Rev. JOSEPH PENNEY, D.D., President of Hamilton College, at Clinton, N. Y.

I have examined with much interest and attention Dr. Anthon's editions of the ancient classics so far as published by you. I think there can be but one opinion as to the merit of these works, and the advantage to our country of so noble an enterprise. It is not only honoured by the learning of the editor, and the ability and taste of the publishers, but directly and greatly benefited in the vital interest of the education of our youth.

We possess no means of sound mental discipline and cultivated taste that can supersede the relics of Greece and Rome; and thus to enrich them to the inquiring mind, and to adorn them to the eye of our studious youth, is a service not likely to be appreciated as it deserves except by those who have toiled through the crowded and careless page of former days. I earnestly hope that you may be encouraged greatly to extend these labours.

JOSEPH PENNEY.

From the Rev. J. M. MATHEWS,
D.D., Chancellor of the New-York University.

Professor Anthon has rendered an important service to the cause of learning in this country by his editions of the various Classics; and I am gratified to see that your valuable press is employed in furnishing them to the public.

J. M. MATHEWS.

From the Rev. D. M'CONAUGHY,
D.D., President of Washington College, at Washington, Penn.

..... The typographical execution is correct and handsome, the binding substantial, the notes copious and valuable.
All agree, that it is not much reading, but thorough reading, which secures knowledge and makes the scholar. To this purpose your edition of the classics is eminently adapted. If well employed by students and instructors, they cannot fail to make accurate and well-instructed scholars; and must render the study of Classic authors more interesting and more profitable than it has generally been.
I hope that you will find extensive patronage.

D. M'CONAUGHY.

From the Rev. ALONSO POTTER, D.D., of Union College, Schenectady, N. Y.

..... I have had occasion to examine these editions with some care, and, it would be superfluous to add, with great pleasure. The reputation of Professor Anthon for learning and critical skill, and the singular success with which he adapts his labours to the wants of the student, are too well known and too generally appreciated to need any recommendation. It is proper, however, to add that these volumes will be used in our classes, and are held in the highest esteem.

ALONSO POTTER.

ANTHON'S SERIES OF CLASSICAL WORKS.

From the Rev. E. NOTT, D.D., President of Union College at Schenectady, N. Y.

The furnishing of our schools and colleges with accurate and uniform editions of the Classical authors in use, accompanied by a useful body of commentary, maps, illustrations, &c., is an undertaking worthy alike of commendation and of patronage. The competency of Professor Anthon for the editorial supervision assigned him, is well known to me. The whole design meets my entire approbation, and you are quite at liberty to make use of my name in the furtherance of its execution.

Very respectfully,
ELIPHALET NOTT.

From the Rev. F. WAYLAND, D.D., President of Brown University at Providence, R. I.

I have not been able, owing to the pressure of my engagements, to examine the above works with any degree of accuracy. I however beg leave to thank you for the volumes, and cheerfully bear testimony to the distinguished scholarship of their editor. No classical scholar of our country enjoys a higher reputation, and I know of no one in whose labours more decided confidence may be reposed.

Yours truly,
F. WAYLAND.

From the Rev. JOHN P. DURBIN, A.M., President of Dickinson College at Carlisle, Penn.

For some months past my attention has been directed to the series of Classical works now in the course of publication from your press, edited by Professor Anthon. I can with confidence recommend them as the best editions of the several works which have appeared in our country, perhaps in any country. The matter is select, and the notes are copious and clear. . . .

Respectfully,
J. P. DURBIN.

From THOMAS R. INGALLS, Esq., President of Jefferson College at St. James, Louisiana.

. . . . I have examined them with attention, and have no hesitation in saying that I prefer them to any books I have seen for the schools for which they are intended. The editions by Dr. Anthon seem to me to supply, in a very judicious manner, what is wanting to the student, and cannot fail, I should think, to aid in restoring Classical studies from their unhappily languishing condition.

Your obedient servant,
THO. R. INGALLS.

From C. L. DUBUISSON, A.M., President of Jefferson College at Washington, Miss.

I have examined with some care the first five volumes of Anthon's Series of Classical Works. They are such as I should expect from the distinguished editor. The "Horace" and "Sallust" of this gentleman have long been known to me as the very best books to be placed in the hands of a student. As a commentator, Professor Anthon has, in my estimation, no equal. His works have excited a great and beneficial influence in the cause of Classical learning, and the present undertaking will infinitely extend the sphere of that influence. No one so well as a teacher can appreciate the value of uniform editions of the textbooks to be used by his classes. The undertaking of publishing a complete series of all those standard works which students must read is a noble one, and I sincerely hope it will be completed. With such a series as the present promises to be, there will be nothing left to desire. It is to be hoped that editor and publishers will meet with such encouragement as their truly valuable undertaking deserves.

Your obedient servant,
C. L. DUBUISSON.

From the Rev. JOHN LUDLOW, President of the University of Pennsylvania at Philadelphia.

. . . . The object is worthy your enterprising spirit, and you have been singularly fortunate in securing the services of Professor Anthon to direct it to its completion. The volumes which you have kindly sent me fully sustain the reputation of that distinguished scholar, and afford a sure pledge of what may be expected in those which are to follow. Most heartily do I recommend your undertaking, and sincerely hope it will meet with the encouragement which it richly deserves.

With great respect, yours, &c.,
JOHN LUDLOW.

From the Rev. M. HOPKINS, D.D., President of Williams' College, at Williamstown, Mass.

Professor Anthon has unquestionably done much service to the cause of classical learning in this country by his editions of the Latin classics, given to the public with unusual accuracy and elegance from your press. His Sallust, Cæsar, and Cicero cannot fail to find their way into very extensive use, and to render the entrance upon classical studies much more inviting and profitable.

M. HOPKINS.

From WILBUR FISK, D.D., President of the Wesleyan University, at Middletown, Conn.

I am highly gratified to notice that you have commenced a series of the classics under the editorial supervision of that accomplished scholar, Professor Anthon of Columbia College. No man in our country is better qualified for this office than Professor Anthon. To show in what estimation he is held in England as a classical scholar, it need only be known that an edition of his "Horace" has been published in London, and the publishers informed me that the entire edition had met with a ready sale; showing that, notwithstanding the numerous editions of this standard work by the first scholars in England, the credit of the work by our American scholar had carried it successfully through the English market, and that, too, by virtue of its intrinsic merit. Your editions of his Cæsar, Cicero, and Sallust are now before me, and show that there is no falling off from the reputation of the edition of Horace. The copious notes and commentaries cannot fail to shed a flood of light upon the mind of the young student, and will contribute much, I trust, to foster in the rising generation of scholars a taste for the ancient classics.

WILBUR FISK.

From SILAS TOTTEN, D.D., President of Washington College.

The volumes which I have examined I entirely approve, and think them better adapted to the purposes of classical instruction than any edition of the same authors yet published in this country. The well-known ability of the learned editor admits no doubt of the excellence of the volumes yet to be published.

S. TOTTEN.

From the President and Faculty of Miami University, at Oxford, Ohio.

These three volumes, enriched by a copious and valuable apparatus of critical notes, and judiciously arranged historical, geographical, archæological, and legal matters, furnished by so ripe a scholar as Dr. Anthon, are specimens well calculated to recommend the series of which they are the commencement. They are well adapted to promote thorough classical learning, and are entitled to a high grade of popular favour. By order of the Faculty,

R. H. BISHOP, President.

From RUFUS BABCOCK, JR., D.D., late President of Waterville College, in Maine.

I have examined with considerable care, and with high and unmingled satisfaction, your recent edition of Professor Anthon's Latin Classics. The distinguished editor of Horace has rightly judged, that in order to elevate the range and standard of scholarship in this country, it is requisite to facilitate the thorough acquisition of those elementary text-books which are usually first put into the hands of pupils. By the beautiful volumes which you have now given to the public from his pen, more has been done to make the student thoroughly acquainted with those three prime authors, Cæsar, Sallust, and Cicero, than by any other helps within my knowledge. I need not minutely specify the various points of excellence by which these books are distinguished. Their practical value will immediately be appreciated by teachers and learners.

Allow me, gentlemen, to tender, through you, my hearty thanks to Professor Anthon for the very valuable service he has performed in aid of the great cause of classical learning. May he continue his labours for the public good.

RUFUS BABCOCK, JR.

From Professor DENNIS, of Haverford, Penn.

... I have examined Anthon's Greek Grammar, and have no hesitation in saying that, as a class-book for schools and colleges, I think it superior to any other with which I am acquainted. ...

WM. DENNIS.

ANTHON'S SERIES OF CLASSICAL WORKS.

Commendatory Letters—continued.

From the Rev. Dr. MILLEDOLER, President of Rutgers' College, at New-Brunswick, N. J.

.... Notwithstanding the objections of some eminent men to the study of the Greek and Roman Classics, it is now almost generally conceded that they form an important if not necessary part of a liberal education.

A respectable acquaintance with those languages, in which the greatest masters in belles lettres and science have written, cannot be dispensed with by professional men. We do not indeed see, without resorting to these ancient and admired fountains of taste and learning, how elegant literature can be cultivated to advantage, or how even a competent knowledge of our own tongue can be acquired. Whoever, therefore, has so mastered these works that he can teach their grammatical structure not only, but by accurate reference to ancient history, geography, and philology, can trace their nice and varied shades of meaning, unfold their beauty, and inspire the youthful mind with literary enthusiasm, deserves well of the Republic of Letters.

Professor Anthon, in his recent editions of the Classics, has, in the judgment of the undersigned, very ably accomplished this difficult service.

With these works in their hands, our youth will not be left to waste time and mental energy in unnecessary and discouraging investigations, but will be lighted on their way, and excited to exertion.

The typographical part is correctly and elegantly executed.

With my best wishes that both editor and publishers may be amply remunerated by the rapid sale of these works, and their extensive diffusion through the academies and colleges of our country,

I remain, gentlemen,

Yours very respectfully,

PHILIP MILLEDOLER.

From the Rev. JAMES CARNAHAN, D.D., President of the College of New-Jersey, at Princeton, N. J.

Having examined in a cursory manner your series of Anthon's Classical authors, I add, with pleasure, the testimony of my approbation to the numerous recommendations given by others. Professor Anthon's character as a Classical scholar is a sufficient pledge for the accuracy of the edition. If the ability of the learned editor and the neat and handsome appearance of the volumes be justly appreciated, your work cannot fail to receive a liberal patronage.

Your obedient servant,

JAMES CARNAHAN.

From the Rev. Dr. BALDWIN, President of Wabash College, at Crawfordsville, Indiana.

.... I have read Anthon's Sallust and his Caesar's Commentaries with much satisfaction. We have adopted the former in the preparatory course connected with our college; and propose to use his editions of Caesar and of Tully's Orationes, in preference to all others. My opinion of the merits of Professor Anthon, as a Latin scholar and editor of the Latin Classics, and particularly as a critical commentator, is very high. I most cheerfully commend his literary labours to the patronage of classical teachers as second to none in his department, with which I am acquainted.

Yours sincerely,

ELIHU W. BALDWIN.

From the University of St. Louis: Missouri.

.... We have examined them partly ourselves, and submitted them for further examination to persons fully competent to pronounce on their merit. We feel happy in stating, that there has been but one opinion on the subject, viz., that the highest encomiums are due to Professor Anthon as a scholar and a friend to education, and that the typographical execution is not inferior to that of the best schoolbooks published in England and in France.

Your obedient servants,

J. A. ELET,

Rector of St. Louis University.

J. B. EBNING,

Profes. Ling.

From the Rev. RICHARD H. WALL, D.D., Principal of the Preparatory School of Trinity College, Dublin, and Minister of the Chapel Royal.

.... Doctor Anthon is an admirable commentator. His work I have a great sale here. And I shall be anxious to see anything in the Classical world which comes from his pen. We have Cicero, Sallust, and Horace in general circulation in our schools.
